

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

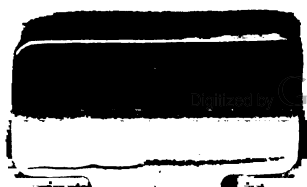

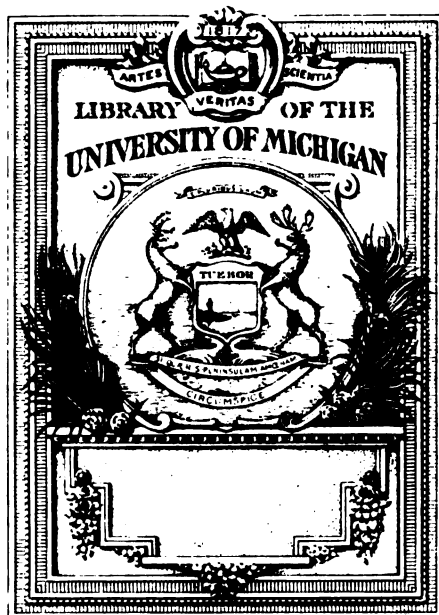

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

The strength and percentage present at the annual inspection and muster of the organizations of the Naval Militia for 1909, was as follows:

ORGANIZATION.	Aggregate strength.	Present.	Percentage present.
First Battalion	311	271	87.14
Second Battalion	307	293	95.44
Second Separate Division	78	71	91.02
Third Separate Division	82	74	90.24
Total	778	709	91.00

The vessels loaned by the United States Navy and in charge of the Naval Militia include the "Granite State," 4,150 tons (unserviceable) and used as the headquarters Naval Militia.

The U. S. S. "Hawk," 375 tons; U. S. S. "Gloucester," 786 tons; U. S. S. "Wasp," 630 tons, converted yachts, in charge respectively of the 1st and 2nd Battalions, and the 3rd Separate Division, Naval Militia; and also the gunboat U. S. S. "Sandoval," 100 tons, in charge of the 2nd Separate Division.

Application is on file in this office for the organization of an engineer division to be located at Buffalo or Rochester; the further organization of the 2nd and 3rd Separate Divisions into a battalion of the Naval Militia, allowing in accordance with the military law certain additional officers at headquarters Naval Militia, and the deserved promotion of the Commanding Officer of the Naval Militia to the grade of Commodore, as provided for in M. L. 50. The creation of this engineer division would not require any great increase in the annual appropriation, but would result in a more efficient organization, particularly with reference to the up-State commands.

The report of Captain Jacob W. Miller, commanding the Naval Militia, is herewith transmitted as Appendix "B."

ORDERS AND CIRCULARS.

There have been issued from this office at your command, during the year 1909, seventy General Orders, and twenty-seven Circulars, copies of which have been furnished you from time to time as published, and which have been supplied to the National Guard and Naval Militia in sufficient numbers for general information. Copies of these General Orders and Circulars have also been furnished for the files of the War Department and the Adjutants-General of the several States.

NOTES.—1. To this account on July 1, 1909, was credited $114,432.94, Circular No. 9, War Department, Division of Militia Affairs, Washington, July 1, 1909.

On August 25, 1909, $30,300 was requisitioned for by the Governor for the account of the Disbursing Officer of the State of New York. The unexpended balance on hand October 1, 1909, was $125,246.86.

2. It will be necessary for the Governor to make requisition to the amount of approximately $40,000 for the account of the Disbursing Officer to cover expenditures for Field Service the past year. It is anticipated, should it be determined to properly install the necessary equipment in the armories of the Coast Artillery districts of this State in accordance with the recommendations of the War Department and the Chief of Coast Artillery of this State, a charge must be made against this allotment of approximately $15,000.

3. To this account there will be credited on July 1, 1910, the apportionment made by the War Department, approximately $114,000, should the organizations be ordered for field service in the ensuing year in accordance with the service of 1908, it is estimated that a charge may be made against this fund to the amount of $50,000.

THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT CONTAINS, SUBDIVIDED AND CLASSIFIED, PROPERTY PROCURED AND CHARGED TO APPROPRIATION UNDER R. S. 1661.

NOTES.—1. To this account on July 1, 1909, was credited $38,144.31, Circular No. 9, War Department, Division of Militia Affairs, Washington, July 1, 1909. The unexpended balance on hand October 1, 1909, was $48,497.17.

2. It will be necessary for the Governor to make requisition to the amount of approximately $10,000, for the account of the disbursing officer, to cover expenditures for rental and repair of rifle ranges, salaries of care takers and such other purposes allowed under section 14 of the Militia Act. It is the intention to charge against this allotment the annual requisition for small arms ammunition approximately $50,000, so far as this appropriation will allow.

3. To this account there will be credited on July 1, 1910, the apportionment made by the War Department approximately $38,000.

ALBANY, N. Y., September 30, 1909.

NOTES.—Every disbursing officer must send to the Chief, Division of Militia Affairs of the War Department, before the expiration of twenty days after the end of the month to which it relates, an account current (Form No. 1, Militia) of all moneys received and remaining on hand during the month. This account current will be made in duplicate, one copy of which with all vouchers will be forwarded to the War Department, as stated above, and the other one retained by the disbursing officer for his future protection. With the account current will be forwarded all orders of commanding officers and other papers upon which a disbursing officer accountable relies to have himself relieved from responsibility for funds placed to his credit.

The accounts after having been examined in the Division of Militia Affairs, will be transmitted to the accounting officer of the treasury for settlement.

Cir. No. 10, Division Militia Affairs, War Department, December 1, 1908.

NOTE 2.—A weekly statement is required for the information of the officials of the Treasury Department, and is mailed promptly at the last day of each week to the Chief, Division of Militia Affairs, War Department (Form No. 29).

NOTE 3.—The militia regulations, paragraph No. 64, and the provisions of the Revised Statutes, section 1661, require that the disbursing officer shall be a bonded officer and that a bond shall be given for approximately one-half the amount of funds that are expected to be required at any one time. The rules of the War Department require that the bond be renewed every four years.

NOTE 4.—The disbursing officer of the State of New York at this time is under bond No. 697,348, The American Surety Company of New York, premium $50, in favor of United States of America, to the amount of $25,000. This bond will expire on the 26th of April, 1913.

NOTE 5.—The following extracts from the Act of Congress making appropriations to supply urgent deficiencies, approved August 5, 1909, are of interest as affecting the subsequent action of the disbursing officer of the State:

"The accounting officers of the Treasury are hereby authorized and directed to credit in the accounts of the disbursing officers of the several States, Territories, and the District of Columbia such amounts as have been, or may be, disallowed in their accounts for payments heretofore made by them on account of the participation of the organized militia in the encampments, manoeuvres, and field instruction of the Regular Army, under the provisions of section nine of the Act of Congress approved May twenty-seventh, nineteen hundred and eight, entitled 'An Act to further amend the Act entitled 'An Act to promote the efficiency of the militia, and for other purposes,' approved January twenty-first, nineteen hundred and three."

"Until otherwise provided by law no bond shall be accepted from any surety or bonding company for any officer or employee of the United States which shall cost more than thirty-five per centum in excess of the rate of premium charged for a like bond during the calendar year nineteen hundred and eight: Provided, That hereafter the United States shall not pay any part or other cost of furnishing a bond required by law or otherwise of any officer or employee of the United States.

"That a Joint Commission consisting of three Senators, to be appointed by the President of the Senate, and three Members of the House of Representatives, to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, shall inquire into the rates of premium heretofore and now being charged as well as those proposed to be charged by surety or bonding companies for bonds of officers or employees of the United States and report to Congress by bill or otherwise at its next session what regulations, if any, should be exercised under law or otherwise over the same; for the expenses of said commission, including all necessary expert, clerical, and other personal services, there is appropriated the sum of ten thousand dollars, which expenses shall be paid upon vouchers approved jointly by the chairman of said Commission."

THE STATE OF NEW YORK IN ACCOUNT WITH THE UNITED STATES, UNDER SECTION 8 OF THE ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 27, 1908, AMENDING SECTION 13 OF THE ACT APPROVED JANUARY 21, 1903, "THE MILITIA ACT."

NOTE 1.—Apportionment to the State, Territories and the District of Columbia of the $2,000,000 appropriated by Act of Congress, approved May 22, 1908, amending act of May 21, 1903, was published in Circular No. 9, War Department Division of Militia Affairs, Washington, September 30, 1908, and repromulgated in Circular No. 34, Adjutant-General's Office, November 6, 1908. The apportionment to the State of New York, based upon the enlisted strength of 13,800, was for supplies, $189,506.07; allowance for ammunition, $80,135.78; total, $269,641.85.

NOTE 2.—This apportionment has been expended against the property drawn in kind as follows:

For clothing	$135,952 88
For ammunition	48,325 69
For other supplies	74,014 91
Total expenditures	$258,293 48

Leaving a balance of $11,348.37. This balance of the original allotment was in accordance with subsequent reported correspondence and action noted in this report transferred to the use of other States.

NOTE 3.—The following correspondence relative to the uses of this apportionment are published on account of interests to the service and as having controlled the operations of this office:

March 15, 1909.

The Chief Division of Militia Affairs, War Department, Washington, D. C.:

SIR.—I have the honor to request information relative to section 13 of the Act of May 27, 1908, in view of conditions presented particularly with arms and equipment.

Under the construction of section 13 of the Act of 1903 the States received standard service magazine arms, etc., not charging the cost or value thereof against the allotment to said State. I appreciate that at that time there was alone the allotment to the States.

In 1904, with the muster of a troop of cavalry at Syracuse, this State received upon muster sixty-two U. S. magazine carbines and sixty-two cartridge belts, etc., it being found at that time that such issue could be made upon the following decision:

"It is a ruling of the Department that the States and Territories are entitled under section 13 of the Act of January 21, 1903, to a free issue of U. S. magazine rifles and carbines up to their authorized strength on the date of the passage of the act. It appearing from the Militia Act of your State that the authorized cavalry strength of the organized militia is still short 153 men, more or less, the requisition of the Governor for the necessary number of U. S. magazine rifles, calibre 30, with belts and other necessary accoutrements and equipments, up to that number will be honored under section 13 of the aforesaid act."

During the past year, in an endeavor to bring about conformity, many new companies have been organized and mustered into service. The following is the record to date:

Organized.

Jan.	9.	Troops 7 and 8, Squadron C;
	18.	Company A, 8th Battalion;
May	7.	Company C, 47th Regiment;
Nov.	10.	Companies L and M, Corps of Engineers;
		Company M, 23d Regiment;
		Company L, 71st Regiment;
		Companies L and M, 74th Regiment;
		33d Company, Coast Artillery Corps.

With the exchange of magazine rifles and carbines, 1898 and 1899, for the new Springfield rifle, there proved to be sufficient magazine rifles to equip these organizations to the present date, and every organization in the State has sufficient arms and equipment to equip the minimum strength, but this has not proved sufficient to meet the demands of the organizations with their increased growth so that at the present date the supply of magazine rifles at the State Arsenal is less than 100, with requisitions on hand from commanding officers or organizations more than to meet the same. Furthermore in all probability during the present year further units will be mustered into the service giving organizations twelve companies.

The opinion I hesitate to request, believing the last paragraph of section 13 to be sufficiently definite, is whether it is possible to secure magazine rifles and equipment, (1) for the minimum strength organized, the same without charge against the allotment or the Act of May 27, 1908; (2) if upon the muster of a new organization arms and equipment must be secured as a charge against either R. S. 1661 or a charge against the Act of May 27, 1908; (3) should the allotment under R. S. 1661 be exhausted or mortgaged and the appropriation or allowance under the Act of May 27, 1908, be exhausted, and it be desirable to organize new units, must the State delay supplying these units with arms and equipment until money is available and placed to the credit of the State.

For the information of the Division of Militia Affairs I will state two possible examples: (1) The requisition of the Commanding Officer, 65th Regiment, for fifty magazine rifles to fully arm and equip his organization; and (2) the possible muster of two additional companies in the 7th Regiment. Both these requests are desired to be complied with by the respective Commanding Officers prior to the tour of field service the present year.

Awaiting your decision and instruction, I am,

Respectfully,
(Signed) NELSON H. HENRY,
The Adjutant-General.

WAR DEPARTMENT, DIVISION OF MILITIA AFFAIRS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 25, 1909.

The Adjutant-General, State of New York, Albany:

SIR.—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the fifteenth instant, in which you ask certain questions with regard to arming and equipping certain newly organized units of your organized militia.

In response thereto, I am directed by the Assistant Secretary of War to answer those questions as follows:

1. Whether additional arms and equipments can be issued to the State gratuitously under the provisions of the Act of May 27, 1908, for the proper armament and equipment of organizations which have been mustered into the service since the exchange of arms and equipment authorized by section 13 of the Militia Law, as amended, was made?

Answer.—Under existing law, no further issue of arms or equipment can be made without charge against the allotment of the State under section 1661, Revised Statutes, as amended, or the allowance made to it under the Act of May 27, 1908.

2. Whether, upon the muster of new organizations, arms and equipment must be secured as a charge against either section 1661, Revised Statutes, as amended, or the Act of May 27, 1908?

Answer.—See answer to question 1, above.

3. In case the allotment under section 1661, Revised Statutes, as amended, should be exhausted, and the allowance made to the State under the Act of May 27, 1908, be exhausted, and it be necessary to organize new units, must the State delay supplying the units with arms and equipment until money is available and placed to the credit of the State?

Answer.—The State would be compelled to delay the supplying of the new units with arms and equipment until funds were placed to the credit of the State from the Federal appropriations, unless the State should decide to procure the articles by purchase for cash from State funds under the provisions of section 17 of the Militia Law.

Very respectfully,
(Signed) E. M. WEAVER,
Licut.-Colonel, General Staff Corps, Chief of Division.

The following resolution was adopted at meeting of Militia Council, Monday, March 29:

“That the Council recommend that the Adjutant-General apply to the War Department for information as to whether, where new units of the National Guard are mustered in, in order to conform to the requirements of the General Militia Act, sufficient arms and equipment may be provided by the War Department anticipating the annual appropriation for this purpose which does not become available until the 30th of June, as the State of New York has some of these units ready to be mustered in.”

In view of the desire to muster a company in the 7th and the 65th Regiments, the Adjutant-General was directed to transmit this resolution to the War Department. The following endorsements followed:

FIRST ENDORSEMENT.

DIVISION OF MILITIA AFFAIRS,

WASHINGTON, April 16, 1909.

Respectfully returned to the Adjutant-General, State of New York, Albany.

The questions herein referred to have been submitted to the Assistant Secretary of War, and his decisions are as follows:

1. The decision reached by the Department as communicated in the letter of this office of March 25, 1909, was arrived at after mature consideration, and the Department is not disposed at the present time to modify its former action.

2. With reference to the statement contained in the concluding paragraph of this letter, "that the balance credited to the State under the Act of May 27th will be more than required — for upon requisitions to be transmitted for clothing," the Assistant Secretary directs me to say that, inasmuch as the records of this office show that the State of New York is well supplied with field service equipment for all of its troops, and the action apparently contemplated by the State, as indicated in this letter, points toward the accumulation of a surplus supply, the spirit of section 13 of the Act approved May 27, 1908, and the apparent intention of Congress, is, in the opinion of the Assistant Secretary of War, against the accumulation of any such surplus, and he desires me to point out that the allotment of the appropriation provided by this Act, as published in Circular No. 9, Division of Militia Affairs, September 30, 1908, was a purely tentative one. In case it should appear that the application of this rule, if carried to its limit, would tend to produce a surplus supply of field service equipment in some of the States and a serious shortage of equipment in other States, he will be disposed, before the end of the fiscal year, to readjust these allotments, so as to more adequately carry out what he conceives to be the intention of Congress in the enactment of this law. His idea is that, from the Federal point of view, Federal funds should be utilized in such a way as to most completely and expeditiously provide a reasonably sufficient equipment of the organized militia of all States for field service, rather than a surplus of equipment in some States with a consequent marked shortage in others.

(Signed) E. M. WEAVER,
Lieut.-Col., General Staff Corps, Chief of Division.

SECOND ENDORSEMENT.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, S. N. Y., ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE,

ALBANY, April 19, 1909.

Respectfully returned to the Chief Division of Militia Affairs, requesting reconsideration of the position taken in the second paragraph of the first endorsement, for the following reasons:

1. It is not the intention of this office on behalf of the State to accumulate a surplus supply of clothing.

2. This office begs to differ with the records if such records definitely show that the State of New York is well supplied with field service equipment for all troops.

3. Articles of clothing absolutely required to conform are now required by organizations even though the records of reports of inspections indicate to the contrary.

4. Many articles of clothing are obsolete or in such condition that during the ensuing year this office will be obliged to replace the same.

5. This State has drawn 2713 O. D. overcoats, and 14,449 will be further required in the near future. There will certainly be further required service hats and slickers, the latter to replace unserviceable ponchos. In many other respects organizations are far from having the equipment called for in the Militia Regulations.

6. A further demand will be made upon the resources to equip and uniform new organizations contemplated and desired to be mustered in order that the infantry organizations of this State may conform to the Militia Act.

7. It would appear to this office that should the action suggested in the second paragraph be maintained that the States, which financially give the greater support to the organized militia, would be penalized by such policy.

8. Should such be made a decision it would necessitate an entire change in the financial estimates of this State. Under the Act of May 27th clothing allowance was fixed at $10 per man, $2 to be borne by the State and $8 by the provisions of the Act of Congress. This clothing allowance does not seem excessive and has been in operation to this date the third quarter. Requisitions of organizations cannot be met, should the policy set forth in paragraph 2 be maintained.

(Signed) NELSON H. HENRY,
The Adjutant-General.

NOTE 4.—The Adjutant-General, State of New York, under date of May 25, transmitted requisition of the Governor for clothing and other property estimated to practically exhaust the balance standing to the credit of the State under this allotment and received in reply the following communication:

WAR DEPARTMENT, DIVISION OF MILITIA AFFAIRS,

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30, 1909.

The Adjutant-General, State of New York, Albany:

SIR.—Referring to requisitions of the Governor of New York, dated May 25, 1909, for clothing and intrenching tools, to be furnished under the Act of May 27, 1908, the Acting Secretary of War instructs me to inform you that the requisition of quartermaster's supplies has been approved for issue of 700 khaki caps, 512 pairs of khaki breeches, 401 pairs of olive drab breeches, 500 olive drab overcoats, 260 olive drab shirts, and 200 pommel slickers, and the value of the articles, $12,169.33, has been charged against the appropriation provided by the Act of May 27, 1908, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1909. The 281 olive drab overcoats and 1,052 olive drab coats still due the State on this requisition, amounting in value to $10,176.27, and the intrenching tools called for, amounting to $796.30, have been ordered issued at the earliest practicable date after July 1, 1909, the total cost thereof will be charged against the appropriation provided by the Act of May 27, 1908, for the fiscal year 1910. The 1,052 olive drab coats which remain to be issued are not in stock and it probably will be sixty or ninety days before they can be supplied. The Quartermaster-General has been instructed to have the issue made as soon as the coats are available.

Since June 1, 1909, all funds remaining from the appropriation under the Act of May 27, 1908, have been used in filling requisitions from States and Territories for articles needed to equip the organized militia for active service in the field, and with the partial filling of the requisition referred to in the first paragraph of this letter, the appropriation under the Act of May 27, 1908, for the fiscal year 1909, has been entirely exhausted.

Very respectfully,

M. C. KERTH,
Captain, Twenty-Third Infantry, Acting Chief of Division.

Circular No. 9, War Department, Division of Militia Affairs, July 1, 1909, republished in Circular 21, Adjutant-General's Office, September 1, 1909, Table 2, allotted to the State of New York, based upon the enlisted strength of 14,331 the sum of $208,802.67, divided as follows:

For supplies	$130,245 12
For ammunition	78,557 55

Of the appropriation of $2,000,000, $400,782.23 was unallotted.

November 4, 1909.

The Chief Division of Militia Affairs, War Department, Washington, D. C.:

SIR.—I have the honor to inform you that the infantry regiments of this State need to complete the regiments the following companies:

- 7th Regiment, Infantry, N. G., N. Y., 2 companies.
- 12th Regiment, Infantry, N. G., N. Y., 1 company.
- 69th Regiment, Infantry, N. G., N. Y., 2 companies.
- 65th Regiment, Infantry, N. G., N. Y., 3 companies.
- 47th Regiment, Infantry, N. G., N. Y., 3 companies.

The 47th New York Infantry will be able to organize only one company this year on account of limited room in the armory. The other regiments have in applications for the new companies.

These applications will call for the clothing, equipment, etc., for a total of 9 companies of 58 men each, minimum, total, 58x9=522. Of course I am giving the minimum number, when I know every one of the companies will exceed this by 10 to 30 men. None of these companies were included in the inspection reports of this year.

The organization of these units must be submitted to the Governor, and I must be able to state whether or not I can handle the matter financially. Now, as it is the policy of your Bureau to handle these companies out of the reserve fund of about $400,000, I am furnishing you with the exact data, requesting you to inform me if you will approve my requisitions, cost to be charged to the extra $400,000. The spirit is very good now, and it is a great opportunity to get these companies. I will appreciate an early answer as I want to put this matter before the Governor. If you can allow this requisition, I can manage the overflow, but if you cannot I will be unable to recommend the new companies.

Respectfully,
(Signed) NELSON H. HENRY,
The Adjutant-General.

NOTE 5.—This communication was returned by the Chief, Division of Militia Affairs, with the information, by indorsement, that the Secretary of War did not consider the case presented one of that degree of urgency that would warrant him making special allotment from the unallotted $400,000 indicated in the Table 2 of Circular No. 9, Division of Militia Affairs, current series. This was covered later in the circular letter following:

WAR DEPARTMENT, DIVISION OF MILITIA AFFAIRS,

WASHINGTON, November 13, 1909.

The Adjutant-General:

SIR.—In view of the many applications that have been received for allotments from the unallotted funds referred to in Table II, Circular No. 9, Division of Militia Affairs, current series, and in note "e" thereof, it is desired to point out that special allotments will be made therefrom only in case of exceptional and urgent needs which amount to an emergency; such, for example, as the creation of new organizations when the existing allotment to the State under section 1661 of the Revised Statutes, as amended, and the Act of May 27, 1908, are not sufficient to provide equipment and uniforms therefor, or if, in case of a national emergency, troops were called to the service of the United States by the President, under section 4 of the Militia Act, and it were found that some additional equipment or supplies were needed for additional enlisted men recruited in connection with such service, and that the Secretary of War will not draw upon these funds for equipment or supplies for existing forces or for new organizations when the States have funds to their credit under section 1661 or the Act of May 27, 1908.

In the last quarter of the fiscal year, that is, after March first, next, the Secretary will allot the unexpended balance of these funds pro rata among the States and Territories in accordance with the rule of allotment applied in making the general apportionment given in Table II.

Very respectfully,
(Signed) E. M. WEAVER,
Lieut.-Col., General Staff Corps, Chief of Division.

NOTE.—CIRCULAR No. 3.

NAVY DEPARTMENT,

WASHINGTON, October 30, 1909.

SIR.—The Department desires to inform you that on July 1, 1909, its records showed a deficit in the allotment of your State of $2,729.60. For this year, the deficit quoted has been cancelled by charge against a reserve fund from appropriation "Arming & Equipping Naval Militia" in order that no charge against the new allotment to cover same would be necessary.

In determining the allotment for each State from appropriation "Arming & Equipping Naval Militia" for the year 1909–1910, the Department used a flat rate of $10.00 per man for the number of petty officers, and enlisted men as shown by the Annual Return for July 1, 1909. In this distribution your allotment was $7,670.00, available July 1, 1909.

When the Department directs that material be furnished to a Naval Militia as a charge against the State allotment, an estimated value is entered on the books of the Department against the allotment. On shipment of the material, the Department is furnished from the point of shipment with invoice giving actual cost. Adjustment is then made, entering the proper credit or debit charge against the allotment. It will, therefore, be seen that a balance in an allotment of a State, as carried on the books of the Department, cannot be considered as an actual balance.

Respectfully,

BEEKMAN WINTHROP,

Assistant Secretary.The Adjutant-General, State of New York,

This fund accumulating for some years has not been expended or utilized, but has been employed in expediting the payment of accounts in accordance with methods of procedure in the Adjutant-General's report in the year 1908. This condition has been repeatedly brought to the attention of the Finance Committee of the Senate, the Committee of Ways and Means; and the present Military Law provides, in section 17, for a contingent fund not to exceed $25,000, but in view of the fact that no action was taken by the Legislature putting into effect this provision of law, this fund is still held intact awaiting instructions.

The authorized maximum strength of the National Guard is 18,000 men. The strength on September 30th of the present year was 995 officers and 15,296 men, aggregate 16,291, with a net increase over the previous year of 901. Should the ratio of increase in the past few years be continued the maximum strength would be reached and action would be necessary to limit recruiting. To be forced to such a step would be detrimental to the progressive efficiency of the service and it is recommended that attention be given, prior to authorizing further muster of organization, as to what line of development would give the greatest efficiency to the organized militia of this State in order that a division, full and complete in every respect, could be placed at the service of the government in case of necessity.

The present strength of the infantry is 566 officers and 10,605 men. There exists at the present time nine vacancies in regimental organizations and applications are on file for authority to muster six of these units. Should, however, existing infantry organizations recruit to the maximum limit of enlisted men allowed by the Military Law, the aggregate strength of the infantry arm of the service alone in this State would far exceed the maximum established by the Military Law and the State Constitution. Moreover, the present strength of the infantry is out of proportion to that of the other arms of the service, particularly with respect to the field artillery and cavalry. Applications have been received for the formation of two troops of cavalry and also for permission to organize a battery of field artillery. Favorable action has been denied on account of the additional expense to arm and equip and support such organizations.

The present strength of the medical department consists of 114 commissioned officers and 463 enlisted men, organized as one field hospital and detachments assigned to different organizations. It is desirable to organize a field hospital stationed in the upper portion of the State, and also two ambulance companies. To allow of such action by the State authorities with the present appropriations from the State and the Government, it is recommended that the permissive authority given the Commander-in-Chief in the Military Law to fix a maximum strength for organizations in time of peace be exercised; that companies of infantry be limited to a maximum strength of seventy-six or eighty-four enlisted men. Such limitation might be extended also to the coast artillery companies and the companies of engineers. Should this action be taken the danger of exceeding the maximum strength could be avoided and the companies now existing on paper could be organized, thereby completing twelve companies in all infantry organizations. Such action would also allow of the organization of possibly two additional troops of cavalry, one battery of field artillery, additional field hospital and two ambulance companies. More commissioned officers and noncommissioned officers would be under instruction and the additional complement of enlisted men to be recruited in time of actual service or call of the Governor and Commander-in-Chief, could be rapidly molded into an efficient force.

There exists a strong sentiment that the term of enlistment of five years be continued, although this department has in previous reports recommended a term of three years. There continues to be a change of one-third of the enlisted strength annually, and it appears to this Department that an increased efficiency would be secured by the limitation of the term of enlistment to three years with permissive authority to re-enlist for not less than two years. At the present time in most organizations a large percentage of enlisted men are allowed to continue in service beyond their term of enlistment without having been definitely re-enlisted. This practice should be abolished and forbidden. The presence in an organization of a percentage of the enlisted strength who may within a limited number of days request their discharge must be detrimental to the efficiency of the organization and would present, in case of muster into United States service, a serious condition. Every enlisted man should, upon the completion of his term, receive proper discharge and if it is his desire to re-enlist, if found physically fit, should be re-enlisted for a term of not less than two years. No service should be allowed to continue indefinitely.

The present condition of the military service of this State, both as to the National Guard or organized militia and the Naval Militia, was never exceeded as to strength, equipment, discipline, general efficiency and realization of patriotic purpose. During the past year the organizations have been called upon once only in the aid of the civil authorities. The commands stationed at Rochester performed excellent service during the period of a fire which threatened the city. Full account of such duty will be found elsewhere in this report.

At the inaugural ceremonies of Governor Charles E. Hughes, second term, the following organizations tendered their services as escort: Squadron A, New York, detachment 2d Battery, and commands stationed in Albany, Troy and Schenectady.

The New York State troops participating in the inauguration of President Taft at Washington, were First Company Signal Corps, Captain Baldwin in command, personal escort to Governor Charles E. Hughes, Commander-in-Chief; Seventh Regiment, Infantry, Colonel Daniel Appleton; Provisional Regiment, Colonel Charles H. Hitchcock, and a battalion of the Naval Militia.

The Hudson-Fulton celebration made many demands upon the organizations attached to Division Headquarters, National Guard, the first, second and third brigades, and the Naval Militia.

The Champlain celebration exacted attendance of the organizations of the third brigade.

In addition to the above service 9,455 officers and enlisted men received instruction in field service, practically more than two-thirds of the organized militia, as follows:

An examination of the sick reports upon above service give a total number reported sick, 1,551; number remaining sick at end of the tour of service, 52; divided as follows:

Coast Artillery exercises, total officers and men, 1900; total sick, 297; continuing sick, 11.

Third Brigade, total officers and men, 2,718; total sick, 799; continuing sick, 11.

Fourth Brigade, total officers and men, 2,436; total sick, 335; continuing sick, 24.

Massachusetts Field Service, total officers and men, 2,303; total sick, 108; continuing sick, 6.

Sixth Battery, F. A., total officers and men, 97; total sick, 12; none sick at end of tour.

It is remarkable and at the same time interesting and instructive to note that the number reported sick during the Massachusetts field service was one-third less than the total number reported sick in the Fourth Brigade or Coast Defense Exercises, and one-seventh less than the number of sick reported in the Third Brigade, and that the number sick at the end of the tour of service was one-half of that of the Coast Artillery or Third Brigade, and was one-fourth of the number at the end of the tour of service of the Fourth Brigade. The Seventh Regiment at the close of the Massachusetts field service reported none sick, whereas the Sixty-fifth Regiment of the Fourth Brigade reports 13.

These returns give no new information to this office but confirm previous records and demonstrate that the greater the service with discipline exacted from organizations, the smaller the sick return. The percentage of sickness reported the past fifteen or twenty years upon tour of field service has progressively decreased in proportion to the increased activity and actual practical service required of organizations. The field service in Massachusetts was under the best possible conditions. It was a practical training in the line which is most needed by the militia, and fully justifies the increased appropriation made by Congress and should encourage support and recognition from the State.

The total expenditure according to data in this office, for field service in 1909 was $225,652.68, of which there was charged against the State, $120,767.63, and against the War Department or United States funds, $104,885.05. This latter figure does not cover entirely the expenditure of the War Department as the expenses incurred for pay, for the Coast Defense exercises and also army pay, subsistence and entire cost of transportation relative to the Massachusetts maneuvers, were charged against special War Department appropriations. The original estimate of this office was $260,000, and it is fair to assume that the expenditure during the past year for this source of instruction to the organized militia of this State was $140,000 from United States funds or the allotment under revised statutes 1661, and $120,000 from State appropriation.

Certain decisions of the auditor for the War Department confirmed by the Comptroller of the Treasury, may lead to embarrassment the ensuing year in connection with the field service instruction, the effect of these decisions being to stop the use by State disbursing officers of funds allotted to the States and Territories under section 1661, revised statutes, as amended, for the purpose of liquidating expenses incurred by State troops in joint maneuvers under section 15 of the Militia Act.

As finally passed, the law reads as follows:

“ The accounting officers of the Treasury are hereby authorized and directed to credit in the accounts of the disbursing officers of the several States, Territories and the District of Columbia, such amounts as have been, or may be, disallowed in their accounts for payments heretofore made by them on account of the participation of the organized militia in the encampments, maneuvers and field instruction of the Regular Army, under the provisions of section nine of the Act of Congress approved May twenty-seventh, nineteen hundred and eight, entitled ‘An act to further amend the act entitled “An act to promote the efficiency of the militia, and for other purposes,”’ approved January twenty-first, nineteen hundred and three.”

As the question stands, therefore, State disbursing officers cannot use any of the funds allotted under section 1661, Revised Statutes, as amended, for the pay, subsistence, or transportation, or other expenses incidental to encampments for field instruction held in connection with any joint maneuver with the regular forces that may take place under the provisions of section 15 of the Militia Law. If any State desires to participate next year with the regular forces in any joint maneuvers, it must arrange to pay all expenses for pay, transportation, subsistence, and all other incidental expenses, either from State funds, or be dependent upon such allotment of Federal funds as may be made by Congress especially for such joint maneuvers.

This restriction on State disbursing officers in the use of the funds allotted under revised statutes 1661, should be removed. There should be no question relative to the use of these funds and that sole authority and consent should remain with the State authorities. If action is not taken by the present Congress to remedy this condition, it may be impractical for the organized militia of this State to participate in the joint maneuvers the ensuing year unless the State will make a special appropriation to cover the full amount of expenditures for pay, subsistence and transportation of such organizations as may be designated to participate.

This matter was considered by the National Guard Association of the United States at its convention in Los Angeles, and an amendment was recommended under which the State's allotment coming from revised statutes 1661 could be available for such expenditure. The Assistant Secretary of War has approved of the amendment submitted and presented the same to the House Committee on Military Affairs, Congress, to be inserted in the appropriation bill. The amending clause reads as follows:

“ The Secretary of War is authorized on the requisition of the Governor of a State or Territory or the Commanding General of the Militia of the District of Columbia to pay to the Quartermaster General thereof or to such other officer of the militia as may be duly designated and appointed for the purpose, so much of its allotment out of the annual appropriation under section 1661 of the revised statutes, as amended, as shall be necessary for the payment, subsistence, transportation and other expenses of such portion of the organized militia as shall engage in the encampment, maneuvers and field instruction with any part of the Regular Army at or near any military post or camp or lake or sea-coast defense of the United States.”

In accordance with the recommendation of the War Department, concurred in by commanding officers who have participated in combined maneuvers, it is strongly recommended that in the future no men enlisted within a year previous, shall be allowed to participate. The presence of raw recruits cannot help but be demoralizing and an impediment to commanding officers in carrying out this advanced course of instruction. I would further recommend that all recruits of one year be ordered to the Peekskill Camp of Instruction annually, there to be organized into provisional companies and battalions and with proper assigned instructors to receive elementary instruction in field service. Such action would not incur materially any extra expenditure to the State, but would establish a progressive line of instruction absolutely necessary for the welfare of the service. It is recognized that the promotion of the efficiency of the service both of the regular establishment and the organized militia will be accomplished most rapidly by the concentration at certain points of instruction of the regulars with the militia troops.

A plan of organization designating the exact organization of the first line has been submitted by the Secretary of War and is now under consideration by the Militia Council of this State. Such scheme contemplates the assigning of each organization of the State troops to their proper brigade and division in any army corps with the further purpose that, as opportunity offers these larger units may be concentrated at camps of instruction and mobilized as for actual service. This policy, looking to the defense of the United States by the Secretary of War, is most heartily commended by this office and should be heartily supported by the State and the people.

The Coast Artillery service of this State is deserving of commendation. By the conversion of the 8th and 9th regiments of infantry to coast artillery companies, this State has furnished more than its quota of reserves. Great progress has been made during the past year and steps have been taken to fully equip the armories of these districts with apparatus to carry out this special line of instruction. The armory of the 13th Artillery District has been partially equipped but is to be further supplemented by apparatus of modern type. The armories of the 8th and 9th Artillery Districts will be equipped in similar way, and a course of instruction, concurred in by the War Department, and these organizations, will be established during the ensuing season. The expenditure required for this equipment and its installation will be covered by special appropriation of Congress, by the city of New York, and from the general State fund for the support of the National Guard.

In most commands the promotion of officers continues under the elective system. A few organizations have taken advantage of the provision in the Military Law placing the power in hands of commanding officers of making the selection by appointment. There is much room for improvement in this matter. The elective system has many disadvantages giving rise to factional results without securing the promotion of the most deserving, or ones who would make the most efficient officers. The system of promotion by seniority would also be subject to adverse criticism. Promotion in the organized militia should be divorced from social or political influence and should be established only upon merit. Many States have established systems wherein commissioned officers upon holding grade for certain periods must submit to examination to prove their fitness and demonstrate their qualification for higher command. I would suggest for your consideration the establishment of an annual examination in each brigade for captains and lieutenants. These examinations could be opened to officers of the lower grades. For the examinations for second lieutenant, noncommissioned officers could be eligible. The returns of these examining boards could be placed upon file. In case of vacancies, appointments should be made from selections from these lists by the superior commanding officer. With such a system, would be created an incentive in the ranks as well as among the commissioned officers for the faithful performance of duty with the knowledge of recognition and opportunity to rise in rank.

The establishment of a fixed clothing allowance has proved most satisfactory in every respect. The enlisted strength September 30, 1908, was 14,449 men, the money value clothing allowance for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1909, was \$144,490. In accordance with the provisions of General Orders No. 56, September 22, 1908, A. G. O., the total value of clothing authorized to be issued was owing to the creation of new organizations, increased to \$179,295.37. For the present fiscal year the amount of clothing allowance per man, \$10, was continued. General Orders No. 61, November 4, 1909, c. s., A. G. O., is based upon the enlisted strength September 30th, of 15,293, requiring an expenditure for the full amount of clothing allowance for the fiscal year closing September 30, 1910, of \$152,930. It is fair to presume that should there be an increase in the enlisted strength the ensuing year equal to that of the past year, that the amount required will be increased to \$180,000. The State of New York is allotted a clothing allowance per enlisted man of \$8.33 $\frac{1}{3}$, by the War Department, under the act of May 27th. The policy of this State has been to consider the articles included in the clothing allowance of \$10 under two classes, drawing all articles of dress uniform from State appropriation and those of service uniform from the Government, making a charge of \$2 against the State appropriation, and \$8 against the appropriation under Act of May 27th.

The responsibility for the appearance of an organization in respect to uniform and clothing being established upon a fair, equal basis, now depends entirely upon the commanding officers and the care and issue of property by their respective quartermasters. The operation of this provision during the past two years has given evidence that much of the adverse criticism previously reported was without just foundation, and due in great part to carelessness and lack of responsibility and knowledge on the part of commanding officers.

From one regimental station from which much adverse criticism was recorded during the sessions of the committee to investigate the condition of the National Guard, respecting the issue of second-hand uniforms, upon its conversion to a coast artillery command, thereby necessitating the furnishing of new dress uniforms, there was turned in to the arsenal 132 full dress coats of various sizes, from one to six, which were found to be as new as issued; such a condition cannot arise in the future.

In all probability, it will be found at the close of the fiscal year that the uniform allowance can be reduced without detriment to the appearance of organizations.

The organized militia of this State is now practically armed and equipped in accordance with the militia regulations of the War Department. Any shortage existing will be supplied as rapidly as appropriations will allow.

The reports of small arms practice for the past year show a constant and marked improvement, and the greatest interest on the part of the service. Total number of marksman qualifications during the past year was 11,101, of which number 1,527 further qualified as sharpshooters, 587 as experts, and 1,044 as distinguished experts. The falling off in the total number of qualifications during the past year as compared with the previous year, is accounted for from the fact of the unavailability of the Creedmoor Rifle Range to organizations of New York and Brooklyn, necessitating practice at the Sea Girt Rifle Range, New Jersey, granted through the courtesy of the Governor of that State. With the beginning of small arms practice the ensuing year, it is expected that the new rifle range at Blauvelt will be completed and made available to organizations in the southern portion of the State, and with this assurance of increased opportunity for practice, the return for 1910 will show greater number of qualifications. In the above circumstances the highest credit is due the organizations of this State in responding to the call under the authority granted the Commanding Officer, Divisional National Guard, by the Governor of this State, to organize a team to represent this State in the National Match at Camp Perry, Ohio, and the success achieved by Lieutenant-Colonel N. B. Thurston, Chief Ordnance Officer, Division National Guard, Captain, New York State Team, and the members. The team representing this State made marked improvement in record over that of 1908, and with a total score of 3,686 points to its credit, finishing in seventh place, winning thereby the first prize, the Hilton Trophy in Class B. The report of Lieutenant-Colonel N. B. Thurston, is transmitted as Appendix "F."

It is earnestly recommended that in the future this State shall be adequately represented at the annual convention of National Guard Association of the United States. With the largest organized force and the greatest interests at stake, it is most important and essential that the influence of this State should be exercised in shaping recommendations to the War Department, which in most cases control subsequent action and policy in defining the relations of the State with the Federal Government.

The expenses of delegates should be paid from the general fund for the support of the National Guard of this State. The reports of the two delegates attending the convention held in Los Angeles, California, September 27th to 30th, will be found transmitted as Appendix "K."

The Major-General, commanding the Division National Guard, in special orders was authorized to detail a board to consist of eight officers, to revise the regulations of the military forces of the State. This board is now in session and it is expected will render report the early part of the ensuing year, amending the regulations so far as practicable so that records, papers and lines of procedure may conform with army regulations. This important step will place in the hands of officers proper regulations so that all may familiarize themselves with the action they must follow in every line of service whether in aid of the civil authorities or when mustered in to the regular service.

I have to commend the valuable services rendered to this State and the organized militia during the past year by Captain R. Foster Walton, U. S. A., retired, on duty at General Headquarters. To his tactful, zealous and intelligent work in imparting knowledge, both theoretical and practical to officers of this State, is due in great measure the increased efficiency noted. Your careful consideration is requested to his report transmitted herewith as Appendix "C."

The wisdom of the establishment of a Militia Council in this State has been more than fully confirmed. As now organized it bears a close relation to the General Staff in the United States Army. All matters of importance involving military law, regulations, organization, equipment, duty and discipline of the militia, and in general, the expenditure of funds, are carefully digested and recommendations duly presented to the Governor for his consideration as Commander-in-Chief. In this advisory capacity and in sharing the responsibilities placed upon this Department, it has rendered the Chief of Staff the greatest assistance, at the same time creating a clear understanding and accord in action. The following report of the Militia Council for the year ending December 31st, is submitted for your consideration:

ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE, STATE OF NEW YORK.

MILITIA COUNCIL, ALBANY, N. Y., December 31, 1909.

Adjutant-General, Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to make the following report of the Militia Council for the year ending December 31, 1909.

Sessions of the Council were held monthly during the past year except during the months of May, July and August.

On June 27, 1909, the terms of Colonel George C. Fox, 74th Infantry, and Major Charles I. DeBevoise, Squadron C, expired and in their places were appointed Lieutenant-Colonel W. Irving Taylor, Coast Artillery Corps, and Major Francis G. Landon, 7th Infantry. The law having been amended making captains eligible for appointment, Captain John F. O'Ryan was appointed for a period of two years from June 27, 1909.

The membership of the Council during the remainder of the year and as now constituted, is as follows:

Chief of Council, Major-General Charles F. Roe, Commanding Division.
 Brigadier-General Nelson H. Henry, Adjutant-General.
 Captain Jacob W. Miller, Commanding Naval Militia.
 Brigadier-General James H. Lloyd, Commanding 3d Brigade.
 Lieutenant-Colonel Washington I. Taylor, Coast Artillery Corps.
 Major Frederick A. Wells, 23d Infantry.
 Major William Verbeck, 3d Infantry.
 Major Francis G. Landon, 7th Infantry.
 Captain John F. O'Ryan, First Battery.

During the past year the Council has considered and made recommendations with respect to matters involving the efficiency of the State Military Service, some of which have been of fundamental importance. The minutes of the several meetings held during the past year show that the amount of work done had grown steadily and progressively.

The Major-General Commanding and the Adjutant-General of the State have found the role of the Council an important one in its relation to their labors and the thought and constructive work of its subcommittees great aids in the consideration of matters affecting the efficiency of the military service-matters which are growing rapidly in importance and volume.

Changes in the Military Law, or regulations and proposals which are believed by officers to be for the increased efficiency of the service, are submitted for the consideration of the Council by such officers in official communications addressed to the Council and sent through the channel. In this manner an authoritative body which is provided by law, may receive and consider such proposals and make such recommendations to the Governor concerning the same as it deems proper and expedient.

Where the Council has found it desirable to ask for comments and expressions of opinion from officers concerning matters under consideration, such comments and opinions have been given with an intelligence and zeal commendable of the spirit which exists in the service.

The minutes of the meetings held during the year set forth the matters considered by the Council and the disposition made of the same.

Very respectfully,

JOHN F. O'RYAN,

Captain, First Battery.
Secretary.

All matters affecting the Military Law or the Guard in general, which require new legislation, should be referred to the Militia Council. Under the provisions of the order organizing this Council all communications or recommendations from officers can be duly considered and hearings be granted where necessary. It would be to the interests of the service in preserving proper discipline that general orders be issued prohibiting that the initiative in legislation be taken by officers of the service without previously having received the authority from General Headquarters. I would invite your attention to the following circular of the War Department:

WAR DEPARTMENT.

WASHINGTON, December 4, 1909.

CIRCULAR,
No. 82.

The following War Department circular is published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

WAR DEPARTMENT.

WASHINGTON, December 4, 1909.

CIRCULAR:

The following order of the President is published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

"It is hereby ordered that no bureau, office or division chief, or subordinate in any department of the Government, and no officer of the army or navy or marine corps stationed in Washington, shall apply to either House of Congress, or to any committee of either House of Congress, or to any member of Congress, for legislation, or for appropriations, or for congressional action of any kind, except with the consent and knowledge of the head of the department; nor shall any such person respond to any request for information from either House of Congress, or any Committee of either House of Congress, or any Member of Congress, except through, or as authorized by, the head of his department.

"WM. H. TAFT.

"The White House, November 26, 1909."

Under the exception contained in the concluding sentence of the foregoing order, chiefs of bureaus and the chief of staff, are hereby given general authority to respond directly to any request for information from either House of Congress or any committee or member of either House of Congress on all ordinary and routine matters pertaining exclusively to their respective offices; but information bearing on questions of policy; or on important or unusual matters, or of a character which sound judgment would indicate as coming properly within the discretion of the head of the Department whose views Congress, its committees and members are entitled to know in their consideration of questions affecting the Department; or information which a chief of bureau or the chief of staff would wish brought to his knowledge if he were the head of the Department should not be given out without first being submitted to and authorized by the Secretary of War.

J. M. DICKINSON.

Secretary of War.

By order of the Secretary of War:

J. FRANKLIN BELL,

Major-General, Chief of Staff.

Official:

HENRY P. MCCAIN,
Adjutant-General.

Action has been taken by many of the States upon similar lines prohibiting such practice.

The estimate of this Department for the fiscal year 1910, provides for an increase in the clerical force. This is necessary for the reasons that the duties of the several departments are concentrated and the Adjutant-General of the State performs the functions of Chief, pertaining to each. The vast amount of labor required of this office includes the auditing of all accounts, procuring, issuing and caring for all properties, the payment of troops when in service, the duties of a United States Disbursing Officer, and rendition of accounts to the War and Navy Departments, the adjustment and settlement of all claims, in addition to the recognized duties of The Adjutant-General. Within the past few years this work has so enormously increased that unless an adequate force of qualified assistants and clerks be allowed it will be impossible for The Adjutant-General to render the prompt and efficient services that is his desire and is rightfully demanded by virtue of this important office.

In closing I wish to acknowledge the splendid service rendered by the present official staff, who have served faithfully and effectively and who deserve recognition, which can come by way of promotion if my petition be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

NELSON H. HENRY,

The Adjutant-General.

Report of Major-General Charles F. Roe, Commanding Division, National Guard.

HEADQUARTERS DIVISION NATIONAL GUARD,
STATE OF NEW YORK,

CAPITOL, ALBANY, November 30, 1909.

The Adjutant-General, State of New York:

SIR.— I have the honor to submit my annual report for the current year as commanding officer of the Division, National Guard, State of New York, for the information of the Commander-in-Chief.

CHANGES IN ORGANIZATIONS.

During the year ending September 30, 1909, there were organized:

May 11, 1909, Company " L," Seventh Infantry.

June 30, 1909, Company " K," Sixty-fifth Infantry.

The organization of the following companies authorized by G. O. 64, A. G. O., 1908, has been completed since the last report and these organizations mustered in the service:

Companies " L " and " M," Twenty-second Regiment, Corps of Engineers.

Company " M," Twenty-third Infantry.

Company " L," Seventy-first Infantry.

Companies " L " and " M," Seventy-fourth Regiment.

Twenty-third Company, C. A. C.

Th strength of the individual organizations is shown in the copy of the semi-annual return for September 30, 1909, attached to this report as Appendix "I."

SERVICE.

I am pleased to say that during the past year there has been no call by the civil authorities of the State for the service of the National Guard.

The following organizations were designated by the Governor to perform tours of camp and field service as stated below.

The Chief of Coast Artillery and the provisional regiments of the Coast Artillery Corps of the Eighth, Ninth and Thirteenth Artillery Districts took part with the United States Coast Artillery troops in coast defense exercises in New York harbor.

The Third Brigade comprising the Brigade Commander, his staff, and the First, Second and Tenth Regiments, Infantry, performed tours of field service; the Tenth Infantry at Fort Frederick, Crown Point, N. Y.; and the First and Second Infantry at Plattsburg Barracks, N. Y., in connection with the Tercentenary Celebration of the discovery of Lake Champlain.

The First and Second Companies, Signal Corps; the Provisional Regiment, Corps of Engineers; the First Battalion, Field Artillery; two Provisional Troops from Squadron "A," Cavalry; and the Seventh and Fourteenth Regiments, Infantry, were designated by the Governor, and participated in the field service in Massachusetts, under the direction of the Commanding General, Department of the East.

The Fourth Brigade comprising the Brigade Commander, his staff, and the Third, Sixty-fifth and Seventy-fourth Regiments, Infantry, performed tours of field service at Farnham, Erie county, N. Y. The Field Hospital also took part in field service with the Fourth Brigade.

The Sixth Battery, Field Artillery, performed a tour of field service in the vicinity of Binghamton, N. Y., its home station.

Such reports as have been received by me from the various commanding officers of these organizations on this field service of their respective commands are attached to this report as Appendix 2.

From knowledge gained by personal observation and from reports of officers, I believe that the services rendered and duties performed by the above-mentioned organizations were satisfactory to those under whom they operated and that the majority of the organizations derived much benefit from this service. Their conduct and discipline in all cases was excellent and the organizations performing field service under the auspices of the Department of the East were commended by its commanding general for their excellent conduct and soldierly spirit. The average attendance at all field service was 82 per cent.—a satisfactory showing.

Several organizations performed short tours of volunteer camp and field service without expense to the State and reports of this duty are attached as Appendix 3.

FIELD SMALL ARMS PRACTICE.

The new range at Blauvelt not being completed, was not available for use this season and the organizations of the National Guard stationed in New York city and Brooklyn were required to practice, as during last year, at the range at Sea Girt, N. J., the use of which was again courteously allowed by the authorities of the State of New Jersey. This arrangement made general practice expensive and supplementary practice difficult, especially as most of the organizations did not hold their general practice until September or October, leaving but a comparatively short period for supplementary days. This affected the number of qualifications in sharpshooters, experts and distinguished experts; however, the results of the season's practice are very satisfactory.

The practice was under the supervision of Lieutenant-Colonel N. B. Thurston, Chief Ordnance Officer, Division, and was completed on Saturday, October 23, 1909.

Transportation was furnished by the Pennsylvania railroad and the Central railroad of New Jersey, under contracts made by the Chief Ordnance Officer on my staff and approved by the Adjutant-General of the State.

Owing to the high cost of transportation, each commanding officer was requested to order to Sea Girt during the General Practice only those officers and enlisted men, who were required to practice, and transportation for company servants was not allowed unless paid by the organizations. The request was complied with by every organization.

The attendance was very good considering the lateness of the season and the large amount of military duty required during the Hudson-Fulton Celebration, by the organizations who practiced.

On the whole the discipline was good, and the practice passed off without incident or accident except the accidental shooting of a Hospital Corps Private by another member of the Hospital Corps Detachment attached to the Fourteenth Infantry, on Tuesday, October 5, 1909, which was previously reported.

The wounded man died at the Monmouth Memorial Hospital, at Long Branch, New Jersey, early on the morning of October 6th.

The Sergeant in the Ordnance Department, State of New Jersey, who was slightly wounded in the thigh by the same bullet at the same time entirely recovered, and was present for duty during the remainder of the practice.

The thanks of the State are due Brigadier-General Bird W. Spencer, Inspector-General of Rifle Practice, State of New Jersey, in charge of the Sea Girt Range, together with all his employees, for his courteous treatment.

Qualifications for Decorations.

Seven thousand nine hundred and forty-three officers and men qualified as marksmen; 1,527 as sharpshooters; 587 as experts; 1,044 as distinguished experts; making the total number of qualifications, 11,101.

In 1908, there were 9,534 marksmen; 1,535 sharpshooters; 939 experts; 536 distinguished experts; total qualifications, 13,544.

General Figure of Merit of Organizations.

The figures of merit of the various companies, etc., of the National Guard show that improvement is constant and that commendable efforts are made to increase attendance, scores and the number of qualifications.

The highest figure of merit made this season by any subdivision was 93.10, during the season of 1908, it was 89.80.

Of the organizations attached to the headquarters of the Division, the following obtained the highest figure of merit and received the figure of merit prizes authorized by section 112 of the Military Law.

Troop "D;" prize of $100; figure of merit, 75.38.

Troop 2, Squadron "A;" prize of $50; figure of merit, 63.49.

Of the organizations composing the brigades, the following won and received the figure of merit prizes.

First Brigade.

Company "B," Seventh Regiment; prize of $75; figure of merit, 58.22.

Company "F," Sixty-ninth Regiment; prize of $50; figure of merit, 65.94.

Second Brigade.

Company "E," Twenty-third Infantry; prize of $100; figure of merit, 58.03.

Company "K," Forty-seventh Infantry; prize of $75; figure of merit, 43.15.

Company "G," Twenty-third Infantry; prize of $50; figure of merit, 43.09.

Third Brigade.

Company "F," Second Infantry; prize of $100; figure of merit, 84.52. (Thirty-seventh Separate Company.)

Fourth Brigade.

Company "M," Third Infantry; prize of $100; figure of merit, 93.10. (Second Separate Company.)

Company "E," Sixty-fifth Infantry; prize of $75; figure of merit, 84.72. (Thirteenth Separate Company.)

Company "I," Third Infantry; prize of $50; figure of merit, 82.00. (Forty-third Separate Company.)

Brigade Prizes.

The competition for the prize in the Third Brigade resulted in the team of the First Infantry winning the prize of $100 by a score of 1,107.

The competition for the prize in the Fourth Brigade resulted in the team of the Seventy-fourth Infantry winning the prize of $100 by a score of 1,132.

There were no Brigade matches in the First and Second Brigades, as no range was available for practice.

State prize, Governor's and other prize competitions were omitted as no range was available for practice.

McAlpin and Dryden Trophies.

A team to represent the State in the matches for these trophies was authorized by the Governor. The matches were shot at Sea Girt, N. J., September 8th, 10th and 11th. The team from this State was unsuccessful. The report on this subject has already been forwarded.

National Trophy Match.

The Governor authorized the formation of a team to represent the State in this match, which was shot at Camp Perry, Ohio, August 23, 24 and 25, 1909. While not successful in winning the trophy the team finished seventh in order, which, in consideration of all the conditions, was a satisfactory standing. The report of the Captain of the team has already been forwarded.

Condition of the National Guard.

During the past year the National Guard has increased in numbers and has improved in every way. It is a satisfactory body of citizen soldiers, and is practically uniformed, armed and equipped for all purposes. Its continued effort for increased efficiency and its close attention to duty deserves great praise.

The reports of the four Brigade Commanders giving details regarding their commands, and the general orders and circulars issued by me in 1909, are attached to this report as appendices 4 to 8.

Respectfully,

CHAS. F. ROE,
Major-General.

HEADQUARTERS SEVENTH REGIMENT, NATIONAL GUARD, N. Y.

NEW YORK, December , 1909.

Adjutant-General, State of New York, Capitol Post-office, Albany, New York:

SIR.— In compliance with orders I have the honor to forward herewith my report to the Chief of Staff, First Division, First Corps, Red Army on the duty performed by the New York Brigade during the Field Exercises in Massachusetts, August 13–21, 1909.

I again desire to emphasize the important part taken by the troops from New York and it was an inspiration to observe the zeal and efficiency displayed by the several commands, who from time to time reported to me for duty. This includes the Twenty-second Engineers, the Seventh and Fourteenth Regiments of Infantry and the First, Second and Third Batteries of Field Artillery.

His Excellency, the Governor and the People of the State of New York have the satisfaction of knowing that in discipline, efficiency and equipment the troops from New York were not excelled by any other troops in the field.

I also forward herewith the report of Lieutenant-Colonel Willard C. Fisk, commanding the Seventh Infantry and invite your attention to the details that he has covered and the recommendations that he has made. In conclusion I desire to offer my acknowledgments to yourself for the prompt and ready assistance given me in organizing the Second New York Brigade.

Respectfully,

DANIEL APPLETON,
Colonel.

- 11:31 A. M. Regiment dismissed.

The weather from the 13th to the evening of the 16th of August was clear. It clouded at sunset August 16th and heavy rain fell during the night 16th-17th August. The morning of the 17th was overcast with light rain which increased until by noon there was a high wind from the northeast with heavy driving rain continuing during the night. The morning of the 18th was cloudy with some rain clearing at noon. The 19th, 20th and 21st were clear. No high temperature was experienced. During the night 14th-15th and while the storm continued the temperature was unseasonably low.

From August 13th to 19th inclusive, the regiment marched 46½ miles not including outpost and advance guard patrols and the distance covered during engagements.

The regiment was on the road between camps, marching, halting, doing advance guard work and engaging the enemy, as follows:

August 14th from 10:10 A. M. to 1:50 P. M.; 3 hours, 40 minutes.

August 15th from 9:10 A. M. to 1:10 P. M.; 4 hours.

August 16th from 10:24 A. M. to 1:50 P. M.; 3 hours, 26 minutes

August 17th from 6:18 A. M. to 1:20 P. M.; 7 hours, 2 minutes.

August 18th from 7:00 A. M. to 2:05 P. M.; 7 hours, 5 minutes.

August 19th from 5:00 A. M. to 1:45 P. M.; 8 hours, 45 minutes.

A total of 33 hours and 58 minutes for the six days. In addition, special details of companies, squads and individuals were further occupied with outpost, patrolling and other similar work. Each day the necessary work was performed of breaking and making camp, loading and unloading quartermaster and commissary wagons, procuring fuel and water, digging and filling latrines and kitchen pits and general police.

The regiment was fully equipped in accordance with the memorandum from Headquarters, Department of the East, dated July 15, 1909, except that the olive drab blouse and breeches instead of the Khaki, were worn. Requisition was made to the State authorities for mosquito bars which was not honored, and they were supplied by the regiment from its private funds. The clothing, arms, ammunition, equipment and kit (exclusive of intrenching tools) carried by each enlisted man weighed 56 pounds.

From the beginning to the end of these exercises officers and men in all departments and of every rank and grade performed their duty with promptness, intelligence and cheerfulness. The discipline of the command was all that could be asked; there was no neglect or disobedience of orders. Private property was neither invaded, appropriated or destroyed, except so far as the nature of the exercises and the orders of superior authority required.

As an example of the system and alacrity with which the regiment worked it may be noted that on August 16th at 8:55 A. M. an order was received to break camp and move at once. It was unexpected, and many of the officers and men were resting in their tents partly dressed; all the kitchen fires were lighted and the cooks preparing for the midday meal; the officers' mounts and the train teams were unsaddled and unharnessed; an outpost was established $\frac{1}{2}$ mile from camp.

Camp was struck, wagons loaded, latrines and pits filled, fires put out, camp policed and the entire regiment in column ready to move in forty-two minutes.

There were no stragglers from the column at any time on the march; every man came into camp with the regiment except those on detailed or detached duty.

The health of the command was excellent and aside from blistered and chafed feet there were but few cases requiring the attention of the medical officers. A few men were returned to their home station on the advice of the medical officers, before the conclusion of the exercises.

The duty required was arduous and fatiguing particularly for unseasoned troops, but the exercises were novel, interesting and instructive. They probably more nearly simulated the conditions of actual warfare than have other military maneuvers held in this country. Every officer and man participating gained much in military experience and knowledge and is in consequence better qualified to serve his country in time of need.

The value of these exercises would in large part be lost if the faults and mistakes were not noted for future improvements and to that end, I venture the following observations:

The regiment was generally well supplied in the matter of shoes, but many men did not realize the importance of having the shoes of large size and thoroughly broken in.

The orders did not provide for carrying extra shoes, presumably to reduce weight. Some men carried slippers or "sneakers" and found them a great relief in camp; the extra weight was inconsiderable. Proper attention was not given to the sock worn, which is as important as the shoe. A sock which is thin or ill fitting or with holes or darns is unsuitable for such service, especially in wet weather. A thick, well fitting sock, preferably of wool, is the best; it forms a cushion for the foot and prevents blisters.

The present issue of canvas puttee leggings is unsatisfactory. They bind the leg in places and in some cases cut through the shoe and cause abrasions. They are not as comfortable as the old style canvas leggings. For this duty, the dismounted officers wore the cloth wrapped puttee in place of the leather puttee, and they were found greatly superior for foot work. Their superiority over the canvas or leather leggings for foot troops is so manifest that it seems strange they have not been adopted for both officers and men.

The rifle cartridge belt when worn with suspenders, haversack, canteen, bayonet-scarbald and intrenching tool is not of much use as an ammunition carrier, when in action. The pockets immediately in front are the only ones accessible, and it is almost impossible for a man unaided to quickly take a clip from the other pockets.

The present method of fastening the canteen to the cartridge belt is faulty; it is difficult to hook and unhook. The snap hook should be fastened to the belt and a ring set on the canteen strap to hook into it.

Some proper means of fastening the wire cutters to the belt should be devised.

The ponchos are almost useless to protect against rain. They leak, let in water through the neck hole and are of such poor quality that they tear and the rubber peels off. At the end of thirty days' service there would not be one left fit for use.

The shelter tent poles are too easily broken and in wet weather they swell so it is difficult to joint or unjoint them.

The cooking equipment allowed each kitchen included three camp kettles. This number was found inadequate; an additional kettle was greatly needed. A strip of canvas to place to windward of the wall tent fly would be of much service in stormy weather.

The company cooks marched in ranks, carried the same weight and performed the same duties as the other enlisted men on the road; in camp they worked many hours over the cook fires preparing meals, cleaning cooking utensils and making and breaking camp. On the march they should be detailed to the train as a guard and their rolls carried on the wagons.

The rations and their issue were far from satisfactory, and seem to have been arranged without consideration for the nature of the service. The fresh meat ration (beef) was poor in quality, and the carcass light in weight. There were but few issues of fresh meat, and it was delivered frozen so hard and at such hours as to make it almost impossible to use it in the limited time at the disposal of the cooks. One third of the fresh meat had to be buried or given away owing to lack of transportation and of time to cook it.

Bacon, relished by all, was only issued in the haversack ration, although an extra supply was furnished by the regiment at its own expense.

Canned corn beef was issued. The men tired of it quickly and at least a third of the cans were found to be tainted.

Three times as much hard bread was issued as could be used; the quality was excellent.

The issue of dried beans was practically useless, as there was seldom sufficient time to properly prepare them; if canned baked beans had been substituted they would have been appreciated.

The jam component was so small in quantity as to be ridiculous; the condensed milk issued was not half enough and the coffee issued was of poor quality.

During this tour the men had breakfast at 4, 5 or 6 A. M., according to the requirements of the march; the next meal could not be served until 2 or 3 P. M., to be followed a short time later with the evening meal.

As the hours for marching and manœuvring were arranged, it would have been desirable if some articles of the ration had been issued with which a cold lunch could have been prepared to carry in the haversack and be eaten on the march or during the halts. It would then only have been necessary for the cooks to prepare two hot meals each day and the men would not have gone so many hours at a time without food.

We were informed a travel ration would be issued on the transport during the return journey. None was furnished and I issued an order authorizing the expenditure by each man of twenty-five cents for each of three meals, in lieu of the issue of rations.

The instructions stated that four escort wagons would be allowed to the regiment (one for headquarters and one for each battalion), one ambulance with H. C. driver, and three ammunition carts (one for each battalion), and that these vehicles would be supplied to the organization at the point of debarkation. The regiment was prepared to take the field with escort wagons, ambulance and ammunition carts if required.

The attempt was made by the United States Quartermaster's Department to depend on hired transportation from the locality. It was a flat failure. In time of war such transportation could be seized, but in this case it was hired and the owners felt at liberty to quit their employment as they pleased; there was no power to stop them. No escort wagons were furnished; instead, we were assigned four wagons of various design and capacity with teams incapable of doing the work required.

There was no adequate supply train. The commissary more than once sat for hours by the roadside with his rations waiting for a promised supply train and then brought his rations forward with transportation privately hired. After the troops were two or three days distant from their base it was impossible for the regimental train to also act as supply train.

No ambulance was furnished at any time and the medical officers were without transportation for the sick or exhausted until the middle of the week, when a makeshift wagon was furnished to them. The ammunition carts consisted of light four-wheeled wagons drawn by one horse. They were taken over the heavy roads only by the assistance of the men on foot; one broke down entirely and had to be abandoned.

Water was difficult to obtain owing to an exceptionally dry season and the scarcity of wells and springs. A watering cart was assigned to the regiment. When this could be filled from a hydrant no great trouble was experienced, but more often it had to be filled from wells or springs by the use of pails, a tedious and laborious proceeding. If some kind of a hand pump had been supplied the labor would have been materially reduced.

A cycle corps consisting of eight bicycles and three motor cycles was organized in the regiment and placed in charge of Acting Regimental Sergeant-Major Haywood. These men worked faithfully and well and are highly commended.

The motor cycles are useless except for communication in the rear of the column or behind the lines. The machine cannot be pushed by hand, it cannot be ridden at the pace of a marching column, it is helpless in mud or sand and cannot be used for patrolling, as the noise of operation betrays its presence. The bicycle is more useful with a marching column, but for the service of information is not as useful as the horse.

The exercises were disappointing, in that they furnished little or no opportunity for officers or noncommissioned to put in practice their theoretical knowledge of patrolling, advance and rear guard, outpost and the general duties of security and information. About 98 per cent. of the work was marching and making and breaking camp and about 2 per cent. advance guard and contact with the enemy. There was no attempt to instruct officers or men by talks or lectures by the umpires or qualified regular officers present as observers. Such lessons as were learned were by observation and experience without assistance from the professional soldier. By invitation, Captains Chitty and Enochs, U. S. A. graduates of the School of the Line and serving on your staff, talked to the officers and men of the regiment on Monday evening, much to their interest and profit.

The hours for the exercises, 5 A. M. to 1 P. M., were too long. When in close contact with the enemy, necessitating a start at 5 A. M., the men had to be up at 3 and when the exercises continued to the end of the period it was 2 P. M. or later before they were in camp. A period of four hours, from 7 until 11 A. M., would give sufficient time; the column could be marched from eight to ten miles in that period. To manœuvre green and unseasoned troops continuously for six or seven days is an unnecessary hardship. In exercises of this character there should be a cessation of operations for one day in the middle of the period during which the troops could rest, arms and equipment could be properly cared for, rations could be brought up and everything put in condition for a fresh start.

Much attention is being given by the national government to the training and instruction of the organized militia. It is purely a personal opinion that the time has arrived when this instruction should be systemized and made progressive.

The field exercises, manœuvre camps and infantry support to the coast artillery so far conducted under direction of regular officers have been upon different plans and with different objects. Many years' experience and observation as a militia officer causes me to make these very incomplete suggestions, relating to the infantry branch of the militia:

No militia organization should participate in field exercises or manœuvre camps under national control unless reported reasonably equipped and qualified for the duty by the army officer making the annual inspection.

The first tour of duty in the field or camp should be of no larger unit than a regiment, and a battalion or at least a company of regular troops should be in the field or camp with the organization. The second tour in the field or camp should be of no larger unit than a brigade composed of two regiments of militia and a regiment, or at least a battalion of regular troops with a proper proportion of cavalry, artillery and other special corps. The third tour should be in the nature of field exercises similar to those recently held in Massachusetts.

In preparation for those three tours of service there should be a course of theoretical instruction laid down and followed through the year by officers and noncommissioned officers; the course to be uniform and to be carried out as to details in each organization. At the end of the third tour of field or camp duty, the enlisted personnel of the organization having materially changed, the plan should begin over again with the regimental unit.

The plan thus briefly outlined would provide a progressive course of instruction, both theoretical and practical. If organizations could participate only when reported qualified by army officers it would save much waste of government funds and would make selection a mark of distinction. Such a plan would make certain the duty required and help recruiting. It would also keep officers and men in the service from a desire to remain long enough to take part in the large field exercises which would mark the completion of the course.

I desire to acknowledge the valuable assistance received from you as Commanding Officer of the brigade and the uniform courtesy and kindness of the distinguished officers of the Army and National Guard composing your staff.

Respectfully,

WILLARD C. FISK,
Lieutenant-Colonel.

HEADQUARTERS SEVENTH REGIMENT, NATIONAL GUARD, N. Y.

NEW YORK, October 25, 1909.

Major Eben Swift, General Staff, Chief of Staff First Division, First Corps Red Army.

SIR.—Pursuant to your instructions in letter dated October 20th, I have the honor to report the operations of New York Provisional Brigade during the Field Exercises in Massachusetts August 13th–21st, as follows:

The Second Brigade, First Division, First Corps Red Army, organized pursuant to memorandum Headquarters Department of the East, August 6, 1909, embarked August 13, 1909, as follows: Colonel Appleton and Staff, Seventh Infantry and Fourteenth Infantry, Steamer Puritan; Twenty-Second Engineers, Steamer Pilgrim.

The Puritan docked at New Bedford at 9 A. M. August 14, 1909, and the troops proceeded to camp in the vicinity of Acushnet. A delay of two hours occurred while a suitable camp site was being located. The Twenty-Second Engineers arrived and camped about 4.30 P. M. Outposts were established as indicated in Field Orders No. 2, Second Brigade. See Exhibit (A.)

On the 15th of August the march was resumed as directed in Field Orders No. 2, Second Brigade, without contact with the enemy being gained. The Brigade went into camp about one mile southeast of East Freetown and established outposts as indicated in Field Orders No. 3, Second Brigade. See Exhibit (B.)

August 16th the march was resumed pursuant to Field Orders No. 5, Second Brigade, and camp made one-half mile north of 232, where guards were posted as indicated in Field Orders No. 6, Second Brigade. Exhibit "C," "D" and "E" were received.

On August 17th the Second Brigade continued the march as per Field Orders No. 7. The division came in contact with the enemy near Woods Pond, but it was not until the Second Brigade reached 161 that it became engaged. The enemy were in position about one-half mile north of 161 and the Brigade received orders to push them back. The Twenty-Second Engineers (2 Battalions) were sent forward and deployed to the right and left of the road, gaining the crest of the hill just north of 161. The enemy seemed to be at least in equal strength and had two Vickers guns. Two battalions of the Seventh Infantry were sent to reinforce the firing line and to carry it forward while one battery Field Artillery went into action near 161 to support the attack. By 1 p. m. the enemy had been pushed back to a point just south of the road one mile north of 161. Hostilities ceased and the Brigade went into camp one-half mile north of 161, with the Twenty-second Engineers on outpost just north of the camp.

August 18th the march was continued as per Field Orders No. 8, Second Brigade, the withdrawal being covered by the Twenty-second Engineers, who had a slight engagement with the Blue outposts. The Second Brigade was not engaged with the enemy during the march and went into camp just east of Stetson Pond, maintaining an outpost of one company to the north and one to the south.

August 19th the march was resumed as per Field Orders No. 9, Second Brigade. At Pembroke there was a slight brush with a bicycle company. The column was halted just south of Hanover Four Corners to allow the advance guard (Seventh Infantry) to thoroughly reconnoiter the vicinity of the town. Contact was soon gained on West Elm Street, on the edge of the town. The Seventh Infantry were left there to hold the enemy and the rest of the Brigade was sent about one mile up the Boston Road to secure and hold a position to keep that road open for the division. Later the Fourteenth Infantry was withdrawn by General Bliss to strengthen his left and center. During the resulting engagement the Brigade maintained their relative positions with the Seventh Infantry on the left, the Fourteenth Infantry in the center and the Twenty-second Engineers on the right.

After the engagement the regiments camped separately in the vicinity of division headquarters.

The Brigade entrained on the morning of August 20th at Hanover Four Corners, returning to New York via Fall River, arriving the morning of August 21st.

Throughout the exercises the discipline maintained in the regiments of the Brigade was excellent.

The regiments went into camp promptly and were never late in joining the column when camp was broken. There were no severe breaches of discipline brought to the attention of the Brigade commander, nor were any noticed by him. Camps were invariably properly policed.

Advance guard duties were well performed and the progress of the main body was not unduly interrupted.

Throughout the exercises the Brigade was handicapped by lack of delivery of supplies, which seemed to be due entirely to inadequate wagon transportation. The memorandum of July 15, 1909, Headquarters Department of the East, stated that escort wagons would be furnished at point of debarkation on the basis of one to each battalion and one at each regimental and Brigade headquarters. Loads were calculated accordingly. The wagons furnished were country wagons with teams of but two horses and civilian drivers. The wagons and teams were too light for the purpose intended and would either break down or become stalled on the hills. The teamsters were unruly and not subject to discipline and caused considerable delay by "striking" whenever they saw fit.

The commissary department failed to supply any bacon excepting the haversack ration, to the command, and also failed to have any travel rations on the return trip of the Steamer Puritan, in consequence of which two regiments, the Seventh Infantry and Fourteenth Infantry, were without food for two meals.

But the object of the Field Exercises is to learn to overcome difficulties, and certainly as the exercises progressed improvement was noted in all staff departments.

The troops returned to New York in excellent spirits and health.

I desire to note my great appreciation of the soldierly and loyal support by all subordinate commanding officers at all times, which together with the good conduct of the troops made the task of the Brigade Commander extremely agreeable.

I also desire to record the valuable services of the officers of my Provisional Staff. Both regular and National Guard officers rendered efficient and devoted services throughout the Exercises.

Respectfully,

DANIEL APPLETON,

Colonel Seventh New York Infantry, Commanding.

FIRST COMPANY, SIGNAL CORPS, NATIONAL GUARD, N. Y.
PARK AVENUE AND THIRTY-FOURTH STREET.

NEW YORK CITY, August 23, 1909.

The Adjutant-General, S. N. Y., Albany, N. Y.

SIR.— I have the honor to report that in compliance with G. O. No. 30, A. G. O. c-s, and the general instructions amendatory thereto, which I received from your office, I left the armory on Friday, August 13, 1909, at 7 p. m., with two officers and seventy-two enlisted men, including one officer of the Medical Corps and two Hospital Corps privates, proceeded to Pier 19, N. R. and boarded the Steamer Pilgrim of the New England Navigation Company, where I reported to Major Oscar Erlandsen, Signal Corps, N. Y.

Forty horses were taken along, with one instrument wagon, one reel cart and such signal apparatus and equipments as were directed by the Chief Signal Officer.

The company participated in the Field Service and returned to New York, reaching the armory on Saturday, August 21, 1909, at 3:00 p. m.

Respectfully,

THOMAS W. BALDWIN,

First Lieutenant Commanding.

(Inclosure.)

OFFICE OF THE CHIEF OF COAST ARTILLERY, N. G., N. Y.
ARMORY SUMNER AND JEFFERSON AVENUES.

The Adjutant-General, S. N. Y., Albany, N. Y.

SIR.—The tour of duty of the organizations of the Coast Artillery of the State has been performed in the manner directed by the District Commanders, under the supervision of the several Post Commanders.

The Eighth in Eastern Artillery District, under Colonel Todd.

The Ninth and Thirteenth in Southern Artillery District, under Colonel Harris.

In my opinion, while such progress was made as was directed by the officers of the Regular Army, it does not appear to my mind that there is a full realization by them, that the National Guard is a body of citizen soldiers, who really pay out their own money for the privilege of serving the State and to maintain their Companies with full ranks. All possible progress must be made and such measures adopted as will make the service attractive, beyond that which is adopted in the army, where all are paid for service, and it is a business for all time for officers, and during enlistment, for men.

The question arises, therefore, how the best advancement must be made, and it seems to me to be of very easy solution in two ways:

First. To make the Guard a paid force, but the least desirable.

Second. To make service attractive.

The second is the proper method to be followed and I desire to submit my views in regard to the accomplishment of the result for Coast Artillery.

A. Erect a barracks for National Guard at the Stations where they are to do duty and will so perform it for successive years. Place the barracks under the care of a special Armory Employee, a Non-commissioned Officer. Permit any member or members of a National Guard District to go to the barracks any evening when he or they will remain during the 24 hours or more following. Furnish him, at the expense of the United States, with rations. The members so reporting to drill as a part of the Regular Army Detail at the gun and under the particular assignment he has in the manning detail.

On Saturdays and Sundays a Field Officer of the National Guard to be detailed who shall receipt for all property turned over for use in the Stations and at the Guns, and have all instruction under charge of such Field Officer, supervised if considered necessary by an officer of the Army detailed, until such time as the Field Officers of the Guard are fully qualified to act without assistance.

B. For tours of Camp Service, send the District organizations of the Guard to Plum Island, where there can be service practice, which will be of interest to all officers and men and following each other in Camp, there would be a figure of merit established which would tend to increase the attendance at the barracks, noted in paragraph "A" above.

This service at Fisher's Island was performed 6 years ago by the Thirteenth under a competent U. S. Officer and a complete record made with service charges. The same was afterward the result at Plum Island during two tours of duty.

In general, the present method at Stations promotes neither efficiency, nor interest.

The equipment of Armories with Stations and Guns, as proposed by the Chief of the Division of Militia Affairs, will enable all primary instruction to be given.

The practice at Station Forts with proposed barracks will promote this. The actual service work at Plum Island will perfect it.

While in command of the Thirteenth, I had frequently asked for the detail of one officer of the U. S. Army who had practical ideas, and in the early days made application for Captain Landon who was with me at Fort Wright, and while I received his valuable assistance at the time, it seemed impossible to continue it.

I have briefly outlined the methods which would bring about perfect results, and if necessary to act in accord with ideas of Army progression. I am fully assured with such end in view, if one officer of the U. S. Army be designated to co-operate with me as representing the State, we shall continue to make the progress shown in the early days rather than what now appears to be retrogressive.

If such service could be arranged for Major Haan or for Captain Landon and a marked course of instruction followed in each of our Districts, instead of diverse methods, our service would certainly be very satisfactory to our organizations and I am sure of infinite gratification to the War Department of the United States.

I make these plain remarks, intending no reflections, but to impress the idea that it sometimes happens that men of the very highest order of talent, make most indifferent instructors and for this purpose with a force numbering nearly 3,000, it would undoubtedly be well to consider such as have the highest order of education and also ability to impart it in a thorough understandable way.

Respectfully,

DAVID E. AUSTEN,
Brigadier-General, Chief of Coast Artillery.

HEADQUARTERS EIGHTH COAST ARTILLERY DISTRICT, N. G.,
N. Y. PARK AVENUE AND NINETY-FOURTH STREET.

NEW YORK, June 21, 1909.

Chief of Coast Artillery, N. G., N. Y.

SIR.—I have the honor, in compliance with your letter of instruction, June 15, 1909, to report herewith the daily routine, etc., of the ten days' tour of service performed by this Command June 10 to 19, 1909.

June 10th. The Regiment left the Armory at 8:23 A. M., embarking on the Steamer "Canby," Fort Totten detachment arriving at that Station at 9:50 A. M. Guard Mount of such detachment was held in the Armory before departure. The Fort Schuyler detachment arrived at its station at 10:50 A. M. and held Guard Mount immediately thereafter. The afternoon was utilized for the making of Camp at both stations, the only other Military exercises for the day being Evening Parade at Forts Totten and Schuyler.

June 11th. At Fort Totten. 8:00 to 10:00 A. M. Artillery drill, alternating with regular troops. 11 A. M., Guard Mount. 2:00 to 4:00 P. M., Instruction by Regular Officers in nomenclature of the piece. 6:50 P. M., Evening Parade. 8:00 to 10:00 P. M., Battle Command Drill, National Guard acting as second relief but simply observing.

At Fort Schuyler. The same as Fort Totten, excepting that Evening Parade was held at 5:30 P. M.

June 12th. At Fort Totten. No Artillery exercises. Muster by Colonel Albert Todd, C. A. C., U. S. A., in the afternoon. Guard Mount 11:00 A. M., Evening Parade 6:50 P. M.

At Fort Schuyler. The same as at Fort Totten, excepting Muster, which was conducted by Lieutenant-Colonel A. C. Blunt, C. A. C., U. S. A., at 8:30 A. M. Evening Parade as preceding day.

June 13th. At Fort Totten. No Artillery exercises. 11:00 A. M. Guard Mount. 6:50 P. M. Evening Parade.

At Fort Schuyler. Same as Fort Totten. Guard Mount at 9:00 A. M. Evening Parade as before.

June 14th. At Fort Totten. 8:00 to 10:00 A. M. Artillery Drill. 11:00 A. M. Guard Mount. 2:00 to 3:00 P. M. Position Finding service, instruction at Batteries in powders, etc. 6:50 P. M. Evening Parade. 8:00 to 10:00 P. M. Battle Command Drill.

At Fort Schuyler. Same as Fort Totten, Infantry Drill being omitted on account of rain. Guard Mount at 11:00 A. M. Evening Parade as before.

June 15th. At Fort Totten. The same character of service as preceding day with the addition of Infantry Drill in extended order from 3:00 to 4:00 P. M.

At Fort Schuyler. Same as at Fort Totten. Battalion Drill, close and extended order 3:30 to 5:30 P. M. Evening Parade 5:40 P. M. Guard Mount as before.

June 16th. At Fort Totten. Beginning of Hostilities. 8:00 to 10:00 A. M. Battle Command Drill 11:00 A. M. Guard Mount 11:15 A. M. Call to Arms Drill (Battle Command) lasting thirty minutes 2:00 to 3:00 P. M. Infantry Drill, extended order, 4:30 P. M. Call to Arms Drill (Battle Command) lasting thirty minutes 6:50 P. M. Evening Parade 8:00 to 11:00 P. M. Assimilated Naval Attack.

At Fort Schuyler. Same as at Fort Totten. Guard Mount as before. Review at 5:20 P. M.

June 17th. At Fort Totten. Same character of service as preceding day, omitting Evening Parade. 4:10 P. M. Call to Arms Drill (Battle Command) lasting thirty minutes.

At Fort Schuyler. Same as at Fort Totten. Guard Mount as before. Infantry Drill 2:00 to 2:30 P. M. Review at 5:20 P. M.

June 18th. At Fort Totten. Same character of service as preceding day. 4:15 P. M. Call to Arms Drill (Battle Command) lasting thirty minutes.

At Fort Schuyler. Same as June 17th.

June 19th. At Fort Totten. The "General" was sounded at 10:30 A. M., and the detachment at this station embarked for its home station on the Steamer "Canby" at 1 P. M., the interval being utilized in packing its wagon train and policing its camp site. Colonel Todd, District Commander and Colonel Austen making an inspection before departure.

At Fort Schuyler. The "General" was sounded at 8:30 A. M., and the detachment at this station embarked for its home station on the steamer "Meigs" at 10:55 A. M., the intervening time being employed in packing wagon train and policing its camp. Lieutenant-Colonel Blunt and Major Wilson inspected the camp before departure.

Both detachments combined at the foot of East Ninety-sixth street, Manhattan, and the Regiment arrived at its home station at 2:25 P. M., and was immediately dismissed.

The Battery assignments are as follows:

At Fort Totten:

Battery Sumner. Twenty-sixth Company, First Lieutenant Thomas E. Bullivant, Commanding.

Battery Graham. Thirtieth Company, Captain Charles F. Nugent, Commanding.

Battery Graham. Thirty-third Company, Captain S. C. Teets, Commanding.

Battery Mahan. Twenty-seventh Company, First Lieutenant Abraham L. McKenzie, Commanding.

Battery King. Twenty-fifth Company, Captain Alexander M. Bremer, Commanding.

Battery King. Twenty-eighth Company, Captain William D. Spear, Commanding.

At Fort Schuyler:

Battery Gansevoort. Thirty-second Company, Captain Paul Loeser, Commanding.

Battery Hazzard. Twenty-ninth Company, Captain Julius Tannenbaum, Commanding.

Battery Bell. Thirty-first Company, Captain John J. Cowdrey, Commanding.

The Fire Commander at Fort Totten was Major Joseph Cipollari, and at Fort Schuyler, Major Henry C. Wilson.

There were no dates on which the National Guard troops operated the batteries alone, each day's work included alternating with the regular troops.

The strength of the district during this period was 32 officers and 555 enlisted men, which includes:

Medical Detachment, 3 officers and 18 enlisted men.

Subsistence Department, 1 enlisted man.

Quartermaster Department, 3 enlisted men.

Ordnance Department, 1 enlisted man.

The number present was as follows:

District, 28 officers and 462 enlisted men.

Medical Department, 3 officers and 18 enlisted men.

Quartermaster Department, 3 enlisted men.

Subsistence Department, 1 enlisted man.

Ordnance Department, 1 enlisted man and 6 attached officers, as follows:

Major Azel Ames, Staff Chief of C. A., N. G., N. Y.

Captain Arthur R. Addy, Medical Corps, Seventy-first Regiment.

First Lieutenant Louis H. Grief, Twenty-second Regiment, Corps of Engineers.

First Lieutenant Christopher L. Levion, Twenty-second Regiment, Corps of Engineers.

First Lieutenant Lewis J. Zahn, Fourteenth Regiment, Infantry, N. G., N. Y.

First Lieutenant Matthew J. A. Wilson, Fourteenth Regiment, Infantry, N. G., N. Y.

I would suggest the use of blank ammunition when hostilities begin in these exercises; this was done in the service performed by this organization during its tours of duty in 1907 and 1908 without difficulty or danger and it enhanced interest.

Master Electrician George A. Ritchie and Electrician Sergeant (second class) Robert L. Russell performed such duties as would ordinarily be required of such noncommissioned staff officers.

Sergeant-Major, senior grade, John C. Donovan, acted as reader part time, and observer, part time, at Fire Commanders station at Fort Totten.

Sergeant-Major, junior grade, Valentine Greighton, acted as chief plotter, Fire Commander's station, at Fort Totten.

Sergeant-Major, junior grade, Otto J. Meinecke, acted as recorder at Fire Commander's station at Fort Schuyler.

Blue prints, etc., were not obtainable. No armament or equipment was injured.

Respectfully,
(Signed) E. F. AUSTIN,
Colonel, C. A. C., Commanding.

HEADQUARTERS FOURTEENTH REGIMENT INFANTRY, N. G., N. Y.
EIGHTH AVENUE AND FIFTEENTH STREET, BOROUGH OF BROOKLYN, CITY OF NEW YORK, October 11, 1909.

The Adjutant General, State of New York, Albany, New York.

SIR.—I have the honor to transmit the following report of the Fourteenth Regiment, Infantry, which participated in the Field Exercises in the State of Massachusetts, August 14th to 21st, 1909.

The Regiment with 639 officers and men left the Armory in Brooklyn at 5:30 p. m., August 13th, 1909, and marched to Sixteenth Street and Fifth Avenue, there entraining on an elevated train at 6:00 o'clock p. m., arriving at the New York end of the Brooklyn Bridge at 6:35 p. m. From there we marched to the foot of Warren Street and embarked on the Steamer Puritan at 7:30 p. m., arriving at New Bedford, Massachusetts (foot of Union Street) at 9:00 a. m., August 14th, 1909. We disembarked at 10:30 a. m. and followed the Seventh Regiment, Infantry, N. G., N. Y., marched through Union Street to Pleasant Street, to Ascutnet Avenue, to Lund's Corners, arriving there at 1:55 p. m., and pitched camp for the night. On August 15, 1909, I received orders from Brigade Headquarters that two battalions of the Fourteenth Regiment would form Advance Guard for the main body, which was to move at 9:00 A. M. Camp was broken at 8:20 A. M. and the First and Second Battalions, under Majors Libbey and Baldwin, were ordered to form the Advance Guard and the Third Battalion, under Major Stevenson, to remain with the Main Body. The Advance Guard moved off promptly at 9:00 A. M., and continued on the march along Ascushnet Avenue until it arrived at East Freetown, 11:59 A. M., where orders were received to establish outposts from Howlands Station to the point 225 on the map; at this time I sent orders back to Major Stevenson for his Battalion to leave the column when he arrived at East Freetown and proceed along the County Road running to Taunton, then send one company to point 225 to patrol the road running to the right. Major Libbey was ordered to send Company "II" to Howlands Station, holding his remaining three companies in reserve. The Second Battalion was held in reserve with Regimental Headquarters a mile south of these points. At 4:00 o'clock A. M., August 16, 1909, I was awakened by Captain Fox Conner, from Division Headquarters, with orders for me to proceed at 5:00 A. M. to Point 225 and there assemble the Regiment, and hold that position until further orders. I sent orders to Majors Libbey and Stevenson to break camp and join me at this point. Small patrols were sent out from this point along the different roads and the Regiment remained here until 11:30 A. M., when I was ordered to retire and join the Brigade. This I was unable to do, as the Brigade had marched off at 5 o'clock A. M., and was so far in advance that it was impossible to join them, and it was necessary for me to camp at Lakeside Park, arriving there at 2:00 P. M., some six miles in rear of the Main Body. During the night I received orders from Division Headquarters to break camp at 5:00 A. M., and acting as Rear Guard, join the Brigade, if possible, at point 161. It was raining hard at 5:00 A. M., but the Regiment moved off along the Rochester Road. It was on this march that the Regiment made the long march of over 18 miles in a driving Northeast rain storm, officers and men soaked to the skin. In some places the mud was over the tops of shoes. Being some six miles in rear of the Main Body at 5:00 A. M., it would have been an easy matter for the Blue Army to have captured the Regiment had they been wide awake, but we arrived and joined the Brigade at 12:45 P. M., fifteen minutes before the close of hostilities for the day, and in time to put one company (D) in action. The Regiment camped here for the night, pitching tents in a drenching rain. August 18, 1909, broke camp at 5:00 A. M., Company "D" being detached to scout duty. At 7:25 A. M. the Regiment moved off in the direction of Bryantville, Point 118. After marching a short distance beyond Plympton the column was halted. At this point an officer from Squadron "A," N. Y. Cavalry, rode up with information from Major Bridgeman that he was being attacked by the Blues, and was outnumbered and wanted reinforcements. I took one Battalion, under Major Libbey, to reinforce him, and engaged the enemy long enough to permit the column, including the wagon train, to pass. When I rejoined my Regiment, which had arrived at Steton Road, point 161, under command of Lieut-Colonel Garcia, we camped there for the night and received orders that the column would move at 5:00 A. M. August 19th in the direction of Hanover Four Corners, and that the Fourteenth Regiment would act as Rear Guard. Camp was broken and the Regiment moved at the stated hour. On arriving at Hanover Four Corners, 9:00 A. M., the Third Battalion was ordered to support Battery "A," Connecticut National Guard. This battalion was withdrawn; orders were received that there would be a Brigade action and that I was to connect with the left of the Twenty-second Regiment, N. Y., and the right of the Seventh Regiment, Infantry, N. Y., which order was carried out. Firing continued at intervals and the engagement lasted until 1:00 P. M., when hostilities were over and the exercises came to an end. I then selected a site to camp on the road to Boston opposite Boston avenue at Hanover Four Corners.

Camp was broken at 9:10 o'clock A. M. on August 20, 1909, and the Regiment marched to Curtis Siding where we entrained at 11:58 A. M. and arrived at the wharf of the Fall River Line and embarked on the steamer "Puritan" for New York, arriving there at 10:45 A. M., August 21, 1909, where we disembarked and marched to foot of Whitehall street, there embarked on the ferryboat "Shinnecock" at 11:34 A. M., disembarked at foot of Atlantic avenue, Brooklyn and marched to the Armory, arriving there at 1:32 P. M., where the Regiment was dismissed.

Service of this kind is from my own personal observation of little benefit to the enlisted man. While the work was not near as hard as the manœuvres in 1904 at Manassas, Virginia, yet it was of such a nature that would make the National Guardsman dissatisfied. He was kept continually on the march without food in all kinds of weather, which in my judgment was unnecessary. This regiment was cut off from the Main Body from August 15th to 18th inclusive, which rendered it very difficult to obtain subsistence and then only in insufficient quantities. Men whose feet became so sore from long marching were compelled to drop out of the column and shift for themselves, there being no ambulance to take them to their Regiment or organization. In the long march of over eighteen miles made by the Regiment in a terrific rain storm in order to catch up with the Main Body, at least a hundred men were seen laying or straggling along the road, some completely exhausted, many of whom were unable to again join their organization. This Regiment was without a water wagon after August 15th, and it was compelled to obtain water from wells or from any source it could. I complained of this several times but it did no good. The Regiment was put on board of the steamer "Puritan" for home without an issue of rations except coffee, and many were compelled to purchase their meals in the restaurant on board.

So far as the officer was concerned, this service was of great benefit, it taught him how to handle men in the field, which teaching he cannot obtain in the Armory. It teaches him how to meet conditions, it teaches him that he must act promptly, that he has no time to decide what he will do or how he will do it, but to act at once and then with great care and judgment. I personally found this service of great benefit. I can truthfully say that in the short time I learned more than I have in fifteen years' of service. It was a lesson that required personal supervision over every detail. I am in favor of field exercises but in a more modified form. I cannot see the necessity of marching men long distances, who are not accustomed to such work. I believe it is a mistake to break camp in a severe rain storm and march men eighteen or twenty miles with their clothing soaked to the skin and again pitch camp in a field that is flooded with water. This may be all right for the enlisted man in the United States Army who depends upon it for a living, but for a National Guardsman who has to give the time from his business, it is not a very pleasant duty for him to perform. His risk of becoming sick and further loss of time from his business is too great. It is very hard to obtain good material in the way of enlistments, and once having obtained them we want to keep them, but service of this kind I honestly believe has a tendency to keep them away.

Respectfully,

JOHN H. FOOTE,

Colonel.

FIRST BATTALION, CORPS OF ENGINEERS, N. G., N. Y., TWENTY-SECOND PROVISIONAL REGIMENT.

NEW YORK, August 31, 1909.

The Adjutant, Corps of Engineers, N. G., N. Y., Twenty-second Provisional Regiment.

SIR.—I have the honor to report that the First Battalion with the Second and Third Battalions of the Regiment assembled at the Armory in accordance with orders on Friday, August 13, 1909, at 5.30 P. M., and marched to the Sixty-sixth Street station of the Manhattan Elevated Railroad, and there entrained for Warren Street, where it detrained, marching thence to Pier 18, North River, where, after some delay, it embarked on the Steamer Pilgrim at 6.15 P. M. The steamer left the pier at about 8.30 P. M. enroute to New Bedford, Mass., where it arrived at 1:15 o'clock P. M. on Saturday, August 14th, and the Battalion immediately disembarking, waited in the street until the boat was unloaded and transportation provided, when, in its place at the head of the Regiment, it took up the march to Lund's Corners, near Ascushnet, where it was, by order, detached from the Regiment, going into camp at 5 o'clock at this point on a very good field with plenty of wood and a fair supply of water. The Battalion Commander with his officers made a formal call upon Colonel Appleton at his headquarters just opposite the Battalion camp, and subsequently upon Captain W. D. Connor, Chief Engineer Officer, who was kind enough to make a formal presentation of the officers to General Tasker H. Bliss, Commander of the Red Army.

Sunday, August 15th. Broke camp at Lund's Corners at 10 o'clock and, following the Field Artillery, marched with the Second Brigade, to which the First Battalion by order was attached, to Freetown, arriving at 1 o'clock P. M. and going into camp with the Regiment on the edge of a pine wood, a most desirable camp site, wood and water a-plenty.

Monday, August 16th. Broke camp at Freetown at 9:30 o'clock A. M. and acted as a Rear Guard for the protection of the wagon train. The horses in some cases were so unequal to the task of drawing the loaded wagons that the several Companies of the Battalion took turns in pulling the wagons up the various steep inclines of the day's march, by using long ropes attached on either side of the forward trucks of the wagons, the ropes being knotted with the harness hitch, while other men pushed on the rear end of the trucks, arriving at South Middleboro at about 4:30 P. M., going into camp in a good, dry field adjoining a cornfield and orchard, which, in obedience to orders, notwithstanding the strong temptation, did not suffer as a result of the visit of the Battalion. Two good wells on the premises, but the supply of wood was limited.

Tuesday, August 17th. Rained throughout the night, but let up somewhat just before breaking camp at 7 o'clock, only to resume with increased violence shortly afterward, and the Battalion, except Company K, which acted as Rear Guard for the wagon train following the Field Artillery, marched to Eddyville, where the Battalion covered the Cross Road to the west, while the rest of the Brigade in action was turning the left flank and forcing back the Blue Army. The wagon train having come up, Company K rejoined the Battalion at this point and when relieved went into camp about 4:30 o'clock on a side hill, which under the circumstances and considering the driving rain, when ditched made it fairly habitable. The men were made much more comfortable through the kindness and generosity of Colonel Appleton in permitting the men to use hay from an adjoining barn to put on the rain-soaked ground beneath their shelter tents before retiring for the night.

Wednesday, August 18th. Again the Battalion was favored through the rain letting up shortly before camp was broken at 7 o'clock a. m. at Eddyville. In the march on to Silver lake the several companies in turn threw out squads as flankers for several hundred yards at all cross roads which when relieved by other organizations rejoined the column making camp with the Second and Third Battalions of the Regiment (Twenty-second) at about 3:30 o'clock p. m.

Thursday, August 19th. Broke camp at Silver lake at 5 o'clock a. m., marching in position at the head of the Regiment until approaching Hanover Four Corners when the Battalion was again detached, Company K being sent out to the west of the column deployed and advanced to get in touch with the right flank of the enemy. Company K found the enemy and out manoeuvred a company of the Second Massachusetts Regiment of the Blue Army, who in the absence of an Umpire acknowledged defeat and withdrew. K Company immediately rejoined the Battalion and with it acted as a reserve for the Seventh Regiment, N. Y., who had gone into action. A Battery of Artillery and the Fourteenth Regiment were 100 yards further back but like the First Battalion were not ordered into action until after the Seventh Regiment, New York, through an error in the reported strength, were set back 200 yards by the Umpire. The Battalion was sent forward at about 11:15 a. m. to reopen attack upon the Blues with the Seventh Regiment acting in support and with such good result that Companies I, D, and G, succeeded in turning the enemy's left flank, capturing three Companies of the Second Massachusetts while Company K forced a fourth Company of the Second Massachusetts out of action. Pending the decision of the Umpire on the general advance the Battalion was relieved by the Seventh Regiment, New York, and ordered by Colonel Appleton to retire and rejoin the other two Battalions of the Twenty-second, which was executed in time to assist in holding the more advanced line a half a mile to the north and east of Hanover Four Corners. The Battalion went into camp with the Regiment at the advanced position, shortly after the close of hostilities with the road to Boston clear of the Blue Army. Camp situated on elevated position good and dry with good water and a plentiful supply of wood.

Friday, August 20th. Broke camp at Hanover north and east of Four Corners at 9 A. M. and returning with the Regiment to Hanover Four Corners entrained at 12 A. M. and immediately left for Fall River, where train arrived at 3 o'clock remaining entrained until the arrival of the Steamer Pilgrim about 6 o'clock in which the Battalion embarked about 6:30 o'clock followed later by the Regiment. The steamer, however, owing to the non-arrival of the Field Artillery until a late hour, did not leave the pier until about 11 P. M., arriving at Pier 18, New York, about 1:30 P. M. Saturday, August 21st, and after a delay due to the unloading of the stores marched to the City Hall taking the subway to Sixty-sixth street and marching thence to the Armory, where the Battalion was immediately dismissed.

I can only speak in words of the highest praise of the conduct of officers and men during the manouvres. Even under the most trying conditions of wind and weather, officers and men were bright and cheerful, each man seeming to realize that the good name of the organization was in his keeping. While quite a few men suffered from sore feet during the marchings I am happy to say that so far as I have been able to learn there were no stragglers from the First Battalion.

I feel satisfied that while the experience was a most trying one yet it will prove of inestimable value to all those who participated therein.

Respectfully,

D. J. MURPHY,

Major.

CORPS OF ENGINEERS, N. G., N. Y., HEADQUARTERS TWENTY-SECOND REGIMENT, BROADWAY, 67TH AND 68TH STREETS.

NEW YORK CITY, August 27, 1909.

Adjutant-General, Division, N. G., N. Y.:

Sir.—I have the honor to submit herewith report of the field service of my commaand, August 13–21, 1909:

Pursuant to instructions from the Department of the East, the regiment assembled at the armory, on Friday, August 13th, at 5 P. M., 585 officers and men being present. Taking the elevated train at Sixty-sixth street, the regiment proceeded to Warren and Greenwich streets and marched direct to Pier 18, North river, where they embarked on the Steamer Pilgrim of the New England Navigation Co., sailing at 8:30 P. M. The undersigned by virtue of his rank, was in command of the boat, and detailed Captain F. C. Ringer, Corps of Engineers, as transport quartermaster.

On the boat beside the regiment was the First Battalion Field Artillery, N. Y., one Field Battery, Washington, D. C., First and Second Companies, Signal Corps, N. Y., one signal company, Washington, D. C., three troops of Squadron A, N. Y., and a portion of a cavalry troop of New Jersey.

The U. S. A. Transport Regulations were observed as far as possible, under the circumstances.

Landing was made at New Bedford, Mass., at 1 P. M., August 14th. I was met by a staff officer and ordered to proceed to Ascushnet, north of New Bedford and there reported to Colonel Appleton, Seventh N. Y., who had been placed in command of the New York Brigade, consisting of the Seventh and Fourteenth Regiments of Infantry and two battalions of the Twenty-second Engineers acting as infantry, the First Battalion having been detailed to act as engineers. On reporting to the Brigade Commander, I was ordered to go into camp two miles north of the Brigade camp; this was done and the Second and Third Battalions encamped about 5:30.

August 15th. On receipt of orders from Brigade Headquarters, the camp was broken and the regiment moved at 10 A. M., joining the main body at 10:30, and at 1 P. M. encamped with the rest of the brigade, near East Freetown.

August 16th. At 9 A. M. the regiment as part of the brigade, was ordered to break camp and move at once; this was done, leaving camp about 10 A. M. and marching to a point about two miles south of Rock Station, where camp was made for the night.

August 17th. Camp was broken at 7 A. M. and the march taken up through a driving rain, which continued all day and night. Contact was made with the Blue Forces in the afternoon, near Eddyville; they were driven back by the regiment, acting as advance guard, and camp was made north of Eddyville, and outposts were established just north of the camp.

August 18th. The regiment was ordered to hold the position and the outposts and cover the march of the main body. This was done, camp was broken and the regiment moved at 8 o'clock, acting during part of the day, as rear guard, and having been relieved later, taking its proper place in the column. Camp was made near Silver lake, at 1 P. M.

August 19th. The regiment moved at 5 A. M., marching north, toward Hanover Four Corners, at which place, acting under orders of the Division Commander, it moved one-half mile north of the village, on the Boston road, with orders to hold the position, which was done, and the regiment encamped at 1 P. M.

August 20th. Camp was broken at 9 A. M. and the regiment marched to the railroad station at Hanover Four Corners, and entrained at 12 M. for Fall River, reaching there at 3 P. M., embarking on the Steamer Pilgrim at 7 P. M. and sailing for New York, at 10:45 P. M., landing at Pier 18, North river, at 1:15 P. M., August 21st, proceeding to subway station at City Hall park and by subway train to the armory, which was reached at 2 P. M.

The health of the command was generally very good, except for a few complaints of a minor order. Some difficulty was experienced, with the proper distribution of commissary supplies, this being due in a great measure, to the heavy roads and the unsuitable animals with the wagons.

The conduct of the command was excellent throughout; the cheerfulness and good nature, under adverse conditions, and during bad weather, was highly commendable.

The service was of great value to both officers and men and much knowledge and information was gained, which will be of great use in the future.

I am of the opinion that this service demonstrated the advisability of issuing to troops of this State, escort wagons and ambulances.

The report of the Commanding Officer of the battalion detailed to act as engineers, is enclosed.

Respectfully,

W. B. HOTCHKIN,

Colonel.

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON "A," CAVALRY, N. G., N. Y.
MADISON AVENUE AND NINETY-FOURTH STREET, NEW YORK,

August 21, 1909.

The Adjutant-General, National Guard, N. Y.:

SIR. — I have the honor herewith to transmit report of Squadron "A," Cavalry, during its work in the manoeuvres from August 13th to 21st, inclusive.

Acting under instructions from the Headquarters of the Department of the East, Governors Island; and the Adjutant-General's Office, Albany, N. Y., the Squadron consisted of three troops reduced to about one-half their strength, the men serving without pay, believing the work would prove of much benefit to the whole Squadron; the State paying for horses, cooks, authorized, and an allowance of ten cents per man for ration account.

On Thursday, August 12th, three escort wagons, six horses, and teamsters embarked on the steamer "New Hampshire," at Pier 40, North river, at 5 o'clock, for New Bedford, Mass.; arriving there the morning of the 13th.

Friday afternoon, August 13th, the Squadron, as above noted, assembled at the Armory, equipped for field service, Adjutants Call sounded at 5:30, when it marched dismounted, to the Third avenue elevated station, at Eighty-ninth street; and went by train to the City Hall station, marching from there to Park place, where supper had been arranged for, after which, marched to the steamer "Pilgrim," Fall River Line, Pier 18, N. R., arriving and embarking at 7:20 P. M.

The horses, 121, which included the lead horses ordered, left the Armory at 2 o'clock under the charge of a quartermaster's detail of twenty men, and armory employees, and were loaded on the steamer "Boston," at Pier 18, North River; arriving in New Bedford, Mass., the morning of the 14th prior to the arrival of the steamer "Pilgrim."

Under the above orders, it will be noted that the squadron was shipped to its destination on three different boats: Officers and men on the "Pilgrim;" horses and Quartermaster Detail on "Boston;" wagons and teams on the "New Hampshire." Arrived at New Bedford, Mass., at 1 o'clock, disembarked at 1:15.

The Commanding Officer of Troop "A," Connecticut National Guard, and the Essex Troop of New Jersey, reported to me at this place, and became a part of my command.

At 2:15 the march was commenced, with the wagon train of seven following.

An advance guard was sent out, on the road to Rochester, distant about ten miles, where I located a field of ten acres, with a brook running along side suitable for watering horses, the property of a Mr. Robert Gifford, for drinking water for the men, the wells of people in the immediate vicinity were used, their consent having first been obtained.

At this camp, as at all subsequent ones, the squadron was encamped in column of troops.

The officers using shelter tents, as the men.

Camp was established at 5:30 P. M., August 14th.

Sunday morning, August 15th, orders were received from Headquarters of the Division, for me to march the cavalry North in the direction of Middleborough.

At 9:20 A. M., I sent out two officer's patrols, covering the march of the main body of the cavalry at a distance of one mile to the east and west. At 9:30 one troop was sent forward as an advance guard.

The main body left camp at 9:40 and proceeded north to Leonard's Pond, thence by Walnut Plains road, North Rochester, South Middleboro road, New Wareham road to Rock station, a distance of about ten miles, where camp was established at 1 o'clock.

At 12:40 one of the patrols, under the command of Lieut. Bush, captured five of the "Blues," mounted on bicycles, being the first prisoners of the war, I believe. They were members of the Eighth Massachusetts Infantry, I paroled them with a note to their commanding officer.

Outposts were established from Troop 1, Captain Townsend, which covered the roads to the north, northwest and northeast of camp, and one platoon of the Essex troop, which covered road from South Middleboro to the east.

Monday, August 16th. Reveille, 3:30; stables, 3:50; and mess 4:30. At 5 o'clock camp was clear, wagons and horses, protected by woods, and one platoon of Connecticut troop as a guard. Patrols were sent out, and the outposts withdrawn. Small detachments of the enemy were encountered, but not of sufficient force to necessitate the increasing, or reinforcing patrols.

I moved the Squadron north on the New Wareham road to Number 200 on the map covering additional roads to the northwest.

Reports were received that the First Brigade, General Harries, was moving up and would occupy the ground in the neighborhood of Rock Station, division headquarters in the vicinity of South Middleboro.

I thereupon moved the squadron (which always included the Conn. and N. J. troops), northwest, in the direction of Middleboro, locating a camp at 1 o'clock on the Smith farm about one mile from 198 on the map, one mile south of Thomas street.

At 12:15 the first troop, acting as an advance guard, had discovered a company of blue infantry, been fired on, which fire was returned, and the enemy held back. This in the vicinity of the Green, near Middleboro.

August 17th. Reveille, 3:30; stables, 3:50; mess, 4:30.

Orders from division headquarters, directed the squadron to screen the march of the division, in the direction of Plympton, from Great Cedar swamp, Assawompsett pond.

I sent Troop 3, Captain Wright, in the direction of Middleboro, sending out officer's patrols to the north and northeast.

Troop "A" of Connecticut, Captain Ludington, covered to the west from Thomas street to the south as far as Fable brook in the direction of Assowompsett pond, where several prisoners were taken, and released on parole.

At 5:25 A. M., Captain Wright located outposts east of Middleboro. At 6:05, located a company of infantry at the "Green" behind stone wall in the vicinity of the church. He drew their fire. A battalion of Blues was then discovered and located in the immediate vicinity.

I brought the remainder of the squadron up, and when under cover, dismounted to fight on foot, proceeded in line of skirmishers, Essex troop, Captain Bryant, on the right. Heavy firing was taken up, but slowly and steadily we forced the enemy back, until we occupied the "Green" east of Middleboro. I then deployed to the east, taking excellent positions near the railroad bridge, forcing the enemy to retire from this point. At this junction the squadron of the Tenth U. S. Cavalry, charged down the road, over the bridge, where they placed their machine guns in position, but owing to superior numbers on the other side, they were compelled to retire. I took the squadron in the direction the 10th had just vacated, but finding a superior force, I felt it would be unwise to attempt an attack, so withdrew to the ground adjoining the church. It was now raining very heavily, and at 1 o'clock, encamped on these grounds, which had been obtained from the trustees. Through their courtesy also, we obtained the use of a small church house in the rear of the church, where the officers were quartered, the men sleeping in the horse sheds, with the horses picketed outside.

Outposts were established in the direction of Middleboro, and to the east of our camp, about one mile on Plymouth road.

Just as this camp was about to be established, we were fired upon by a company of Blue infantry, in the woods adjoining the camp, and to the northwest of it. I immediately threw three troops dismounted and front of where the company was located, and advanced in line of skirmishers, at this time a troop of the Tenth Cavalry, rode down the road and charged into the woods, under cover of our fire.

The decision of the umpire was in our favor, and the Blues were ordered to return to their regiment.

Immediately following this, Lieutenant Wendt, marched twenty-one of the Eighth Massachusetts into camp, he with two other troopers having surprised them, and made them prisoners; as it was then 1 o'clock, I ordered them to return to their camp, after having taken their names and regiment.

Field Orders, No. 5, directed that the cavalry march at 6 A. M. On August 18, via 161, Plymouth, North Plympton, to screen the march of the main body by holding all roads east and south-east from South Halifax and Halifax.

August 18th. Reveille, 4:30; stables, 4:40; mess, 5:10. Taking up the march at 6 A. M. When in the vicinity and west of 161 on the map, hearing firing on our front which had engaged our advance guard, I dismounted the whole squadron, less one platoon as a guard to lead horses, and forming line of skirmishers, advanced through swamp, taking cover behind trees and a stone wall at the northern end, found about two companies of the Blues, who had opened fire on the advance guard. We returned fire with one volley, then firing at will. The Blues were routed, we then returned to the lead horses, mounted, and proceeded, until in the vicinity of South Halifax, when we discovered what appeared to be a large number of Blues some distance ahead of us, they fired on us, but we had the horses immediately under cover, and threw two troops dismounted directly to the front behind a stone wall, and two troops on their left, through the woods, forming line of skirmishers on the right flank, and front of the enemy; all my men were completely under cover, and well protected. We engaged them, and while holding our position were reinforced by the Fourteenth Regiment, one battalion. The enemy was repulsed, and we moved forward, mounted, to within about one-half mile of Halifax, when my advance guard reported a large number of the Blues had been discovered. Upon further investigation, found they were located at the cross roads at Halifax, together with a wagon train and some cavalry.

I dismounted the whole squadron, advancing directly on their front, and being protected by the rolling country and fences, while on the left flank of the enemy, I had one troop, in a thick woods. On their right flank, the Tenth Cavalry, had their position. The enemy were advanced in open fields, and in lines of squads; our skirmish line was excellent, and men under perfect control at all times.

We drove them back, then charged after them winning a second victory for that day.

I then drew my men in, and encamped on a field about one mile south of Halifax, the Tenth Cavalry on the west of us, in an adjacent field.

August 19th. In accordance with Field Orders No. 10, the cavalry left camp at 5 A. M. sharp, the Tenth Cavalry in the lead, marching north via 162-118 road. We expected to meet the enemy in force in the vicinity of 162, but he had been moved prior to our advancing. We marched to about one-half mile south of 118, being the same distance north of Monponsett station, when the enemy was discovered, about two battalions.

We dismounted to fight on foot, but were ruled out, on account of superior numbers, on the opposite side.

I then took my squadron south to a point about one-fourth mile south of Monponsett station, and found a road east through the woods, which I took, with Troop 1, as an advance guard; I came out as I expected at 130, marched north to 121, reaching the left flank of the main body, General Harries' brigade. I then received orders from division headquarters to proceed north towards Pembroke, 120. Upon reaching that location, I sent Troop 1, Captain Townsend, on the road 120-116, west, and Troop 3, Captain Wright, on the road parallel and south about one-fourth mile, with instructions to patrol west, if possible, about one mile. Captain Wright reported after proceeding about three-fourths of a mile that he had located a machine gun squad, and about a company of infantry, but that he had a position he could hold, but could not advance. At the same time Captain Townsend reported that he had come upon one battalion of the enemy's infantry, and he needed to be reinforced. I threw out a line of skirmishers from the remaining three troops, waiting the enemy's advance—which he did—Captain Townsend having drawn his fire, and then fallen back.

The position of my men was excellent in every particular, but owing to the enemy's superior numbers (two battalions), we were obliged to fall back.

We then took new positions and under cover of our fire, General Harries marched his brigade north in the direction of Hanover Four Corners.

I followed as a rear guard to the whole division. At about two miles south of Hanover Four Corners, I received verbal orders from the general commanding, to bring the cavalry up at once. Proceeding at a rapid gait, I reported to him, and was then ordered to a position about two miles to the north on the flank of our army. I took the squadron, and one machine gun of the Tenth Cavalry at a gallop, arriving at our position exactly as directed, just one minute before the recall.

We encamped one mile from Four Corners on Washington street ("Boston Pike"), on a field owned by a Mr. Johnson.

In accordance with orders from headquarters, camp was broken the morning of August 20th.

Reveille, 4:30; stables, 4:50; mess, 5:20.

At 6:30, horses were watered in brook adjoining, and column moved away at 7 o'clock, the wagon train and guard in rear, towards South Braintree, Mass., where we were to entrain for Fall River.

We arrived at 10:15, watered horses in a pond nearby, waited until 4:30 when our train was made up, consisting of seven horse cars, three passenger coaches, one baggage car, and four platform cars for wagons.

The cars were loaded in forty minutes, train pulled out at 5:20. Arrived at Fall River at 7:15. Embarked on steamer "Pilgrim;" wagons and teams on steamer "Brockton." Arrived in New York, Pier 18, North river, Saturday noon, August 21st, at 12:30.

Saddled up on the pier, and with the wagons and guard, left at 1:30; marched up Broadway, to Fifth avenue, to the armory, Madison avenue and Ninety-fourth street, arriving there at 3:40 p. m.; all in excellent condition.

I cannot over estimate the value of the three automobiles generously donated to the use of the squadron, and driven by their owners, Lieutenant Whitney, Corporal Holt, and Private Spencer. They were used continually in the carrying of reports to headquarters, in connection with the commissary and quartermaster's stores, and in all ways where rapid communication was desired and necessary.

The health of the men was, at all times excellent, none being incapacitated through illness of any kind.

The horses stood it well; no sore backs to incapacitate any from the regular work.

The commissary supplies were excellent, but the one and great trouble, was in the transportation; that was totally inadequate.

I cannot speak too highly of the work done by the officers and men of all of the troops under my command. All were enthusiastic in the performance of every duty, and used all means to increase and strengthen their knowledge in all matters pertaining to the work.

Respectfully,

OLIVER B. BRIDGMAN,

Major, Squadron "A" Cavalry.

July 5th. Camp routine, A. M., section drill, three hours' duration, P. M., school, two hours' duration, lecture by Major Treat in camp sanitation and personal hygiene, care and treatment of horses together with practical application of armory instructions in range finding, visual signaling and construction and use of field telephones.

July 6th. Camp routine, battery drill in A. M. of three hours' duration, in P. M., lecture by Major Treat and advancement in practice of previous day.

July 7th. Field manoeuvres, simple tactical problems of artillery positions, offensive and defensive.

The following was published:

General Situation.—Brown Army with base at Binghamton,

N. Y., has artillery force consisting of two guns and one caisson sections near Greene, N. Y.-

Special Situation.—Blue Army (invading) with two guns and one caisson sections is reported as proceeding south by way of the Chenango valley; last seen near Smithville Flats, N. Y.

Problem.—Ascertain position and destroy opposing artillery.

Rules.—Terrain of attacking force, on west by Genegantslet Creek road, north, by road south of Smithville Flats, east, by Chenango river. Operations to begin not earlier than 11 A. M. Unless problem is completed before that time all forces will return to camp at 4 P. M. Artillery of either force locating its antagonist and firing upon for three minutes at range less than 3,000 yards without answer will be awarded the advantage. Lieutenant Laing with Lieutenant McRickard and the Third, Fourth and Sixth sections to constitute the Brown Army. Lieutenant Douglass with Lieutenant Shinnars and the First, Second and Fifth sections to constitute the Blue Army.

Reports of solution of problem were as follows: Captain E. H. Tracy, Sixth Battery, F. A.

Sir.—I have the honor to report the operation of the Second Platoon, representing the Brown forces defending the town of Greene, N. Y., during manoeuver problem held on the seventh of July, 1909, at 11 A. M., scouts and agents were sent out to locate the Blue force. The platoon marched from its camp to the town where it halted and awaited information. At 11:45 A. M. I received a report that the Blue force was advancing near the town on the State road. I proceeded and placed one gun in position on a hill distant one-half mile from the town, which controlled the Genegantslet Creek road.

I then concealed the other gun on a hill one-quarter mile from the first position controlling the State and the Back roads. At 3:25 the Blue force fired four rounds north of my second position. At 4 o'clock P. M. recall was sounded and the platoon returned to camp.

Respectfully,

(Signed) GEORGE E. LAING,
First Lieutenant, First Battalion attached.

TARGET RANGE, NEAR PORT CRANE, N. Y.

July 9, 1909.

Commanding Officer, Sixth Battery, F. A.:

SIR.— In accordance with problem and verbal orders issued on July 6, 1909, I have the honor to report on the action of the Blue force as follows: Left camp at 8 A. M. and proceeded by State road to point near Smithville Flats, N. Y. At 11 A. M. Lieutenant Shinnars as Reconnaissance Officer with scouts and agents were sent out. Returning toward Greene, N. Y., by State road at 11:15, arrested what proved to be motor cycle agent (civilian), who refused to answer questions, causing suspicions which prompted me to immediately secrete the forces in woods near by and await information. At 11:40 agents reported contact with enemy and at 12:30 reported a portion of Brown force as located on hill directly southwest. At 1:40 report was verified and position selected but on account of difficulties encountered (tilled fields) position was found to be impracticable. At 3 P. M. new position selected and occupied using the following data: Indirect fire, zone fire with sweeping, A. P. lone tree, Def. 5389, A. of S. 261, cr. 30 range 2,500, fired eight rounds assuming the remainder, lumbered and remained in "Observation." Recall was sounded at 4 P. M., at which time platoon returned to camp.

Respectfully,

(Signed) A. S. DOUGLASS,

First Lieutenant.

July 8th. The "General" was sounded at 10 A. M. At 10:14 took up march to range near Port Crane, N. Y., arriving at 7:15 P. M., distance about twenty-four miles; bivouacked.

July 9th. Target practice record enclosed.

July 10th. Target practice in forenoon. "General" was sounded at 2 P. M., took up march at 2:15, arriving at home station at 5 P. M., distance about six miles.

Horses were examined and returned to owners, personal equipment inspected and losses noted, the battery was dismissed at 6:30 P. M.

Major Charles G. Treat, Third Field Artillery, U. S. A., was present during tour as instructor, always courteous and ever ready to impart knowledge which his many years of experience in the field artillery has given him, will, in my opinion, be of lasting benefit to this command.

First Lieutenant G. E. Laing and Second Lieutenant S. E. McRickard, First Battalion F. A. were present for duty and rendered efficient service.

The Medical Department was ably represented by Captain G. S. Lape with detachment of hospital corps as certified by medical report tour of service.

Lieutenants Douglass and Shinnars are to be commended for the energy, activity and zeal exhibited during the tour.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS.

The harness issued leaves little to be desired. A number of No. 4 collars should be issued in lieu of No. 6-inch, curb bits for teams should not be eliminated, if snaffle bits are to be used a number of curbs should be retained.

The snaps on web canteen straps show weakness, buckles of field waist belts are not adapted to the use of militia forces, the changing of wearers which is liable to occur in the life of the belt prevents the turning down of buckle ends which leaves opportunity for buckle to become detached from belt and loss of revolver and holster.

Lanterns leaked as well as oil cans stored in limber chests. The object of using present hub cap and wheel fastener are lost on account of leakage of oil from hub retainers, necessitating the return to the old system of oiling each day. During target practice the carriage and recoil element worked perfectly, not varying more than one-fourth inch, being ordinarily 44 inches in recoil. This practice also showed lack of instruction in duties of No. 4 (fuse setter) which is proven to be one of the most important in the squad, this defect will be remedied in approaching drill season.

The plan and scope used was conducive of much good had there been more time allotted to the different phases, eight days being hardly time enough to obtain best results. Considerable difficulty was experienced in operating the field telephones. It is my opinion that this squad should receive a special course in the care, use and repair of these instruments.

Respectfully,
E. H. TRACY,
Captain.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST BATTALION, FIELD ARTILLERY, N. G.,
N. Y., 1891-1897 BATHGATE AVENUE, BRONX.

NEW YORK, December 30, 1909.

The Adjutant-General, State of New York, Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to report the tour of service performed by this command in connection with the field exercises on the Massachusetts Coast from August 13 to 21, 1909.

In compliance with instructions from the Department of the East, G. O. No. 10, c. s. Headquarters Division, N. G., N. Y., and G. O. No. 4, Headquarters First Battalion, Field Artillery, N. G., N. Y. The battalion assembled at Fifth avenue and Twenty-sixth street, New York city, at 12:45 P. M., August 13, 1909.

The command consisted of the following:

	Officers.		Enlisted Men.
Headquarters	3	(Major Wilson.)	2	5
Hospital Corps		(attached)	4	4
First Battery, F. A.	5	(Capt. O'Ryan)	85	90
Second Battery, F. A.	5	(Capt. Sherry)	90	95
Third Battery, F. A.	4	(Capt. Matlock)	87	91
Medical Corps	2	(attached)		2
Total			287

The batteries each consisted of 4 guns, 4 caissons, and 1 battery wagon and forge, and as no escort wagons were permitted, the impedimenta of the batteries was carried upon limbers and caissons.

The number of horses were as follows:

Headquarters	7
First Battery, F. A.	85
Second Battery, F. A.	85
Third Battery, F. A.	83
Total	260

The battalion took up the line of march at 1 P. M. to the City Hall where it was reviewed by the acting mayor, Hon. Patrick F. McGowan, then proceeded to the foot of Murray street, where it embarked as follows: Horses on Steamer Boston; guns and impedimenta on Steamer City of Brockton; officers and men on Steamer Pilgrim.

The embarkation of the command was accomplished without incident upon the above vessels, all of the Fall River line.

The command arrived at New Bedford, Mass., at noon of August 14th, where it debarked and proceeded to Ascutnet, making camp upon the ground assigned. Battery A (Captain Page) Connecticut N. G., was attached and the Provisional Battalion was reported to Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, U. S. A., commanding the Red Army of Invasion.

The command broke camp on August 15th, about 9 A. M., and proceeded with the Second Brigade to East Freetown where camp was made in a pine grove upon ground assigned.

The command broke camp on August 16th, at 9:50 A. M., and marched with the Second Brigade to Rock Station, where camp was made in a field adjoining a schoolhouse, about a mile and a half from and south of Rock Station.

The command broke camp on August 17th, about 6 A. M., in a drenching rain and marched via Rock Station, first road west of Tispaquin road and Woods pond. Shortly after 11 A. M., the enemy was encountered near East Middleboro, where the Third Battery (Matlock's) went into action east of the road. The first section of the Second Battery (Sherry's) went into action on the road and was thrice advanced in action as the enemy retreated. The battalion was about three-quarters of a mile from and east of Eddyville, at which place camp was made in a field assigned. The field adjoined a swamp and was very undesirable as a camp site.

The command broke camp August 18th, at 5 A. M. (the rain continuing). The enemy attacked the battalion as it was pulling out of camp. The First Battery (O'Ryan's) was ordered to cover the withdrawal of the brigade and was in position and opened fire on the enemy at 5 A. M., the remainder of the battalion moved out with the Second Brigade and the withdrawal having been perfected, the First Battery rejoined the column which moved in compliance with G. O. No. 7, by road 161-165, thence via North Plympton. The column had proceeded as far as Plympton where contact was made with the enemy, and the First Battery (O'Ryan's), was put into action on a ridge east of the road, firing at the enemy over our troops.

The enemy retreated and the artillery advanced as far as North Plympton where the First Battery (O'Ryan's), and Battery A (Page's), were ordered into action, after which the march was resumed toward 118. The enemy was encountered at Bryantville, where the First Battery (O'Ryan's) went into action at Gurney's Corners against a battery (Mass.) of the Blue Army, which the First Battery drove from its position, capturing three limbers with the horses and men.

The Second Battery (Sherry's) and Battery A (Page's) went into action against infantry deployed and entrenched behind stone wall- in the woods, but before the enemy had been dislodged the recall was sounded.

No other camp site being available for the artillery, the battalion was forced to camp within the enemy's lines. Owing to the umpire's refusal to allow the artillery to join the column on the morning of the 19th inst., without molestation, camp was broken at 4:45 A. M., and the battalion moved promptly at 5 o'clock.

A section of the Second Battery (Sherry's) was placed as a rear guard to our wagon train until the Battalion rejoined the Brigade at 121 as ordered F. O. No. 10. A company of Infantry who aiding in securing our march to 121 co-operated with the section which was again placed in action against the enemies' attack a quarter of a mile from the camp ground, they succeeded in driving the enemies' Infantry back after a brisk skirmish.

Crossing a piece of exposed country about a mile beyond the Battalion was again fired upon, Battery A (Page's) was placed in action and covered the withdrawal and the Battalion reached 121 and rejoined the Brigade about 5:50 A. M. and marched with the column via 120-121 and North Pembroke.

The march was without incident except a few advance guard skirmishes until Pudding Brook was reached. The Third Battery (Matlock's) halted here to water and was attacked by a troop of colored cavalry. The Third Battery went into action and repulsed the attack, suffering a loss of sixteen men and horses.

A quarter of a mile south of North River, Battery "A" (Page's) went into action behind a knoll east of the North Pembroke, Hanover Four Corners road, covering the roads approaching Hanover Four Corners from the west. Our troops were engaged against the enemy at Hanover Four Corners. The First Battery (O'Ryan's) was ordered into action on a hill north of the Corners and east of the road 69-62. The Infantry were driven back by the enemy and Battery "A" (Page's) was ordered into action, one platoon at the triangle and one platoon in the field adjoining the schoolhouse covering the roads to the south on which the enemy was advancing.

The Second Battery (Sherry's) and Third Battery (Matlock's) went into action in the fields and along the road near the church, the belfry of which was used as an observation station from which the data for indirect fire was telephoned to the Battery Commanders.

The Second and Third Batteries concentrated their fire upon a Blue Battery as it was seen coming into action. The fire being Zone Fire; Range 1,760 yards.

Although an observer declared that this fire was sufficient to destroy the Blue Battery, it went into action and fired. The fire of the Second and Third Batteries continued until the Blue Battery ceased firing. In the meantime Battery "A" (Page's) had driven the enemy back and was put in action in a field northwest of the Corners against the Infantry and Machine Guns of the Blue Army. When the fire of the Blue Battery ceased the Second (Sherry's) and Third (Matlock's) Batteries were moved down the road and put in action, the Third, 100 yards west from the Corners, and the Second about 300 yards further on. The First (O'Ryan's) was drawn from its first position, and placed in action further to the northwest, and firing in that direction, its position was again changed as the enemy withdrew.

At this time the recall sounded and the Battalion was detached from the Brigade, and later Battery "A" was detached from the Provisional Battalion.

The Battalion with the exception of the First Battery (O'Ryan's) (which camped near its last place of action) went into camp in a field south of the road 69-65.

The Battalion Scouts, under the command of the Adjutant (Capt. Berry) throughout the exercises, proceeded at the head of the column, selecting Artillery positions and observation stations, keeping at all times in touch with the Battalion Commander, through the agents of communication, and also selecting camp sites.

The Battalion Scouts captured four (4) Infantrymen of the Blue Army just prior to the engagement of August 17th, and one (1) Sergeant of Battery "A," F. A., Mass. Blue Army, on the 19th inst., near Hanover Four Corners.

August 20th the Battalion broke camp at 5 A. M. and marched to South Braintree and reported as ordered at 10 A. M.

The command was unable to entrain until 7:15 P. M.

During the long tedious wait at South Braintree the horses were picketed and fed and the men cared for. At 7:15 P. M. the Battalion entrained with all impedimenta and proceeded to Fall River where the command detrained and embarked on the same vessels and in the same manner as the command left New York, arriving at New York without incident, the Battalion debarked, and the several batteries were dismissed and marched to their armories.

The First Battery (O'Ryan's) lost two (2) horses.

The Second Battery (Sherry's) lost two (2) horses.

The Third Battery (Matlock's) had two (2) sick horses, which have since recovered and been returned to their owners.

The Battalion suffered for the lack of sufficient and proper wagon train to carry and supply forage for the animals. The contract teamsters, who were poorly horsed and had a collection of nondescript vehicles, abandoned the Battalion at the first disagreeable experience (a thirty-six-hour rain, with bad traveling over the muddy roads). I desire to here express my appreciation of the efforts successfully made by Major Percy Morgan, the Quartermaster of the Red Army, who, rising to the conditions, placed at the command of my Quartermaster again and again, auto cars to procure forage at all hours of the day or night, and some sort of transportation to take the place of the teamsters that had abandoned the Battalion.

The experience gained in this exercise leads me to believe that a Battery or a Battalion of Field Artillery should not take the field without its escort wagon train and extra horses.

The Commissary made delivery of rations with fresh meat each day, and though not in full quantity, considering the conditions of weather, of distance and difficulties of carriage as well as the fact that the column moved very rapidly, made it very satisfactory.

There was an overplus of hard bread and a shortage of potatoes and onions, and too little time to properly cook the meat or the beans, between the time of issue and the time required for eating. The beans were issued in bulk and there was not time to properly soak them and prepare them for cooking before the column took up the march, and owing to limited transportation there was no chance to carry things of this character.

Stews formed the main diet of the men, and the presence of more potatoes and onions would have made this diet more savory.

Commands that were fastidious about diet had opportunity to purchase articles on the road and thus add to their mess from time to time, and so everybody was abundantly fed.

The forage for animals was not so readily obtainable or so easily carried, as I have above set forth, and the feeding was in consequence irregular and at irregular intervals, yet with the conditions that prevailed, it proved satisfactory. The animals going and coming back upon the boat were particularly well cared for in this respect.

The animals were carefully transported under the direction of a Commissioned Officer of each Battery of the Battalion.

Captain O'Ryan, First Battery, Captain Sherry, Second Battery, Captain Matlock, Third Battery, with their officers and men performed their duty with marked ability and to all the officers and men I have the greatest praise for their attention to duty and the good discipline maintained.

There was no sickness reported, the health of the men being very good.

To my Adjutant (Capt. Berry) and my Quartermaster (Lieutenant Hines) I am indebted for the duty performed.

The Brigade Commander, General Appleton, under whom the Battalion served, made the service a very pleasant one.

This ended a very pleasant tour of duty and the Battalion looks forward to the time when it may take part in other exercises and demonstrate the profit of the experiences in these.

Respectfully submitted,

DAVID WILSON,

HEADQUARTERS THIRTEENTH REGIMENT, COAST ARTILLERY,
N. G., N. Y., ARMORY, CORNER SUMNER AND JEFFERSON AVENUES.

BOROUGH OF BROOKLYN, NEW YORK, January 29, 1910.

Adjutant-General Division, N. G., N. Y., Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to report in reference to the tour of duty of this command at Fort Hamilton, N. Y., from June 10th to June 19th, and the preparatory instruction therefor, as follows:

After consultation with and at the suggestion of Captain Jenkins, C. A. C., U. S. A., who was detailed as instructor for this district, a schedule of drills was prepared and published, and special classes for gunners were organized, both to be instructed by Captain Jenkins and such non-commissioned officers from Fort Hamilton as he might select.

The company drills were conducted by the company officers, part of them being supervised by Captain Jenkins who made no criticism to me other than the absence of some of the enlisted men. The classes were without instruction for two weeks except from pamphlets purchased from the Journal of the U. S. Artillery, when officers from this district were assigned to the duty, and so remained for the balance of the season.

The instruction given by the non-commissioned officers from the Fort was satisfactory and of value to the entire command.

Prior to the date of the encampment, plans were made by the Post Commander covering the work of the tour. The junior officers of the Post were to report in writing to the Post Commander daily, the result of their observations on the work of the State troops as to their efficiency and qualifications for the service, and were to be held personally responsible for any accident which might occur should they recommend any practice with the guns other than with dummies. On the consolidated reports of these junior officers to the Post Commander, recommendations were to be made for or against actual target practice at some future encampment.

This plan was carried out until June 15th, when, on my strongly insisting on the right to and our qualifications for sub-caliber practice, such practice was allowed over the objections of some of the junior officers.

General Wood ordered that three companies of this district should proceed to Fort Hancock for service record practice on June 18th. The powder was issued to the companies selected (the Third, Eighth and Ninth) for blending and bagging, on June 17th; the work was completed about midnight; reveille went at 4 A. M. and they left camp for the practice about 5 A. M. June 18th, returning at 8 P. M.

During the entire tour, no criticism of the companies of the command, no suggestion for the improvement of the men in artillery work, was brought to my attention either officially or unofficially. Reports were made to the Post Commander only.

The only matters referred to me for correction were: The mixing of rubbish with the garbage at the kitchens, the presence of pieces of newspaper in the latrines, and a misunderstanding of the posts of the sentries as established by Captain Jenkins.

The location of the camp ground for the companies assigned to Battery Piper was changed from that of the two previous years, and on the new ground a camp was laid out in advance of the arrival of this command, to be shown as the Model Camp. This camp was not laid out according to regulations, and was not as convenient as that of previous years. Considerable time, labor and money were expended on this camp which could have been spent to better advantage.

Each fire commander had supervision over his own fire command camp; each captain had charge of his own street, and an officer from each company was on duty in his street until everything was quiet at night. Both the Lieutenant Colonel and myself were through all of the camps at all hours of the day and night and found no horse play and no dissipation; that there could have been very little, if any, is shown by the fact that every man was at his post and did his own share of the work at every call for duty.

The first night at the post there was a disturbance in the camp nearest post headquarters which I was informed by the officer of the day greatly disturbed the post commander. The trouble was caused by an intoxicated man since dismissed from the company, and was promptly suppressed. There was also a number of men out of camp, but a fair proportion of them were uniformed in khaki, with which this command is not equipped.

Without question the Post Commander did what he thought was best for the State troops, but had he directed instruction instead of written reports, the result of the tour would have been much more satisfactory to all concerned.

Although some information was gained by the tour, the result was far from satisfactory, and in my opinion did not justify either the time given by the members of this organization, nor the expense to the Government and the State.

The attendance of the enlisted men was about 70 per cent., far from satisfactory. This small attendance should not be charged to the lack of interest on the part of this organization; many of the men have only ten days' vacation during the year, and this is the third successive year they have been called on for military duty. Undoubtedly many of the men wish to spend part of their vacations with their families.

I respectfully recommend as follows:

1. That compulsory duty for instruction be ordered in a fort for a ten-day period, each second year only.
2. That such compulsory duty be ordered for some post away from New York city, preferably at Fort Terry.
3. That permanent barracks be erected at Fort Hamilton, of sufficient size to accommodate 100 men and their field equipment; these barracks to be occupied by volunteers from this district, for drill and instruction, either with the Regulars or alone, at any time during the out-door drill period.

4. That the officers of this district be notified of the dates of the battery, fire command, and battle command drills at the fort, and that they be permitted to participate in them to learn by observation.

5. That a course of instruction for enlisted men, to be given in the armory, be prepared by some officer of the Regular Army, who is interested in the National Guard, and who wishes to increase their efficiency in the coast artillery branch of the service.

6. That instructors detailed for the instruction of the enlisted men in the armory, be selected from the non-commissioned officers of the army, who are specially qualified in their own respective duties.

Respectfully,

CHAS. O. DAVIS,

Colonel.

Report on Field Service at Crown Point, Plattsburg, with Reports of Commanding Officers, 1st, 2nd, 10th Regiments Infantry as Appendices.

HEADQUARTERS THIRD BRIGADE, N. G., N. Y.

ALBANY, August 18, 1909.

Adjutant-General, Division, N. G. N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to report that in accordance with G. O. 29, A. G. O. and S. O. 148 Division, N. G. N. Y., this brigade performed a tour of field service June 27th to July 17th, 1909, at Crown Point and Plattsburg Barracks, N. Y. In accordance with my recommendations the brigade was not mobilized; regimental camps were established, it being my desire to give the regimental commanders and their staff officers the benefit of the experience to be gained in mobilization and administration.

I was advised by the Adjutant-General, S. N. Y., that it was the desire of the authorities that a portion of the brigade take part in the Lake Champlain Tercentenary celebration July 5th to 8th. Camps were located with a view to permitting the troops to participate in the celebration with the least interruption to the field work as laid out and also with a view to economy in the matter of transportation.

Under authority received from the Governor I inspected sites in the vicinity of Crown Point and Ticonderoga and made satisfactory arrangements for camp and maneuver grounds for the headquarters of the brigade and the 10th Infantry near Forts Frederick and Amherst, about three miles north of Burdick's Crossing on the line of the D. & H. Company railroad. The arrangements included the use of a stretch of country three miles in length and one mile wide, including the use of the ruins of Forts Frederick and Amherst, for drill and maneuver purposes, the terrain being especially well adapted.

The water system was constructed by running a pipe line 1,200 feet from shore into the channel of Lake Champlain, the water being pumped into a 4,200 gallon storage tank elevated on a ten-foot trestle, one $3\frac{1}{2}$ H. P. Air Cool Gasoline engine and pump of the Van Noughys type being used, with an additional pump in reserve for breakdown service. Gravity pipe lines were extended from storage tank through the camp with a tap at each company, regimental headquarters and brigade kitchen and to the watering trough at the corral. The water was of good quality and an ample supply was available at all times, it being necessary to run the pumps not over three hours daily. This system was installed and maintained at a rental of \$716 for the entire period of camp at this point, and was taken up by the contractor at the end of that period.

Headquarters of the brigade were established here and the camp designated "Camp Champlain."

The Tenth Regiment was in the field at this point from June 27th to July 6th, inclusive, making a ten days' tour. The first eight days were devoted to drill and instruction, the last two days to participating in the ceremonies at Crown Point and Ticonderoga incident to the Champlain Tercentenary celebration, the regiment being reviewed by the Governor on July 5th at Crown Point and on July 6th at Fort Ticonderoga. The regiment also received the President upon his arrival at Fort Ticonderoga and furnished the guard while the President was at the fort.

During the tour of duty of the Tenth Infantry a mild case of varicella (chicken pox) developed in Company G. Realizing the possibilities of contagion immediate instructions were given to quarantine the man, and upon learning that he could be safely moved to his home station without danger of infection to others he was so removed in charge of a medical officer. There was also a case of measles in Company E of this regiment. Orders were at once given to have this man quarantined. All others occupying the tent with this man were given a rigid examination and it having been reported that it was perfectly safe, they were ordered to proceed to the home station. The remainder of the company with its tentage and entire equipment was placed in quarantine away from the camp proper. The medical officers were instructed to keep this isolated company under careful observation. No further cases developed and the company was released from quarantine within a few days. The company performed duty daily but were not brought in contact with other troops.

Under authority from the War Department and through the courtesy of the Commanding Officer the 5th U. S. Infantry ground on the government reservation at Plattsburg Barracks was set aside for camp purposes of headquarters of the brigade and the 1st and 2d Regiments Infantry from July 3d to 17th. Here the 2d Regiment established camp, arriving on the morning of July 3d. Brigade headquarters were transferred to this post from Crown Point on the morning of July 4th.

A water and sewage system was installed with drainage and taps at each company street and for latrines and shower baths by the city authorities of Plattsburg, N. Y., connected with the regular city systems, which proved very satisfactory. This was without expense to the State except for the cost of taps, fittings and buildings in connection therewith.

The 2d Regiment remained in camp at this point from July 3d to 10th inclusive. On Wednesday, July 7th, this regiment participated in the ceremonies incident to the Lake Champlain Tercenary celebration at Plattsburg in conjunction with United States and Canadian troops, passing in review before the President of the United States, the Governor of the State and other dignitaries. This regiment represented the State of New York in the ceremonies.

Two cases of appendicitis, one in Company H, and one in Company G were reported in the 2d Regiment. The first case made a fair recovery at camp; the other case was treated at the Post hospital, was returned to his company on the day the regiment broke camp, and accompanied the regiment to Troy.

The 1st Regiment replaced the 2d Regiment at this Post, arriving on the morning of July 10th.

A schedule of drills and program of field work was prescribed in G. O. No. 4 (copy hereto appended) which was followed as closely as practicable by each regiment. The work was taken up systematically and performed in a satisfactory manner, showing marked improvement each successive day.

The work as laid out being an exemplification of the course of study taken up during the previous indoor drill season, was found to be interesting and instructive by both officers and men, and it is believed that the results obtained will stimulate interest in a continuance of this course of study.

Guard duty, which was performed by companies, improved steadily during the tour. It is believed that the course of study and instruction prescribed at the beginning of the drill season of 1908-09 in this important duty proved most beneficial.

The lands used for drill and maneuver purposes were situated about one and one-half miles from the Barracks extending along the Saranac river in length about four miles and from one-half to two miles wide, slightly rolling, sandy soil with scrub oak and occasional dense underbrush. There were no fences and very little cultivation.

The general health of the three regiments with the exception of the cases noted above was excellent.

Superior headquarters having enjoined the strictest economy the brigade quartermaster was directed to furnish at each camp all mounts, forage, straw, fuel, illuminating oil, water, lumber, hardware, disinfectants and wagon transportation. He was also directed to construct sinks, shower baths and latrines and inclosures for same.

Subsistence supplies were purchased under authority of the War Department from the Post Commissary at Plattsburg Barracks, entailing considerable saving to organizations by being able to take advantage of the government contract prices.

The reports of the commanding officers 1st, 2d and 10th Regiments are hereto appended marked Appendix A, B and C respectively.

General orders 3, 4 and 5 are hereto appended marked Appendix D, E and F.

I desire to here express my appreciation of the many courtesies extended to myself and my command by Colonel Cowles, 5th U. S. Infantry, commanding Plattsburg Barracks, and to his officers, especially Captain Williams, commissary, whose duties were greatly multiplied in furnishing subsistence supplies to all three regiments of the brigade, and to Captain Hartmann, quartermaster, who in addition to his other manifold duties took time to lay out our camp at Plattsburg and to supervise the installation of water and sewage systems and building construction, supply all wagon transportation and help out generally in the quartermaster's department.

I also desire to commend and express my appreciation of the efficient services rendered by Captain Frederick W. Lewis, 29th U. S. Infantry and Captain R. F. Walton, U. S. A., retired, whose efforts materially aided in the successful fulfillment of the field work prescribed.

Respectfully,
JAMES H. LLOYD,
Brigadier-General.

HEADQUARTERS THIRD BRIGADE, N. G., N. Y.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 2, 1909.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 3.

I. In accordance with G. O. 29, A. G. O. and S. O. 148, Division, N. G., the organizations comprising this brigade will perform field service as follows:

The commanding officer and staff, June 27 to July 17, 1909, inclusive, near Fort Frederick, Crown Point, N. Y., and at Plattsburg Barracks, Plattsburg, N. Y.

The Tenth Regiment, Infantry, June 27 to July 6, 1909, inclusive, near Fort Frederick, Crown Point, N. Y.

The Second Regiment, Infantry, July 3 to July 10, 1909, inclusive, at Plattsburg Barracks, Plattsburg, N. Y.

The First Regiment, Infantry, July 10 to July 17, 1909, inclusive, at Plattsburg Barracks, Plattsburg, N. Y.

II. The Brigade Quartermaster will furnish at each camp all mounts, forage, straw, wood, illuminating oil, water, lumber, nails, disinfectants and wagon transportation. He will also construct sinks (except kitchen) and latrines and inclosures for same. Regimental commanders will arrange all other matters pertaining to the Quartermaster's department in connection with this tour of service. Regimental quartermasters are authorized to communicate direct with the Brigade Quartermaster, Major A. W. La Rose, Albany, N. Y., relative to details.

Attention is directed to the new transportation certificate (Form No. 101). Officers responsible for transportation will be required to follow strictly the instructions printed thereon. These certificates will be signed only by officers to whom the form has been issued.

III. Attention of commanding officers is called to Circular No. 3 A. G. O., June 6, 1904. Packing boxes and field chests should be of the dimensions mentioned therein. Transportation should not be lumbered with unnecessary impedimenta; baggage should be cut down to a minimum.

IV. Regimental commanders will draw rations from the Post Commissary at Plattsburg Barracks. The allowance for this ration is twenty-five cents; the State allows fifteen cents additional, making a total allowance of forty cents per ration. Regimental commanders will instruct their commissaries to make purchases and issues covering not to exceed the fifteen cents per ration additional allowed, in the usual way. If found necessary, commanding officers of regiments will direct company commanders to provide travel rations for one day on the date of leaving home station.

V. The brigade commander has been enjoined by superior headquarters to exercise the strictest economy. Regimental commanders will therefore govern themselves accordingly.

VI. Regimental camps will be established and maintained as provided in regulations and orders under the direction of regimental commanders who will issue orders governing the same.

VII. Schedule of drills and program of field work will be published in a subsequent order.

By command of Brigadier-General Lloyd,

FRANK A. McNEELY.

Adjutant-General.

GENERAL ORDERS. }

No. 4.

The following Schedule of Drills and Program of Field Work of the First, Second and Tenth Regiments, Infantry, during tour of field service June 27 to July 17, 1909, is published for the information and guidance of those concerned:

A. M.

First day's work.—Will consist of proper entraining of troops at home station, detraining at camp, pitching camp, submitting ration return. Consult F. S. R. 419 to 440, I. D. R. 562 to 586.

Second day's work.—Company. Company commanders will have charge of their companies and will give them instruction in infantry patrol work, advance and rear guard work, and attack and defense. In this work it is recommended that patrol be used against patrol to assure the men making proper use of cover.

Third day's work.—Battalion. The battalion commanders will have charge of their battalions, and acting alone will practice maneuvering in advance and rear guards, attack and defense. In the latter part of this drill it would be well to use one part of the command against another part so as to increase attention and assure proper use of cover.

Fourth day's work.—Battalion. Same as third day's work except that battalion commander will cover outpost work, having the troops alternate in different positions on the outpost lines so as to assure some instruction in each element for all the men present. If time is available it is recommended that a small party of troops be sent against the outpost lines as established to see if they can get through; and also have the outpost line take up the defensive position when attack is discovered.

Fifth day's work.—Practical exercise No. 1 to be given out later.

Sixth day's work.—Practical exercise No. 2 to be given out later.

Fourth day's work will be omitted by the Second Regiment. This command will be designated to participate in the ceremonies incident to the Lake Champlain Tercentenary Celebration at Plattsburg on July 7.

The Tenth Regiment will have practical exercise No. 3, to be announced later, on Saturday, July 3.

The Tenth Regiment will take part in the ceremonies incident to the Lake Champlain Tercentenary Celebration at Crown Point on July 5 and at Ticonderoga on July 6.

On the last day of the tour of each regiment, striking camp; entraining, and detraining at home stations.

Consult F. S. R. 419 to 440, I. D. R. 562 to 586.

Drills will not be held on Sundays.

P. M. DAILY.

Such close order drill or ceremonies as the regimental commander may direct.

The brigade commander expects particular attention to be paid to the proper performance of guard duty and also to military courtesy in general.

Non-commissioned officers will be assembled each day immediately after dinner for a talk on the practical exercises of that day and the day to follow.

The officers will be present at these talks in order that they may gain information as to how to properly instruct non-commissioned officers, one of the most important functions of an officer of this day.

Immediately after the dismissal of the non-commissioned officers there will be a daily conference of officers covering questions and criticisms of the day's work and of the next day's work.

Details for guard will be by company and regimental commanders will so arrange it that every officer and enlisted man will receive practical instruction in guard duty.

Report of Commanding Officer, Third Brigade, on field service, 1909

HEADQUARTERS FIRST INFANTRY, N. G., N. Y.

STATE ARMORY.

BINGHAMTON, June 23, 1909.

CIRCULAR }
No. 3.

This regiment having been ordered for a tour of field service at Plattsburg Barracks, Plattsburg, N. Y., July 10 to July 17, 1909, inclusive, the following orders and regulations governing the mobilization, the conduct of the camp and the duty to be performed are published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

1. The several companies and the field, staff, non-commissioned staff and attached officers and enlisted men will leave their respective stations at such hour July 10, and by such route, as is prescribed in a transportation schedule, which will be published later. Personal baggage of officers, not exceeding a steamer trunk and bedding roll, and the horse equipments of mounted officers, will be transported without extra charge. The personal baggage of enlisted men will be limited to that carried on the person and in the blanket roll. Camp and garrison equipment will be carried as freight or excess baggage; and the cost of transportation of the same to the authorized amount will be paid by the United States. The authorized camp equipment is estimated at 4,000 pounds for a company and must not exceed that amount.

2. The following camp equipage is authorized, and will be carried: All tentage, including poles and pins, field range and necessary cooking utensils and mess chests, water barrels, coffee and garbage cans, lanterns, axes, mallets, picks, shovels, rakes and field desks. The weight of these articles will be ascertained in advance, in order that each responsible officer may be prepared to give a proper receipt for its transportation. Any other equipment carried must be very moderate in amount, and its transportation paid for by the organization for whose convenience the same is taken.

3. In addition to the officers and regularly enlisted men, the servants authorized by regulations may be taken to camp; also civilian cooks by companies not having enlisted cooks.

4. The Regimental Quartermaster at his station, and the Battalion Quartermasters at their respective stations, will give the required transportation receipts covering the officers and men, the authorized civilian employees and camp equipage requiring transportation from that station; at other stations the senior officer will give such receipts. Transportation receipts upon the Militia Form will be given for the commissioned officers and enlisted men and the authorized camp equipment, and separate receipts upon the State Form for authorized civilian employees. Careful attention to these directions is necessary. Written proposals from not less than two persons will be obtained by the responsible officer, as above indicated, at each station, for the transportation of camp equipage and officers' baggage between the Armory and trains. Such proposals should specify the rate per unit of weight, and not be in the indefinite form of so much per load.

5. The Regimental Commissary at his station, the Battalion Quartermasters at their stations, and the senior officer at stations where there is no such staff officer, will provide rations for July 10 at the State rate for the officers, enlisted men and civilian employees at that station, providing for two meals of travel ration and one meal for cooking. Two sets of ration returns will be required; one for enlisted men (to be paid out of United States funds), and one for officers and civilian employees (to be paid for from State funds).

6. Enlisted men will wear during the tour the service uniform "for field duty" as prescribed in the Uniform Regulations, and will carry the blanket roll containing the blanket, poncho, bed-sack, shelter half, and the haversack and canteen. Commissioned officers, in addition to the uniform for field duty, will be provided with the dress uniform for dinner and evening wear, and, at their option, may wear the olive drab trousers and caps when off duty. The service coat will be worn on guard, at ceremonies and when off duty outside the camp, but will not be worn by line officers and enlisted men on drills and field exercises or on fatigue duty.

7. The hours of service during the tour will be as follows:

First call for reveille.....	4.55 A. M.
Reveille	5.00 "
Assembly for roll call immediately after reveille.
Sick call	5.15 "
Mess call	5.30 "
Fatigue for general police.....	6.15 "
Guard mount	7.10 "
Assembly of guard details.....	7.15 "
Adjutant's call	7.20 "
Drill call	8.20 "
Assembly	8.25 "
Adjutant's call	8.30 "
Recall	10.00 "
Mess call	12.00 M.
First sergeant's call	12.45 P. M.
School	1.00 "
Drill call	4.00 "
Assembly	4.05 "
Adjutant's call	4.10 "
Recall	5.30 "
Mess call	6.00 "
Call to quarters.....	10.30 "
Taps	11.00 "

Reveille and the assembly following it, the assembly of guard details, the assembly for drills and ceremonies, Adjutant's call and retreat will be sounded by all the field musicians; the remaining calls by the musicians of the guard only. Retreat will be sounded at the proper time during parade, or at a time indicated at the conclusion of the afternoon drill or ceremony, if there be no parade. There will be a retreat roll call at 5:30 P. M. Saturday, July 10, at the conclusion of which retreat will be sounded. There will be no drills on Sunday, July 11. Church call for divine service will be sounded at 8:30 A. M., and there will be an evening ceremony for which first call will sound at 4:55 P. M.

8. At fatigue call companies will police their streets and quarters and the adjoining ground and put their tents in order for the day. The general police of the camp will be performed at the same hour by a detail from the regiment. The Ordnance Officer will be charged with the direction and supervision of the general police. The police of the camp must be complete before guard mount.

9. Guard duty will be performed by company, each company having a tour of approximately twelve hours, until each company has performed a tour. The detail for guard will be as follows: From 4 P. M. July 10 to 8 A. M. July 11, Company L; for July 11, Companies H and C; for July 12, Companies E and A; for July 13, Companies K and I; for July 14, Companies B and D; for July 15, Companies F and G; for July 16, from 8 A. M. to 8

P. M., Company M; from 8 P. M. July 16 to 8 A. M. July 17, a detail from the companies. The companies first designated for each day will mount in the morning, with the ceremony in full. For the purpose of the ceremony the company going on will be divided into twelve details and sent, one to each of the company streets, and will be marched on in the usual manner by the First Sergeant or a Sergeant of the company to which it is sent. The ceremony of guard mount will be conducted by the Battalion Adjutants and Sergeants Major in rotation. The company to mount guard in the evening will go on without ceremony except an inspection by the Adjutant and the usual ceremony at the guardhouse. The commanding officer of the company on guard will act as officer of the day. He will see that the time is so divided that each private shall have duty on post, and that each non-commissioned officer performs a due proportion of the duties appropriate to his grade. The company coming off guard in the morning will be relieved from the morning drill; otherwise the performance of guard duty will not relieve from other duty.

10. The morning drills will be conducted in accordance with the schedule prescribed in G. O. 4, Headquarters 3d Brigade, June 8, 1909. The afternoon drills will be by battalion or regiment in close order, as may be directed, and will conclude with a ceremony, including during the week parade, review and the escort to the color. Equalization for battalion drills and ceremonies will be made by the Battalion Adjutants. For this purpose a transcript of the morning report on Form 43 will be furnished by company commanders at the same time the morning reports are sent to the office of the Adjutant. Equalization will be made upon these reports in advance, and should be made without delay. Schools for officers and non-commissioned officers for comments on the work done, and explanation of the work to be next undertaken, will be held daily at 1 P. M.

11. Morning reports will be sent in on July 10 at or before 3 P. M., and each morning thereafter as soon as the result of sick call is known. All reports and communications calling for the action or attention of the commanding officer will be sent to the Adjutant's office before 9 A. M. The business of the Adjutant's office will, if possible, be completed and the office closed at 1 P. M. each day.

12. Field musicians will report to the Drum Major for the sounding of calls which are directed to be sounded by all the field music, and for instruction at the hours prescribed for drill; but will be quartered and rationed with their companies.

13. All officers of the medical corps attached to the regiment will report to the Regimental Surgeon on arrival, and will perform such duties during the tour as he may direct.

14. All officers and enlisted men, unless duly excused as hereinafter prescribed, will be required to be present at reveille roll call, and at each of the prescribed duties and formations of the day, and to be in quarters at taps and until reveille. In the rare cases where it may be necessary for urgent reasons for an officer or enlisted man to be excused from a required duty, or to be absent from camp after taps, application in writing will be made through the regular channels. Company commanders will report the result of reveille roll call promptly to their respective Battalion Adjutants, who will in return report to the Regimental Adjutant. Between call to quarters and taps each company commander will assure himself whether any of his men are absent without authority, and will report in like manner. The names of any absentees at reveille or taps, or at any prescribed duty, will be reported to the Adjutant as soon as the fact is known.

15. In order that enlisted men may have every reasonable opportunity to visit points of interest in the neighborhood of the camp, each company commander may excuse each day from the afternoon drill and ceremony not more than one-fifth of the privates, and a like proportion of the non-commissioned officers, of his company. Non-commissioned officers, however, will not be excused thereby from attendance at the daily school, and due provisions must be made for the performance of all necessary duty. The names of the men so excused will be reported for approval each day to the Adjutant prior to 9 A. M. upon a pass list, and passes given the individual men accordingly. No other passes will be issued or required.

16. Each officer and enlisted man must bear in mind that this mobilization of the regiment is for the purpose of instruction. The requirements of duty are therefore paramount. The Commanding officer, however, realizes that men rendering voluntary service to the State are justly and fairly entitled to any proper and legitimate pleasure that can be had in connection with the tour not inconsistent with the required duty. A consideration of this order will indicate that as much liberty as the situation permits will be given; but this liberty must not be abused, and all infractions of discipline will receive due punishment according to the nature of the case.

Adjutant.

No. 1. }

I. The field maneuvers for the purposes of instruction this morning will consist of the establishing of an outpost and its reconnaissance by strong patrol of an opposing force.

II. For the purposes of this problem the regiment will be divided into detachments as follows:

1st and 2d Battalions under Lieut.-Col. Boyer.

3d Battalion under command of Major Carlisle.

III. Lieut.-Col. Boyer will march his command to an eligible place upon the maneuver ground southwest of the camp and will establish in due form a system of outposts facing generally north.

IV. Major Carlisle will march upon the maneuver ground, thirty minutes after Col. Boyer advances, and by reconnaissance and patrolling, will endeavor to develop the outpost line, and will endeavor to cause individual men to penetrate the line of observation.

V. The outpost force will be distinguished by a band of white worn upon the hats or headdress; umpires and non-combatants will be distinguished by the cap or band of white upon the arm.

VI. The troops designated will march from the post at 8 A. M., enlisted men carrying canteens filled with water and five rounds of ammunition.

VII. The regimental surgeon will detail a sufficient detachment from the Hospital Corps to accompany each Battalion of the troops designated for this movement.

VIII. The Ordnance Officer will issue the blank ammunition called for by this order.

IX. Regimental Staff Officers whose duties will permit will report to Lieut.-Col. Boyer to assist him in the movements of the day. The Regimental Commander will be on the field for the purpose of observing the movements and giving general direction.

PLATTSBURGH BARRACKS, N. Y., *July 15, 1909.*FIELD ORDER, }
No. 3. }

I. The field maneuver for the purpose of instruction this morning will consist of a rear guard action.

II. The supposed situation is as follows:

A force consisting of a regiment operating from the south has encountered a brigade of an opposing force operating from the north, and has been defeated. The two battalions in the firing line having suffered such losses as not to be immediately available for action, the battalion which was in reserve during the engagement is deployed as a rear guard to cover their retreat upon its main force situated further south. A regiment of the northern brigade is sent after the engagement in pursuit of the defeated regiment and is endeavoring to convert the defeat into a rout.

III. For the purposes of this problem the regiment will be divided into detachments as follows:

The 1st and 3d Battalions representing the pursuing regiment under command of Lieut.-Col. Boyer; the 2d Battalion representing the rear guard of the defeated regiment under command of Major Cookinham. The latter will constitute the white, and the former the brown force.

IV. Major Cookinham will march his command to an eligible defensive position upon the maneuver ground southwest of the camp and will be followed in thirty minutes by Lieut.-Col. Boyer's command and the maneuver will commence upon the contact of the troops. If time will permit, three defensive positions will be taken up successively by the rear guard.

V. The troops designated will march from the post at 8 A. M. and at 8:30 respectively, enlisted men carrying canteens filled with water and ten rounds of blank ammunition.

VI. The Regimental Surgeon will detail a sufficient detachment from the Hospital Corps to accompany each battalion of the troops designated for this movement.

VII. The Ordnance Officer will issue the blank ammunition called for by this order.

VIII. Regimental Staff Officers whose duties will permit will report to Lieut.-Col. Boyer to assist him in the movements of the day. The Regimental Commander will be on the field for the purpose of observing the movements and giving general direction.

By order of Col. Hitchcock,

.....
Adjutant.

HEADQUARTERS, FIRST REGIMENT, N. G., N. Y., STATE ARMORY.

BINGHAMTON, August 5, 1909.

The Adjutant-General, Division, National Guard, Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to make the following report of the tour of field service of this regiment at Plattsburg Barracks, July 10–17, 1909, under G. O. 29, A. G. O., and S. O. 148 Div. N. G.

General Orders No. 3, a copy of which is enclosed, was published from headquarters of the regiment June 23d as soon as the nature of the work to be required was fully known. The duty prescribed in the order was performed substantially as outlined in the order. Upon completion of the arrangements for transportation, Circular No. 3 was published. A copy of this circular is also enclosed.

Two of the special train sections were delayed en route on the journey to Plattsburg by freight traffic. The first section, due to arrive at 10 A. M., arrived at 11, and the second section, which should have arrived at 9:30, did not arrive until a few minutes after 1 P. M. The early arrival of the regiment at the camp ground and the prompt detraining and unloading enabled the camp to be made and all necessary supplies issued at 5 in the afternoon. Guard was mounted at 4 P. M., and at 5:30 there was a retreat roll-call in the company streets.

On July 11th there was an evening parade at 5 o'clock. In the morning I rode out to personally inspect the maneuver ground upon which the principal field exercises of the week were to be undertaken. This tract is a barren expanse of ground bounded on the west by the Saranac river, on the east by the Plattsburg-Peru road, and extends from a point about a mile south of the Post for several miles in a general southwesterly direction. Its width at the northern end is something over half a mile, and it becomes gradually wider toward the south. Its surface is diversified with patches of woods and brush with a few open places only. A blue-print map of the region was furnished, which however was too old to be of much value except for the contour lines and to show the character of the region in a very general way. As a maneuver ground for instruction in minor tactics it was in every way well adapted to the purpose, its distance from the camp being the only objection that could be made to it.

On the following day the practical work of the week as begun. The program for the day as prescribed in G. O. 4, 3 B, 1909, was omitted by authority of the Brigade Commander, and the third day's work substituted in place of it. Battalion commanders were given charge of their battalions for instruction in advance and rear guard formations with special reference to the use of cover and the character of the terrain. This work was a valuable and necessary introduction to the practicable problems which were undertaken during the remainder of the week. The work done and the dispositions made were not faultless, but showed on the part of officers and men intelligent study of the subjects involved.

The work of Tuesday, July 13th, consisted in the establishment of an outpost system by two battalions, and a reconnaissance by the remaining battalion for the purpose of discovering its position and strength. Field Orders No. 1 was published to outline and govern the morning's work. A copy of this order is enclosed.

As the ground was unfamiliar, and the maps nearly useless, and as it was the first exemplification of anything of the kind for practically all who participated, there were naturally many errors committed. These were pointed out and the entire work commented upon at a meeting of the officers and non-commissioned officers that afternoon.

On the following day the same problem was undertaken with only a change in the troops designated, Major Cookinham's battalion being designated to make the reconnaissance instead of that of Major Carlisle. The work of this day was very satisfactory, and the dispositions made were in all essentials correct. The battalion charged with the reconnaissance did effective work in scouting and patrolling; and the weight of the attack was directed very intelligently upon what was admittedly the weak point in the line of out-posts.

The problem of Thursday consisted of a rear guard-action, and was outlined in Field Orders No. 3, a copy of which is inclosed. The working out of this problem was in the main satisfactory. It was, however, determined to repeat the problem on the following day with a change in the assignment of the battalions. Although the first day's work upon this problem was good, the second showed great improvement. The dispositions on the part of the defense were made with excellent judgment; and Major Cookinham who conducted the attack made an admirably executed flank movement which wholly escaped notice owing to a noisy demonstration in another quarter.

Throughout these practical exercises the course was followed of allowing the officers in command of the detachments designated for attack or defense very free scope to form their own plans and carry them out unhampered by any orders or instructions except as stated in the conditions of the problem. The movements and dispositions were thus in no way restricted to a cut and dried program; but each battalion and company commander had the same freedom he would have had in an actual encounter in the field.

If any feature of these exercises is specially worthy of note it is the intelligent interest which the enlisted men took in them. Their work in scouting and reconnoitering and in the use of cover improved very perceptibly from day to day.

On the last day a good defensive position was strongly occupied and intrenched with patrols and picket sentries out, without leaving any evidence whatever of its occupation to a person approaching from the front. The men did very cheerfully and willingly a large amount of hard work in this way, and it was evident from the manner in which the work was undertaken and their interest in the comments and explanations, that these practical exercises had far more interest for them than the formal movements on the armory floor or on the drill ground. Owing to the distance of the maneuver ground from the camp the morning's work involved a good deal of marching, and fully occupied the time from 8 A. M. until noon. The time occupied by the morning work and the distance of the ground were such that I did not feel warranted in making the drills and ceremony of the afternoon as long as was originally contemplated. Evening parade was held every evening except Thursday, when the Brigade Commander did the regiment the honor of receiving a review.

The weather during the week was in every way favorable, although somewhat warmer than was entirely comfortable. No rain occurred to interfere with work at any time.

The work of the week was perhaps rather severe, particularly at first, for men coming directly from civil pursuits; but their disposition toward their work and the duty of the camp was excellent.

The health of the command was good under the circumstances. There were a few minor cases of heat prostration and a good many cases of chafing and blistered feet. These latter cases were caused in part by the fact that in a good many instances new and unbroken shoes were worn, and in part by the strap puttee leggin.

This leggin did not seem to give the satisfaction that the laced leggin affords. It does not exclude sand and dust as effectively, and shows a tendency to work up over the shoe and chafe the ankle.

On Saturday, July 17, the camp was broken in an expeditious and orderly manner, and all the special trains left promptly on schedule time, and arrived at home stations without accident or material delay.

The newly organized hospital corps detachment rendered efficient service under Major Dye and his assistants, and profited very much by the instruction of the week.

The guard duty during the week was done by company, and owing to the course of instruction prescribed by the Brigade Commander during the year, was, I believe, done better than ever before.

The work done by the regiment during the week was satisfactory. It was a matter of some regret that more time could not have been given to close order work; but it was early apparent that it was necessary to choose between this drill and practical work in extended formations upon the maneuver ground, as time would not suffice for both. I had no hesitation in devoting nearly all the time to the latter. While it is true that war service is a remote contingency, it is nevertheless a fact that such exercises, together with careful instruction in guard duty, is the best preparation for such service as would occur in the event of civil disorder. Enough close order work was done to indicate that the regiment could be readily handled; and the work on the maneuver ground showed that its cohesion and discipline were not lost in extended formations on difficult ground.

The regiment is much indebted to the practical and theoretical instruction given by Captain Frederick W. Lewis, 29th U. S. Inf., and Captain R. T. Walton, U. S. A., retired; also to First Lieuts. Deshler Whiting and A. L. Singleton, 5th U. S. Inf., and to First Lieut. W. D. Wills, commanding the Machine Gun Platoon, 5th Inf., for valuable assistance.

Respectfully,

C. H. HITCHCOCK,
Col. First Inf., N. G., N. Y.

APPENDIX II

Report of Commanding Officer, 3rd Brigade, on field service, 1909

HEADQUARTERS SECOND REGIMENT, N. G., N. Y.

TROY, N. Y., August 12, 1909.

The Adjutant-General, S. N. Y., Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to make the following report of the Field Service of this Regiment performed by it pursuant to the provisions of G. O. 29, A. G. O., c. s., S. O. 148, Division N. G., c. s., and G. O. No. 3, Third Brigade, from July 3 to July 10, 1909.

Upon receiving these orders I issued the following order.

HEADQUARTERS SECOND INFANTRY, N. G., N. Y.

STATE ARMORY, TROY, N. Y., June 4, 1909.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 6.

I. Pursuant to the provisions of G. O. 29, A. G. O., c. s., S. O. 148, Division N. G. c. s. and G. O. No. 3, 3d B., this Regiment will perform a tour of State field, or camp service at Plattsburg Barracks, N. Y., from July 3d to July 10, 1909, inclusive. The several companies of the Regiment will make such preparations as are necessary to fully and properly perform this duty on the dates designated, fully equipped for Field Service. Only men physically fit to accompany the troops will be taken. Company Commanders will cause a rigid inspection to be made before leaving their respective armories, and require all ammunition of every kind to be left behind.

II. The nature of the duty to be performed is such that not only the proficiency of the Regiment as a military organization is at stake, but the personnel of the members of the Regiment will be thoroughly tested and the conduct of officers and men must at all times be such as to reflect credit upon the organization. The rules of military courtesy and discipline must be thoroughly understood and observed, and all infractions of military discipline or misbehavior of the members of the Regiment will be summarily dealt with. On the conduct of the Regiment, collectively and individually, will depend the success of the tour of duty.

III. Company Commanders will give instruction in the duties of advance and rear guards, outposts and reconnoissance work, and the formation for attack and defense. Prior to the tour of duty, Company Commanders are urged to give the men instruction in Guard Duties in the field. Instruction should also be given in the method of entraining and detraining so that the cars may be loaded or released to the transportation company with the greatest expedition. Lieut.-Col. Loyal L. Davis is hereby detailed as instructor in Guard Duty.

IV. The organization will go fully armed, equipped and uniformed for active duty in the field, with the olive drab service uniforms and will carry their blankets, overcoats, ponchos, haversacks and canteens.

The Regiment will turn out in full dress uniform on Wednesday, July 7th, and participate in the Tercentenary Celebration at Plattsburg, N. Y. The officers will take with them their full uniforms for use on this and any other occasion when full dress may be necessary.

Company Commanders will cause the full dress uniforms, including caps, of the enlisted men to be packed in cases and plainly marked. Upon arrival in Plattsburg these cases will be placed in storage in the Government storehouse at Plattsburg barracks and will be taken to the camp and delivered to the Companies in time for use on Wednesday, after which they will be again packed up and returned to the Government storehouse.

These cases of uniforms should be carefully packed so that the men may present a creditable appearance at the time of the celebration.

V. The Quartermaster in charge of each train will inspect every car provided for the transportation of the troops of the Regiment. He will see that the cars and equipment are clean and in good serviceable condition throughout, water tanks iced and filled with pure water, renewed when necessary, and that the required number of cars are furnished. Complete and similar inspection will be made when the cars are released to the transportation company and any damage thereto noted.

Detailed information of the time and place of departure of trains will be communicated in a later order.

VI. Quartermasters will see that no baggage or impediments of any kind is taken on the passenger coaches with the men. Officers will take nothing but small pieces with them. The men will have nothing with them in the passenger coaches except their personal field equipment, including shelter tents and arms, and when they step from the train they will leave nothing behind them in the passenger coaches but will have all their belongings on their persons ready to bivouac, if necessary, alongside the track.

VII. All baggage of officers and men, except as specified above, will be placed in the baggage cars provided, and in the following order, viz.:

- 1 — Officers' baggage,
- 2 — Enlisted men's baggage,
- 3 — Hospital stores,
- 4 — Tentage,

so that articles needed first will be first reached and utilized on detraining at camp. Each Company Commander will take all the tentage issued to him by the State and all medical and surgical property.

VIII. Company Commanders will provide their men with one meal to be issued just before reaching camp. Company Commanders will make out two sets of ration returns, one for enlisted men and one for officers and civilian employees, for field rations for eight days, commencing with the evening meal for July 3d, and deliver the same to the Regimental Commissary immediately upon arriving at Camp.

IX. The men will detrain under direction of the Company Commanders as soon as the train stops at its destination, and form, approximately, 30 paces from the railroad, without delay.

X. A noncommissioned officer from each Company with a detail of men, not to exceed a squad, will load and unload the baggage and camp equipage. The noncommissioned officer in charge of the detail should be in immediate charge of all property and supplies required for immediate use in camp, and will not be relieved until the property is all delivered into proper hands on the Company camp grounds. The Commanding Officer of each Company will direct an officer from his command to supervise the work, who will proceed with the detail to the baggage cars immediately upon detraining.

XI. Pay-rolls will be prepared in quadruplicate before each organization leaves its home station for camp; they will be handed in each day with the morning report and examined by the Adjutant to see if they compare with the proper morning report. Careful attention should be given to G. O. 36 A. G. O. c. s. containing detailed instruction as to pay-rolls.

XII. Immediately upon arrival at Plattsburg the musicians of the several companies of this Command will report to the principal musician and will be quartered with the Band and treated as a Company during the entire tour of service, under Command of the Adjutant. They will be taken up on the ration return of the Band and omitted on their Company ration returns. They will be entered and carried on the pay-rolls of their respective companies.

XIII. Battalion Quartermasters, for the subdivisions quartered in their respective home stations and the Commanding Officers of Companies B, G, H, I, K and L are required to obtain bids from at least two responsible parties for furnishing the necessary wagon transportation from their armories to station and return. Before departure, they will obtain a voucher on Form 22, War Department, Division of Militia Affairs, duly executed by the successful bidder for both services, and to this voucher will be attached a certified copy of the contract or agreement made with the party who furnished the transportation. This voucher will be delivered to the Regimental Quartermaster upon arrival in camp.

XIV. Careful attention must at all times be given by all the officers and men of this command to the sanitary condition of the camp. Cooks, kitchens and cooking utensils must at all times be scrupulously clean, and no part of the rations should be exposed to sun or flies. Company Commanders will cause their streets to be put in perfect condition before mess call in the morning and an officer of each Company will inspect their respective company kitchens after each meal has been served. The entire camp ground must be kept at all times absolutely neat and clean and free from all litter or refuse. All refuse matter that can must be burned and all other matter properly disposed of. Company kitchens must be policed as often as necessary. No kitchen sinks will be dug, the camp being connected with the city sewer. Company Commanders will provide two galvanized iron garbage cans with covers for all kitchen refuse.

XV. All mail matter intended for the members of the Regiment must indicate Company and Regiment and be addressed to the PLATTSBURG BAR-RACKS, Plattsburg, N. Y.

BY ORDER OF COL. LESTER,

THOMAS G. DICKSON,

Adjutant.

Official:

.....

Adjutant.

Upon completion of the train schedule for the moving of the troops and after the same had been approved by the Brigadier-General, commanding, I issued the following order.

HEADQUARTERS SECOND INFANTRY, N. G., N. Y.

STATE ARMORY, TROY, N. Y., June 14, 1909.

GENERAL ORDERS, } No. 7.

I. The following schedule of trains relative to the movement of this Command to Plattsburg, N. Y., July 3d, and other memoranda pertaining to the Quartermaster's Department are hereby published for the information and guidance of all concerned.

II. The Regiment will move in three sections as follows: First Section will transport Headquarters, Band, Hospital Corps Detachment, Companies A, B, C and D. Special train will leave Union Station, Troy, at 7.30 A. M. and proceed, via Cohoes, where Company B will be attached, leaving there at 7.45 A. M. On the afternoon of July 2d two baggage cars will be placed in the Adams street, Troy, freight yards of the New York Central lines, into one of which will be loaded the baggage of Headquarters, Band and Hospital Corps Detachment. Into the other car will be loaded the baggage of companies A, C and D. After loading, these two cars will be sealed, taken to Albany and moved to Plattsburg on D. & H. train No. 7, leaving Albany at 1.45 A. M. July 3d.

One combined car and one coach will be placed at the D. & H. station, Cohoes, on the afternoon of July 2d, so that the baggage of Company B may then be loaded. This train, completed, will arrive at Plattsburg at 12.45 P. M.

III. Second section will transport Companies E, F, G and H. Special train of one baggage car and three coaches, furnished by the New York Central Lines, will leave Gloversville at 6.10 A. M., July 3d, and proceed to Amsterdam, where Company H will be entrained, leaving latter place at 7.05 A. M. and arriving at Schenectady at 7.31. At this point Companies E and F will be attached, leaving Schenectady at 8.00 A. M. That part of this train which leaves Gloversville will be placed, for the loading of baggage of Company G on the afternoon of July 2d. The baggage of Company H should be on trucks at the Amsterdam station pending the arrival of the train from Gloversville so that there may be no delay in loading same into half of the car which contains the baggage of Company G.

Baggage car for Companies E and F will be placed at Schenectady for loading on the afternoon of July 2d.

This train, complete, will arrive Plattsburg at 1 P. M.

IV. Third section will transport Companies I, K, L and M. Company M will leave Hoosick Falls on special train furnished by the Boston and Maine Railroad at 7.00 A. M., July 3d, and proceed to Mechanicville, where this equipment will be delivered to the Delaware and Hudson for movement to destination. At Saratoga Company L will be attached, leaving there at 8.40 A. M. at Fort Edward, Company K, and at Whitehall Company I will be attached, leaving latter point at 10.15 A. M.

One combined car and one coach for Company K will leave Glens Falls at 8.50 A. M. and proceed to Fort Edward.

Upon the request of the Commanding Officers of Companies I, K, L and M, to their local railroad agents, the combined cars will be placed for the loading of baggage on the afternoon of July 2d. This train, completed, will arrive at Plattsburg at 1.15 P. M.

A Pullman car will be attached to each section for officers.

V. The first section will be in charge of the Regimental Quartermaster, the second section in charge of Lieut. Walker, and the third section in charge of Lieut. Morehouse.

Lieut. Walker will proceed to Gloversville in time to start with the second section, and Lieut. Morehouse will proceed to Hoosick Falls in time to start with the third section.

Transportation requests will be furnished by the Regimental Quartermaster to the proper officers, who will carefully observe and follow the instructions printed thereon. The authorized civilian cooks and servants will be transported on separate requests. The triplicate and quadruplicate parts of the requests will be delivered to the Regimental Quartermaster immediately upon arrival at Plattsburg.

VI. Field, staff and noncommissioned staff officers not stationed at Regimental Headquarters are authorized to entrain at station most convenient to them and their transportation will be covered by the requests of the train quartermaster.

VII. The senior officer of troops on a train is responsible for the command entrained thereon, he will see that all rules and orders relating to conduct on trains are observed, that the men are not allowed to be on platforms while trains are in motion, that men do not leave trains at stations without authority, and that good order and discipline are maintained. Each subdivision commander will be responsible for the same as to his own command and for the prompt execution of all orders of the senior officer.

VIII. Baggage must be promptly loaded and as promptly unloaded at the camp grounds by details. The regimental quartermaster, assisted by the battalion quartermasters, will be in charge of and responsible for this work.

IX. Immediately upon arrival at camp, each company will detail four men to report to the regimental quartermaster to erect headquarters' tents. Companies A, B, C, D, E and F will each furnish one noncommissioned officer with their details.

X. All tentage, camp tools, mess and cooking outfits and utensils, two garbage cans (with covers), each of at least thirty gallons capacity, one wheelbarrow and one field desk for each company will be taken but unusually large cases must not be included. Each officer will be allowed to take one small trunk, folding cot and bedding roll.

XI. Commanding Officers of Companies B, I, K, L and M will instruct their details to load the property in such a manner that a passageway may, at all times, be maintained through the baggage compartments of the combined cars.

XII. Attention is called to paragraph, XIII, G. O. No. 6, c. s., from these headquarters, with which absolute compliance is required.

By order of Col. Lester, .

THOMAS G. DICKSON,

Official:

Adjutant.

Adjutant.

The companies were ready to entrain at their home stations at the times stated for the Regiment to move.

There were some delays in moving the trains from the schedule which had previously been agreed upon by the railroad company.

The first section was drawn out of the Troy station 10 minutes late, and out of the Cohoes station 16 minutes late, and reached Plattsburg 2 hours and 50 minutes behind the schedule time.

The second section left Gloversville on time but left Amsterdam 17 minutes late, and Schenectady 52 minutes late, arriving at Plattsburg 2 hours and 40 minutes behind the railroad schedule.

The third section left Hoosick Falls on time, Saratoga Springs 50 minutes late, Fort Edward 40 minutes late, Whitehall 30 minutes late, arriving at Plattsburg 2 hours and 30 minutes behind the schedule.

Out of a total strength of 1,052 officers and men, 56 officers and 903 men were present for duty, or more than 91 per cent. of the Regiment.

The Regiment went into camp on the Government reservation at Plattsburg Barracks and remained there from the third day of July until the morning of the 10th of July.

Upon arrival on the reservation, camp was immediately set up.

one company having its tents all up and fires going in its kitchen 56 minutes after detraining.

The other companies were somewhat delayed owing to the lack of wagons at the reservation to deliver their tents and baggage to them promptly.

Some trouble was encountered owing to the fact that immediately after arriving on the camp ground, rain started and a high wind blew, making the handling of the tentage extremely difficult, but the men were well housed and dinner was served to all the companies by 6:30.

The Regimental Commissary who accompanied the first section obtained rations from the Post Commissary and as promptly issued them to the companies.

Owing to the lack of wagon transportation only about one-half of the straw intended for the Regiment was delivered to it that night, but the balance was drawn and issued the following morning. It was impossible to issue it that night owing to the fact that it had been unloaded and deposited at so great a distance from the camp as to render it impossible to bring it into the camp grounds to be issued before nightfall.

On Sunday, July 4th, no particular exercises were engaged in by the Regiment, but through the courtesy of the Commanding Officer of the Fifth Infantry, commanding the Post, a Brigade parade of the regular troops at the Post was held in honor of the Second Regiment, which was greatly enjoyed by the officers and men of this command.

Monday, July 5th, being a legal holiday, drills were not held after noon of that day.

In the morning a drill of two hours and a half was held by Battalion, in advance and rear guard work, attack and defense.

In the afternoon, by arrangement with the Commanding Officer of the Post, a Field Day and Athletic meet was held, between the members of the Regular Army and this Regiment. Events as arranged between the athletic representatives of the Fifth Infantry and the athletic representatives of the Second N. Y., were as follows:

PLATTSBURG BARRACKS, N. Y., June 26, 1909.The Adjutant, Plattsburg Barracks, N. Y.:

SIR.—In compliance with instructions from your office relative to Athletic Meet, to be held during the Tercentenary Celebration, I have the honor to submit the following report:

That the meet include the 11th and 15th Cavalry, 5th and 24th Infantry, U. S. A., and 2nd Infantry, N. G., N. Y.

That the winning regiment be given a cup, to be held by the company securing the most points.

That the individual point winners in each event be given a ribbon — blue for the first; red for the second; and yellow for the third — with suitable inscription thereon.

That the first point in each event count five; the second three and the third one.

That the officials be appointed from the regiments contesting; from prominent citizens of Plattsburg, and military and other prominent citizens who may be there at the time.

The following to be the events:

100-yard dash, scratch.

220-yard dash, scratch.

440-yard dash, scratch.

High jump.

Broad jump.

Inter-regimental relay race of 8 men, distance 880 yards — or 4 men, distance 440 yards, the idea being 110 yards to each man. 5th Infantry, 2nd Regiment, N. G. N. Y., 24th Infantry and 11th Cavalry.

Potato Race — 40 yards.

Sack Race — 50 yards.

Equipment Race — competitors at scratch to be at attention in rear of spread shelter-tent halves. Each man to have his rifle placed on ground at eighty yards; bayonet scabbard and cartridge belt at sixty yards; canteen and strap, fifty yards; one legging, forty yards; other legging, twenty yards; other articles of field kit on shelter tent half. Soldier dressed in shirt, breeches, shoes and hat. At signal "close packs" competitors will equip themselves and return to points ten yards in rear of scratch, equipment to be adjusted suitable for marching. Form to count twenty-five per cent., time to count seventy-five per cent. Circular No. 35, W. D., 1908.

Shelter tent competition. Single shelter tents — Each team will consist of one officer and twenty-six men, in service uniforms, each man equipped with rifle, belt, bayonet, canteen, haversack, and blanket-roll consisting of shelter half containing one poncho, one pole, and five pins; the officer equipped with sabre and revolver. No tent will be pitched for the officer.

At starting signal, the teams being in line and at order arms, arms will be stacked and tents pitched according to paragraph 570, Infantry Drill Regulations, 1904; contents of blanket-rolls and equipments to be arranged in tents in any uniform manner.

Time will be taken from the starting signal to the time when the last man of the team has taken the prescribed position, on line with front guy-rope pin. Percentages to be allotted for "time" and for "form" to be announced by the judges before commencement of contest. Circular No. 35, W. D., 1908.

Wall Scaling Contest.— Ten feet wall, time contest.

Between teams consisting of a non-commissioned officer and four men. Teams to stand at mark twenty feet from wooden wall, 10 feet high, close-jointed with cap-pieces 4 inches wide. Magazine of each rifle to be loaded with five blank cartridges. Entire team to get over with arms, clothing and equipments, and fall in at a mark twenty feet from wall, with equipments adjusted, in position of soldier, pieces at the "order." Five shots to be fired by the first man who sees over the wall, at a supposed enemy. Rest of shots to be fired after scaling the wall. Entries: one team from each regiment. G. O. No. 45, A. O. C. P., 1908.

Obstacle Race.— Preliminary 220 yards. Entries: one from each battalion. Obstacles: (a) Through a high wire entanglement, 10 feet wide, plain wire. (b) Through flour barrel on ground. (c) Over five rails, place in same horizontal plane, 2 feet, 6 inches from the ground and 3 feet, 6 inches apart. (d) Under rail 2 feet high. (e) Over close board fence 6 feet 6 inches, smooth side of fence to face contestants. (f) Over foot bridge 20 feet long, 4 inches wide and two feet above ground. (Offhand out.) At obstacle "B" equipments may be removed and passed through barrel; at obstacle "C" equipments may be dropped over fence.

The contestant at no time will lay aside his rifle or belt. The rifle may be slung. Equipments must be on and properly adjusted at the finish.

The committee accepts the suggestion of scratch events, owing to lack of knowledge of the contestants in the regiments, and the shortness of time in order to make a proper handicap.

Respectfully submitted,

A. C. TIPTON,

2nd Lieut. 5th Infantry,

Athletic Representative.

The cup which was furnished by the Second Regiment, was won by Company L, 24th Infantry, and suitably inscribed, was sent to its Commanding Officer.

The badges were distributed to the individual winners.

These games increased the very friendly feeling which has always existed between the men of this Regiment and those of the Regular Army.

A Regimental parade was held on the parade grounds at 6:30.

On Tuesday, July 6th, a drill by Battalion was held during the morning hours, in advance and rear guard work, attack and defense. A small party of troops being sent against the outpost lines, and being directed to impede the advance and attack the retiring troops.

In the afternoon a Brigade Parade was held with the 5th and 24th U. S. Infantry, under command of Col. Cowles.

On Wednesday, July 7th, this command participated in the New York Tercentennial Parade under command of Col. Cowles, acting as Grand Marshal, and who issued the following order.

HEADQUARTERS OF GRAND MARSHAL

PLATTSBURG BARRACKS, July 5, 1909.

The column will take up its march at Cornelia and Margaret streets as the Presidential party passes its head.

The President will review the parade from the grandstand at the post.

After passing the reviewing stand the first and second divisions will form line of masses 125 yards in front of, parallel to and facing the reviewing stand, stack arms, and remain in the vicinity of stacks.

After the third and fourth divisions pass the reviewing stand they will leave the parade by the road at the guardhouse and be dismissed.

On conclusion of the addresses there will be a brigade parade followed by review by the President, upon the conclusion of which the troops will be dismissed.

The President will review the parade from the center of the grandstand at the post.

The guide will be right throughout the march and in the military divisions salutes will be rendered according to the requirements of the drill regulations of their respective arms.

Marshals and other commanders carrying drawn swords will salute as prescribed in drill regulations, the commander and his staff saluting and resuming the carry together.

Marshals and other commanders not carrying drawn swords will salute the President by uncovering and no one except the President will be saluted.

The 5th Infantry band is the only band that will play "Hail to the Chief" at any time.

Bands marching in close proximity will alternate in playing. In each division but one band will play at once, the bands alternating.

REPORT ON FIELD SERVICE AT CROWN POINT. 187

In passing the President's stand all bands will play, marching in quick time (120 steps to the minute).

By order of Colonel Cowles,

E. WITTENMYER,
*Captain and Adjutant, 5th Infantry,
Chief of Staff.*

At the close of the literary exercises all the troops, including the 2d Regiment, were formed for brigade parade and passed in review before the President of the United States.

The work of the regiment was most admirably performed, and reflected great credit not only on itself but upon the National Guard of the State of New York.

Appreciation of the excellent appearance of the regiment is shown by the following letter received after the return of the regiment.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE GRAND MARSHAL.

PLATTSBURG BARRACKS, N. Y., July 21, 1909.

Colonel James W. Lester, 2nd Regiment, N. G., N. Y. Troy, New York:

SIR.—I have the honor to enclose herewith a copy of letter from Mr. Henry W. Hill, Secretary of the New York Lake Champlain Tercentenary Commission.

The Grand Marshal directs me to say that you and your command are entitled to share in all praise for the success of the parades mentioned therein.

By order of Colonel Cowles:

E. WITTENMYER,
*Captain and Adjutant, 5th Infantry,
Chief of Staff.*

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 17, 1909.

511 MUTUAL LIFE BUILDING.

Col. Cowles and Staff, Plattsburg Barracks, Plattsburg, N. Y.:

GENTLEMEN.—Your command of the parades at the recent New York-Lake Champlain Tercentenary Celebration and many other military services on that occasion contributed very materially to its success and won from the President, the Foreign Ambassadors and other distinguished guests warm commendation.

At the instance of the New York Champlain Tercentenary Commission I hereby tender to you in its behalf its grateful appreciation.

The military parade under your command was a phenomenal success and the scene at Plattsburg Barracks, on the afternoon of July 7th will not soon be forgotten.

Thanking you on behalf of the New York Commission for your valued assistance in making the Tercentenary Celebration a success, I am,

Very cordially,

HENRY W. HILL,

Secretary New York Commission.

On Thursday, July 8th, a problem was prepared by Captain R. F. Walton, U. S. A., retired, and Captain F. W. Lewis, 29th Infantry, U. S. A., in outpost work.

The Third Battalion was sent out under command of Lieut.-Col. Loyal L. Davis to take up a defensive position. The other Battalions of the Regiment under command of the Regimental Commander went out 30 minutes thereafter to locate them.

On Friday, July 9th, a second problem was prepared by the same officers and undertaken. The first and second Battalions under command of Major James M. Andrews were sent out to take up a defensive position and the Third Battalion under command of Major Mott was sent out to locate it, ascertain its strength, and, if possible, get a message through its lines. The orders issued by the Commanding Officer of these Battalions are as follows:

HEADQUARTERS PROVISIONAL REGIMENT.

SOUTH PLATTSBURG, N. Y., July 9, 1909, 7 A. M.

FIELD ORDERS, }
No. 1.

(1) The enemy is reported as leaving the vicinity of Plattsburg and moving in a southwestern direction.

(2) At as near 8:30 as possible this command will establish a defensive position until approximately noon, when the march will be resumed.

(3) Companies A, B, C and H, under command of Major Hislop, will form the main line of defense and this line will be promptly and properly entrenched. The outpost under command of Capt. Peake will consist of Companies G and F. There will be at least three supports, each consisting of five squads, and each support will send out the necessary cossack posts, or pickets. Upon the approach of the enemy these posts will retire to the line of support, who will engage the enemy and slowly fall back on the line of resistance.

(4) The regimental train will proceed as rapidly as possible to Peru and there part.

(5) Regimental headquarters will be at the first tavern in rear of the line of resistance. In the absence of regimental commander Major Hislop will resume command.

By order of Major Andrews,

F. J. YENDLEY,
Adjutant.

HEADQUARTERS THIRD BATTALION, SECOND INFANTRY, N. G., N. Y.

July 9, 1909.

FIELD ORDERS, } No. 1.

1. The enemy (Cos. A, B, C, F, G, H) are reported as being entrenched on a rise of the ground near a mill about $1\frac{1}{4}$ miles west of the Peru highway. their left resting on the Saranac river.

2. This command (Cos. I, M, K, L) will leave camp at 7.45 by the Peru highway and advance along the road which leaves the Peru highway where the abandoned railroad crosses and leads in a westerly direction along the south bank of the Saranac river, with the object of penetrating the enemy's line.

3. (a) Co. K will constitute the advance guard and the rest of the command the main body.

(b) The main body will follow at 500 yards.

(c) The scouts will report to Lieut. F. D. Morehouse at 7 A. M. and will be sent out when the command leaves the Peru highway, covering the territory to the front from the river one mile southerly.

4. The commanding officer will be with the reserve of the advance guard or between the reserve of the advance guard and the main body.

By order of Major Mott,

J. H. BARKER, Battalion Adjutant.

In the afternoon of July 9th shelter tent drill was held on the parade grounds at the barracks and was creditably performed by the companies of the regiment.

The final parade was held at 6.30 P. M.

On the morning of July 10th reveille was sounded as usual. The general was sounded and at 7 A. M., all baggage and camp equipage were packed up ready to be loaded on the trains.

Owing to the fact that a portion of the 5th Infantry left on the same day for a practice march but few wagons were available and the work of loading the trains progressed slowly.

The troop trains left in the same order that they arrived.

The first section at 9.58; the second section 10.10, and the third section at 10.30, reaching their home stations before dark.

The general work of the Regiment was most satisfactory and the Regiment showed marked improvement at the close of the tour of service.

The report of the senior medical officer is as follows:

HEADQUARTERS SECOND REGIMENT, N. G., N. Y.

TROY, N. Y., August 6, 1909.

Adjutant, 2d Regiment, N. Y. Infantry:

SIR.—I have the honor to report to you on the tour of duty at Camp Champlain, from July 3rd to July 10th, inclusive.

July		Sick call.	Ret'd duty.	In hospital	Ret'd quarters.	Total.

There was but one, Private McLoughlin, Company C, who continued seriously ill. He was taken to the Samaritan hospital in Troy, directly from the train. He was operated upon July 12th for appendicitis. He gave a history of former attacks of a like nature. He recovered and left the hospital August 6, 1909.

Sick, who were ill in the Regimental hospital over twenty-four hours were transferred to the U. S. Post hospital, at Plattsburg, N. Y. Those who reported to the hospital with minor complaints numbered 186.

There were also two men from Company M who went home sick. One man, named Crowley, who was taken ill on Friday night, July 9th, but who improved to such an extent that he was allowed to go home with the Regiment on Saturday morning, July 10th, 1909, providing he was taken to the baggage car on a Gold Medal cot. Captain Potter, Commanding Officer of his Company, assured me that he would see that he was transported in that manner.

A report from Captain Potter of July 29, 1909, states that Crowley was ill five days after his return home. Private Kipp, also of Company M, had an infected hand but was able to resume his work July 16, 1909, although his hand was not entirely healed. The tour of duty seems to have been fair and the men showed no signs of exhaustion resulting therefrom.

The sanitary condition of the camp, while not ideal, was a great improvement over any that the Second Regiment has had of recent date, because of the decided improvement in the disposal of sewage. While this was not ideal, it was a great improvement in my estimation, over the ordinary sink. The most of three barrels of copperas was used in the latrines, together with one large box of Pioneer powder, which was strewn liberally about wherever wet grounds were observed.

The camp was remarkably free from flies and mosquitoes.

The one evident necessity, from a sanitary point of view, is, I believe, the establishment of a guard over the latrines. This would insure a constant respect for the necessary directions as to their use. This also should include bathhouses, which, I am sorry to say, were at times used as latrines. This undoubtedly was due to ignorance and not done maliciously.

Respectfully,

HORACE M. HICKS,

Captain Medical Corps, N. G., N. Y.

Attached to 2d Infantry.

After the review on July 7th, the Band of the Second Regiment reported at the Quarters of the Commanding Officer of the Post and alternated in playing during a reception given to the President of the United States, with the band of the 24th Infantry.

The guard duty of the Regiment during this tour of service was done in an excellent manner. The men of the Regiment were well acquainted with the general orders for sentinels.

The ceremonies were uniformly well done and all the troops had some instruction in guard duty.

The sanitary condition of the camp was excellent. The water was exceedingly pure.

The camp was scrupulously neat and clean at all times. The kitchens were free from flies. All the kitchen tents were screened with wire screens or mosquito netting. The food was abundant and well cooked. The sinks were in sanitary condition. No disinfectants or deodorants were furnished this Regiment until Tuesday, and the efforts of the Commanding Officer to leave the camp in good condition for the incoming troops, were, evidently, successful from the report of the Surgeon 3rd Brigade, who says "the general appearance of the camp site after the departure of the troops reflects credit on the Regiment and the readiness of the men in obeying the orders of the Sanitary Officers of the Regiment during their tour of service is to be commended."

The horses provided for the use of the Regiment were not turned over to the Regiment until Monday, causing unnecessary hardship and discomfort to the officers, who were obliged to cover long distances in the performance of their duties, and prevented the officers from going over the maneuver grounds before the morning drill of Monday. They were kept at so great a distance from the Regiment as to seriously affect their usefulness, for it required at least one-half an hour to secure a mount and oftentimes officers of the Regiment were obliged to secure other transportation for immediate use.

Many of the officers of this Regiment had already provided themselves with suitable mounts but, owing to the arrangements which had been made, these horses, which would have been of great service to the officers, could not be taken and the officers were handicapped by being obliged to use strange horses during the maneuvers and field work.

A school for officers and non-commissioned officers was held each afternoon in the officers' mess tent. The work performed in the field was discussed and criticised by the Regular Army officers detailed with the Regiment. The instruction given by these officers, Capt. Walton and Capt. Lewis, was of inestimable value to both officers and men and was thoroughly appreciated by the men, as was attested by the close attention and keen interest given these officers by all present. The instruction given by them in these afternoon meetings was both clear and concise and added very greatly not only to the pleasure but also to the profit of the tour of service.

The value of the training had by the Regiment in rifle practice was evident during all the exercises, the men throughout the companies uniformly fixing sights at the estimated distance and taking aim before firing.

I desire especially in this report to refer to the very courteous treatment accorded to us by the officers of the Regular Army, both those who were assigned to duty with the Regiment and those stationed at Plattsburg Barracks at the time. Every consideration and kindness was shown to the officers and men of this Regiment, and every assistance rendered to them that could be.

The Regular Army officers were at all times ready to give aid and assistance when necessary and through their courtesy there was extended to the officers of the Regiment the privileges of the officers' club of the Fifth Infantry during the stay of the Regiment at the Post.

A detail of four non-commissioned officers, was, by direction of the Adjutant-General, detailed and ordered to report to the Adjutant-General of the State of New York, to accompany the Presidential party, as orderlies. These men performed their duties so well that, by request of the Governor, they accompanied the Presidential party to Burlington during the Tercentenary Celebration at that city.

These men were commended for their soldierly bearing and efficiency in the following communication.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF NEW YORK,

ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 14, 1909.

The Commanding Officer, Second Regiment, Headquarters Second Regiment, Troy, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor on behalf of the Governor and Commander-in-Chief, to express to you the appreciation of the services of the following members of your command, detailed as orderlies, during the Tercentenary Celebration at Plattsburg, and request that they be commended for their soldierly bearing and efficiency while upon said detail.

Sergeant Jackson, Company F, 2nd N. Y. Infantry.

Sergeant Theisen, Company A, 2nd N. Y. Infantry.

Corporal Kladges, Company F, 2nd N. Y. Infantry.

Corporal Summers, Company K, 2nd N. Y. Infantry.

Respectfully,

NELSON H. HENRY,

The Adjutant-General.

Accompanying this report is a map of the terrain, copied from a map made by officers of the 21st Infantry, U. S. A., and corrected to date, so far as the manoeuver grounds are concerned, by a detail from this Regiment composed of Corporal Baggs of Company G, Private Brainard of Company A, and Private Beach of Company K.

The pleasure of the tour was greatly increased by the presence of Lieut.-Colonel E. E. Hardin, U. S. A., retired, who commanded this Regiment during the Spanish-American War and who encouraged both officers and men to renewed exertions to increase the efficiency of the Regiment.

I have the honor to be

Respectfully,

JAMES W. LESTER,

Colonel, Second Infantry, N. G., N. Y.

APPENDIX III

Report of Commanding Officer, 3rd Brigade, on Field Service 1909.

HEADQUARTERS TENTH INFANTRY, N. G., N. Y.

STATE ARMORY, 195 WASHINGTON AVENUE.

"HEADQUARTERS THIRD BRIGADE, N. G., N. Y.

ALBANY, June 21, 1909.

Commanding Officer, 10th Regiment Infantry, N. G., N. Y., Albany, N. Y.:

I am directed by the Brigade Commander to inform you that the Adjutant-General of the State has requested the detail of four orderlies to report to him at the railroad station in full-dress uniform at the time of arrival of the Commander-in-Chief upon the days fixed for the respective functions incident to the Lake Champlain Tercentenary Celebration at Crown Point and Ticonderoga.

The Brigade Commander directs that you detail four non-commissioned officers for this duty prior to leaving your home station, and that the men so detailed take with them their full-dress uniforms.

Respectfully,

(Signed) F. A. McNEELY,

Adjutant-General."

In accordance therewith, non-commissioned officers were detailed for this duty as follows: One sergeant from Company D, and one corporal each from Companies I, L and M. These orderlies reported to the Commander-in-Chief upon his arrival at the dock at Port Henry on the morning of July 5th, and were on duty with him until he left Fort Frederick in the evening of that day; they again reported to him immediately upon the arrival of the regiment at Fort Ticonderoga on the morning of July 6th, being excused in time to join their companies before the latter entrained.

Statement of commanding officer relative to special service of the command incident to the ceremonies at Crown Point and Ticonderoga.

July 5th, at Fort Frederick on Crown Point, a sham attack by Indians was made on the camp at 11 A. M., being repulsed by Company I, detailed for that purpose.

FIELD EXERCISE No. 1.

CAMP CHAMPLAIN, N. Y., July 1, 1909.

General Situation.

A Blue Force operating from the north has established a supply depot at Fort Amherst, Crown Point, N. Y., to provide a base for operation further south.

A Red Force has learned of this depot and sends from Ticonderoga a detachment to capture or destroy this depot.

Special Situation.

Red.

The Red Force of two battalions will leave Camp Champlain at 7:30 A. M. and move south along the road to a point about one and one-half miles from Camp and remove from that point at 9 A. M. July 1, 1909, to attack the force and accomplish the desired object.

Memoranda.

Troops will carry ten rounds blank ammunition. Company commanders will make a personal rigid examination of ammunition to see that no ball cartridges are in the possession of the men.

Battalion commanders will see that this provision is carried out.

Troops will halt at one hundred yards from an enemy and await the decision of an umpire.

The Blue Forces will wear a white band on the hat for identification. Commanding officers will issue written orders to cover their movements.

By command of Brigadier-General Lloyd,
F. A. McNEELY,
Adjutant-General.

PRACTICAL EXERCISE No. 2.

CAMP CHAMPLAIN, N. Y., July 2, 1909.

Day and Night Outposts and Reconnaissance.

General Situation.

A Blue Force has established the camp occupied by the 10th N. Y., N. G., and at 7 P. M. July 2, 1909, occupies a day outpost position for the protection of the camp from a land reconnaissance or attack of the enemy.

A Red Force has been seen on Crown Point a few miles to the south.

Special Situation.

Blue.

The 2d and 3d battalions, 10th Infantry, N. G., N. Y., under the command of Major Staats, will constitute the Blue Force.

The entire command of the two battalions will form the outposts.

The day outposts will be place in position promptly at 7 P. M., July 2, 1909, and the changes to night outposts will be made at 8:30 P. M.

The conditions of field service in the enemy's country will be observed.

Memoranda.

Troops will carry ten rounds blank ammunition.

Company commanders will make a personal rigid examination of ammunition to see that no ball cartridges are in the possession of the men.

Battalion commanders will see that this provision is carried out.

Troops will halt at one hundred yards from an enemy and await a decision of an umpire.

The Blue Forces will wear a white band on their hat for identification.

Commanding officers will issue written orders to cover their movements.

Commanding officers will especially caution the men in regard to firing at night when opposing forces come in close contact.

By command of Brigadier-General Lloyd,

F. A. McNEELY,
Adjutant-General.

PRACTICAL EXERCISE NO. 2.

CAMP CHAMPLAIN, N. Y., June 30, 1909.

In connection with Special Exercise No. 1, company commanders, including those of companies comprising the camp guard, will take the necessary steps to insure the fullest possible strength in their commands. Only the actual necessary number of men will be left at the post of the guard to protect property in camp, and company streets will be left in charge only of such men as are unable to take part in the exercise or whose special duties are of such a nature as to absolutely require that they be left in camp. Medical officers will be assigned to each battalion with the proper number of litter bearers. Major H. E. Smith, Medical Corps, is assigned to the Red Force under command of Colonel John I. Pruyn, and Captain Carl Kroeber, Medical Corps, is assigned to the Blue Force under command of Lieut.-Col. Charles E. Davis. These officers will see that proper provision is made for dressing stations and for the use of diagnosis tag.

Troops will carry ten rounds of blank ammunition. Company commanders will make a personal rigid examination of ammunition to see that no ball cartridges are in the possession of the men.

Battalion commanders will see that this provision is carried out.

Troops will halt at one hundred yards from the enemy, and await the decision of an umpire.

The Blue Forces will wear a white band on the hat for identification.

By order of Colonel Pruyn,
ALLAN L. REAGAN,
Adjutant.

To be signed by all field officers, all company commanders, Officer of Day, Senior Medical Officer.

RED FORCE.

CAMP CHAMPLAIN, N. Y., EXERCISE NO. 3, ADVANCE GUARD.

Burdick's Crossing-Ft. Amherst Road, One Mile North of Burdick's Crossing.

July 3, 1909, 7.30 A. M.

FIELD ORDERS, }
No. 1.

Troops.

1. We are in contact with the rear guard of the enemy, estimated at one battalion of infantry. His main body is believed to have reached Ft. Amherst, two and one-half miles north of this point.

Our supports are five miles to the south.

2. It is believed the enemy's rear guard will oppose our further advance. It is desired to drive him in on his main body and secure definite information of his strength, position, and disposition. The advance will be made midway between this road and Bulwagga Bay.

(a) No cavalry.

(b) Support: Major
Saulpaugh, Cos.
E. and F.

3. (a) No advance cavalry.

(b) The support will follow the line of advance designated, driving the enemy out of his position in the center, and will hold as much of his force as possible from relieving his left.

(c) Reserve — in order of march: Major Staats; Cos. K, A,
B, C and D.

(c) The reserve will follow this road at a distance of 800 yards in rear of the support and right flank guard.

(d) Right flank guard:
Captain Chandler,
Company M.

(d) Co. M will march as right flank guard, moving at the same time with the support, and will cover this road and the ground east of the lake, capturing any outposts the enemy may have in its front. It will endeavor to get around the left of his position.

4. No train.

5. The commanding officer will be with the reserve. Connecting files will be maintained between the support and the right flank guard and his position.

Second in command, Major Staats.

By order of Colonel Pruyn,

ALLAN L. REAGAN,

Adjutant.

Copies to Major Staats, Major Saulpaugh and Captain Chandler.

RED FORCE.

CAMP CHAMPLAIN, N. Y., EXERCISE No. 1, ORDER FOR ATTACK.

On Burdick's Crossing-Crown Point Road, Two Miles North of Burdick's Crossing.

July 1, 1909, 8.45 A. M.

FIELD ORDERS, }
No. 2.

1. The enemy is occupying a strong defensive position immediately in our front with a force estimated at one battalion.

Our supports remain at Ticonderoga.

2. Two companies of the 3d Battalion will attack on our extreme left, one company in the center, and the 2d Battalion (three companies) on the right, turning the enemy's left.

3. (a) No artillery.

(b) The 3d Battalion (three companies, Major Saulpaugh) will move directly west, detaching one company midway between this road and Bulwagga Bay to attack the enemy's center. Two companies will move south along the shore of Bulwagga Bay, against the enemy's right, starting the movement south at 9.15 A. M.

(c) The 2d Battalion (three companies, Major Staats) will detach one company as a patrol, to move at 9.25 A. M., to advance with the road as a base, throwing out patrols to east and west of road, carefully covering the ground eastward to the shore of the lake, and cutting off any of the enemy's patrols that may be in that territory.

Two companies of the 2d Battalion will move eastward to the lake, under cover, and advance to the south, taking every advantage of the cover offered by the shore and the patrol in advance, and work well into the eastward of the depot, which will be attacked from that flank.

(d) No reserve.

(e) No cavalry.

(f) No engineers.

(g) Communication will be maintained by means of mounted orderlies and messengers.

4. No trains.

Detachments of the hospital corps with medical officers will follow each battalion.

5. The commanding officer will be on or near this road. Major Staats second in command.

By order of Colonel Pruyn,

ALLAN L. REAGAN,

Adjutant.

Copies to battalion commanders and regimental surgeon.

CAMP CHAMPLAIN, N. Y., June 28, 1909.

Adjutant-General, Third Brigade, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to report on the sanitary condition of the camp of the 10th Regiment as follows:

Food is good and well cooked.

Water supply is plentiful but very roilly. Strict orders have been issued that the water for drinking purposes be boiled. This order is being strictly enforced.

Company kitchens are in good condition with the exception of Company E, 16th Sep. Co. The kitchen is not clean and refuse matter is not properly disposed of.

The policing of the camp is good. The company sinks should be carefully looked after and the disinfectants not too liberally strewn about the sinks. The officers' sink is not clean.

For the short time the regiment has been in camp the general sanitary condition is very fair.

Respectfully,

HERMAN BENDELL,

Surg. Med. Corps, N. G., Surgeon, Third Brigade.

CAMP CHAMPLAIN, LAKE CHAMPLAIN, N. Y., June 29, 1909.

Adjutant-General, Third Brigade, N. G., N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to report on the sanitary condition of the camp of the 10th Regiment, as follows:

Water supply is liberal, appearance still roilly. Some of the companies are boiling the water and some are drawing their drinking supply from wells which have been examined by the surgeons of the regiment and found to be pure.

The sinks are being carefully policed under the guidance of the sanitary officers of the regiment.

The company cook houses are in good and clean condition with the exception of Co. I, 17th Sep. Co. Fragments of food were strewn in the interior of the kitchen, the serving tables were not clean and the outside of the cook-house not properly policed.

As a whole the camp is well policed. The officers' sink should be more carefully guarded. I find that civilians and negroes are using this sink. This fact will account for its unclean and unsanitary condition.

A case of varicella, false or very mild form, of smallpox, has developed in camp. The case has been isolated and the precautions necessary in such cases are being strictly enforced.

Respectfully,

HERMAN BENDELL,

Major, Medical Corps, N. G., N. Y., Surgeon, Third Brigade.

CAMP CHAMPLAIN, N. Y., June 30, 1909.

Adjutant-General, Third Brigade, N. G., N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to report on the sanitary condition of the camp of the 10th Regiment as follows:

The general sanitary condition of the camp is being well cared for. The sanitary officers of the regiment are active and attentive to the duties assigned them.

The water supply and food issued is inspected daily, kitchens are kept clean, meats and other foods protected from flies and insects by netting, garbage and other refuse promptly removed and every precaution taken to make the cook houses sanitarily safe. The sinks are clean and well disinfected, the urinals flushed and sprinkled with copperas. Policing of the camp has not been neglected. The tents are well ventilated, clothing and bedding properly aired.

The soldier who developed varicella as reported yesterday, together with the men who occupied the tent with the private of Company T, have been sent to their home station, in charge of Lieut. Jeffry of the Medical Corps.

The case of measles remaining in camp is under treatment in strict quarantine. The Company has been quarantined at a safe distance from camp. No new case of measles has been reported.

The sick report of to-day shows that most of the cases reported are minor injuries and intestinal ailments. On a whole, the sanitary condition of the regiment has improved.

Respectfully,

HERMAN BENDELL,

Major, Medical Corps, N. G., N. Y., Surgeon, Third Brigade.

CAMP CHAMPLAIN, LAKE CHAMPLAIN, N. Y., July 1, 1909.

Adjutant-General, Third Brigade, N. G., N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to report on the sanitary condition of the camp of the 10th Regiment as follows:

Food. On my tour of inspection I have interviewed sergeants in charge of kitchen and commissary stores, also the cook of every company, and am informed that the meat and commissary stores issued is of good quality, and at no time since the camp has been opened has any tainted meat or any inferior commissary stores been issued.

Kitchens are in clean condition. Garbage cans should be emptied oftener. Water supply is good. The camp is well policed. Company sinks are clean. In some sinks the covers of seats have been removed and should be replaced.

Respectfully,

HERMAN BENDELL,

Major, Medical Corps, N. G., N. Y., Surgeon, Third Brigade.

CAMP CHAMPLAIN, LAKE CHAMPLAIN, N. Y., July 2, 1909.

Adjutant-General, Third Brigade, N. G., N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to report that the sanitary condition of the camp of the 10th Regiment is very good. The water supply continues good. The meat and commissary supplies issued is of good quality and well cooked. The sinks are fairly well taken care of, are inspected daily and every precaution used to make them sanitarily safe. The general policing of the camp is well done, tents and bedding of the men well aired.

No new case of measles has been reported. The sick list has been reduced in numbers. The case of measles now in hospital is convalescent and the soldier will be well enough to return home with his company. I have advised that the men of Co. E be again carefully examined this evening and if their physical condition is good, it will be safe in my belief to take them out of quarantine.

Respectfully,

HERMAN BENDELL,

Major, Medical Corps, N. G., N. Y., Surgeon, Third Brigade.

CAMP CHAMPLAIN, LAKE CHAMPLAIN, N. Y., July 3, 1909.

Adjutant-General, Third Brigade, N. G., N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to report on the sanitary condition of the camp of the 10th Regiment as follows:

The rain during the night has interfered with the policing of the camp of the regiment and more time will be occupied in getting the sinks and company streets and interior of tents in a clean and dry condition. Tents and bedding are being ventilated and dried. The water and food supply remain good. Too much salt meat is being issued. Kitchens are well cleaned, garbage disposed of and damp and moist surfaces liberally sprinkled with disinfectants. The water forming in pools around the company taps should be drained. Disinfectants should be more liberally used in the sinks.

No new cases of sickness of an alarming character are reported. The sick in hospital and quarters are doing well. The cases and injuries reported are of a minor character. A few cases of bruises and abrasions resulting from the duties of last night were present at sick call.

The men of Company G were again examined last evening, found in good physical condition and ordered out of quarantine.

Respectfully,

HERMAN BENDELL,

Major, Medical Corps, N. G., N. Y., Surgeon, Third Brigade.

HEADQUARTERS TENTH REGIMENT, INFANTRY, N. G., N. Y.

STATE ARMORY, 195 WASHINGTON AVENUE,

ALBANY, June 4, 1909.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 13. }

The following extracts from a communication received from headquarters 3d Brigade are published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

COMMANDING OFFICER,

10 Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

SIR.—I have the honor, by direction of the brigade commander, to transmit herewith extracts from communication from the Adjutant-General of the State, dated May 27, 1909:

COMMANDING OFFICER,

3d Brigade, N. G., N. Y.

SIR.—

* * * * *

"It is requested that responsible officers be required to familiarize themselves with the provisions of the Militia regulations and existing orders respecting methods to be followed in procuring services and supplies, and to submit vouchers and accounts in shape to permit readily, settlement from proper funds. Particular attention is called to matter of subsistence and transportation. With respect to the former, two sets of ration returns should be required, one for enlisted men and one for officers and civilian employees that proportionate share of expense may be readily adjusted between the United States and this State. In the latter case vouchers for transportation of troops for payment from United States funds should include no civilian employees.

The necessary State forms are doubtless on hand. A supply of militia forms is being this day forwarded under separate cover. It should be noted with respect to the letter that in each case one voucher fully accomplished, accompanied by a memorandum copy be furnished."

The brigade commander directs that you cause your quartermaster and commissary to thoroughly familiarize themselves with the provisions of the "Regulations of the War Department governing the Organized Militia," and existing orders respecting methods to be followed in procuring services and supplies.

A portion of the expense of the coming tour of field service of this brigade is a charge against the allotment of funds by the United States under Revised Statutes 1661, and another portion is a charge against state funds.

* * * * *

A supply of militia forms, issued by the War Department, required to be used are transmitted herewith:

It will be noted that bids must be procured where possible and for this a supply of circular-proposals, issued by the War Department, is also enclosed.

Company commanders and other officers who are to furnish transportation of camp equipage and baggage at home stations between armories and railroad stations should be instructed to procure competitive bids.

Quartermasters will be required to procure bids from railroad companies on the prescribed proposed blanks. In fact all officers who are authorized to incur expenditures must procure bids where practicable.

Respectfully,

F. A. McNEELY,
Adjutant-General.

ENCLOSURES:

Company commanders required to provide wagon transportation will be supplied as soon as practicable with the necessary forms on which to secure proposals. These proposals should cover transportation from and to armories. Where transportation for troops is required other than that provided by the regimental quartermaster, that is, to and from the nearest railroad point where troops entrain, similar proposals should be received.

The attention of all concerned is especially drawn to the fact that in accordance with the instructions of The Adjutant-General above quoted, it will be necessary to furnish transportation companies with two sets of transportation certificates, one covering the regular commissioned and enlisted strength of the organization and the other to include civilian cooks, servants and employees, if any.

By order of Colonel Pruyn.

ALLAN L. REAGAN,
Adjutant.

HEADQUARTERS TENTH REGIMENT, INFANTRY, N. G., N. Y.

STATE ARMORY, 195 WASHINGTON AVE.

ALBANY, June 14, 1909.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 14.

I. In accordance with G. O. 3, 3B., c. s., this regiment will mobilize near Fort St. Frederick, on Crown Point, on June 27th, for a tour of field service of ten days.

II. Sub-divisions will take with them only the actual necessary tentage and camp equipage and will not take large and unwieldy chests. The necessity of transporting the regimental baggage a distance of three miles by wagon train, and the fact that excess baggage rate must be paid on all camp equipage, makes strict compliance with the foregoing imperative. Company commanders will be held responsible for any infraction of this order.

III. Troops will wear service uniform and equipment (c), and will carry intrenching tools. Blanket rolls will contain overcoat, blanket, bed sack, and shelter half with poles and pins and will have the poncho folded on the outside, rubber side out, in such a manner as to be easily detached for use. First aid pouches and packets will be carried by members of the hospital corps only. Men will carry in the haversack the field kit, excepting the blanket and poncho, and will be provided with such portion of the travel ration as the distance from point of mobilization makes necessary. The tin cup will be carried in the haversack.

IV. The several sub-divisions will assemble in time to entrain as follows:

Headquarters, band, hospital corps stationed at Albany, and the second battalion, on D. & H. troop train, No. 1, leaving Albany at 7.30 A. M., June 27th.

Company K, on N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R. troop train, No. 2, leaving Poughkeepsie at 7 A. M.

Company M, at Rhinecliff on train No. 2, at 7.35 A. M.

Company E, at Greendale on train No. 2, at 8.05 A. M.

Company F, at Hudson on train No. 2, at 8.20 A. M.

Company I, on N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R. troop train No. 3, leaving Grand Central Station, New York City, at 7 A. M.

Companies G and H, at Yonkers on train No. 3, at 7.50 A. M.

Company L, at Tarrytown, on train No. 3, at 8.15 A. M.

These trains are scheduled to arrive at Burdick's Crossing, where the regiment will detrain, as follows:

Train No. 1, at 11.30 A. M.

Train No. 2, at 1.15 P. M.

Train No. 3, at 3.10 P. M.

Field and staff and non-commissioned staff officers, not resident at Albany will be supplied with transportation by the commanding officer of the company nearest their place of abode.

V. All baggage and camp equipage will be forwarded in advance of the troops in cars provided for that purpose, and to be moved as follows:

A car for companies K and E, leaving Poughkeepsie in N. Y. C. & H. R. train No. 47, at 1.35 P. M., June 25th, due at Greendale at 2.42 P. M.

A car for companies M and F, leaving Rhinecliff in train No. 45 at 11.07 A. M., June 25th, due at Hudson at 11.52 A. M.

A car for companies I and L, leaving Grand Central Station in American Express special, June 25th, at 3.50 P. M., and leaving Tarrytown at 12.45 that night due at Albany 5.50 A. M., June 26th.

A car for companies G and H, leaving Yonkers in American Express special at 12.20 A. M., June 26th, due at Albany 5.50 A. M.

All baggage must be loaded prior to time set for cars to leave, and that of Companies E and F must be at hand to be loaded promptly on arrival of train, so as to not occasion delay.

It is desired that volunteer details, under a non-commissioned officer, be provided from each company to report to the regimental quartermaster on the special baggage train leaving Albany at 6.45 A. M., June 26th, over the D. & H. R. R., for the purpose of preceding the regiment and preparing the camp in advance. These details will serve without pay for June 25th, and will be provided with transportation to Albany by their company commanders. The regimental quartermaster will provide transportation for the combined detail from Albany.

Lieut. R. G. Robinson, Battalion Quartermaster and Commissary, is charged with moving the baggage and equipage of headquarters and the second battalion. This baggage will be loaded on June 25th in cars to be placed for that purpose by the D. & H. R. R.

VI. Details for Guard, June 27:

Officer of the Day, 1st Lieut. Decker.

Officer of the Guard, 2d Lieut. Cassidy.

Company E will constitute the Guard, which will be formed without ceremony. Sentries will be posted as soon as practicable after arrival at camp.

VII. All officers are expected to subsist at the regimental mess, and will be included in one ration return.

VIII. Pay rolls will be prepared in accordance with G. O. 36, A. G. O., c. s., and submitted to the Adjutant at first sergeants' call June 28th.

IX. Morning reports for June 27th will be turned in immediately upon arrival at camp.

X. No ball ammunition whatever will be carried. Especial care must be taken to see that this order is observed, and company commanders will carefully inspect their commands for that purpose immediately before leaving their stations.

XI. Mounted officers, other than those who accompany the special baggage train, will carry their horse equipment with them on the troop trains.

XII. Captain Charles E. Walsh, in addition to his other duties, will act as fire marshal.

XIII. Mail should be addressed to "Camp Champlain, Port Henry, N. Y.," and should show number of regiment and designation of subdivision.

By order of Colonel Pruyn.

ALLAN L. REAGAN,

Adjutant.

HEADQUARTERS THIRD BRIGADE, N. G., N. Y.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 2, 1909.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 3.

I. In accordance with G. O. 29, A. G. O. and S. O. 148, Division, N. G. the organizations comprising this brigade will perform field service as follows:

The commanding officer and staff, June 27th to July 17th, 1909, inclusive.

near Fort Frederick, Crown Point, N. Y. and at Plattsburg Barracks, Plattsburg, N. Y.

The Tenth Regiment, Infantry, June 27th to July 6th, 1909, inclusive, near Fort Frederick, Crown Point, N. Y.

The Second Regiment, Infantry, July 3d to July 10th, 1909, inclusive, at Plattsburg Barracks, Plattsburg, N. Y.

The First Regiment, Infantry, July 10th to July 17th, 1909, inclusive, at Plattsburg Barracks, Plattsburg, N. Y.

II. The Brigade Quartermaster will furnish at each camp all mounts, forage, straw, wood, illuminating oil, water, lumber, nails, disinfectants and wagon transportation. He will also construct sinks (except kitchen) and latrines and enclosures for same. Regimental commanders will arrange all other matters pertaining to the quartermaster's department in connection with this tour of service. Regimental quartermasters are authorized to communicate direct with the brigade quartermaster, Major A. W. La Rose, Albany, N. Y., relative to details.

Attention is directed to the new transportation certificate (Form No. 101). Officers responsible for transportation will be required to follow strictly the instructions printed thereon. These certificates will be signed only by officers to whom the form has been issued.

III. Attention of commanding officers is called to Circular No. 3 A. G. O., June 6th, 1904. Packing boxes and field chests should be of the dimensions mentioned therein. Transportation should not be lumbered with unnecessary impedimenta; baggage should be cut down to a minimum.

IV. Regimental commanders will draw rations from the Post Commissary at Plattsburg Barracks. The allowance for this ration is twenty-five cents; the State allows fifteen cents additional, making a total allowance of forty cents per ration. Regimental commanders will instruct their commissaries to make purchases and issues covering not to exceed the fifteen cents per ration additional allowed, in the usual way. If found necessary, commanding officers of regiments will direct company commanders to provide travel rations for one day on the date of leaving home station.

V. The brigade commander has been enjoined by superior headquarters to exercise the strictest economy. Regimental commanders will therefore govern themselves accordingly.

VI. Regimental camps will be established and maintained as provided in regulations and orders under the direction of regimental commanders who will issue orders governing the same.

VII. Schedule of drills and program of field work will be published in a subsequent order.

By command of Brigadier-General Lloyd,

FRANK A. McNEELY,

Adjutant-General.

HEADQUARTERS THIRD BRIGADE, N. G., N. Y.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 8, 1909.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 4.

The following Schedule of Drills and Program of Field Work of the First, Second and Tenth Regiments, Infantry, during tour of field service June 27 to July 17, 1909, is published for the information and guidance of those concerned.

A. M., June 27.

First day's work.—Will consist of proper entraining of troops at home station; detraining at camp; pitching camp; submitting ration return. Consult F. S. R. 419 to 440, I. D. R. 562 to 586.

Second day's work, 7:30 a. m.—(Company.) Company commanders will have charge of their companies and will give them instruction in infantry patrol work, advance and rear guard work, and attack and defense. In this work it is recommended that patrol be used against patrol to assure the men making proper use of cover.

Third day's work, 11:30.—(Battalion.) The battalion commanders will have charge of their battalions, and acting alone will practice maneuvering in advance and rear guards, attack and defense; in the latter part of this drill it would be well to use one part of the command against another part so as to increase attention and assure proper use of cover.

Fourth day's work.—(Battalion.) Same as third day's work except that battalion commander will cover outpost work, having the troops alternate in different positions on the outpost lines so as to assure some instruction in each element for all the men present. If time is available it is recommended that a small party of troops be sent against the outpost lines as established to see if they can get through; and also have the outpost line take up the defensive position when attack is discovered.

Fifth day's work.—Practical exercise No. 1 to be given out later.

Sixth day's work.—Practical exercise No. 2 to be given out later.

Fourth day's work will be omitted by the Second Regiment. This command will be designated to participate in the ceremonies incident to the Lake Champlain Tercentenary Celebration at Plattsburg on July 7.

The Tenth Regiment will have practical exercise No. 3, to be announced later, on Saturday, July 3.

The Tenth Regiment will take part in the ceremonies incident to the Lake Champlain Tercentenary Celebration at Crown Point on July 5 and at Ticonderoga on July 6.

On the last day of the tour of each regiment, striking camp; entraining, and detraining at home stations. Consult F. S. R. 419 to 440, I. D. R. 562 to 586.

Drills will not be held on Sundays.

P. M. Daily.

Such close order drill or ceremonies as the regimental commander may direct.

The brigade commander expects particular attention to be paid to the proper performance of guard duty and also to military courtesy in general.

Non-commissioned officers will be assembled each day immediately after dinner for a talk on the practical exercises of that day and the day to follow.

The officers will be present at these talks in order that they may gain information as to how to properly instruct non-commissioned officers, one of the most important functions of an officer of this day.

Immediately after the dismissal of the non-commissioned officers there will be a daily conference of officers covering questions and criticisms of the day's work and of the next day's work.

Details for guard will be by company and regimental commanders will so arrange it that every officer and enlisted man will receive practical instruction in guard duty.

Adjutant-General.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 5.

I. The camp to be established near Fort Frederick, Crown Point, N. Y., June 27th to July 6th, 1909, has been designated "Camp Champlain."

II. The headquarters of the Brigade will be established at Camp Champlain, June 27th to July 4th. All mail matter should be addressed "Camp Champlain, Fort Henry, N. Y."

The headquarters of the Brigade will be established at Plattsburg Barracks, Plattsburg, N. Y., July 4th to July 17th inclusive. All mail matter intended for the headquarters of the Brigade during this period should be addressed accordingly.

III. The transportation of camp impedimenta being charged for in excess of one hundred fifty pounds, baggage must be limited to the actual camp equipage required for the service. Officers must confine themselves to one hundred fifty pounds of personal baggage; anything beyond one hundred fifty pounds must be paid for personally. The expense of all excess camp equipage not actually required for the service must be paid for from regimental funds.

IV. Captain Frederick W. Lewis, 29th Infantry, U. S. A. and Captain Romulus F. Walton, U. S. A. retired, have been detailed for duty in connection with this tour of field service.

Adjutant, Tenth Infantry, N. G., Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to give the following data regarding transportation for tour of field service, June 27 to July 6, 1909, inclusive:

Companies of the Third Battalion left their home stations according to schedule in G. O. 14, 10—R. I boarded the train at Catskill and found the cars in good shape as to drinking water, etc., arrived at Burdick's Crossing at 1:10 P. M. June 27, 1909.

The return transportation was made as follows: Train left Addison Junction 5 hours, 10 minutes late. Companies arrived at their home stations during the early hours of Wednesday morning, July 7, 1909. Companies E and M by W. S. R. R. and Companies F and K by the N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R.

On entraining at Addison Junction I reported to the conductor of the train that two windows were broken.

Respectfully,

ALBERT SAULPAUGH, JR.,
Major, Third Battalion, Tenth Infantry.

HEADQUARTERS TENTH INFANTRY, N. G., N. Y., STATE ARMORY,

ALBANY, July 8, 1909.

Adjutant, Tenth Infantry, Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor, in compliance with F. S. R. 426, 430 and 436, to report on the entraining, transportation and detraining of the Second Battalion and Hospital Corps.

According to schedule received by me my command were to entrain on the D. & H. track between Addison Junction and the tunnel at 4:30 P. M., July 6th. Because of the fact that we were acting as a guard on the roads over which the Presidential party were to pass and the further fact that the President did not em-lark on the Steamer Ticonderoga until 4:30 P. M., my command did not reach the designated point until 4:45 P. M. Line was formed there and the men permitted to rest. Lieutenant Wheelock, who was acting as Battalion Quartermaster, reported that the train had not yet been made up. I went to Addison Junction and saw the Division Superintendent and protested against the delay; he informed me the train could not be made up because of the fact that the officers' cars were not there. I afterward learned that the officers' cars were there but the day coaches for the transportation of the men had not arrived from the north.

The train was made up at 8:35 P. M. and the Quartermaster reported it to consist of one combination baggage and day coach, No. 507, with one window broken, no water, no ice, three glass chimneys broken, only one light fit for use. Day coach No. 267, no water, no ice. Day coach No. 242, ice, one-half tank of water, very dirty, floor and seats littered with peanut shells, papers, etc. Three day coaches, numbers not given, in good condition and iced and watered. Pullman sleeper, for officers, no water in flush tank, men's toilet.

Men were entrained as laid down in F. S. R. 426 and train left tunnel at 8:45 P. M. Coffee and sandwiches had been ordered by telephone to be delivered to the train at Saratoga, but through some error they were delivered to the preceding section. The train arrived at Albany at 1:15 A. M., July 7th, and men were detrained as laid down in F. S. R. 436. Quartermaster reported all cars in good condition.

Respectfully,

CHAS. B. STAATS,

Major.

FLUSHING, July 8, 1909.

The Adjutant, Tenth Regiment Infantry, N. G., N. Y., Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to report that the first section of the troop train which was scheduled to leave Addison Junction at 3:15 P. M. July 6, did not leave until 7:15, arrived at Albany at 1:15 A. M., July 7, Tarrytown 4:45, where five minutes were consumed in detraining Company L; arrived at Yonkers at 5:15 and left there at 5:20, at this point Companies G and H detrained as did also staff officers residing in that vicinity; train arrived at the Grand Central station at 5:50, where Company I detrained. I desire to call attention to four-hour delay in starting this train from Addison Junction; I repeatedly interviewed the Assistant Superintendent, Mr. Curtis, as to cause of delay and probable time of departure of train, but could get no definite information other than that they could not get cars, although other trains including specials appeared to be running all right. My battalions were at the entraining point at 3 P. M. and were obliged to wait there until train finally left at 7:15; it was impossible under the circumstances to allow the men to leave the immediate vicinity of the station.

In addition to the long and extremely fatiguing wait, the troops were obliged to ride all night in ordinary coaches arriving at various stations thoroughly tired out and many of them unable to resume their business, thereby losing an additional day. I cannot too strongly condemn the inefficiency of the R. R. service at Addison Junction.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. KLEIN,

Major

HEADQUARTERS, TENTH INFANTRY, N. G., N. Y., STATE ARMY
WASHINGTON AVENUE AND LARK STREET,

ALBANY, August 14, 1900

Adjutant-General, State of New York, Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to submit the following report of my tour of Field Service performed by the Tenth Regiment, N. G., N. Y., at Camp Champlain, Ft., St. Frederick on Crown Point, N. Y., from June 27th to July 6th, inclusive, pursuant to General Order No. 29, A. G. O. and S. O. No. 148.

Transportation was arranged by Brigade Quartermaster for the Tenth Regiment to travel in three sections.

On June 27th the first section carrying headquarters, band, Hospital Corps and the Second Battalion, composed of companies A, B, C and D, left Albany at 7:40 A. M. via D. & H. R. R., arriving at Burdick's Crossing at 11:15 A. M. and in camp at 1 P. M.

The second section, carrying the Third Battalion, consisting of Companies K, M, E and F, left Poughkeepsie at 7:00 A. M., via N. Y. C. & H. R. R. with Company K, Rhinecliff with Company M at 7:35 A. M., Greendale with Company E at 8:05 A. M. and at Hudson with Company F at 8:20 A. M. This section arrived at Burdick's Crossing at 1:45 P. M. and in camp at 2:30 P. M.

The third section, carrying the First Battalion, composed of Companies I, G, H and L, left Grand Central Station, New York city, via N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R.; at 7:00 A. M., Yonkers with Companies G and H at 7:50 A. M., and Tarrytown with Company L at 8:15 A. M. This section arrived at Burdick's Crossing at 3 P. M. and in camp at 4:35 P. M.

A detail from each company had preceded the Regiment and had previously pitched camp, thus camp was immediately settled and the first issue of rations were drawn upon the arrival of each battalion.

No duty was required of the men on Sunday evening, except Company E, Captain Decker, which was detailed for guard duty.

Orders for this tour of duty were complied with.

On Monday, June 28th, the company commanders took charge of their companies from 6:45 to 11:45 A. M., and gave instruction in infantry patrol work, advance and rear guard work, and attack and defense. According to orders patrol was used against patrol to assure men taking proper cover.

Guard mounting was performed each day at 5:45 P. M. by companies. The junior captain was detailed for the first tour. Every officer and enlisted man was afforded an opportunity to perform this duty.

The evening parade was by regiment in line.

During the morning drill on Tuesday, June 29th, the battalion commanders took charge of their battalions, and acting alone, practiced maneuvering in advance and rear guard, attack and defense, in the latter part of the drill, according to orders, one part of the command was used against the other so as to increase attention and assure proper use of cover. The evening parade on this day was omitted and battalion drill in close order was substituted.

The work on Wednesday was a repetition of that of the previous day, except battalion commanders covered outpost work, having troops alternate in different positions on the outpost lines so as to assure some instruction in each element for all the men present.

The evening parade was in line of masses.

On Thursday morning Field Exercises No. 1 was conformed to. In connection with this problem the entire force was divided into two armies — a Blue Force, designated by wearing a white band on hat, to which Headquarters the First Battalion was assigned, under the command of Lieut.-Col. Charles E. Davis, and a Red Force, to which Headquarters the Second and Third Battalions were assigned, under command of Col. John I. Pruyn, for attack and defense with blank ammunition.

The Blue Force, operating from the north, established a supply depot at Fort Amherst, Crown Point, N. Y., and thus provided a base for operations further south. The Red Force with an advance guard, Company B, in command of Lieut. Thorne, left camp at 7:30 A. M. They moved south along the Burdick's Crossing road. About two miles north of Burdick's Crossing they halted, and orders were issued for attack upon the adversary, ascertained to occupy a strong defensive position immediately in their front. They started the movement north at about 9:15 A. M. At all times reports were received and orders transmitted by means of mounted orderlies and messengers. A detachment of the hospital corps with medical officers followed each battalion. The entire force returned at 12 M.

The evening drill on this day was shelter tent drill by battalions.

Regimental and battalion drill in close order constituted the work for Friday morning, July 2. In the evening Field Exercise No. 2 was accorded to. The entire force was divided into two forces — a Blue Force, designated by a white band on hat, consisted of the Second and Third Battalions, under the command of Major Staats, and a Red Force composed of the First Battalion under the command of Major Klein, for day and night outpost and reconnaissance.

The Blue Force established camp occupied by the Tenth Regiment, N. G., N. Y., for the protection of camp from land reconnaissance or attack by the enemy. At 7 P. M. the day outposts were established covering the camp from the lake at the east of Bulwagga Bay on the west, about 800 yards south. The change to night outposts was made at 8:30 P. M. The Red Force took a position a few miles south of the camp. At 9:00 P. M. they started to make a reconnaissance of the outpost position of the Blue Force, determine the position and number of the outposts, and attempt to penetrate the lines, first, by single scouts with messages to be delivered to Regimental Headquarters in camp, and then in force. Condition of Field Service in the enemy's country was observed by scouts throughout the entire exercises. Troops carried ten rounds of blank ammunition. All outposts were withdrawn at 11 P. M.

Practical Exercise No. 3, which was scheduled for Saturday, was omitted, owing to the late hour the exercises of the previous night were concluded, and the heavy rain storm in the early morning. In the evening a regimental review was given to the Brigade Commander, Brig.-Gen. James H. Lloyd.

Divine service was held at 10 A. M. on Sunday by our Regimental Chaplain, Albert F. Tenney. A regimental parade in line of masses took place in the evening.

A sham attack by Indians was made on our camp at 11 A. M. Monday, July 5th. Company I was detailed to repulse them with blank ammunition. At 1:45 P. M. the regiment struck camp and tent equipment was then neatly rolled and placed at head of company street in preparation to be transported next morning to Burdick's Crossing. Shelter tents were then pitched on the original camp site for use that night. A regimental review was tendered at 4:30 P. M. to the Commander-in-Chief, Governor Charles E. Hughes.

On Tuesday, after the camp had been thoroughly policed, the Regiment embarked at 7:30 A. M. on S. S. Ticonderoga for Fort Ticonderoga, arriving there at 9:15 A. M. in the midst of a heavy shower. A review was given to the Commander-in-Chief at 10:30 A. M. After this review the Second Battalion was detailed to patrol the thoroughfare traversed by the President of the United States and to supply suitable guards during his presence, concluding this duty on the departure of the President by steamer at 4:30 P. M. The First and Third Battalions were detailed to simulate an attack and defense on the old French lines, using blank ammunition. After this sham battle they marched to Addison Station to receive President Taft who arrived there at 2:30 P. M.

Trains were scheduled to leave July 6th for home stations at the following time:

First Battalion at 3:15 P. M.

Third Battalion at 3:45 P. M.

Second Battalion at 4:30 P. M.

But on account of mismanagement on the part of the railroad officials we were delayed at Addison Junction nearly four hours. Otherwise we continued our journey without any incident worthy of note, arriving at our home stations during the early hours of Wednesday morning, July 7th.

I respectfully call your attention to reports of Major Maass, Major Staats, Major Klein and Major Saulpaugh upon the condition of the cars.

The tour of Field Service was exceptionally successful, and the work of the week was most thoughtfully planned so as to impart the greatest amount of instruction in the short time afforded. We were fortunate to have detailed in connection with this tour Capt. Fred W. Lewis, 29th Inf., U. S. A., and Capt. Romulus F. Walton, U. S. A., retired. No effort was too arduous for them to make this tour interesting and instructive. Every afternoon at 2 P. M. they delivered lectures to all officers and commissioned officers on each day's work. These officers are worthy of the highest commendation for the most courteous and willing assistance which they rendered to all. Nor can I, at this time fail to note the zealous and intelligent efforts shown by all officers and enlisted men in the performance of their duties.

The commissary department was conducted in a very satisfactory factory manner. The daily issues were prompt and of good quality.

The sanitary condition of the camp was carefully guarded by the medical corps, considerable care was taken by the officers and men, and on no occasion were any unsanitary conditions permitted. At the conclusion of the tour, the camp grounds were thoroughly policed, and left in an exceedingly clean and neat condition.

Programs issued for each day's work during the encampment, and such other orders and circulars as will more definitely explain this report are respectfully submitted herewith. Likewise map of Camp Champlain and environments used in connection with tactical problems, is submitted as part of this report. The map was skillfully executed in three hours by Private Charles R. Chase under the direction of Sergt. Edwin T. Coffin, both members of Company A, Tenth Regiment.

Respectfully,

JOHN S. PRUYN,
Colonel.

TROOP "B" N. G., N. Y., STATE ARMORY, LARK AND ELK STREETS, ALBANY, July 1, 1909.

Adjutant-General, Division N. G., N. Y., Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.— I have the honor to submit herewith a report on a practice march by a detachment of Troop "B" June 26 to 27th, inclusive.

The detachment consisting of three officers and thirty men, at least half of whom were new men who had never taken part in field service, left the armory at 3:45 p. m. Saturday, June 26th with one escort wagon containing tentage and all necessary camp equipage. A march of about nine miles was made and the Normanskill creek reached at 5:45 p. m. A site affording facilities for watering mounts was selected and arrangements made for use of ground. Owing to heavy condition of roads baggage did not arrive until about one-half hour later, when camp was made and evening meal prepared.

On account of the steep banks of creek at the camp site it was necessary to water the horses about one-eighth mile distance by riding into the creek at a ford. The watering was done under the supervision of an officer and was accomplished expeditiously and in an orderly manner, proving a valuable experience to the new men.

As the march was primarily for instruction in making and breaking camp, care of horses in the field, camp sanitation and other duties, no drills were attempted except the mounting of camp and stable guard. One civilian cook accompanied the detachment and two troopers were detailed to assist him at each meal thereby gaining some experience in preparing field rations.

Camp was broken on Sunday, June 27th, at 6 o'clock p. m. and home station reached at 9:15 p. m.

As no four-horse harness has been issued it was necessary to hire a set and as it is the intention to have another march anything that can be done to facilitate the issue of harness for which requisition has been made will be appreciated.

I would also state that the fittings on the wagon are too light particularly the rings and tail board chain which broke twice during the march, causing the baggage to shift therefore delaying the progress.

Respectfully,

HARRY S. RICHMOND,

Adjutant-General, Division N. G., N. Y., Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to report that on the 5th day of June thirty-five men, over half of whom were recruits, went on a practice march and voluntary two days' tour of duty under the command of Second Lieutenant Watson C. Shallcross. The recruits were numbers two and three in fours and the more experienced men numbers one and four. The command left the armory at the city of Syracuse with thirty-four saddle horses preceded by wagon with two mules. The start was made at 2 p. m. with full equipment excluding lariats and picket pins, in fair weather which later turned into a drizzle. Shelter tents were pitched upon the crest of a hill overlooking a valley. Guard was posted for the night and the recruits were thoroughly instructed in guard duty. Reveille and roll call was had at 5:30 a. m. The whole command then engaged in an extended order drill dismounted firing twenty rounds of blank ammunition. Camp was left at 9:30 a. m. and the command marched back to Syracuse and stopped at St. John's school at Manlius, where Major Verbeck had kindly provided a lunch. The armory was reached at 2 p. m. The camp was had on former Sergeant Burlingame's farm at Cazenovia, a distance of twenty-two miles. The march was made without injury of any description to man or horse.

Respectfully,

HOWARD K. BROWN.

SIR.—As required by the Regulations, I have the honor to report as follows, relative to the operations of the brigade during the past year:

Drills, school of instructions for officers and non-commissioned officers and armory small arms practice were held during the period from October 1, 1908, to April 30, 1909.

In compliance with the provisions of Special Order 123, Headquarters Division, the brigade took part in the Memorial Day parade in the borough of Manhattan on May 30, 1909; and in compliance with Special Order 130, Headquarters Division, it paraded on June 12, 1909, in connection with the ceremonies incident to the opening of Queensboro bridge.

Under the provisions of General Order 10, Headquarters Division, the 7th Regiment participated in the field exercises of the regular army and militia, conducted by the Commanding General Department of the East, in Massachusetts, in August, 1909.

On September 30, 1909, under the provision of Special Order 278, Headquarters Division, the brigade paraded in the Borough of Manhattan on the occasion of the Hudson-Fulton celebration.

During the month of October, 1909, the several organizations composing the brigade held their small arms practice at Sea Girt, N. J., the State rifle range not yet being available.

The strength of the brigade on September 30, 1909, was 17 officers and 3,209 enlisted men.

Respectfully,

GEORGE MOORE SMITH,
Brigadier-General.

HEADQUARTERS SECOND BRIGADE, NATIONAL GUARD, STATE OF NEW YORK, BROOKLYN, NEW YORK, September 30, 1909.

Adjutant-General, Division N. G., N. Y., Capitol, Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.— I have the honor to make the following report on the condition of this Brigade.

During the year the prescribed number of drills were held in each organization, and the usual course of instruction followed. These drills were supervised by a staff officer detailed from these Headquarters and a report on each made to the Brigade Commander.

The departments in each organization were also inspected by a member of the Brigade Staff and were all found in excellent condition.

During the year the following outdoor parades were made:

November 14, 1908.— Dedication of the Martyrs' Monument.

May 30, 1909.— Memorial Day, as escort to the Grand Army of the Republic.

June 12, 1909.— Opening of the Queensboro Bridge.

September 30, 1909.— Parade in connection with the Hudson-Fulton Celebration.

The Fourteenth Regiment, Infantry, was detailed for field service in connection with the maneuvers in Massachusetts. A report of this has been forwarded by the Commanding Officer, 14th Regiment. The attendance averaged 80 per cent. Date of service, August 13 to 21, 1909.

The Annual Inspections showed considerable improvement over those of previous years, each organization being clean, neat and orderly. The attendance was better, and a large gain shown in the number present, as follows:

	Present.	1908. Absent.	Total.	Present.	1909. Absent.	Total.
Headquarters	12	0	12	12	0	12
14th Regiment. . . .	683	16	699	759	4	763
23rd Regiment. . . .	760	7	767	759	9	768
47th Regiment. . . .	567	15	582	687	20	707
Totals	2,022	38	2,060	2,209	33	2,242

Owing to the State range at Blauvelt not being completed, no practice with small arms was had except on the Armory ranges.

The repairs on the 14th and 47th Regiment armories are now completed and both are in very fair condition. The 47th Regiment Administration building is entirely inadequate for this organization as the Regiment is growing very rapidly and cannot be comfortably accommodated in the present building.

The Brigade shows a gain of thirteen over the previous year and is in very good condition, and I look for still further improvement in the future.

Respectfully,

JOHN G. EDDY,

Brigadier-General.

Annual Report of Brigadier-General James H. Lloyd, Commanding Third Brigade.

HEADQUARTERS THIRD BRIGADE, N. G., N. Y.

ALBANY, September 30, 1909.

Adjutant-General, Division National Guard, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to submit herewith the annual report of the Third Brigade. The strength of the brigade September 30, 1908, was 2,798, the strength at the present time is 3,047, making a net gain of 249.

The principal feature of the year's work was the field service performed by each of the three regiments in turn, the dates and location being so arranged that the 2d and 10th Regiments could, in accordance with the request of the proper authorities, participate in the ceremonies of the Tercentenary Celebration at Lake Champlain. The 10th Regiment was in the field ten days, June 27th to July 6th, near Crown Point, eight days being devoted to field work and two spent in attending Champlain Tercentenary Celebration. The 2d Regiment was in the field for eight days, July 3d to 10th, at Plattsburg Barracks. On one day of this time the regiment participated in the Champlain Celebration, the others were devoted to field work. The 1st Regiment had its tour of service at Plattsburg Barracks July 10th to 17th. A report in detail of this service has already been forwarded.

During the drill season special attention was paid to work and instruction required in preparation for field service.

At the close of the winter the usual competition for the Brigade Trophy offered for gallery small arms practice was held at the Troy armory, the competing teams making excellent scores.

During the summer a number of separate companies had voluntary outdoor practice in guard duty and outpost work.

At the inauguration of President Taft in March several companies of this Brigade paraded in Washington, paying a large part of their own expenses, the remainder being met by funds from the State appropriation for the purpose, and during the Hudson-Fulton Celebration in October the 2d and 10th Regiments and several companies of the 1st Regiment turned out on the occasion of their respective local parades, also assisting in other parades along the line of the Hudson river.

Respectfully,

JAMES H. LLOYD,
Brigadier-General.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 3.

I. Pursuant to S. O. 159, c. s. Division N. G., this Brigade and the Field Hospital, N. G., N. Y., will perform field service near Farnham, Erie County, N. Y., from July 31st to August 21st, inclusive, 1909, the several organizations upon dates as follows:

65th Regiment, July 31st to August 7th.

3d Regiment, August 7th to August 14th.

74th Regiment, August 14th to August 21st.

Field Hospital, August 4th to August 18th.

Organizations will report for this duty in service uniform "c" (officers and non-commissioned staff officers omitting revolver).

Enlisted men will carry blanket roll, G. O. 31. A. G. O. s. 1908, including shelter-halves, omitting ammunition and overcoat. Overcoats will be cased and brought with organization.

II. The camp to be established is named "Camp Josiah Porter," in respectful memory of Major-General Josiah Porter, Captain 22d Regiment N. G., N. Y., June 13, 1865; Major, May 10, 1867; Lieutenant-Colonel, January 30, 1869; Colonel, October 11, 1869; Adjutant-General of the State, January 1, 1886, to the date of his untimely death in service, December 15, 1894.

III. It is assumed that each commanding officer is acquainted with the deficiencies in his command and knows the character of instruction necessary for the correction of the deficiencies. It is not intended to hamper commanding officers by the promulgation of a formal program of drills. Commanding officers will conduct drills and instruction upon these general principles; sufficient close order drill by company, battalion and regiment to enable officers to secure absolute control over their respective commands. Extended order progressively from squad to battalion, concluding with the "normal attack." When the regimental commander becomes reasonably satisfied with the work, problems in attack and defense, and security and information will be taken up.

IV. Horses for mounted officers of regiments will be furnished by brigade quartermaster. No transportation or forage for private horses will be allowed.

GENERAL ORDERS. }
No. 4.

I. The brigade commander and staff will leave for Camp Josiah Port July 29, 1909, by Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad at 9.15 A. The commanding officer, 65th Regiment, will furnish a detail of one sergeant, two corporals and nineteen privates which will report to Adjutant-General 4th Brigade, at Exchange street station at 9 o'clock A. M.

II. So much of paragraph I, G. O. No. 3, 4 B, as refers to shelter-halves is amended by omitting shelter-halves. The commanding officers of regiments are authorized to exercise their discretion in the matter of bringing shelter-halves.

III. Each organization will take no more of its camp equipment than shall be necessary to pitch its own camp and do cooking by company and other messes. Baggage of headquarters and companies is limited to necessary field desks, medical chests and authorized tentage for officers and enlisted men, at the rate of eight men to each conical wall. Large and unwieldy chests will not be transported. Each company will provide a bring one can for garbage, one for slops, each with lids, and one for water. It is recommended for the latter purpose a new galvanized sheet iron can with lid be provided.

The personal baggage of officers not exceeding 100 pounds will be limited to a valise or suit case, folding cot and bed roll; that of enlisted men to what they can carry in blanket roll and haversack. The commanding officer may authorize the carrying of an extra pair of shoes by wagon or other transportation.

IV. The respective commanding officers, 65th and 74th Regiments, will each detail a wagon guard consisting of one quartermaster, one lieutenant commander of the guard, one regimental or post quartermaster sergeant, one sergeant, three corporals, one musician, one hospital corps man, two cooks and twenty-four privates to accompany the baggage train of his command from its armory to camp.

The brigade ambulances will accompany the wagon train of the 65th Regiment, which, while in transit, will be under the orders of the commander of the guard. The respective wagon trains will leave Buffalo at such hour on July 30th and August 13th and Camp Josiah Porter, on such hour on August 8th and 22d as may be designated by the respective commanding officers.

V. The entire command will be subsisted during this tour by the brigade commissary. An organization not arriving at camp before noon will furnish its own subsistence for all meals required prior to supper. Regimental commanders will furnish brigade commissary as soon as practicable after arrival at camp consolidated ration return and daily thereafter with morning consolidated reports of attendance. Subsistence is allowed for the authorized number of servants, teamsters, grooms and civilian cooks. Two sets of ration returns will be made:—one for officers and civilian employees, one for enlisted men.

The brigade quartermaster will furnish at camp forage, wood and straw; water will be furnished by brigade engineer.

VI. Regimental surgeons will report for orders to brigade surgeon upon arrival at camp.

VII. Pay rolls will be prepared before the organizations leave their home stations in accordance with G. O. 36, A. G. O.

VIII. The commanding officer of each regiment will detail an officer to be in charge of the mail during the tour of his command. The name of such officer will be transmitted to these headquarters.

X. Subsistence and pay will be allowed for all special details requiring more than the number of days assigned to the organization of which the officer or enlisted man detailed is a member.

XI. Each commanding officer of a regiment will detail daily, a camp guard consisting of one captain, one first lieutenant, one second lieutenant, one sergeant, three corporals, two musicians, thirty-eight privates. No men detailed since June 1, 1908, will be detailed for this duty prior to the guard mounting on Tuesday succeeding arrival of organization at camp.

The field hospital will maintain its own camp and stable guard and will be subject to details for other guard duty.

III. The following officers composing the staff of the brigade are hereby assigned to duty at Camp Josiah Porter from July 29th to August 21st, inclusive.

Major Theodore B. Sheldon, Inspector-General, Acting Adjutant-General.

Major Albert H. Briggs, Medical Corps, Acting Brigade Surgeon.

Major George J. Metzger, Engineer.

Railroad transportation will be supplied for the authorized number of servants, grooms and civilian cooks; separate receipts will be given for transportation of all civilian employees. Transportation for baggage between armories and train will be furnished by respective commanding officers and vouchers duly certified, rendered; between Farnham station and camp, transportation for baggage and supplies will be furnished by the brigade quartermaster.

IV. The respective commanding officers of the 65th and 74th Regiments will make requisition on brigade quartermaster for wagon transportation for baggage and camp equipage, between home station and camp.

V. Passenger coaches will be furnished in number sufficient to provide one double seat for each man. The commanding officer, 3d Regiment, will detail an officer to command each train carrying any part of the regiment; the officer so detailed will see that the provisions of this paragraph are enforced and will report through the channel to these headquarters; such report will cover leaving time, number and condition of cars, number occupying each, condition on detraining, damage, if any, extent and cause. The commanding officer, 3d Regiment, will also detail a quartermaster, or an officer to act as such, for each train who will execute all transportation receipts for the detachment occupying the train. Details for handling baggage will be of sufficient size to ensure rapid work. Delay in movement of trains must not be caused by failure to load men and baggage promptly, if it occurs it will be reported. Commanding officers will direct quartermasters to mark each car with designation of the unit or part to occupy it and the number of members of the unit assigned to the car.

GENERAL ORDERS,
No. 7.

I. Medical officers should consult at once with line officers, advising in regard to sanitary and hygienic preparations for the tour of field service, July 31st to August 21st, at Camp Josiah Porter.

Advice in regard to toilet articles, clothing, underclothing, and especially in regard to shoes, should be given.

II. Sanitary arrangements for water and toilet facilities enroute must be planned for transportation trains.

III. Sick and disabled men must not be taken to camp. Suspected cases will be examined by a surgeon and report as to their fitness for duty made to the commanding officer.

IV. A regimental hospital will be established on arrival of each regiment at camp.

V. Men seriously ill or hurt, who will probably be disabled two or more days, will be transported to Buffalo for hospital treatment.

VI. The brigade ambulance will be stationed at brigade headquarters. It will be called for when needed, subject to the approval of the brigade surgeon.

VII. The camp must be policed and sanitary measures taken ready for medical inspection at 9 o'clock A. M.

VIII. A written report of sanitary inspection will be made daily to regimental headquarters by senior surgeon immediately after recall from morning drill and after supper call. Such reports with any recommendations will be promptly forwarded to brigade headquarters.

IX. Sanitary inspections of camp must include headquarters and company kitchens, mess tents and kitchen surroundings, tents, sinks and urinals.

X. Unhygienic and unsanitary conditions found by medical inspecting officers will be corrected immediately when pointed out to line officers having authority on the spot to correct such abuse.

XI. Garbage wagons controlled by camp guard will be emptied morning and evening. Slops will be emptied as necessary.

XII. Medical officers are not required to attend officers' schools. Schools for medical officers, except field hospitals, will be convened daily at afternoon drill call.

XIII. The hospital corps will assemble daily for drill at drill calls, except such members as are detailed for hospital and sanitary work.

XIV. Disinfection and deodorizing will be in charge of the hospital corps.

FARNHAM, N. Y., August 2, 1909.

No. 1. }
 SCULAR, }

Good health is essential for a man's efficiency, personal comfort and happiness. In civil life the routine of labor, meals, hours of recreation and rest are well established, and the normal functions of the body are carried on with regularity. In the abrupt change from civil, to the fixed routine of military life, radical changes are necessary in regard to hours for meals, work, recreation and sleep. It is therefore necessary that a few well-established rules for maintenance of health be observed.

FOOD.

The ration provided by the State is all that is necessary. The method of preparation is constantly subject to careful supervision and inspection; no other food should be taken; indulgence in over-ripe fruits must be avoided. The water supplied is pumped from deep water in Lake Erie. Analysis by competent officers demonstrates that it is absolutely free from sewer contamination or disease breeding germs. The fact that the water may be slightly roily after a severe storm, or is rust colored from the iron pipes, is no indication that it is dangerous or unhealthy. A hearty meal, or large quantities of ice water, should not be partaken of while overheated, or greatly fatigued from violent physical exertion. Alcoholic stimulants should be partaken of sparingly, if at all.

CLOTHING.

The clothing is furnished by the State, excepting underclothing, stockings and shoes. The last-mentioned articles are of vital importance to the health and comfort of the wearer. Every soldier should have at least two suits of underwear; two or three pairs of stockings, and two pairs of shoes. The undershirt and draws should be — for summer — of light cotton material in good repair, with all buttons or other fastenings securely attached. The stockings should be part wool and part cotton, large enough to give ample room for the toes.

It must be remembered that small and ill-fitting stockings cause as much suffering and deformity of the feet as badly-fitting shoes. Shoes with broad soles, and low broad heels, known as the army shoe, are best adapted to soldiers' use.

After a long march or drill, shoes and stockings should be removed, feet washed in cold water a few moments, then thoroughly dried, and dry shoes and stockings put on. If the underclothing is wet from perspiration it should be removed and dry clothing substituted. Do not lie on the ground with wet clothing, or when overheated. Such practice is dangerous and frequently the cause of severe illness.

BATHING.

A certain place in the lake is set apart for bathing purposes; and under certain circumstances will bathing be permitted except in the place designated.

The reason for this must be apparent to every one, and all should operate in enforcing this rule in order to insure the purity and safety of our water supply. A bath should never be taken immediately after a heavy meal; or if greatly heated, or fatigued from violent physical exertion. Those who cannot swim should never go alone to the lake for a bath. The beach generally slopes gradually to deep water, yet there are many shallow holes dangerous to one who cannot swim; there is also a dangerous undertow at times.

SINKS.

The sinks are easy of access. Disinfecting material has been provided and will be freely used to insure their sanitary condition. All should make every effort to insure cleanliness in and about the sinks.

COMPANY STREETS AND TENTS.

Company streets and tents must be kept perfectly clean at all times. Bedding should be aired daily, particles of food must not be left in the tents or thrown upon the streets; dirt of any kind serves to attract flies. Flies are one of the greatest pests of the soldiers' camp. It has been demonstrated that they are the most common conveyors of disease germs; and all should use every effort to keep them from the tents, company kitchens, and places where food is being prepared or stored. In conclusion, always remember that simple food, in moderate quantities, and hard work never injure any man, but excesses in alcoholic stimulants and the persistent violation of the simple rules suggested, are in nearly all cases the cause of most of the sickness from which soldiers suffer in camps of instruction.

MAN INSURANCE COMPANY BUILDING, 451 MAIN STREET
BUFFALO, N. Y.

November 30, 1909

Adjutant-General, Division, N. G., N. Y., Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—Herewith I have the honor to submit my annual report.

December 17, 1908, Company "L," 74th Regiment, was mustered, and on March 10, 1909, Company "M," 74th Regiment s mustered, completing 74th Regiment as a twelve-company regiment.

June 30, 1909, Company "K," 65th Regiment, was mustered, making ten companies in said regiment.

Pursuant to S. O. 123, A. G. O. and S. O. 159, N. G., Thursday, July 29th, Colonel Samuel M. Welch, 65th Regiment, commanding, accompanied by officers of the 4th Brigade Staff and special details, left for Camp "Josiah Porter," at Farnham, N. Y., where headquarters were established, G. O. 3, 4, 5, 7, 8 and Circular No. 1, 4-B, enclosed.

The entire camp as in previous years was laid out into company sections by Major George J. Metzger, Corps of Engineers. The water system was installed, pipes laid and taps placed at each section.

The 65th Regiment and the 74th Regiment occupied the same site with a week intervening, and the 3d Regiment, a separate site, of which is shown on prints heretofore forwarded from these headquarters.

The work of the regiments was performed with promptness, the weather rather interfering but little.

The following officers were present throughout the tour rendering valuable service in advice and lectures:

Captain Romulus F. Walton, U. S. A., retired; Captain E. G. Whingham, U. S. A. Medical Corps; Lieutenant Deshler Whiting, U. S. A. Infantry; Lieutenant Walton Goodwin, Jr., 5th U. S. A. Infantry.

The Field Hospital under command of Major William S. Terry, was in camp from August 4th to August 18th, Lieutenant-Colonel William G. LeBoutillier, Surgeon, Medical Corps, was present during tour of Field Hospital.

Reports of above regiments are herewith enclosed and are submitted as part of this report.

The general field small arms practice this season resulted in qualifying 368 distinguished experts and 2,256 marksmen, showing considerable work, with most of the practice at Fort Niagara range. The distinguished expert practice was held at Kenilworth range, north of the city line, and near where the new rifle range is to be located. This new range will be of great assistance to the local organizations, and can be used by Company "E" (42d Separate Company), 3d Regiment, located at Niagara Falls, and Company "K" (25th Separate Company), 74th Regiment, located at Tonawanda, N. Y.

The brigade prize was won by the 74th Regiment team at the Geneva range, September 17th, with a total score of 1,132. Second prize was won by 3d Regiment, with a total score of 1,096.

Strength of this brigade, September 30, 1909, was as follows: 152 officers and 2,438 enlisted men, showing a gain of 9 officers and 293 enlisted men since last annual report.

There have been no disturbances of any nature within this brigade during the past year.

Respectfully,

LAUREN W. PETTEBONE,
Brigadier-General.

HEADQUARTERS, THIRD REGIMENT, N. G., N. Y., STATE ARMORY, MAIN STREET, EAST.

ROCHESTER, September 20, 1909.

Adjutant-General, 4 B., N. G., N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to state that pursuant to G. O. 5, 4 B., this organization performed a tour of field service at Camp Josiah Porter, near Farnham, N. Y., August 7 to 14, 1909. The movement on August 7th was as follows:

Headquarters' band and Companies A, G and H, on special train B on N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R., leaving Rochester at 8:40 A. M.

Companies D and C on first section of special train C, on N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R., leaving Oswego at 6:30 A. M., and leaving Syracuse at 8 A. M.

Companies B and M, on second section of special train C, on N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R., leaving Auburn at 7:15 A. M., and leaving Geneva at 8:20 A. M.

Company F on first section of special train D, on N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R., leaving Medina at 9:40 A. M.

Company E on second section of special train D, on N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R., leaving Niagara Falls at 10:10 A. M.

Companies L and K, on third section of special train D, on N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R., leaving Elmira at 7:30 A. M., and leaving Hornell at 9:30 A. M.

Company I on Pennsylvania trains 47 and 62, leaving Olean at 5:50 A. M., and Buffalo at 9 A. M., respectively.

Camp was made with quickness, the only delay being caused by insufficient wagon transportation from Farnham Station to the camp.

Instruction in guard duty was made an important part of the tour of duty, the detail being at first, fifty-four privates, later raised to sixty-nine. This work was systematically performed under the direction of Second Lieutenant C. E. Barnes. The regiment is greatly indebted to Major William Verbeck for the able and instructive manner in which he conducted the daily school for noncommissioned officers in addition to his other duties.

Drill program of the week was as follows:

Monday (morning).—Company in extended order; (afternoon), battalion in close order.

Tuesday (morning).—Company in attack and defense; (afternoon), battalion in extended order.

Wednesday (morning).—Company in advance and rear guard and outpost duty; (afternoon), battalion in attack and defense.

Thursday (morning).—Company in outpost duty with instruction in field intrenching; (afternoon), battalion in outpost duty and instruction in field intrenching.

Friday (morning).—Problem, two battalions in attack and one in defense (one-third ration to be carried).

All drills by company were preceded by formation of the battalion. All battalion drills were preceded by formation of the regiment, and also one or more movements in evolution of the regiment.

All extended order drills by battalion were concluded with a few battalion movements in close order.

The principles of normal attack were made to conform to the terrain.

Every effort was made to avoid excitement, to carry on this work correctly rather than hastily, and to have the leaders of squads and all larger units keep perfect control of their men.

To give experience in other lines, battalions were sent out in order of numerical designation on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights respectively at 7 P. M., with shelter tents and one-third ration, returning at 7 o'clock the following morning, morning mess on this duty being prepared by individual cooking.

This duty was apparently relished alike by officers and men and proved to be something of an innovation. In effect it practically gave us one entire additional day in camp since the men received experience in pitching shelter tents, preparing mess, etc., which was not included in the drill program for other days. Reports of this duty by each battalion were as follows:

Adjutant, 3d Regiment, N. G., N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to report that the First Battalion left Camp Porter at 7:45 P. M., August 9, 1909, accompanied by field music and hospital corps under command of Lieutenant Loughlen.

Arrived in North Field at 8:05 P. M. and made field camp in shelter tents. Guard was posted at 8:15 P. M. Officer of the Day, Captain Shepard, Company "E;" Officer of the Guard, Lieutenant Breed, Company "F;" Sergeant of the Guard, Mason, Company "E." One corporal and six men from Company "K," six men from Company "E," one corporal and eight men from Company "F," and one corporal and four men from Company "I." Corporals Freeman, Company "I;" Weaver, Company "K;" Dooman, Company "F." The usual calls were sounded by field music.

Tents were struck at 7 A. M., August 10th, the camp properly policed and the march to home station commenced at 7:20 A. M.

Advance and rear guards were composed of Companies E and I, respectively.

Arrived at Camp Porter at 7:40 A. M.

One casualty reported. Private Thompson, Company F, cared for by the Hospital Corps.

One wagon accompanied the battalion on march.

Equipment of men was usual service uniform with blanket-roll and shelter halves. A sink was dug and properly covered and policed before leaving.

Respectfully,

(Signed) M. B. BUTLER,
Major, 1st Battalion.

Adjutant, 3d Regiment, N. G., N. Y.:

SIR.— I have the honor to report that pursuant to G. O. No. 5, 3d Regiment, on August 10, 1909, I conducted the 2d Battalion, composed of Companies "D," "M," "C" and "L," 3d Regiment on the practice march and into camp as follows:

The battalion consisting of 13 officers, 202 enlisted men, with a detail of 6 musicians and 1 officer and 5 men of the Medical Department, left camp in heavy marching order carrying one-third uncooked ration and accompanied by one wagon at 7:15 p. m., August 10, proceeded about one mile north, halted at 7:30 and established camp. Captain Tuck of Company C, was detailed as Officer of the Day, and First Lieutenant Whelan Company "M," as Commander of the Guard which was of thirty-five men, and was posted at once upon halting the column.

The camp was made in shelter halves in column of platoons and was fully made at 7:50, and at 9 the whole camp was quiet and the men asleep. Taps was sounded at 10:30, reveille at 4:45, sick call at 4:55, assembly at 5:20 and the march was taken up at 5:25. The battalion halted on the lake beach where each man cooked his own breakfast of bacon, eggs, potatoes and coffee with hard tack.

The battalion then threw out an advance guard composed of Company "D," a rear guard composed of Company "L," and returned to camp, arriving at 7:30 a. m., August 11, 1909.

Respectfully,

(Signed) JOHN T. SADLER,
Major, 2d Battalion.

Adjutant, 3d Regiment, N. G., N. Y.:

SIR.— I have the honor to report that the 3d Battalion, 3d Regiment, left camp at 7:30 p. m., August 11th, in heavy marching order, accompanied by field music and a detachment of the Medical Corps under Lieutenant Knight, with the second platoon Company "A," under command of Captain Couchman, forming the advance guard, and the first platoon, Company "A," under First Sergeant Stutson, as rear guard.

Arrived in the field north from the locust hedge and east from the ditch, at 7:45. The advance guard formed camp guard and dug the sinks. The rear guard formed patrols. Double shelter tents were pitched.

Guard was posted at 9:30 P. M. with Captain Hoffman, Company "H," as Officer of the Day; Lieutenant Guelich, Officer of the Guard; Sergeant Ramsey, Company "A," Sergeant of the Guard; one corporal, two men each from Companies "B," "G," "H," and two men, Company "A."

A check roll call was made at 11 P. M. No calls were sounded but the camp was awakened at 5 A. M., August 12th; tents were struck at 5:30. The camp ground was thoroughly policed, singly and in groups, and the camp was thoroughly policed and covered.

At 6 A. M. the march was begun to the lake front where the men individually cooked their breakfast. After breakfast the beach was policed and the fires extinguished.

The battalion reached Camp Josiah Porter on return at 7:30 A. M.

Respectfully,

(Signed) WILLIAM VERBECK,
Major, 3d Battalion.

The tour of service demonstrated that the regiment, although it had not been together in two years and was composed of approximately 60 per cent. of new men, could give four-fifths of its time to work in extended order and the demonstration of problems, impossible in armories or at its home stations, without relaxation of discipline and without the loss of the improvement which it had been supposed by some come only from a rigid enforcement of close order drill.

The officers and men alike appreciated the opportunity to benefit by the instruction given by the United States Army officers present at the camp, especially Capt. R. F. Walton. They found that these officers were there not merely to criticise and report but to advise, instruct and assist.

Movement on August 14th for the return trip, was as follows: Companies "C," "D," "B" and "M," on Special Train C. on L. S. & M. S. R. R., leaving Farnham at 12:10 P. M. Companies "C" and "D" leaving Lyons at 3:40 P. M. for Syracuse and Oswego, respectively, and Companies "B" and "M" leaving Lyons at 3:40 P. M. for Geneva and Auburn, respectively.

Companies "F," "E," "K," and "L," on Special Train H, on L. S. & M. S. R. R., leaving Farnham at 1:30 P. M., Companies "K" and "L" leaving Buffalo for Hornell and Elmira, respectively, at 2:30 P. M., on first section. Company "F" leaving Buffalo at 2:50 P. M., for Medina on second section, and Company "E" leaving Buffalo at 3 P. M. on third section for Niagara Falls.

Headquarters' band and Companies "A," "G," and "H," on Special Train I, on L. S. & M. S. R. R., leaving Farnham at 2:30 P. M.

Company "I" on Pennsylvania railroad train No. 61, leaving Farnham at 4:28 P. M.

Respectfully,

WM. WILSON,
Colonel.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 3, 1909.

GENERAL ORDERS,
No. 3.

I. Pursuant to S. O. 159, c. s. Division N. G., this Brigade and the Field Hospital, N. G., N. Y., will perform field service near Farnham, Erie county, N. Y., from July 31st to August 21st, inclusive, 1909, the several organizations upon dates as follows:

65th Regiment, July 31st to August 7th.

3d Regiment, August 7th to August 14th.

74th Regiment, August 14th to August 21st.

Field Hospital, August 4th to August 18th.

Organizations will report for this duty in service uniform "c" (officers and non-commissioned staff officers omitting revolver).

Enlisted men will carry blanket-roll, G. O. 31, A. G. O. s. 1908, including shelter-halves, omitting ammunition and overcoat. Overcoats will be cased and brought with organization.

II. The camp to be established is named "Camp Josiah Porter," in respectful memory of Major-General Josiah Porter, captain 22d Regiment, N. G.,

N. Y., June 13, 1865; Major, May 10, 1867; lieutenant-colonel, January 1869; Colonel, October 11, 1869; Adjutant-General of the State, January 1886, to the date of his untimely death in service, December 15, 1894.

III. It is assumed that each commanding officer is acquainted with deficiencies in his command and knows the character of instruction necessary for the correction of the deficiencies. It is not intended to hamper commanding officers by the promulgation of a formal program of drills. Commanding officers will conduct drills and instruction upon these general principles; sufficient close order drill by company, battalion and regiment to enable officers to secure absolute control over their respective commands. Extended order progressively from squad to battalion, concluding with "normal attack." When the regimental commander becomes reasonably satisfied with the work, problems in attack and defense, and security and information will be taken up.

IV. Horses for mounted officers of regiments will be furnished by Brigade Quartermaster. No transportation or forage for private horses will be allowed.

By order of COLONEL WELCH.

65th Regiment, Commanding.

THEODORE B. SHELDON,

Inspector-General,

Acting Adjutant-General.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 4. }

I. The brigade commander and staff will leave for Camp Josiah P. July 29, 1909, by Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad at 9:15. The commanding officer 65th Regiment will furnish a detail of one sergeant, two corporals and nineteen privates which will report to Adjutant-General 4th Brigade, at Exchange street station at 9 o'clock A. M.

II. So much of paragraph I, G. O. No. 3, 4 B, as refers to shelter-halves is amended by omitting shelter-halves. The commanding officer of regiments are authorized to exercise their discretion in the matter of bringing shelter-halves.

III. Each organization will take no more of its camp equipment than be necessary to pitch its own camp and do cooking by company and companies. Baggage of headquarters and companies is limited to necessary desks, medical chests and authorized tentage for officers and enlisted men.

the rate of eight men to each conical wall. Large and unwieldy chests will not be transported. Each company will provide and bring one can for garbage, one for slops, each with lids, and one for water. It is recommended for the latter purpose a new galvanized sheet iron can with lid be provided.

The personal baggage of officers not exceeding 100 pounds will be limited to a valise or suit case, folding cot and bed roll; that of enlisted men to what they can carry in blanket roll and haversack. The commanding officer may authorize the carrying of an extra pair of shoes by wagon or other transportation.

IV. The respective commanding officers, 65th and 74th Regiments, will each detail a wagon guard consisting of one quartermaster, one lieutenant as commander of the guard, one regimental or post quartermaster sergeant, one sergeant, three corporals, one musician, one hospital corps man, two cooks and twenty-four privates to accompany the baggage train of his command from its armory to camp.

The brigade ambulances will accompany the wagon train of the 65th Regiment, which while in transit, will be under the orders of the commander of the guard. The respective wagon trains will leave Buffalo at such hour on July 30th and August 13th and Camp Josiah Porter, on such hour on August 5th and 22d as may be designated by the respective commanding officers.

V. The entire command will be subsisted during this tour by the brigade commissary. An organization not arriving at camp before noon will furnish its own subsistence for all meals required prior to supper. Regimental commanders will furnish brigade commissary as soon as practicable after arriving at camp consolidated ration return and daily thereafter with morning consolidated reports of attendance. Subsistence is allowed for the authorized number of servants, teamsters, grooms and civilian cooks. Two sets of ration returns will be made — one for officers and civilian employees, one for enlisted men.

The brigade quartermaster will furnish at camp forage, wood, and straw; water will be furnished by brigade engineer.

VI. Regimental surgeons will report for orders to brigade surgeon upon arrival at camp.

VII. Pay rolls will be prepared before the organizations leave their home stations in accordance with G. O. 36, A. G. O.

VIII. The commanding officer of each regiment will detail an officer to take charge of the mail during the tour of his command. The name of such officer will be transmitted to these headquarters.

IX. Subsistence and pay will be allowed for all special details requiring duty exceeding the number of days assigned to the organization of which the officer or enlisted man detailed is a member.

X. Each commanding officer of a regiment will detail daily, a camp guard consisting of one captain, one first lieutenant, one second lieutenant, one sergeant, three corporals, two musicians, thirty-eight privates. No men enlisted since June 1, 1908, will be detailed for this duty prior to the guard mounting on Tuesday succeeding arrival of organization at camp.

The field hospital will maintain its own camp and stable guard and will not be subject to details for other guard duty.

XI. The following officers composing the staff of the brigade are assigned to duty at Camp Josiah Porter from July 29th to August inclusive.

Major Theodore B. Sheldon, Inspector-General, Acting Adjutant-General.

Major Albert H. Briggs, Medical Corps, Acting Brigade Surgeon.

Major George J. Metzger, Engineer.

Major Lee H. Smith, O. O.

Major Louis L. Babcock, Judge Advocate.

Major George C. Diehl, Commissary.

Major Edmund D. McCarthy, Quartermaster.

 CAMP "JOSIAH PORTER."

FARNHAM, N. Y., August 2, 1909.

CIRCULAR, }
 No. 1. }

Good health is essential for a man's efficiency, personal comfort and happiness. In civil life the routine of labor, meals, hours of recreation and rest are well established, and the normal functions of the body are carried on with regularity. In the abrupt change from civil, to the fixed routine of military life, radical changes are necessary in regard to hours for meals, work, recreation and sleep. It is therefore necessary that a few well-established rules for maintenance of health be observed.

FOOD.

The ration provided by the State is all that is necessary. The method of preparation is constantly subject to careful supervision and inspection; no other food should be taken; indulgence in over-ripe fruits must be avoided. The water supplied is pumped from deep water in Lake Erie. Analysis by competent officers demonstrates that it is absolutely free from sewer contamination or disease breeding germs. The fact that the water may be slightly roily after a severe storm, or is rust colored from the iron pipes, is no indication that it is dangerous or unhealthy. A hearty meal, or large quantities of ice water, should not be partaken of while overheated, or greatly fatigued from violent physical exertion. Alcoholic stimulants should be partaken of sparingly, if at all.

CLOTHING.

The clothing is furnished by the State, excepting underclothing, stockings and shoes. The last mentioned articles are of vital importance to the health and comfort of the wearer. Every soldier should have at least two suits of underwear, two or three pairs of stockings and two pairs of shoes. The undershirt and drawers should be—for summer—of light cotton material in good repair, with all buttons or other fastenings securely attached. The stockings should be part wool and part cotton, large enough to give ample room for the toes.

It must be remembered that small and ill-fitting stockings cause as much suffering and deformity of the feet as badly fitting shoes. Shoes with broad soles, and low broad heels, known as the army shoe, are best adapted to soldiers' use.

After a long march or drill, shoes and stockings should be removed, feet bathed in cold water a few moments, then thoroughly dried, and dry shoes and stockings put on. If the underclothing is wet from perspiration it should be removed and dry clothing substituted. Do not lie on the ground in wet clothing, or when overheated. Such practice is dangerous and frequently the cause of severe illness.

BATHING.

A certain place in the lake is set apart for bathing purposes; and under no circumstances will bathing be permitted except in the place designated.

The reason for this must be apparent to every one, and all should co-operate in enforcing this rule in order to insure the purity and safety of our water supply. A bath should never be taken immediately after a hearty meal; or if greatly heated, or fatigued from violent physical exertion. Men who cannot swim should never go alone to the lake for a bath. While the beach generally slopes gradually to deep water, yet there are many deep holes dangerous to one who cannot swim; there is also a dangerous undertow at times.

SINKS.

The sinks are easy of access. Disinfecting material has been provided and will be freely used to insure their sanitary condition. All should make every effort to insure cleanliness in and about the sinks.

COMPANY STREETS AND TENTS.

Company streets and tents must be kept perfectly clean at all times, bedding should be aired daily, particles of food must not be left in the tents or thrown upon the streets; dirt of any kind serves to attract flies. Flies are one of the greatest pests of the soldiers' camp. It has been demonstrated that they are the most common conveyors of disease germs; and all should use every effort to keep them from the tents, company kitchens, and places where food is being prepared or stored. In conclusion, always remember that simple food, in moderate quantities, and hard work never injure anyone; but excesses in alcoholic stimulants and the persistent violation of the few simple rules suggested are in nearly all cases the cause of most of the sickness from which soldiers suffer in camps of instruction.

The blanket roll (blanket, bed sack and poncho) will be worn. Overcoats will be cased and delivered to Quartermaster at such place in Armory as he shall designate at 8.00 P. M. July 29th.

The regiment will assemble:

Friday, July 30th, for inspection. Assembly, 8.25 P. M.; Adjutant's call, 8.35 P. M.

Saturday, July 31st. Assembly, 7.35 A. M.; Adjutant's call, 7.50 A. M.

The duty ordered is compulsory; absentees will be returned at close of tour as relinquents.

11. Following details are ordered:

a. By each Company Commander, one Officer, the Quartermaster-Sergeant and six men; by the Regimental surgeon, one assistant surgeon, one non-commissioned officer and six men of the Hospital Corps. By the Adjutant, one Battalion Adjutant, such members of the non-commissioned staff as he shall designate, one non-commissioned officer and six men of the Band and Field Music. These details will report to their respective commanding officers at 8.00 o'clock P. M., July 29th, and under the direction of such officers will load the wagon assigned to their organization. The officer in charge of each detail will report to headquarters when wagon is loaded and will not excuse any member of the detail until ordered.

b. One Sergeant, two Corporals and nineteen privates to report at Armory July 9th, at 7.45 o'clock A. M., uniformed and equipped as prescribed in paragraph I, adding overcoat, and proceed to New York Central station, Exchange street, reporting to Adjutant-General, 4 B, at 9.00 o'clock A. M. Each member of this detail will provide himself with one-third of one cooked ration.

c. Regimental Quartermaster Howard O. Hicks, one Lieutenant, Regimental Quartermaster-Sergeant Frederick J. Philcox, one Sergeant, three Corporals, twenty-four privates, one musician, one hospital corps man and two cooks, for duty with wagon train, will report at 8.00 P. M., July 29th, load wagons assigned to Headquarters, Quartermaster and Commissary, remain on duty at Armory and march with wagon train July 30th at 6.00 A. M. The detail will assemble at such hour August 7th as shall be hereafter designated, return to Buffalo with and unload wagons. Captain Hicks will make requisition for rations for this detail, viz.: One and one-third for July 30th and 31st, one for August 8th.

d. Daily, beginning Friday, July 30th, one Captain, Officer of the Day; one First Lieutenant, one Second Lieutenant, one Sergeant, three Corporals, two musicians, thirty-eight privates for camp guard. First detail will report at guard mounting immediately after inspection, July 30th. After guard mount members of detail will report to their respective commands; on arrival at Farnham station, July 31st, will report to the Officer of the Day, at head of column, at the signal "guard mounting."

e. A fatigue party corresponding in strength to detail "d," to be made after leaving home station, will report to Adjutant on sounding of fatigue call on arrival at Camp Josiah Porter.

No men enlisted since June 1, 1908, will be detailed for duty under paragraphs "b," "c" and "e." No men enlisted since said date will be detailed for duty under paragraph "d" prior to Tuesday, August 3, 1909.

III. The commanding officer of Company "E" upon arrival at Farnham station will detrain and move his command directly to camp, reporting to the Adjutant upon arrival. He will observe the following modifications of this order:

Par. 1. He will assemble his command at his home station as prescribed, designating the hours and fixing the hour of assembly. July 31st, at such time as will enable him to entrain his command at 9.00 A. M.

Par. 2. Details "a," "b" and "c" not required. He will make necessary arrangements and details for loading, transporting and unloading the baggage of his command.

Details "d" and "e" will report to the Adjutant immediately after arrival at Camp Josiah Porter.

IV. Details for guard will assemble for school at school call daily, beginning Sunday, August 1st. Officers detailed for guard will attend this school. Captain Walter F. Nurzey is detailed as Instructor of Guards.

Commanding officers of companies will hold a guard school daily in their respective commands; men will be required to memorize standing orders; thorough and careful instruction must be given in the duties of sentry, and the details of men for guard duty who are not thoroughly instructed is prohibited. Men who have failed to memorize standing orders prior to camp will not be permitted to leave the company street until they have complied with the provisions of this paragraph.

V. All details ordered will be in charge of a non-commissioned officer who will be furnished with a list of names of detail and its purpose and will deliver same to the officer to whom the detail is ordered to report.

VI. "Memoranda for Field Service," issued from these headquarters, contains detailed instructions which must be followed.

By order of COLONEL WELCH.

MEMORANDA FOR FIELD SERVICE.

TRANSPORTATION.

One wagon for each company, one for band and field music, one for hospital corps, four for headquarters, four for quartermaster and commissary.

BAGGAGE.

Officers limited to one hundred pounds, including bedding. Trunks will not be allowed. A valise or dress suit case must be used for articles not carried in bed roll. Enlisted men are limited to the following articles, which they are advised to wear and carry in addition to their uniform and equipment: Two pairs shoes, one flannel shirt, in addition to O. D. shirt to be issued, two undershirts, two pairs each drawers and socks, three handkerchiefs, two towels, toilet articles, housewife. Shoes should have broad toe with heavy sole and low heel; woolen socks should be worn, cotton socks wear rapidly and produce blisters. Articles not packed in blanket roll may be carried in haversack, and in the discretion of commanding officers extra shoes may be carried in packages in wagons.

Olive drab shirts have been purchased by the Athletic Association and will be issued as regimental property to the enlisted men. Such shirts will be issued Saturday morning, July 31st. They will be turned in before leaving the Armory August 7th. Pay checks will not be delivered until all property is turned in.

Officers' baggage must be ready to load at 8.00 o'clock P. M., July 29th; field and staff baggage to be delivered at quartermaster's office; company officers' baggage at company quarters. Baggage must be plainly marked with name of owner.

TENTS.

One hospital for C. O., one each for headquarters and officers' mess, and one for hospital. A wall as follows: Field and staff, seventeen; postoffice, one; headquarters' servants and grooms, six; headquarters' mess storage, one; commissary department, one; for each company, four; for band and field music, one; guard, one. Conical wall as follows: Non-commissioned staff, one; hospital corps, three; band and field music, eight; guard, three; companies, the rate of one for each eight enlisted men (excluding fractions less than seven). Hospital flies as follows: Headquarters, four; commissary, one; for each company, band and field music, and hospital corps, one. A wall fly for each major one.

EQUIPAGE, EQUIPMENT AND RATIONS.

C. O.'s of companies will make requisition on the quartermaster for articles of equipage and equipment. Requisitions on quartermaster must be made at time to be approved and filed not later than July 28th. Upon arrival in camp they will make requisition on the commissary for all staple articles of ration for the week and for perishable articles for Saturday and Sunday. Each article of equipage and equipment issued to an enlisted man will be charged to the recipient, who will be held personally responsible for its care and preservation.

REPORTS AND PAY ROLLS.

Morning reports for July 30th will be sent to headquarters immediately after arrival in camp, July 31st, and daily thereafter, immediately after signal call.

Commanding officers of companies will also make report of attendance blanks furnished, immediately after entraining July 31st and August 7th. After arriving at home station, a final morning report, dated August 8th will be made before leaving the Armory. Pay rolls in quadruplicate will be signed before leaving home station, attendance credited thereon daily, and at conclusion of duty verified and forwarded as hereafter ordered. The Command will be paid on return to home station. Attention is directed to G. O. No. 3, A. G. O. c. s., which must be carefully studied by officers and enlisted men charged with the preparation of payrolls. A sufficient supply of blanks and stationery must be carried in field desks, for which commanding officers of companies and staff departments will make requisition on the Armorer on or before Monday, July 26th.

MAILS.

A daily mail will be sent and received. Outgoing mails will close at Regimental Postoffice at hours which will be posted on bulletin board at office. Mail matter should be plainly addressed, with name of company. For example:

Sergeant George Brown, Company "A",
Sixty-fifth Regiment, N. G. N. Y.,
Camp Josiah Porter,
Farnham,

Erie County, New York.

REGIMENTAL INSPECTION, JULY 30TH.

Officers and men will parade at the hour specified in G. O. No. 11, c. s., fully prepared to march. C. O.'s of organizations will satisfy themselves by careful inspection that each member of their respective commands is fully uniformed, equipped, and in all respects ready for the duty ordered.

By order of COLONEL WELCH.

II. In breaking camp, organizations will burn out the sinks of their respective battalions with straw and crude oil, then cover them with slack lime and 12 inches of earth, also turn over sink seats. Under side of seats will be washed with a mixture of quicklime and salt. This work will be under the supervision of the Medical Corps, with such details as may be required from the companies. The work on the sinks on the east flank will be done by the fatigue party for the day. Sinks will not be dismantled.

The members of this regiment will use the sinks of the Third Regiment from the beginning of the burning out of the sinks.

III. All woodwork will be removed and lumber piled in an orderly manner upon the lumber pile in the rear of Headquarters Fourth Brigade.

Straw will be emptied back of the sinks in one pile east of the woods. No one will be allowed to approach this pile with a light of any kind.

All cook fires, trenches and ditches will be filled and the camp thoroughly policed from the enlisted men's sinks to the lake.

IV. All wood from the kitchen fires will be turned over to the Quartermaster Fourth Brigade, who will have wagons to collect same.

V. The wagon train guard, fully equipped as prescribed in G. O. 11, c. s. 65 R, will report to Quartermaster, Captain Howard O. Hicks, at 2 P. M.

They will load the wagons assigned to Headquarters and the Quartermaster and Commissary Department and strike the tents of Headquarters, Field and Staff, with the exception of those required by the wagon train guard.

VI. The Regimental Quartermaster will turn over to the Quartermaster Fourth Brigade, for the use of the Seventy-fourth Regiment, the officers' mess tent, lantern and tables when camp is struck. The tables will be moved bodily and with the other property deposited in the rear of Headquarters Fourth Brigade at a point designated by the Engineer Fourth Brigade.

VII. Upon arrival at Home Station companies will be assembled for inspection and pay, which will not be made until all property, including the shirts, have been turned in to the Quartermaster-Sergeant. The morning reports will be made as provided in G. O. 11. c. s. 65 R. Immediately after inspection First Sergeants will report at Headquarters for data for record of events.

VIII. Pay checks for members of the wagon train will be turned over to the Regimental Quartermaster, who will deliver them at the completion of the duty required by G. O. 11, c. s., 65 R, and in accordance with Par. VII.

IX. Company "E" is relieved from all provisions of this order after morning drill, excepting inspection and pay at Home Station, and the making of morning reports. The Commanding Officer Company "E" will have tents struck, baggage packed and be prepared to leave camp at 4.00 P. M.

The Regimental Quartermaster will provide the necessary wagon transportation to station.

HEADQUARTERS SIXTY-FIFTH REGIMENT INFANTRY, N. G., N. Y.
29 MASTEN STREET.

BUFFALO, N. Y., September 11, 1909.

The Adjutant-General, Fourth Brigade, N. G., N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to submit the following report of the tour of field service performed by this Command from July 31 to August 7, 1909, pursuant to G. O. No. 3, c. s. 4-B, and G. O. No. 11, c. s. 65th Regiment.

This Regiment, excepting Company "E," assembled at its home station at 7:35 A. M. July 31, 1909. The column moved at 8:08 A. M. and marched to the Carroll street yards of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad, arriving there at 8:52 A. M. The whole Regiment was entrained in five minutes and the train started at 9:03 A. M., arriving at Farnham, N. Y., at 9:58 A. M. The Regiment detrained in six minutes. The camp guard, which had been previously mounted at the Armory, moved at 10:06 as the advance guard, and the main body moved four minutes later, arriving at Camp "Josiah Porter" (about three and one-half miles distant) at 11:00 A. M.

The wagon train, which had preceded the Regiment by road, was unloaded, and in about an hour the entire organization was under canvas, and at 12:30 mess was ready and the call sounded.

Company "E," which left its home station at Jamestown at 9:00 A. M., reported at 1:35 P. M., and with this company and the details sent to Camp "Josiah Porter" (for the 4th Brigade on Thursday, July 29th, and for the Regimental Wagon Train on Friday, July 30th) gave the following percentage for duty:

	Strength.	Present.	Absent.	Per cent.
	717	686	31	95.68
Attached	31	26	5	83.87
Total	748	712	36	95.19

The following is the percentage for duty for the whole tour of field service:

	Strength.	Present.	Absent.	Per cent.
	717	689	28	96.1
Attached	31	25	6	80.6
Total	748	714	34	95.5

At 12:30 P. M. Colonel Welch relinquished command of the Regiment and assumed command of the Brigade and Post.

On Saturday afternoon theoretical schools were held. There was no Regimental parade, but the Regiment formed in line and saluted the raising of the flag at Camp "Josiah Porter," which was attended with the firing of a salute by the Post gun, the sounding "To the color" by the field musicians and the playing of appropriate airs by the band.

Sunday, with the exception of the morning inspection of companies, was a day of rest. Religious services were held by the chaplain at the conclusion of inspection.

Beginning with Monday the camp routine and the program of drills prescribed in G. O. No. 12, c. s. 65th Regiment (a copy of which with all others pertaining to this tour of service accompanies this report), were strictly followed.

On Friday demonstrations in outpostting were made in the morning and afternoon: Major Babcock with the 1st Battalion consisting of Companies "G," "B," "E" and "I," moved out at 8:10 A. M. to take up a position from which to assault the camp. The other two battalions were to attack the position occupied by Major Babcock's battalion. Major Howland with the 2d Battalion, comprising Companies "C," "H" and "A," was designated the advance guard, and Major Brendel with the 3d Battalion, Companies "D," "F" and "K," was the reserve. The advance guard moved at 9:15 A. M. The demonstration was fairly carried out, being marred in some instances by a misunderstanding of the general rules and restrictions of territory laid down by the umpires.

The same problem was worked out in the afternoon, substituting Major Howland's forces for those of Major Babcock's, who commanded the reserve, Major Brendel's battalion being the advance guard. Great improvement was shown on the second trial.

The third demonstration of this problem, Saturday A. M., when the three units were again changed, Major Brendel's battalion being entrenched and the attacking forces being Major Babcock's battalion as advance guard and Major Howland's battalion as reserve, evidenced intelligent work by the officers, noncommissioned officers and men, and was an example of what could be attained were the period of tour of field service longer.

Saturday afternoon preparations for breaking camp were started after noon mess. The "general" was sounded at 3:00 P. M., and after an early supper at 4:25 P. M., the Regiment assembled at 4:55 P. M. Company "E" left Camp "Josiah Porter" at 4:00 P. M., marched to Farnham station and entrained at 5:20 P. M., and arrived at home station at 8:30 P. M.

Colonel Welch resumed command at 5:25 P. M., the column marched to Farnham station, arriving there at 6:08 P. M. Owing to a delay in the arrival of the train it was 6:35 P. M. when the troops entrained. The train started at 6:44 P. M. and arrived at the Green street station of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad at 7:39. The column moved at 7:45 P. M., arriving at its home station at 8:29 P. M.

In conclusion, thanks are due to Captain Romulus F. Walton, U. S. A., Captain Ernest G. Bingham, Medical Corps, U. S. A., Lieutenant Walton Goodwin, Jr., 5th Infantry, U. S. A., and Lieutenant Deschler Whiting, 5th Infantry, U. S. A., for their uniform courtesy and the aid they rendered by their advice, suggestions, lectures, etc.

Respectfully,

GEORGE J. HAFFA,
Lieutenant-Colonel, Commanding.

(Eleven inclosures.)

HEADQUARTERS, 74TH REGIMENT INFANTRY, N. G., N. Y.,
BUFFALO, N. Y.,

September 8, 1909.

Adjutant-General, Headquarters Fourth Brigade, Buffalo, N. Y.:

SIR.— I have the honor to report, that in accordance with G. O. No. 4, Headquarters Fourth Brigade, dated July 9, 1909, this Regiment left its home station on Saturday, August 14, 1909, at 7:35 A. M. The march to the Lake Shore station occupied about one hour. The entrainment was completed in twelve minutes. The train was divided into two sections, the first of which left Buffalo promptly on time and the second section followed at an interval of fifteen minutes. Upon the arrival at Farnham, the first section detrained and awaited the arrival of the second section, after which the march was taken up for camp "Josiah Porter," about three miles from the station. Upon arrival at the camp ground, the Regiment was assigned the same ground as that vacated by the 65th Regiment one week previous. The camp was erected and by retreat everything was in running order and evening parade was held.

Sunday there were no drills but at 10:30 A. M. a church service was conducted by the Chaplain of the Regiment, Rev. Richard Earle Locke. Guard mounting and regimental parade were held at the hours prescribed. The drill hours of Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday were devoted to close and extended order by squad, company and battalion, in addition to the camp routine. The drill hours of Thursday and the morning drill hours on Friday were devoted to the field work on plans suggested by Captain Walton, and this proved to be very beneficial and instructive to the entire command. The drill hours of the afternoon on Friday were devoted to battalion extended order and loading and firing. Saturday morning the drill hours were devoted to evolutions of the Regiment. One afternoon drill was interrupted by a wind storm of such velocity that the men were ordered to return to camp to provide for the safety of their tentage. The officers' mess tent and two cook shacks were blown over. One regimental parade was omitted on account of the threatening aspect of the weather, and the retreat roll-call was held in the company street.

TRANSPORTATION.

The camp equipage was transported from the armory to the camp site by means of a wagon-train, consisting of eighteen wagons, which left the armory on Friday morning about 6 A. M., arriving at Farnham at 5:45 P. M. The same system was employed upon the return, the train leaving camp site at Farnham, Sunday morning at 6:30 A. M., arriving at the armory shortly after 5 P. M. Owing to an accident, caused by the breaking of a part of the tackle by which the wagons were hauled into the armory, it was a late hour before the last was unloaded, said wagons being returned to the armory of the 65th Regiment as soon as they were unloaded. The camp equipage of all but four wagons was carried into the armory by the employees and some of the members of the wagon-train guard. Owing to the distance of the camp site from the armory and the inconvenience of unloading wagons, I believe that another day, at least should be allowed for this service.

The transportation provided for the troops by the Lake Shore Railroad was entirely inadequate, as the men were very much crowded and as there was also a lack of sufficient drinking water on the train. I am informed that the contract was at the rate of one double seat per man, but on account of the number of cars furnished it became necessary to put two men in almost every seat, which is entirely inadequate, when it is considered that the men carry upon their persons their blanket-rolls, haversacks, canteens and other equipment.

DISCIPLINE

The conduct of officers and men throughout this tour was exemplary, only minor infractions of discipline being detected, which were promptly taken care of. The men evinced an earnest and painstaking interest in the performance of every duty and seemed to be fully alive to the fact that the reputation of the Regiment depended upon the good conduct of the individual. Military courtesy greatly improved during the tour.

The report of the surgeon indicates that the general health of the Regiment was excellent. Copies of the report of the sick, sanitary inspections, and suggestions as to health and sanitation, have all been forwarded.

The rations were drawn in kind and issued to and properly expended by the company cooks. The quality of the food issued was generally wholesome.

The average attendance was 86.47 per cent.

I desire to express my appreciation of the courtesy extended by the Post Commander and the officers of his staff, at all times during the tour. We had present in camp, Captain Walton, Lieutenant Whiting and Lieutenant Goodwin of the United States Army, all of whom exerted themselves to assist us in every way possible and to whose valuable suggestions the Regiment is largely indebted for the success of the tour.

The camp was broken on Saturday afternoon, the site thoroughly policed, and the Regiment at 5 P. M. took up the march to the station and entrained for Buffalo, arriving at the armory about 9 P. M. Before the Regiment was dismissed the Regimental Commander informed the Regiment that, in his opinion, this was the best tour of duty the Regiment had ever performed.

Respectfully,

GEORGE C. FOX,

Colonel.

APPENDIX 8

To Major-General Charles F. Roe's Report.

General Orders and Circulars Issued in 1909 from Headquarters Division, National Guard.

APPENDIX 8

General Orders and Circulars Issued in 1909 from Headquarters Division, National Guard.

HEADQUARTERS DIVISION NATIONAL GUARD, NEW YORK.

CAPITOL, ALBANY, January 15, 1909.

No. 1. }

I. Officers and enlisted men of staff departments and corps, serving with organizations other than brigade and division headquarters, those of the medical department excepted, will be carried in red ink under the head "attached" at the foot of the annual muster roll of the headquarters of the organization they are serving with, but will not be included in the strength of the latter.

II. Detachments of the medical department serving with organizations other than brigade and division headquarters will appear upon a separate muster roll as heretofore as if they were companies of the organization. It is contemplated that these detachments be assembled at the headquarters of the organization for inspection and muster, and proper officers have been and will be detailed, separate from the officers detailed to inspect the regular organization, to make these inspections and report on the efficiency of the detachment. See G. O. 18, §§ II, V., D. N. G., 1908.

III. Bands will appear on separate muster rolls as if they were companies of the organizations, even if consisting only of non-commissioned officers who formerly formed part of the non-commissioned staff of the organization.

IV. Gains and losses must be accounted for as prescribed for companies, etc., and, except with detachments of the medical departments, in red ink at the foot of the gains and losses of the organization proper.

V. If any officer or enlisted man, attached or otherwise, be authorized to be inspected and mustered at any other place than the headquarters of the organization he is serving with or the station of his company, a separate muster roll shall be made for him in duplicate by his commanding officer and presented by him to the inspecting officer, who will transmit such rolls and his comments, as other muster rolls are transmitted by him, to the Adjutant-General of the State, to be filed with the muster roll of the organization of the officer or enlisted man, which roll as well as the individual roll must show the authority under which the muster is made.

I. For the information of the National Guard there is published herewith a tabulated statement showing the average attendance of its officers and enlisted men at the duties required of them during the year 1908.

The statement shows that, including these headquarters and those of brigades, the average strength of the National Guard during the year 1908 was 15,127; the average attendance at drills and parades 88 per cent; the average attendance at field service 84 per cent and the average attendance at service with U. S. troops 78 per cent; in every instance an improvement over the year 1907.

Fractions less than one-half in averages are not credited; those of one-half and more are credited as a whole.

II. The result of the field small arms practice of the season 1908, has already been published in full and in detail in G. O. 19, Division N. G., N. Y., 1908.

HEADQUARTERS DIVISION NATIONAL GUARD, NEW YORK.

CAPITOL, ALBANY, *February 20, 1909.*GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 3.

The commanding officers specified in paragraph one, G. O. 14, s. 1908, Division National Guard, may assign more than one night of each week for the examination of recruits when in their judgment it is necessary, but such assignments must not interfere with the drill and instruction of the hospital corps detachment.

By command of Major-General Roe,
FRED PHISTERER,
Adjutant-General.

Official:

.....,
Adjutant-General.

HEADQUARTERS DIVISION NATIONAL GUARD, NEW YORK.

CAPITOL, ALBANY, *March 20, 1909.*GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 4.

The proceedings of the trial by General Court Martial of Second Lieutenant Tom Pancoast Dilkes, Coast Artillery Corps, having been approved by the Governor and promulgated in G. O. 12, A. G. O., in conformity with the direction therein contained, this order is issued in execution of so much of the sentence of the Court as directs a reprimand.

The Court found that while the companies of the Ninth Artillery District were on duty with United States troops at Fort Wadsworth, this state, in coast defence exercises in 1908, Lieutenant Dilkes was detailed as officer of the day with command of the camp guard for a tour of duty from sunset of June 18th to sunset of June 19th, and that without leave he abandoned his guard, left the camp and remained absent from about midnight of the 18th to about 6:30 o'clock in the morning of the 19th.

That an officer should so lightly regard the obligations imposed upon him by his commission and should be so insensible of the responsibilities of the position of officer of the day and commander of the guard, as to absent himself without leave from his post, is in the highest degree discreditable to him and reflects severely upon the service to which he belongs. That he has been but a short time in the service and is therefore inexperienced cannot be accepted as an excuse, much less as a justification for such conduct, which is inconsistent with the most elementary ideas of military duty. Conduct so prejudicial to discipline and so injurious to the service merits and receives severe condemnation.

The Court also found Lieutenant Dilkes guilty of making highly improper statements as to the conduct of his immediate superior. For any officer who has a cause of complaint against or who deems himself aggrieved by a superior, there is an orderly method of procedure provided in the regulations. An officer who departs from this and comments upon the conduct of his associates as was done in this case with subordinates is lacking in due appreciation of what is becoming an officer and a gentleman and is justly censurable.

FRED PHISTERER,
Adjutant-General.

CAPITOL, ALBANY, April 13, 1909.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
 No. 5. }

I. The commanding officers of the Third and Fourth Brigades and of Troops "B" and "D" and the Sixth Battery will issue the necessary orders for the small arms practice of their respective commands, taking into consideration the dates on which such practice can be supervised by Major W. M. Kirby, Ordnance Officer, Division National Guard, who will furnish information as to such dates not later than May 1st. The commanding officers of Troops "B" and "D" and of the Sixth Battery, each, will obtain for their practice the use of the nearest available range from the proper officer in charge of it.

II. Dates for practice of organizations attached to these headquarters not heretofore named, and of the First and Second Brigades, will be announced in orders later.

III. The commanding officers of the Third and Fourth Brigades will assign dates for the supplementary practice of the organizations of their commands. Not more than five supplementary dates in the distinguished expert class will be assigned to any one organization.

The commanding officers of Troops "B" and "D" and the Sixth Battery will assign dates for supplementary practice of their respective commands, subject to the approval of Major W. M. Kirby, Ordnance Officer, Division National Guard, making arrangements for use of a range as provided in paragraph I.

IV. Major W. M. Kirby, Ordnance Officer, Division National Guard, will inspect and supervise the small arms practice and the competition on supplementary days in the distinguished expert class at all ranges for the above practice. Traveling and subsistence expenses incurred in accordance therewith are hereby authorized.

V. Requisition will be made by all the organizations of the National Guard direct on the Adjutant-General of the State at the State Arsenal, Thirty-fifth street and Seventh avenue, New York city, for the ammunition allowed by R. S. A. P. 90, as amended by G. O. No. 19, A. G. O., 1909 (100 rounds).

Requisition will also be made in like manner for the targets allowed by R. S. A. P. by such organizations as do not practice at Rensselaerwyck or Fort Niagara.

Requisition for the targets required for Rensselaerwyck and Fort Niagara will be made by the Ordnance Officer of the Third and Fourth Brigades respectively.

VI. Requisitions for transportation will be made direct on the Quartermaster, Division National Guard, provided the distance from the home station of the command to the range is more than three miles. Commanding officers of troops mentioned in paragraph I will, upon receipt of this order, notify the Quartermaster, Division National Guard, 280 Broadway, New York city, of the distance from their home station to the nearest range, the means of transportation available and the strength of their respective commands. When commanding officers actually receive transportation under the arrangements made by the Quartermaster, Division National Guard, they will give the conductor one receipt for such transportation, and forward without delay the duplicate and triplicate copies of the receipt, properly filled out, to the Quartermaster, Division National Guard, retaining the fourth in the book of transportation receipts furnished by the Adjutant-General of the State. Vouchers for the above (Form 36) will be forwarded as soon thereafter as practicable.

VII. Ball ammunition must not be taken from the firing points, and the commanding officers of troops will be held to the strictest accountability for any neglect or violation of the provisions of this order or of the Regulations for Small Arms Practice, and for any breach of discipline on the part of the members of their respective commands while on the range or in going thereto or returning therefrom.

VIII. Copies of all orders issued by brigade commanders relative to the small arms practice of their respective commands will be forwarded to these headquarters and to the Adjutant-General of the State on the date of issue.

IX. Vouchers for pay, subsistence, transportation and other lawful expenditures authorized herein will be prepared as prescribed in G. O. No. 11, A. G. O., 1901, and must be certified to by the Ordnance Officer under whose inspection or supervision they were incurred, approved by his commanding officer and forwarded, receipted in duplicate, to these headquarters.

X. Immediately after the general practice of an organization a report of attendance on forms 44 and 43 respectively will be forwarded to these headquarters by the commanding officers of regiments and separate troops, batteries, and companies, who will also see that the provisions of G. O. No. 7, A. G. O., are complied with.

The general practice of the field, staff, non-commissioned staff and attached officers and non-commissioned officers of regiments composed of separate companies will be ordered by the respective commanding officers to take place with that of the company at whose station these officers and non-commissioned officers are located, and the result of the practice will be communicated to the commanding officer of the regiment by the supervising Ordnance Officer, Division National Guard. A report of attendance at general practice will be furnished by these commanding officers as soon as practicable.

I. The Chief of Coast Artillery and the Provisional Regiments of the 8th, 9th and 13th Artillery Districts have been designated to participate in the Joint Army and Militia Coast Defense Exercises on June 10th to 19th, next.

II. The Chief of Coast Artillery and the commanding officers of the commands above named will at once report, in person, to the commanding officer of the Department of the East for detailed instructions as to this service.

III. The Chief of Coast Artillery may apply to the commanding officer of the Department of the East for permission to visit the various posts occupied by the Coast Artillery troops of this State during these exercises with such officers as he may select.

IV. The Governor has authorized an additional allowance for subsistence, to supplement the army ration, of fifteen cents per day for enlisted men for such periods as these commands may be on duty under orders at these Coast Defense Exercises. Vouchers will be required to show the purchase of subsistence stores actually required for enlisted men from the allowance thus authorized. No allowance will be made for servants, grooms or other employees.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
 No. 9. }

It is with profound sorrow that announcement is made of the death of Lieutenant-Colonel Frederick Phisterer, Adjutant-General serving on the Division Staff, which occurred on the 13th instant at his residence in the city of Albany.

He enlisted in the United States Army as a private in 1855; was honorably discharged as Sergeant in 1860; re-entered the service in 1861, as Sergeant-Major, and holding the commission of Captain, was honorably discharged in August, 1870. Entering the service of this State with a commission as Colonel in 1880, he has served continuously in the Adjutant-General's Department for the intervening twenty-nine years as Assistant to the Adjutant-General of the State, as acting Adjutant-General of the State and as Adjutant-General of the Division. He received the Congressional Medal of Honor from the United States and from this State, the decoration for long and faithful service of the first class, and was successfully brevetted Brigadier-General and Major-General for his long and meritorious service.

He was unceasing in his devotion to the duties of his office and constant in his efforts to advance the best interests of the National Guard of the State. The present efficiency of the National Guard is largely due to his intelligent and patient industry.

His loyalty of heart and kindness of disposition always secured for him the confidence and respect of his superiors, the friendship of his subordinates and the warmest regard of his immediate associates. His long record of faithful and honorable service rendered the State and the Nation is both an example and an incentive to the members of the service to which he belonged.

I. The following organizations have been designated to participate in the Field Service to be conducted by the Commanding General, Department of the East:

First and Second Companies, Signal Corps.
 Provisional Regiment, Corps of Engineers.

First Battalion, Field Artillery.

Seventh Regiment, Infantry.

Fourteenth Regiment, Infantry.

Two provisional troops of cavalry from Squadron "A," to serve without pay. (Par. I. S. O. 105, A. G. O., 1909.)

II. The commanding officers of the commands above named will report at once to the Commanding General, Department of the East, for detailed instructions as to this service.

III. The attention of the commanding officers above named is directed to G. O. 7, A. G. O., which must be complied with.

No. 11. }

I. The drills and instruction of the hospital corps shall be progressive and cover D. R., H. C., and the subjects prescribed in G. O. 40, s. 1904, A. G. O.

II. Practical instruction shall be given to all hospital corps men in the use and care of the means for the relief and transportation of the sick, and of all the field equipment. When practicable, instruction shall be given in the care of ambulances, harness, saddle equipment and horses, as outlined in Manual for the Medical Department, U. S. A., paragraph 260.

III. At least four practical exercises in mess and diet cooking shall be given to each detachment during the drill season. Expenditures for supplies for use in teaching the art of cooking are proper charges against the military fund of the organization with which a detachment is serving.

IV. Hospital corps men should be instructed in the use of the revolver, as they may be armed with it on active duty.

V. When there are recruits, or too small a number of men in a hospital corps detachment for proper instruction in marching or riding, they may be drilled with a squad, platoon or company of the organization with which they are serving.

VI. Instruction in military correspondence and the proper making of reports, records and returns will be given to all junior medical officers and non-commissioned officers, and to other members of the hospital corps capable of profiting by it. Schools for this purpose shall be held twice a month during the drill season.

VII. Four schools of instruction for the medical officers stationed within the limits of Greater New York shall be held by the chief surgeon of the division at a time and place to be fixed by him. He will give due notice of such time and place to all medical officers affected and they will be required to attend. Brigade commanders may require medical officers serving with their commands to attend schools of instruction conducted by the brigade surgeons or to join correspondence schools so conducted.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 12. }

I. Drills, schools of instruction and small arms practice will begin October 1st. Commanding officers of brigades, the chief of coast artillery, the chief signal officer and the commanding officers of other commands attached to division headquarters will issue the necessary instructions. Where satisfactory reasons exist a delay may be authorized of not more than one month. Schools may be substituted for drills during the month of October, if desired.

II. Every command or component must participate in not less than twenty-four drills of one and one-half hours each, at which at least two-thirds of the membership of the command are present, to comply with paragraph III, M. L. This and field or camp service and small arms practice, at which the attendance is less than 66 per cent., will not be accepted and credited by the War Department. The scheme of instruction should include schools in conjunction with drills. The orders or outlines of superior officers should be suggestive rather than arbitrary, while those of immediate commanding officers should be arranged with unbroken continuity. Thorough individual instruction must be given in guard duty and the use of small arms.

III. Close order drills and ceremonies should not be given undue prominence nor extended order confined to mere formal exercise and normal formations. The prescribed rules of text books and orders should be clearly explained and, if necessary, demonstrated, always having in mind economy of time.

IV. Engineer instruction will be under the supervision and advice of the chief engineer of the division. Infantry drills and instruction for engineers will be as prescribed in paragraph III of this order so far as it may apply.

V. Drills and instruction of the signal corps will be under the direction and advice of the chief signal officer of the division whose instructions will be obeyed.

VI. Drills and instruction of coast artillery will be under the direction and advice of the chief of coast artillery whose instructions will be obeyed.

VII. Field artillery drills will be conducted in accordance with paragraph III of this order so far as it may apply under the direction of the commanding officer of the battalion of field artillery.

VIII. Cavalry drills will be conducted in accordance with paragraph III of this order so far as it may apply.

IX. The drills and instruction of the hospital corps will be under the direction and advice of the chief surgeon of the division. All drills shall be conducted by an officer of the medical corps. Any officer of the medical corps, who is present less than one hour of the drill of his detachment, shall be marked "absent" in the report book. Attendance for examination of recruits will be recorded in the report book as special duty. Commanding officers of artillery districts, organizations and squadrons, will assign a night, other than headquarters night, for the drill and instruction of the detachment of the medical corps stationed at headquarters of the command and on this drill night recruits will not be examined. In other organizations the detachment of the medical corps may drill on the headquarters night but no recruits will be examined during the prescribed period for drill.

X. Schools of instruction for officers and non-commissioned officers, as prescribed in drill regulations, must be held regularly during the drill season.

Schools of instruction should include personal hygiene, camp sanitation, interior guard, advance and rear guard, outposts, patrols, scouting and reconnaissance duty and the use of field equipment and equipment. Schools of instruction for officers will also include field orders, field administration and the supply and provisioning of troops, marches, including principles and details, combats, offensive and defensive, and the use of maps.

Lectures should be given by staff officers of commands upon subjects pertaining to their respective offices, returns, reports, books, records, military law, etc. At least two lectures should be given by medical officers during the drill season upon the following subjects:

- (1) Emergencies and their treatment and the contents and use of the first aid packet.

- (2) Personal hygiene, and camp sanitation and the respective duties of line and medical officers in regard thereto and to the police of camps.

- (3) The status of the sick, excuse of men from duty on account of sickness, sick call, records of the sick, including preparation of the company's report book and the necessity of early discovery and removal of persons with communicable diseases.

XI. Proper and careful instruction in small arms practice shall be given during the season and instruction shall also be given in the mechanism of the piece; men not actually firing should receive instruction in position and aiming drill. Interest in shooting must not be permitted to decline because of the limited opportunities for outdoor practice for commands heretofore using the Creedmore Range. Attention is called to R. S. A. P. 1 and 2. The enlisted men excused from armory practice in accordance with R. S. A. P. 1 will be omitted from the total strength of the command or subdivision, so that the reports of practice will account for actual shooting strength only. Returns must show that those so excused are omitted from the number reported absent, and the total strength given. Attached officers and enlisted men present or absent at the practice should be so recorded in red ink.

XII. Reports of attendance at drills and parades must be promptly forwarded by subdivisions at the close of each drill or parade and by squadrons, battalions and regiments and artillery districts at the end of the week; monthly reports of armory small arm practice on the last day of each month during the season. Delinquency returns must be rendered for each school of instruction for non-commissioned officers as well as for each drill, parade, etc., and delinquencies must be promptly brought before the Delinquency Courts. The practice of allowing delinquencies to accumulate before being returned to the Delinquency Courts will not be permitted.

XIII. The commanding officers of the 1st, 2d, 3d and 4th Brigades are charged with responsibility for the proper execution of the foregoing in their commands, and the Chief of Coast Artillery and the Chief Signal Officer in their respective corps, and they will supervise the drills and instruction in such commands.

XIV. Lieutenant-Colonel Chauncey Pratt Williams, Adjutant-General of the Department, having been assigned by the Governor for duty to this division and having reported accordingly, is announced as Adjutant-General of the Division to date from September 8, 1909, vice Phisterer, died, and is hereby assigned in charge of the Division Headquarters at Albany.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 13. }

1. The commanding officers of the First and Second Brigades will issue the necessary orders for the small-arms practice at Sea Girt, N. J., of the troops of their respective commands, for which purpose that range will be available for organizations of the

First Brigade.

October 11th, 12th, 15th, 18th, and 19th.

Second Brigade.

October 5th, 6th, and 9th.

II. The small-arms practice of the following organizations attached to these headquarters will take place at Sea Girt, N. J., as follows:

The First and Second Companies Signal Corps and Squadrons A and B
October 4th.

Twenty-second Regiment Corps of Engineers, October 18th.

Troops of the Eighth Coast Artillery District, October 13th.

Troops of the Ninth Coast Artillery District, October 14th.

Troops of the Thirteenth Coast Artillery District, October 7th and 8th.

III. Commanding officers of organizations practicing at Sea Girt will direct the marksmen of their respective commands to take their state decorations with them to the range and the officer in charge is directed to change the numbers indicating qualifications, and in case of those qualifying for the first time, to issue then and there the marksman's decorations.

IV. Dates for supplementary practice at Sea Girt, N. J., will be announced in orders, later, if allowed.

V. Lieutenant-Colonel N. B. Thurston, Chief Ordnance Officer, is charged with the inspection and supervision of the practice of troops at Sea Girt, and is hereby designated to take charge of and carry out all details relative to transportation in connection with small arms practice at Sea Girt. Traveling and subsistence expenses incurred in accordance therewith are hereby authorized.

VI. Requisitions for transportation for troops practicing at Sea Girt will be made direct on Lieutenant-Colonel N. B. Thurston, Chief Ordnance Officer, 280 Broadway, New York City; details respecting the movement of troops will be communicated by him, to the several commanding officers, by mail.

VII. Ball ammunition must not be taken from the firing points, breech bolts will be kept open on the range, at all times, except when actually firing. The rifle will be used during general practice, as a single loader, and the use of magazine is prohibited. The commanding officers of troops will be held to the strictest accountability for any neglect or violation of the provisions of this order or of the Regulations for Small Arms Practice, and for any breach of discipline on the part of the members of their respective commands while on the range or in going thereto or returning therefrom.

VIII. Copies of all orders issued by brigade commanders relative to the small arms practice of their respective commands will be forwarded to these headquarters and to The Adjutant-General of the State on the date of issue.

IX. Immediately after the general practice of an organization a report of attendance on forms 44 and 43 respectively will be forwarded to these headquarters by the commanding officers of regiments, squadrons and companies of the Signal Corps.

Attention is invited to G. O. 7, A. G. O.

CAPITOL, ALBANY, October 30, 1909.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 14. }

I. The annual muster and inspection, and the inspection by officers of the United States Army, of the organizations of the National Guard, will be made between January 1 and April 30, 1910. The specific dates will be announced in future orders. Reviews will be omitted.

II. Engineer, coast artillery and infantry commands, will be paraded under arms, without ammunition or rations, in service uniform, olive drab, schedule "C," dismounted, with blanket roll and field equipment including entrenching tools as prescribed in U. R. Sec. 67, Pars. a. b and i (1). (G. O. 31, A. G. O. 1908.)

Officers of organizations will be correspondingly uniformed and equipped as prescribed for field service, schedule "C." (U. R. Sec. 66.) Service uniform, olive drab, schedule "B," dismounted, for garrison duty may be worn by inspecting officers.

The regiment or battalion to which separate companies are attached should be represented when such companies are inspected.

The inspectors general of brigades may accompany and assist the division inspectors, in their respective brigades.

Officers of the medical corps and members of hospital corps detachments on duty with regiments composed of separate companies must be present at inspection and muster as provided in Paragraph V of this order.

III. Field artillery organizations will be paraded for inspection and muster, dismounted, in service uniform, olive drab, schedule "C," and field equipment as prescribed in U. R. Sec. 67-d, without ammunition or rations.

IV. Companies of the Signal Corps and cavalry organizations will be paraded for inspection and muster, dismounted, in service uniform, olive drab, schedule "C," armed with rifle and pistol without ammunition or rations, and with field equipment as provided in U. R. Sec. 67-c.

V. Hospital corps detachments will be paraded for inspection in the service uniform, olive drab, schedule "C," dismounted, with blanket roll, and the complete field equipment prescribed in U. R. Par. 67-g.

Detachments of the hospital corps inspected on tan bark floor will omit mess-kits, and blanket rolls, which will be inspected in lockers or storage.

Hospital corps detachments serving with the engineer, field and coast artillery and infantry commands will be inspected at the headquarters of such commands. In these organizations and in detachments serving with squadrons, all field material and equipment, including tentage, ambulances, and field range or stove, will be placed on the drill-room floor ready for inspection, and on intimation of the inspecting officer unpacked and arranged as for actual service, except that tentage will not be pitched where the character of the floor makes this impracticable.

The inspection should include exercises in application of dressings to tagged cases, carrying by various methods described in H. C. D. R., including loading and unloading of ambulance when available. Medical officers will prepare inventories for medical property, and also for quartermaster, ordnance and commissary property in their possession or control for the equipment of the detachment. The commanding officer, quartermaster and ordnance officer of the command with which the detachment is serving will be present.

VI. Organizations to which two days are assigned will have their post, books, records and property inspected on the first day at 8 o'clock P. M., and the field, staff, non-commissioned staff and band will be inspected and mustered on the same evening. The remainder of the troops will be inspected and mustered on the second day; the first battalion at 8 o'clock, the second battalion at 9 o'clock, and the third battalion in time to succeed the second without an intermission. Members of the command unavoidably prevented from being present with their organization may be mustered on any of the dates assigned on the request of their commanding officer.

VII. Commands to which one day is assigned will have their posts, books, records and property inspected at 2 o'clock or such hour in the afternoon as the inspecting officer shall designate, and the troops will be inspected and mustered in the evening commencing at 8 o'clock.

VIII. The United States Army Officers detailed by the War Department require records of military property in the possession of the troops showing complete equipment. These must be made in duplicate upon printed blanks furnished by such officers. (O. M. R. W. D. 147.)

In order that the state may receive full credit for compliance with the provisions of law governing the organized militia, these reports must be prepared with great care and exactness and made full and complete.

Requisitions must be made for all property not on hand or provided for required to bring the equipment up to that specified in G. O. 31, A. G. O., 1908, and the regulations providing for field equipment.

Commanding officers will personally ascertain what property and blank forms are needed in their commands and see that requisitions therefor are made at once.

IX. Military property carried on the person will be worn as for field service, care being given to proper placing and adjustment. All other property will be displayed and arranged in the most convenient manner for thorough examination for condition, serviceability and verification with inventories in triplicate (Forms 91-97 as required) at date of inspection.

All books and records including the retained copy of the last property returns, with the required inventories, and the muster rolls, these in duplicate with a resumé of all service performed since previous muster carefully entered, will be submitted for examination at the hour set for the inspection. The responsible officers must be present at the inspection of books, records and property.

X. All unserviceable property will be presented to the inspecting officer in such manner (R. 109), that he can readily and expeditiously ascertain its condition; each article must be so marked that its unserviceability can easily be seen. The blank to be used is "Form 21" and a separate form must be used for each class of property and should be sent to the inspector direct at 280 Broadway, New York City, before the date of the inspection.

XI. Application must be made for a Board of Survey in every case where public property is known to be lost or destroyed (R. 361, 362). This with a schedule of the lost property must be forwarded direct to the Adjutant-General of the division, but so as to reach him at least ten days before the date of the inspection.

All evidence must be in form of affidavit, and must be in hand when the application is made and ready to submit when the board meets. (R. 366, G. O. 22, A. G. O., 1906.)

XII. Commanding officers will be held personally responsible for any deficiencies for which requisition has not been made, and for the accuracy of the property returns. They will see that the proper inventories are prepared in advance of the inspection by the proper officers. Commanding officers will also cause this order to be served upon their staff officers and the commanding officers of the companies of their command as soon as it is received, calling particular attention to this paragraph, and will report such action in writing to these headquarters.

Inspecting officers will endeavor to have the blanks delivered as soon as possible and will see that the method of filling them out is understood and will assist wherever possible in obtaining the best results.

 No. 15. }

The attention of Commanding Officers is called to the following extract from G. O. 43, 1907, A. G. O.:

"Where moneys belonging to a military organization are received by any officer or other person on its behalf, they should promptly be paid over to the treasurer or the person duly appointed to receive them, and should be disbursed in a regular way by the disbursing officer. Prompt and correct entries of each transaction should be made in suitable books of account. Such moneys should not under any circumstances be mingled with the individual funds of officers or be kept in their individual bank accounts. Looseness in such matters is most detrimental to the interests of the service and is utterly inconsistent with the high standards of conduct and discipline which the organized militia should maintain. While the findings of the court exonerated the accused from the charge of unlawful and wrongful misappropriation of moneys, the departures from correct practice in dealing with the moneys of the organization should be condemned."

Inspectors will ascertain and report whether or not deposits of military funds and Headquarters' allowances are made in accordance with the foregoing.

No. 4. }

The following report of a volunteer tour of service with U. S. troops by Second Lieutenant Jesse A. Millard, Company "G" First Infantry, is published for the information of the division, especially its officers.

By command of Major-General Roe,

FRED. PHISTERER,

Adjutant-General.

Official:

.....
Adjutant-General.

Report.

With the permission of the War Department, and of the Commander-in-Chief of the State forces I reported at Fort Meade, S. D., July 6, 1908, to accompany the troops at that post, the 4th Cavalry, U. S. A., on their practice march to the maneuver camp at Pole Mountain, Wyo. Lieut. F. R. Edwards, 4th Cavalry, being a personal friend of mine, I was received very cordially and every opportunity was given to me to observe and gain information.

Each troop at that post had been increased, two days previous, from eight to ten privates to a strength of forty. The three days of my stay at Fort Meade were spent witnessing the task of preparing men, who had never been on a horse for a three hundred mile march. No attempt was made to teach these men drill movements, the entire time being devoted to teaching them to saddle their horses and mount and to get into a column of twos for road marching.

The command left Fort Meade on July 10th and marched only ten miles the first day. It was necessary to instruct the men in shelter tent pitching after arrival at the camp site. Subsequently the average day's march was twenty-five miles.

The command consisted of headquarters, staff, band, machine-gun platoon, six troops of the 4th Cavalry and a detachment of the Hospital Corps.

The transportation consisted of a wagon train of 10 four-line teams, 10 six-line teams and a pack train of 24 mules. There was a four-line team for each of the two squadron headquarters and one for each of the troops, band, hospital corps and gun platoon. These wagons carried the mess outfit and rations (6 days) of each organization, together with two wall tents for the officers of that troop. Tentage for the enlisted men was shipped by rail to the maneuver camp, the troops using on the march only the shelter tents. The pack train carried tentage, baggage and mess outfit of the regimental headquarters and staff.

On the march reveille was at 4 A. M. and the command moved out of camp at 6 A. M. and was as a rule in camp by 2 P. M. After three or four days the new men were able to make and break camp very rapidly. Major Lockett, who commanded the column, used every precaution in favor of the new men and horses, and the excellent condition of the men and horses after that long hard march plainly showed what can be done by new men when given proper treatment.

The cooking outfit of most of the troops consisted simply of an iron grate supported by four iron legs, hinged, together with necessary large pans, coffee, boiler and kettles. Field ranges were shipped by rail to the maneuver camp.

The greater part of the march was through unsettled country; a barren, alkali, waterless country where nothing grew except cactus, sage brush and rattlesnakes. Although water was scarce, there was but one camp where the water was considered unsafe to drink. The country being unsettled there was little danger of contamination. At this camp the water was boiled and filtered by the Hospital Corps men with a field filtering outfit. Most of the water contained more or less alkali and some bowel trouble resulted from it.

Most of the camp sites were along the railroad and water for drinking was obtained from railroad tanks, cisterns and tank cars in which water had been hauled 25 or 50 miles. The horses drank water that was so strong with alkali that man could not wash in it and showed no evil effects from it.

At Orin Junction, Wyo., the entire command was entrained. Considering the green men who had never loaded wagons or animals, the entraining was done in fairly good time. The wagons were loaded on flat cars, three wagons to a 36-ft. car, loading from the end of train after the manner of circuses; except by block and tackle handled by men, instead of a straight pull by horses as generally used by circuses. The entraining would have been done in one-third less time if the mules had been used for hauling the wagons on cars. The detraining at Dale Creek was done very rapidly.

The command marched from Dale Creek to the maneuver camp, a distance of 15 miles. The total distance covered by marching was three hundred miles. The maneuver camp, called "Camp Crawford," was located in the Crow Creek Forest Reserve. A large tract of land, very rough and with little evidence of there ever having been much forest. The soil was mixed with granite gravel covered scantily with buffalo grass and dwarf sage brush and very hard to drive wooden tent pins in. Many of the troops had provided themselves with iron tent pins which saved them lots of trouble as they held against the high winds which were almost constant. The altitude of the camp was 8,500 feet.

Conical tents with Sibly stoves were used by the troops. A few troops had the new style conical; this model has no hood, a small opening at the top and is capped with zinc through which the pipe passes; the stove pipe is a solid iron pipe which acts as a tent pole and takes the place of the old wooden pole above the tripod; the tripod of the new tent clamps on the iron pipe just above the Sibly stove, the stove being under the tripod and out of the way; at the top of the tent the pipe is again clamped by an iron rim under the zinc cap. With this new tent there is no stove pipe to be repaired every time the tent is put up as the iron pipe cannot be dented or bent. The danger of fire is eliminated and there is more room in the tent.

The sanitation of the camp was good. The water and lime terrines being used and the cleaning being done by suction pumps with large tank wagons. Cleaned twice daily. The screens were built of 2 x 4 frames covered by tar building paper. This paper was black or brown, was not as sightly as white cloth and was deodorized. The contents of the wagons or "odorless excavators" as they were called was burned in a camp crematory.

Field ranges set up in a small tent were used for cooking at the camp, canvas shelters were constructed in front of this for the men's dining tent. Rough tables were built under this cover. Water for cooking and drinking was hauled in water wagons from springs. One tank wagon for each four troops made two trips daily.

Animals were watered in the several creeks near the camp; and, to prevent the water from being roiled or muddied by the horses, rough wooden troughs were constructed along the banks of the creeks and were kept in constant supply by small dams thrown up in the creeks.

The task of the quartermaster and commissary departments to establish this camp was a hard one. Everything was hauled either from Dale Creek, the base of supply, or from Laramie, either a distance of fifteen miles and a rise of 3,000 feet. There were at least 1,500 animals at the camp at all times.

I arrived at the maneuver camp with the 4th Cavalry July 28th and reported to the Adjutant-General of the Maneuver Division soon after his arrival on August 1st. During my stay at the camp, the division consisted of ten troops of the 4th Cavalry, eight troops of the 8th Cavalry, three mountain batteries (mule) of the 2nd Artillery, one light battery of the Utah Militia, one battalion U. S. Engineers, one company U. S. Signal Corps, one company U. S. Hospital Corps, three companies 11th Infantry, four companies 19th Infantry, the 15th and the 21st Infantry and one regiment of infantry from, each, Wyoming, Colorado and Utah Militia.

The actual work at Camp Crawford began August 3rd and consisted of troop against troop and company against company in the attack and defense of a position. The following days the work was changed daily. Squadron against squadron and battalion against battalion in attack and defence. Then regiment against regiment. Then the general maneuvers of the whole division. I watched many problems worked out and was sorry I could not see the last two weeks of the work. I left the maneuver camp the 14th of August for home.

It is impossible to embody in a written report all the things that I observed and was able to learn during this few weeks of my stay with the "Regulars."

About half of the time I spent with the quartermaster during the march to Orin Junction. We were a few hours in advance of the column looking for the trail which was generally overgrown or else there was none at all; selecting camp sites and hunting for water. The map furnished was about worthless and I got some fine practice and had some very instructive experiences in searching in the rough barren country; which was nothing more nor less than scouting in time of peace. The balance of my time on the march was spent with Troop "C," of which I acted as Second Lieutenant, with the machine gun platoon and with the wagon train. I witnessed a very interesting sight when the command forded the Cheyenne river. It was about 200 yards wide and 4 to 5 feet deep with almost perpendicular banks. The bottom was very rough and covered with large boulders. There were no accidents but many close calls.

While at Camp Crawford I made a number of trips to Laramie, Wyo., with the pack train after supplies for the 4th Cavalry officers' mess. On these trips I rode a mule in company with the pack master. We made the trip to Laramie and return in an average of 12 hours. These trips were very interesting and instructive as well.

Although my march was made with a cavalry command, the making and breaking camp, routine in camp, camp sanitation, entraining and detraining were about the same as with an infantry command. During the stay at Camp Crawford I saw more of the work of my own branch of the service. After all it is the little things about camp and on the march, too numerous to mention and apparently too simple to mention in a report of this kind, that really make up the important part of the art of soldiering properly. This can only be learned by a trip in the field with regular troops and daily association with officers who have learned these things during years of experience. The little things make up the entire difference between the Regular and the National Guardsmen. They cannot be learned either from text books or observation and the National Guard officer who attends a maneuver camp or accompanies U. S. troops in the field and on the march can learn these things only by doing some of the work of the enlisted man. If he learns it himself he will certainly be able to show the men of his company how to do things when he takes them in the field. A National Guard officer with a command of Regulars can learn just as much as he shows the Regular officer he desires to learn. If he shows a desire to take things easy and only observe, he will be permitted to have an easy time of it. Things will be done for him, a man furnished to wait on him, and the result will be that he sees only the social side of the army officer's life and but little of the work and worry. I was fortunate to accompany an officer who knew me and knew that I was there to learn, and let me rustle for myself.

I put up my tents, helped pack wagons, mules and assisted in most of the work usually done by the enlisted men, even to cooking for our own mess and that of the troop. The result was that the trip to me has been far more valuable than it would have been otherwise and I advise all National Guard officers who have an opportunity to serve with Regulars to take their coats off and thereby learn.

Camp sites were always thoroughly policed before leaving, this even being done on the alkali plains. Several of our camps were on sites the 8th Cavalry had used a few days ahead of us and in each case we found them clean and no evidence of a camp having been there except the trodden ground where the horse picket lines had been. The command made three night marches, breaking camp about 1 A. M. and making camp again about 7 A. M. I had some good experience with the quartermaster in guiding the column during these marches.

The command dismounted and walked up and down steep hills. This not only rested the horses but the men. The cinchas were loosened at every halt and while leading. This prevents many cincha sores as well as sore backs. The saddle blanket was always left on the horse's back from ten to fifteen minutes after unsaddling. This prevents the sun or wind from striking the wet back, as well as to permit the blood vessels to refill and resume their normal condition gradually, instead of a rush of blood that would follow the removal of a tightly cinched saddle with no blanket left lightly bound with a surcingle. These raw troops made that hard march with hardly a horse having a sore back.

The fine results of this march were really marvelous. It was accomplished by constant work on the part of the officers and the enthusiasm of the new men, which was really great.

I anticipate another visit to Fort Meade this year. I know that great amount of experience and hope that I may be able to use good of the service.

Respectfully,
JESSE A. WILLA

APPENDIX "B"

To the Report of the Adjutant-General.

Report of Condition and Operations of the Naval Militia for the Year Ending September 30, 1909.

APPENDIX "B"

Report of Condition and Operations of the Naval Militia for the Year Ending September 30, 1909.

HEADQUARTERS NAVAL MILITIA, N. Y., U. S. S. GRANITE STATE, FOOT NINETY-SEVENTH STREET, NORTH RIVER.

NEW YORK, December 14, 1909.

The Adjutant-General, General Headquarters, Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.— I have the honor to submit the following report concerning the condition and operations of the Naval Militia, N. Y., for the year ending September 30, 1909:

2. Since my last report was made, the fleet of vessels in charge of this command has been added to by the loan to the Third Separate Division at Buffalo, of the U. S. S. Hawk, which vessel was transferred from the State of Ohio to New York on August 7, 1909. Report of said transfer has already been sent you, but copy is attached marked Appendix A.

3. On September 10th the U. S. S. Gloucester arrived in port, having been transferred at the Boston navy yard to the Second Battalion, N. M., N. Y., to be used in lieu of the U. S. S. Aileen, which vessel had become too small for the rapidly grown organization which had her in charge. As the Hudson-Fulton celebration was about to take place, and the naval militia was scheduled to take a prominent part in the duties assigned, permission was obtained from the Navy Department to retain the U. S. S. Aileen until after the celebration. On the 26th of November the Aileen was turned over to the Commandant of the Navy Yard, New York, in accordance with instructions, and proper receipts obtained and forwarded to your office.

THE HUDSON-FULTON CELEBRATION.

4. I inclose copy of my General Orders No. 22, outlining the duties to be performed by the naval militia, New York, in connection with this event; also copy of G. O. No. 16, issued by the Commanding Officer of the First Battalion, covering the duties of his organization. There are also attached reports of the Commanders of the First and Second Battalions in which reference is made to the fact they participated in the Hudson-Fulton celebration, but it is my pleasure to state that both Battalions performed many more duties than the bare reports would indicate. Officers and men were on continuous duty night and day on vessels and launches. Despatches of various kinds, attentions of courtesy, calls of official nature, the transmission of messages of importance, and all acts which lay in the power of naval representatives of the Governor, were handled with a readiness and system which were commendable. There was no call, of any kind, appertaining to the comfort of the visiting fleets, and our own fleet, which our officers and men were not always instantly ready to answer. On the Gloucester and Aileen about twelve officers and seventy-four men performed over nine days' continuous service; and on the Wasp and Granite State an average of eight officers and forty men. In addition to these members of the 1st Battalion, who served on the Wasp and Granite State, mention should be made of the arduous service rendered by the launches of this Battalion, and of the headquarters' launch Mohican. They were kept running continuously during the entire stay of the fleets in the Hudson river. I am glad to report the entire absence of accident of any sort. The staff of the captain performed creditably the various duties required afloat and ashore.

5. While there has not been any ordered tour of duty during 1909, several voluntary cruises have been made on board the vessels attached to the organizations. I attach reports of cruises of the first and second divisions of the First Battalion, that of the third division covering a cruise to Bermuda. In addition I inclose copy of a statement furnished the Navy Department by the First Battalion, of the cruises made on the Wasp during the period September, 1908, to September, 1909, and a similar statement from the Second Battalion of the work performed by the Aileen, during similar period.

The summary of miles steamed by the Wasp shows.....	2,802
The number of officers and men participating.....	331
The number of days' cruising.....	42
The summary of miles steamed by the Aileen during the year is	4,269
The number of officers and men participating.....	766
The number of cruises	20

6. By my semi-annual return to September 30th, you will observe the stability of the personnel during the past twelve months; there being a change of figures from 803 to 810.

June 30, 1908, the strength was 52 officers, 741 men; total, 793.

Sept. 30, 1908, the strength was 57 officers, 746 men; total, 803.

Mar. 31, 1909, the strength was 55 officers, 738 men; total, 793.

June 30, 1909, the strength was 53 officers, 767 men; total, 820.

Sept. 30, 1909, the strength was 55 officers, 755 men; total, 810.

It would seem proper here to again bring to your attention the matter of the formation of the 3d Battalion on the lakes, which has already been made the subject of correspondence. It is most earnestly urged that the said Battalion be formed. It would improve the administration of the Naval Militia; ensure a proper sequence of promotion for the lake officers, something now impossible, and tend greatly to a betterment of the organizations of my command.

7. The Inspectors of the 2d and 3d Separate Divisions have been made as customary, and reports sent you. The Inspections of the 1st and 2d Battalions take place in December in this year, and therefore will not come under review in this report.

8. The usual Small Arms Practice returns are attached, from which you will observe very commendable scores of the 2d Separate Division, and of the 3d Separate Division. The 2d Separate Division won the first prize last year and again this year.

9. I have to express my thanks for the legislation which placed the Naval Militia in funds for meeting the increased expenses consequent upon the enlarged floating equipment and necessary employment of men for summer work and winter care.

Respectfully,

J. W. MILLER,

Captain, N. M., N. Y.

QUARTERS THIRD SEPARATE DIVISION, NAVAL MILITIA, NEW YORK. ARMORY, CONNECTICUT AND NIAGARA STREETS, BUFFALO, N. Y.

ON BOARD U. S. S. HAWK, AUGUST 14, 1909

Adjutant-General Nelson H. Henry, S. N. Y., Albany, N. Y.

SIR.—I have the honor to submit the following report relative to the transfer of the U. S. S. Hawk from the State of Ohio to the State of New York.

Pursuant to S. O. No. 145, A. G. O., dated August 4, 1909, and S. O. No. 146, A. G. O., dated August 4, 1909, directing me to report to the Governor of the State of Ohio and take necessary action to consummate the transfer of the U. S. S. Hawk from the State of Ohio to the Governor of the State of New York, and to represent the State of New York in such transfer exchange, to receive such necessary receipts and invoices, and to detail such necessary additional officers and enlisted men as might be required for service, assuming command of the U. S. S. Hawk after such transfer had been made; I left Buffalo on Friday, August 6, 1909, and proceeded to Cleveland, Ohio, with a detail of five officers and twenty-four enlisted men. At noon on the following day the officers and men under my command went aboard the ship, through the courtesy of Lieutenant C. B. Haskins, commanding 2d Battalion, O. N. B., and at once prepared to receive sea stores and coal ship.

At 4 o'clock Saturday, August 7, 1909, the officers and crew of the ship having been mustered on the quarterdeck, Lieutenant Haskins, commanding the U. S. S. Hawk and representing the Governor of the State of Ohio, accompanied by Lieutenant Haines, U. S. N., were received on board the Hawk and proceeded to transfer the same from the State of Ohio to the State of New York.

Receipts having been signed, the orders were published, and I took possession of the ship and assumed command in the name of the State of New York.

Upon inspection I found the ship in good condition, except in her rigging, gear and steering engine, but considered everything sea-worthy and safe for short cruises in ordinary summer weather.

Inventory sheets had not been made out in triplicate, but were in the form of rough draft, and Lieutenant Haskins is to forward them to me within a few days.

I desire to call your attention to the very courteous treatment which was accorded to me, as well as the officers and men under command, by Lieutenant Haskins and his brother officers. They used every effort to facilitate our work and arrange matters so that we might get under way as quickly as possible.

Copy of complete inventory will be forwarded to you as soon as Lieutenant Haskins returns from his present cruise up the lakes.

Respectfully,

E. C. SORNBORGER,

Lieutenant N. M., N. Y., Commanding U. S. S. Hawk.

QUARTERS, THIRD SEPARATE DIVISION, NAVAL MILITIA, NEW YORK, ARMORY, CONNECTICUT AND NIAGARA STREETS.

BUFFALO, N. Y., August 25, 1909.

Adjutant-General, State of New York, Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.— I have the honor to report as follows:

In continuance of my report of August 14, 1909, relative to the transfer of the U. S. S. Hawk from the State of Ohio to the State of New York and my taking command of said ship. I left anchorage in Cleveland harbor, taking the Hawk to the Pittsburg Coal Company docks on Saturday, August 7, 1909, and received fifty-eight tons of coal on board, returning to anchorage at 9:30 P. M. 1:45 P. M. Sunday, August 8th, left harbor of Cleveland enroute to join the Naval Militia fleet at Thunder Bay, Lake Huron. 1:55 A. M. anchored Detroit river about the foot of Eighth street. 6:00 A. M. August 9th, got up anchor and went to dock at the Michigan Central depot. The U. S. S. Dorothea at anchor in the stream just above and outside of us. 9 A. M. let go from dock and proceeded on course up the Detroit river 200 yards astern of the U. S. S. Dorothea. The crew was drilled in signal and position with the Dorothea. 6:00 P. M. passed Fort Gratiot light exchanging signals with the Dorothea until dark. The ardois system of the Hawk not being in order no night signals could be exchanged. Laid course from lights at Fort Gratiot to Harbor Beach, the Dorothea going to the eastward; we kept her lights in sight until about midnight. 6 A. M. Tuesday, August 10th, got sight of Dorothea, hull down eastward, at 8:00 A. M. made Thunder Bay. Found the U. S. S. Nashville at anchor, and the U. S. S. Gopher maneuvering in position, having just entered the bay. Outside of us coming from the east was the U. S. S. Dorothea, U. S. S. Yantic and the U. S. S. Don Juan De Austria. In signaling with the U. S. S. Nashville we were directed to come to anchor 300 yards north of the flagship.

I reported to Commander C. C. Marsh aboard the flagship and received from him congratulations for having respected his wishes in reporting with the Hawk at the maneuvers.

1:00 P. M. signal drill, until 2:00 P. M. 2:00 P. M. up anchor and proceeded to sea with the fleet for maneuvers and drill, receiving permission from the flagship at the order to disperse. proceeded to Alpena at the head of Thunder Bay. Tying up there for the night and giving all hands liberty, except the necessary hands aboard ship.

5:00 A. M. Wednesday, August 11th, left Alpena for return trip, heaving to, near the Dorothea taking on board an extra set of ardois signal outfit, which Commander Marsh had instructed Lieutenant Haskins to deliver to me, there being no first set aboard the U. S. S. Hawk, and the U. S. S. Dorothea having an extra set. After leaving the Dorothea we proceeded on our way to Buffalo, stopping at Port Huron and Detroit, arriving at south entrance Buffalo harbor about 8:00 A. M. Saturday, August 14th, came to anchor under breakwater. Giving the crew opportunity to clean, paint and full dress ship, preparatory to our formal entry to port. Up anchor at 1:40 P. M., entering the harbor at 2:30 P. M., August 14, 1909. Having passed in front of the principal wharves of the city, came to anchor in the outside harbor about 3:15 P. M.

Balance of coal in bunkers, eight tons.

Monday, August 23, 1909, got up anchor. 1:40 P. M. going to Williams Coal Company dock, taking aboard thirty-four tons 300 weight fuel. Left at 4:45 P. M., returning to anchorage at the Donnelly breakwall at 5:15 P. M. in four fathoms of water.

Respectfully,

E. C. SORNBORGER,

Commanding U. S. S. Hawk through the Channel.

HEADQUARTERS, NAVAL MILITIA, N. Y.

U. S. S. GRANITE STATE.

Foot of 97th St., N. R., NEW YORK, September 7, 1909.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 22. }

The Naval Militia, New York, will participate in the HUDSON-FULTON CELEBRATION.

I. Beginning MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 20th, the headquarters of the Captain, Naval Militia, N. Y., will be on board the Granite State; and he, or some member of his staff, will be on board that ship every day from 6 P. M. to 9 A. M. and such other times as may be necessary. Vessels of the United States or Foreign Fleets may be expected to arrive in New York about the middle of September, and the Commanding Officer of the First Battalion, N. M., N. Y., will see that the Commanding Officer, Naval Militia, N. Y., is at once notified by telephone when they arrive and where they anchor. The Headquarters launch Mohican and two launches of the First Battalion shall be ready in case of need to make official visits.

II. Prior to September 24th it is essential that the Granite State and its pier be placed in most perfect condition. The hospitality of the ship and floats will be extended to our own and foreign men-of-war. It is the intention to place on board the Granite State telegraph instruments, and, perhaps, a U. S. post-office for the fleets, and other facilities. It is desirable to have an officer of the day on board the Granite State from the morning of September 25th until the foreign vessels leave the port. The Commanding Officer, First Battalion, N. M., will communicate with the Chief of Staff, N. M., N. Y., relative to details.

On SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 25th, the Gloucester, Wasp and Mohican, to be anchored above 97th street, with steam up, ready to leave for the Battery at 8:30 A. M., when they will start for Pier A, N. R., to receive on board at that point the Commanding Officer, Naval Militia, N. Y., and staff, and such officers as he may designate, and thence to proceed to Kill von Kull, Staten Island.

The Second Battalion, N. M., N. Y., shall perform duties mentioned for this, and other days, in General Orders, issued by the Chairman of the Naval Parade Committee, Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission. In addition to such duties the Commanding Officer, Second Battalion, shall confer with the Chairman of the Brooklyn Borough Citizens' Committee, Colonel Willis L. Ogden, 73 Pierrepont street, Brooklyn, relative to ceremonies, salutes and services of his command along the water front at or near Bay Ridge as he and Colonel Ogden may decide.

A detail of one or more officers and thirty men of the First Battalion will leave the Granite State in time to reach the official steamer Providence, at Pier 19, N. R., at 11:30 A. M., and will act as Guard of Honor on board that steamer. The commanding officer of the detail on reaching the steamer Providence will report to the senior officer of the Naval Parade Committee of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission, on board.

III. Commander A. E. Kalbach, First Battalion, N. M., N. Y., is hereby appointed, by authority of the Chairman of the Naval Parade Committee, Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission, to take charge of the official pier at 110th street, and of the waters adjacent thereto, as far as naval etiquette permits and the jurisdiction of the local police and park departments give. He will confer with the senior members of the Naval Parade Committee appointed by the Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission to represent that Commission at the official pier, and with the commanding officers of the 6th and Patrol Squadrons mentioned in G. O. No. 2, issued by the Commanding Officer of the Naval Parades, dated July 1, 1909. He will detail two of his launches for such duty as may be necessary in the vicinity, and especially to assist in landing officials and others on arrival of the Scout and Escort Squadrons at 110th street (see Art. V of orders as above). He shall detail his signal officer to communicate with the fleet signal officer referred to in G. O. No. 2, above mentioned, relative to matters of that department. He shall communicate with the C. O. of the Naval Militia of New Jersey, and assign such volunteers from that organization to his command as may be offered. He will communicate with the Commanding Officer, Second Battalion, N. M., relative to any detail which the latter may wish to supply for duty at or near 110th street.

The First Battalion, and other commands connected therewith, will be at their stations, at or near 110th street, at 12:45 P. M. The C. O., First Battalion, N. M., will make requisition on the Chairman, Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission, for its distinctive flags for hoisting at 110th street.

When the afternoon ceremonies are finished, about 5 P. M., the detail will return to the Granite State, where a supper will be served at the expense of the Commission to said detail, men-of-war's men, and others who have served with the Escort Squadron. The C. O., First Battalion, will arrange details relative to the supper with Asst. Paymaster L. M. Josephthal, who is also an aid to the Chairman of the Naval Parade Committee, and inform him at the earliest possible date of the number of men of each command who will attend the supper.

IV. The First Battalion, N. M., N. Y., will perform the same duties at 110th street during the evening, assembling on the official pier there at 7:30 P. M., and returning to the ship after the ceremonies are over. The detail of the steamer Providence will remain on board that vessel until after the evening parade.

V. WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 29th. The Commanding Officer, First Battalion, N. M., will order the Wasp to report to Commander Forshew for duty as per par. III, Routine for Escort Squadron, G. O. No. 3, dated August 1st, Chairman Naval Parade Committee, Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission.

VI. THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 30th. The First and Second Battalions, N. M., will take part in the shore parade. Time of assembly will be given later when officially issued by Major-General C. F. Roe, Marshal of the Parade.

VII. FRIDAY, OCTOBER 1st. A detail of two or more officers and thirty men from the Second Battalion, N. M., shall report to the Captain of the Naval Militia, N. Y., on board the steamer Robert Fulton, of the Hudson Day Line, foot of Desbrosses street, New York, at 8 A. M., as a Guard of Honor for the Governor and officials, and for such other duty as may be ordered.

A guard of the same number from the First Battalion, N. M., to report at same time on the steamer Providence, at Pier 18, N. R. On reaching the Providence the senior officer of the detail will report to the Hudson-Fulton Commissioner in charge. Another guard of the same number from the First Battalion will report at same time on the steamer Plymouth, Pier 40, N. R., and on reaching that vessel, to Hon. Dwight L. Dowling, Chairman Committee of Board of Aldermen. The Guards of Honor should be assigned headquarters on each of these vessels, establish posts as desired, and render proper honors at gangways as officials come aboard or leave the ships.

VIII. In case any Naval Militia vessels of other States volunteer to participate in the Naval Parade they will be assigned to the Scout, Escort, or Government Squadron, as may be decided later. In case any Officers of the Rochester or Buffalo Division volunteer to duty, they will be assigned to the Staff of Commanding Officers of Battalions, unless otherwise ordered.

In case any men of the Rochester or Buffalo Divisions volunteer for service they may be assigned, if the Commanding Officers agree thereto, to the 1st and 2d Battalions. They should have with them white and blue uniforms, with leggings. They need not bring rifles, as these will be obtained from the organizations to which they may be assigned.

IX. On or before September 15th, the Chief of Staff, N. M., N. Y., and Commanding Officers, N. M., N. Y., will report to these Headquarters the total number of men who will be in service from September 24th to October 2d, inclusive, and the number of days of pay and rations required, giving total of money needed for pay, in case same is allowed.

X. The Hudson-Fulton Commission will allow rations at the rate of 50c. per day per man, and certain other expenses. Information regarding these can be obtained through the Chief of Staff.

XI. The Hudson-Fulton Commission may ask for voluntary duty for ceremonies on shore during the above mentioned week provided the Commanding Officers of Battalions desire to render such service.

XII. Uniform.—Officers and men serving in the Scout and Escort Squadrons on September 25th. shall wear such uniform as may be ordered by signal; but on landing at the Official Pier at 110th street Officers shall wear Full Dress.

On Thursday, September 30th, the uniform for the Land Parade shall be Service Dress, with white canvas hats for the men.

On Friday, October 1st, the uniform for the details to the various steamers shall be blue service, including leggings and rifles and accoutrements, as the details will be assembled under the Senior Officer of said details at Newburgh, and form a Battalion of Infantry to participate in the Land Parade there. After the parade is finished they will return to their respective ships.

XIII. Commander R. P. Forshew will communicate with the Adjutant-General relative to any duty required afloat by the Governor, especially concerning transportation from Newburgh to Stony Point on Saturday morning, October 2d.

By Command of Captain Miller,

ALFRED BROOKS FRY,

Lieutenant-Commander, N. M., N. Y.,

Chief of Staff.

HEADQUARTERS, FIRST BATTALION, N. M., N. Y.

U. S. S. GRANITE STATE, U. S. S. WASP, FOOT WEST 97TH STREET,

NEW YORK, September 15, 1909.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 16. }

In accordance with G. O. No. 22, Headquarters, N. M., N. Y., c. s., the 1st Battalion is ordered to duty on September 25 and September 30, 1909, as follows:

On September 25th: Six men from each division will be detailed to report at 8:00 A. M. to Lieut. J. H. Barnard, on board the U. S. S. Wasp. Lieuts. Megrath and Averill and Ensigns Low and Boone are assigned to duty on that vessel and will report as above. Lieut. Barnard, who is assigned to the command of the "Wasp," will cause the necessary arrangements to be made for the dinner and the supper of the ship's company in accordance with paragraph 10 of G. O. 22, headquarters, N. M., N. Y., c. s.

The Commanding Officer of the "Wasp" will inform himself of and will be guided by G. O. Nos. 2 and 3 of the Chairman, Naval Parade Committee, Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission and G. O. No. 22, Headquarters N. M., N. Y., c. s., as far as they apply to the movements of the "Wasp." The detail on the "Wasp" will remain on board that vessel until after the night parade.

Lieut. Starr Taintor, Lieut. Moss and six men from each division, except the 8th Division, are detailed as a guard of honor and will perform this duty on board the steamer Providence. They will report at 10 A. M. on board the "Granite State" and will leave the ship in time to reach Pier 19, N. R., at 11:30, where the commanding officer of the detail will report to the senior officer of the Naval Parade Committee on board that vessel for duty until after the night parade. The uniform for this detail will be full dress for officers and men, the men will be equipped with rifles and belts.

Lieut. York and Ensign Wait and four men from each division are assigned to duty on the battalion's pier and on board the "Granite State."

Surgeon Forbes and Asst. Paymaster Josephthal are also assigned to duty with the above detail. This detail is charged with the care of ship and pier and with the entertainment of guests of the battalion as well as attending to the official duties of the occasion. Ensign Wait and two men from each division, or one-half of the above detail begin their tour of duty at 8:00 A. M., the remainder of the detail will begin their tour of duty at noon. Uniform for detail to be blue dress for men; service dress for officers in forenoon and full dress in afternoon.

Officers and men not in the above details will form as two companies of infantry at noon, men in blue dress equipped with rifles and belts and officers in full dress. They will march to the official pier at 110th street for duty as a guard of honor both during the afternoon and at night after supper on the "Granite State."

On September 30th: The Battalion will take part in the shore parade. The uniform will be blue with white hats for the men and service dress and white caps for the officers. The Battalion will assemble on board ship at 12 M. sharp. Formation as a Battalion of Infantry.

Other duty will be performed by details as follows:

Six men from each division to report at 8 A. M. Wednesday, September 29th on board the "Wasp" for duty during the cruise of the escort squadron, which will end on October 2, 1909, when the "Wasp" will return to her anchorage.

On October 1st: Lieut. DeKay and Ensign Wait with six men from each division except the 5th Division will report for duty at 7 A. M., and will leave the "Granite State" so as to be on Pier 18, N. R. at 8 A. M. where the Commanding Officer of the detail will report on board the steamer Providence to the Hudson-Fulton Commissioner in charge for duty as a Guard of Honor on that vessel.

On each of the days of September 26th, 27th, 28th, 29th, 30th, October 1st, 2d, two men from each of the divisions except the engineer's division will be detailed for duty on the "Granite State."

A similar detail as the preceding one will be made for the "Wasp" for September 26th, 27th and 28th.

An officer of the deck will be assigned for duty with above details, each ship as follows:

Sept. 26th: Two officers from 3d Division.

Sept. 27th: Two officers from 2d Division.

Sept. 28th: Two officers from 4th Division.

Sept. 29th: One officer from 2d Division.

Sept. 30th: One officer from 3d Division.

Oct. 1st: One officer from 1st Division.

Oct. 2d: One officer from 4th Division.

The tour of duty for officers and men of the above details will be of twenty-four hours' duration.

Proper side honors will be rendered officials; sentries posted on the deck and an orderly posted outside Brigade headquarters.

Asst. Paymaster Josephthal is assigned to duty on the "Wasp" on the cruise with Escort Squadron. He will be the Commissary Officer and provide for the rations of the ship's company.

A member of the Hospital Corps will be assigned by the Surgeon for duty on board the "Wasp" on the cruise as well as on Sept. 25th, the date of the naval parade.

Commanding Officers of Divisions will make assignments as ordered on or before Sept. 23d and will deliver to these headquarters reports stating that they have complied with orders and giving the names of officers and men of their respective divisions who have thus been assigned to the various details.

On Sept. 25th, the details other than those assigned to the "Wasp" and the steamer Providence will have supper on the "Granite State" at the expense of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission. The ship will be clear of all persons except the guests of the Chairman of the Naval Parade Committee between the hours of 5 P. M. and 8 P. M.

By order of Commander Kalbach.

(Signed) A. E. KALBACH,

Naval Lieutenant, Acting Executive Officer.

FIRST DIVISION, FIRST BATTALION, N. M., N. Y., U. S. S.
GRANITE STATE.

FOOT WEST 97TH STREET.

NEW YORK, August 17, 1909.

To the Commanding Officer, First Battalion:

SIR.—I have the honor to report that on August 7, 1909, at noon, I assumed command of the U. S. S. Wasp with the following crew of officers and men:

Two lieutenants, senior grade, 1 ensign, 1 lieutenant, junior grade and paymaster, 2 machinists, 4 firemen, 1 chief boatswain mate, 1 gunner's mate, 1 gun captain, first class, 15 seamen, 1 bayman.

At the end of the second day 1 lieutenant and 1 lieutenant, junior grade, 1 ensign, 1 paymaster, 1 chief boatswain mate, 1 gunner's mate and 4 seamen were detached and at the same time an additional ensign joined the ship.

The vessel cruised to the eastward, anchored Saturday night in Huntington harbor, Sunday night in New London, Monday afternoon in Newport, lying there until Wednesday when she proceeded to Block Island, from thence to Greenport on Thursday, and on Saturday morning left Greenport for New York, arriving at the anchorage foot of West 97th street at about 10:30 Sunday morning.

Owing to the small number of men in the crew it was almost impossible to carry on any very extended drills. The crew were called to quarters in the morning and during each day one or more of the following drills:

General quarters.

Abandon ship.

Fire drill.

Collision drill.

At all available times while under way the members of the crew were instructed in the duties of helmsmen. Instruction was also given at frequent intervals in heaving the lead, the use of the Azimuth Circle, taking of cross bearings, plotting positions on charts, signaling, etc.

Respectfully submitted,

RUSSELL RAYNOR,

Lieutenant.

SECOND DIVISION.

Instructions during cruise for all hands in various duties aboard ship, such as wheel, lead, compass and chart work, boat drills, Morris-tube practice, signaling, look-out duties, bearings, routine and various forms of physical exercises.

I beg to suggest that steps be taken to have authorized a Quartermaster, first class, for each line division, on which subject I submitted a separate report.

I also beg to call attention to the necessity of having three machinists on every cruise longer than twelve hours.

While in Great Salt Pond, we plotted the position of several buoys not shown on the chart, and advise that point as a good objective for future cruises.

Respectfully,
ECKFORD C. DE KAY,
Lieutenant, J. G., Commanding 2d Division.

To commanding officer 1st Battalion, N. M., N. Y.

July 7, 1909.

Adjutant-General, State of New York:

SIR—In compliance with Special Order No. 99, dated June 4, 1909, I have the honor to make the following report of the duty performed by the 3d Division, 1st Battalion, N. M., N. Y., on board the U. S. S. "Wasp," from June 5 to 19, 1909 inclusive.

During the afternoon and evening of June 4th, stores were placed on board the "Wasp" at her anchorage on the North River.

The following officers reported on board:

Lieutenant William A. Megrath.

Ensign L. E. Raff.

Ensign R. L. Low.

The deck force consisted of 8 petty officers and 25 seamen; the medical department, 1 petty officer and 1 bayman; the engineer force, 1 chief machinist and 9 machinists and firemen, making a total crew of 10 petty officers and 35 men from the 1st Battalion.

At 10 A. M., June 5th, Commander A. E. Kalbach, commanding the 1st Battalion, inspected the ship and crew at quarters. At 1 P. M. got under way, steamed down North River and out to sea taking departure from Scotland Light Ship, at 3:20 P. M., laying course to St. David's Head, Bermuda.

At 11:30 A. M., Tuesday, June 8th, sighted land and at 12:30 P. M. made out St. David's Head. At 2:30 P. M. were off Quarantine where the Health Officer came aboard and inspected. From Quarantine proceeded to Navy Dock Yard at Grassy Bay; prepared to anchor. Boarding Officer came aboard and gave permission to anchor at Hamilton Harbor, where we anchored at 4 P. M. Sent Ensign Raff ashore to call on U. S. Consul, through whom arranged for and gave liberty to the crew by watches. During stay at Bermuda made official calls on U. S. Consul, the Governor of Bermuda, Commanding Officer of the Troops and the Commandant of the Navy Yard, all of which calls were returned. While at Hamilton took aboard $42\frac{1}{2}$ tons of coal and 4,000 gallons of water.

Sunday, June 13th, at 2:30 P. M., got under way for New Rochelle. At 8:45 A. M., Wednesday, June 16th, anchored in New London Harbor, where we took on 2,500 gallons of water. Ensign Raff detached with permission to return home. At 1:25 P. M. got under way and anchored off New Rochelle at 5 P. M.

Thursday, June 17th, at 10:00 A. M., got under way for the target grounds off Glen Cove, where the men were instructed in loading and aiming drills. Returned to anchorage off New Rochelle at 5:00 P. M. At 6:30 P. M. Lieutenant Raynor of the 1st Battalion came aboard with orders from Commander Kalbach in reference to the attack on the forts. 7:30 P. M. Lieutenant Raynor again came aboard with his attacking party. They left in launches and cutters. At 9:00 P. M. got under way and anchored at Whitestone at 9:55. About midnight Lieutenant Raynor returned with his attacking party. They shifted and went ashore.

Friday, June 18th, got under way at 10:00 A. M. and proceeded to the target grounds. Upon reaching there found that the target had capsized and so badly damaged that it could not be used. Towed the target into Glen Cove Harbor where we anchored at 1:40 P. M.

Saturday, June 19th, got under way at 7:35 A. M. for home where we anchored at 10:30. All hands ashore at 1 P. M. Ship left in charge of regular ship keeper.

During the greater part of the trip to Bermuda the weather rough at times, wind blowing moderate gale and ship rolling. Returning, the weather was generally fair. During part of the day the sea was rough, wind blowing moderate gale, and rolling at one time 42°. Ran through fog bank on northern of the Gulf Stream.

While cruising the men were stationed for quarters, fire drill, abandon ship drill and abandon ship. They were instructed in the handling of the ship, special attention being given to compass correction, handling of the wheel, marking and throwing the line and in loading and aiming drills at the one pounders. The officers did the day's work and located the ship from time to time by observation.

This cruise has resulted in great benefit to the officers and men who have obtained valuable experience in handling and navigating the ship under conditions of weather and sea not obtainable in harbor waters.

Respectfully submitted,

W. A. MEGRATH.

Lieutenant, N. M., N. Y.

HEADQUARTERS, FIRST BATTALION, N. M., N. Y., U. S. S. GRAN-TE STATE, U. S. S. WASP, FOOT WEST NINETY-SEVENTH STREET.

NEW YORK, November 15, 1909.

Commanding Officer, Naval Militia, New York:

SIR.—I have the honor to submit the following report upon the work of the 1st Battalion during the year ended September 30, 1909.

During the winter season of 1908-1909, the schedule of drills and instructions laid down in G. O. No. 20, series of 1908, of which a copy was forwarded to your headquarters, was carried out.

The battalion took part in the parade and ceremonies attending the unveiling of the Prison Ship Martyr's Monument, in Brooklyn, on November 14, 1908.

The battalion paraded on Memorial Day, and also took part in the parade attending the opening of the Queensboro Bridge on June 12, 1909.

The battalion performed duty afloat and ashore during and in connection with the Hudson-Fulton Celebration, taking part in the naval parade on September 25th and in the military parade on September 30th, besides covering a vast number of details aboard the U. S. S. Wasp, the Steamers Providence and Robert Fulton, the battalion's launches, on the official pier, naval militia pier and on the U. S. S. Granite State.

During the Hudson-Fulton Celebration a cutter's crew from the 1st Battalion won the ten-oared cutter race (Inter-State N. M. Race), rowed under the auspices of the Hudson-Fulton Commission.

During the past summer each of the line divisions made one or more volunteer cruises on the "Wasp" of from two to fifteen days' duration, and the launches and cutters were also actively used by officers and men of the battalion, who derived much practical knowledge in the handling of these boats.

The small arms practice of the battalion is greatly handicapped through lack of the use of a good rifle range, and during the period covered by this report no outdoor small arms practice was afforded to this command.

Respectfully,

RUSSELL RAYNOR,

Lieut.-Comdr., Commanding.

HEADQUARTERS, SECOND BATTALION, N. M., N. Y.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., December 14, 1909.

*Captain J. W. Miller, Commanding, Naval Militia, N. Y., U. S.
S. Granite State, New York City:*

SIR.—I have the honor to submit the following report concerning the work done and duty performed by the 2d Battalion, Naval Militia, New York, during the year ending September 30, 1909.

During the fall, winter and spring months indoor drills, consisting of infantry, artillery, signal work and minor seamanship instruction, were held in the armory. The honor of carrying the battalion colors for the year 1909 was won by 1st Division in competitive drill, comprising various formations and movements outlined in the "School of the Division," the division commanders not knowing what the formations and movement would consist of until their divisions marched on the floor.

Indoor rifle practice held in the armory during the winter was greatly stimulated by a handsome trophy presented by former Gymnasium J. Adolph Mollenhauer. The rules governing this competition were the same as those governing the "Eagle Trophy" competition. Each division of the battalion entered a team and the trophy was won for the year 1909 by the 2d Division.

Due to the press of work at the Brooklyn Navy Yard it was not possible to put the Aileen in commission until July, therefore, shortening up our usual service afloat in her. Weekly cruises were begun promptly and during the season the Aileen steamed out 4,500 knots and on these various cruises 57 officers and 100 men took part.

The U. S. S. Gloucester having been assigned to this battalion was turned over to me on September 1st, at the Boston Navy Yard, and after putting her in commission was brought to New York arriving here on September 6th. Report of this has already been forwarded.

This battalion performed considerable duty afloat during the Hudson-Fulton Celebration with the U. S. S. Gloucester and the U. S. S. Aileen, about 80 officers and men being on duty for ten days. The Gloucester being under my command and the Aileen under the command of Lieutenant C. O. Brinckerhoff. Before the season ended the Gloucester had steamed about 750 miles; 10 officers and 98 men took part in these cruises.

In accordance with instructions from the Adjutant-General the U. S. S. Aileen was turned over to the Navy Department at the New York Navy Yard on November 26, 1909.

Small boat work was commenced early in May, and on every Saturday and Sunday in the season boat expeditions were made in the steam launches and cutters of the Battalion to various points in the vicinity of New York. Approximately 1,200 officers and men took part in these expeditions and 3,000 knots were covered.

Respectfully,

R. P. FORSHEW,

Commander, Second Battalion, N. M., N. Y.

Boats received by loan from the Navy Department:

One steam launch, No. 466.

One sailing launch, 30 feet.

One cutter, 30 feet.

One dingy, 20 feet.

Received from State allotment:

One 32 horse-power gas engine for Launch No. 119.

Ordnance received by loan from Navy Department:

Two 1-pounder Hotchkiss rapid fire guns.

Two 1-pounder boat mounts.

Received from New York State Arsenal:

Six Springfield Rifles, calibre .30.

Quartermaster's Stores Received:

Two sets navy code flags.

Naval Constructor D. C. Nutting, U. S. N., made inspection of U. S. S. Sandoval and boats on August 6, 1909.

The U. S. S. Sandoval was put out of commission November 10, 1908, being moored for the winter in the basin adjacent to the Naval Militia Armory, Summerville.

On the evening of December 31, 1908, at the State Armory, Rochester, the Division held its usual New Year's reception and ball.

On the evening of January 5, 1909, the election of civil officers under the by-laws was held.

Ordered drills began with January 12th, infantry, artillery and schools of instruction in seamanship, continuing regularly every Tuesday evening until the latter part of May. Petty officers' schools were held on Friday evenings during this period.

A handsome mahogany-case ship's bell Chelsey clock was received as a trophy from the State for the first figure of merit in small arms practice for 1908.

As a Christmas greeting, the division received a picture of the commanding Officer of the State Naval Militia, in uniform. We appreciate his untiring zeal and efficient work for the establishment of the Naval Militia of our State in the development of a force equipped and ready to serve the State or Nation. We hope he will long continue to be our Commanding Officer.

On February 15, 1909, Mr. Frederic C. Zellweger was chosen to the office of ensign and subsequently commissioned. Mr. Zellweger is now the only man serving from the original 1st Separate Division, N. M., N. Y.

On April 13th we were called out by the mayor of our city to protect property in that portion of the city swept by fire. This duty began on the afternoon of the 13th and continued through the night, terminating on the morning of the 14th.

In general small arms practice this division once more leads with the highest figure of merit, 81.8. In this practice, and the annual muster and inspection, Lieutenant-Commander Russell Paynor was inspecting officer.

The anniversary date of the mustering in of the division was marked with a banquet at the Summerville Armory on September 18th, this being its eighteenth birthday.

The additional boat equipment has greatly helped to carry on the summer work of the division and which, with the ship, made it possible to conduct drills and maneuvers with the whole force afloat every Tuesday night immediately after mess, there being fourteen such drills. There were served on these fourteen Tuesday nights, and the night of the annual muster and inspection, 1,173 meals at an average cost per meal for the season of fourteen and one-half cents.

The U. S. S. Sandoval was put in commission on May 10th. The engines were given a dock trial on same date, and on May 12th ship was swung for compass correction.

1. On May 15th the ship went to Ogdensburg for the purpose of docking, painting and minor repairs, returning May 23d.

2. Being informed by telegraph that the U. S. S. Nashville enroute to Chicago, would pass through Lake Ontario during the night of May 27th, and intending to meet the Nashville, we made a trip out into the lake but were unsuccessful, owing to fog.

3. On the afternoon of Memorial Day a trip was made some eighteen miles down the lake and return.

4. The Fourth of July cruise occupied from Saturday, July 3d, to the evening of Monday, July 5th, stopping at Big Sodus bay and Oswego.

5. On Sunday, August 1st, the ship made a cruise to Oswego having aboard, in addition to members of the division, delegates of the U. S. W. V. Camp at Rochester to attend the State Encampment which was held on the 2d and 3d of August at Oswego. Arrived back at Charlotte on the evening of August 4th.

6. On Saturday, August 7th, ship cruised to Big Sodus bay returning Sunday evening.

7. On August 22d a cruise was made to Big Sodus bay for the purpose of visiting the Annual Encampment of the Western New York Division of the G. A. R. Here the ship was anchored and visited by many of the G. A. R.

8. On Saturday, September 4th, a cruise was made to Olean and Wilson harbor, returning to Charlotte, Monday evening, September 6th.

9. On Saturday, September 25th, cruise was made to Big Sodus bay, where we met with two companies of the 24th U. S.

Infantry who were on a practice march from Fort Niagara to Fort Ontario. On Sunday morning the two companies were taken aboard and transported to Fair Haven harbor and there disembarked. The ship arrived back at Charlotte on Monday afternoon, the 27th. This was the last cruise of the season, immediately following which occurred the eighteenth anniversary banquet, concluding the season at the Summerville armory. A copy of the log of the cruises of the U. S. S. Sandoval is being forwarded under separate cover.

In addition to the above, trips were made with small boats. One trip with the two launches occurred on Saturday, July 17th. The two launches, with members of the Division aboard and carrying camp equipment, left Charlotte at 5:00 P. M. Steam Launch No. 466 went to Pultneyville, a distance of 22 miles to the eastward of Charlotte. Launch No. 119 went to Bear creek, a distance of 18 miles to the eastward of Charlotte. On the 18th, Launch No. 466 joined the other launch at Bear creek. Immediately after arriving a strong northwest wind, raising a heavy sea, prevented the launches from leaving Bear creek until noon of the following day when, with the sea still running, the launches safely cleared the entrance to this creek, which has no protection from piers, and arrived at Charlotte at 3 P. M. on the 19th.

It is desired to obtain one additional one-pounder gun, and field mount, also two field mounts for two new one-pounder Hotchkiss guns received and mentioned in this report. This would give the division a battery equipment and, as there is no artillery organization in this section of the State, it seems eminently desirable that this equipment be on hand.

I would further recommend that a tour of duty on United States vessels be arranged for this organization during the coming summer as the last duty of this character participated in by this division was in August, 1906, on the U. S. S. Minneapolis, and nearly one-half of the members of this organization have not had the benefit of such a tour of duty.

Respectfully,

E. N. WALBRIDGE,

Lieutenant.

QUARTERS THIRD SEPARATE DIVISION, N. M., N. Y., ARMORY:
CONNECTICUT AND NIAGARA STREETS, BUFFALO, N. Y.,

September 30, 1909.

Commanding Officer, N. M., N. Y., U. S. S. Granite State, New York City, N. Y.:

SIR.— I have the honor to submit the report of the 3d Separate Division, N. M., N. Y., for the year ending September 30, 1909.

Total strength, September 30, 1908.....	75
Gain by enlistment	26
Gain by taken up from dropped	1
Total gain	27
Loss by dropped	20
Loss by resignation	1
Loss by transfer	1
Total loss	22
Net gain	5
Total strength, September 30, 1909.....	80

The one resignation was that of Ensign Lorenzo Burrows, Jr., whose position was filled by the promotion of Frank J. Bailey, G. C., 1st class.

The drill season was opened on Monday, November 9, 1908, under Order No. 9, and continued until August 26, 1909, during which time 41 drills were held and divided as follows:

Seamanship and signals	14
Infantry	7
Seamanship and infantry	9
Small boat work	7
January 8th, Parade and Review	1
April 29th, Indoor Rifle Practice	1

June 19th, Annual Small Arms Practice at Fort Niagara.	1
August 26th, Annual Muster and Inspection.....	1
	41

Five drills were omitted during the season as follows: December 28, 1908; February 22, 1909; May 31, 1909; July 5, 1909; August 9, 1909.

On the evening of May 24, 1909, the Division was invited by General Geo. C. Fox, 74th Regiment, N. G., N. Y., to participate in a parade and review before the local posts of the G. A. R. As this date came on a regular drill night it was accounted for as a drill.

Upon several occasions the Division was invited to fall in with the First Battalion, 74th Regiment, by Major Charles J. Wolf and take part in the Battalion drill as the 4th Company. This has afforded the officers and men of my command an opportunity for drill and work such as we could not have otherwise had.

On August 26th our annual muster and inspection was held by Lieutenant Russell H. Raynor, First Battalion, N. M., N. Y.

On August 4th I received S. O. No. 145, A. G. O., directing me to proceed to Cleveland, Ohio, with a sufficient detail of officers and men and receive the U. S. S. Hawk from the State of Ohio, acting as the representative of the Governor of the State of New York in the transfer of the ship. I also received S. O. No. 146, A. G. O., authorizing me to assume command of the U. S. S. Hawk immediately after the transfer of the ship should be completed. The record of the transfer and subsequent movements of the ship will be found in my report to the Adjutant-General, dated August 14th and 25th, 1909, and my report to you dated August 14th, 1909. Since the ship has been in possession of the Third Separate Division, we have not had proper docking facilities, but hope to have everything of that character properly arranged for during the coming year. The ship was taken from her berth upon several occasions for short practice trips around the foot of Lake Erie. One trip was made to Erie, Pa., and one to Dunkirk, N. Y. For records of these runs I respectfully refer you to transcripts from the ship's rough log which are hereto attached. The benefit to the officers and men derived from their experience on board the "Hawk" cannot be over estimated, and I expect before the close of another season that this Division will be able to man the "Hawk" or any other ship of a like character or reasonable size and take her anywhere and under any conditions. The ship was put out of commission on Friday, October 15, 1909, and went into her winter quarters.

From September 30, 1908, until the close of navigation and from the opening of navigation 1909, until September 30, 1909, the steam launch No. 567 made twenty-two trips for various purposes principally for the general instruction of petty officers and men. These trips were made to different ports about the foot of Lake Erie including Dunkirk, N. Y., Port Colbourne, Port Maitland, Crystal Beach and one trip through the Welland canal into Lake Ontario and to Youngstown, N. Y., twelve trips to coal dock. Total mileage made by the steamer was 886 miles. The steamer was also used on several occasions as tender to the U. S. S. "Hawk," upon two occasions the steamer rendered aid to other small power boats in distress, picking them up and towing them into port.

Arrangements are being made for a more extensive series of signal drills during the coming season and a marked improvement can be looked for in this department.

Upon closing this report I desire to again call your attention to the relationship existing between the officers and men of the two regiments of the National Guard located in this city and the officers and men under my command. It affords me great pleasure to state that this Division has been afforded many opportunities for improvement in infantry tactics such as could not have been obtained under any other conditions.

Respectfully,

E. C. SORNBORGER,

Lieutenant.

APPENDIX "C"

Report of Captain R. Foster Walton, U. S. A., Retired, on Duty at General Headquarters.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF NEW YORK,
ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE,

ALBANY, November 23, 1909.

To His Excellency, Governor Charles E. Hughes, Commander-in-Chief, N. G., N. Y.:

SIR.— I have the honor to render the following report in regard to the National Guard, New York. My duties are of a dual nature. First, I make certain reports and inspections for the National Government. Second, to assist and devise in instruction work, both theoretical and practical and upon any subject referred to me by proper State or National authority. At first glance, one might think the two interests would conflict, but they do not, for the simple reason that what is to the interest of the State is also to the interest of the United States.

The United States wants as near a perfect state of efficiency as is possible, and the State authorities as represented by you and your Chief of Staff, as well as the National Guard, want the same result. There has never been the least desire shown to have facts covered up, no matter who was to be censured or who was to be praised.

I reported for duty September 16, 1908.

I first had to orient myself and determine just the existing conditions.

THE NATIONAL INSPECTIONS.

Each year the National Guard is inspected in armories regular officer accompanied by a State officer. These interior inspections are primarily to determine the state of organizations and equipment of the command. In addition to the interior inspections, when a command is ordered for camp duty the National Government details such officers as it sees fit to observe the progress and efficiency of the command and performance of field duty in order to determine whether or not such command would be of any value in a national emergency.

The first class of inspections for the Infantry were assigned to Captain Dorey of United States Army and myself. My idea of these inspections was, and is, that they should be more than mere notation on paper to superior authority as to whether existing conditions were correct or wrong, but such inspections should also be made as instructive as possible.

I find in making my inspections that the officers and National Guard in general were very anxious to profit by any suggestion that the inspecting officer of the United States Army might give them. By this manner the work done by the regular officer was many times more valuable than it otherwise would have been, for example, if the inspector sees anything wrong he calls the officer's attention to it on the spot and shows him or advises him how to correct same. I not only pursued this course, but I talked over the matter with Gen. Leonard Wood, United States Army, and he agreed as to this manner of inspection, and he assigned another inspector who had similar ideas. The result was so gratifying that this year (1910), General Wood has consulted with Captain Dorey and myself as to designation of inspectors for this year's work (1910).

There was absolutely no friction nor discontent anywhere this year, advice was generally followed, so errors then existing would not be continued.

SCHOOL OF INSTRUCTION.

The greatest weakness in the National Guard is the lack of technical and practical knowledge on the part of the officers.

In making our inspections we made effort to help the officers and non-commissioned officers find out what they should know and where to find it. By the time the inspections got under way we received a request from the Commanding General, 3d Brigade, to draw up an outline of a course of instruction for the officers.

and non-commissioned officers of the 3d Brigade to pursue in preparation for the then coming camp duty. This course consisted of studies only of the fundamentals. The course was pursued with energy and vigor, and was followed by monthly written examinations or quizzes.

Soon after the 3d Brigade entered upon this work, the 7th Regiment, Infantry, N. G., N. Y., 14th Infantry, N. G., N. Y., Squadron "A," Cavalry, took up similar courses. The 7th Infantry pursuing it more vigorously and progressing much more rapidly than any other. The 23d Infantry, N. G., N. Y., also the 22d Engineers, N. G., N. Y., received similar work as troops above referred to, but did not do as much as the other troops.

One can see the result of this previous study by referring to the reports of the regular officers detailed to report on the work of New York troops, at camps on Lake Champlain, in Massachusetts maneuvers, and at Farnham. I could see the difference when I had the 3d Infantry, N. G., N. Y., 65th Infantry, N. G., N. Y., and 74th Infantry, N. G., N. Y., in same camp. The progress of the 3d Infantry, N. G., N. Y., was more than double that of the 65th Infantry, N. G., N. Y., or the 74th Infantry, N. G., N. Y.

This winter all troops due for camp next year, camp 1910, have taken up a more systematic and extended course, along same lines as above. The troops of 1909 experiment have continued the work, and we are now practically launched on a more extended course.

This work is so planned that it does not take any more of the officers', or men's time, at least it should not, unless excessive interest cause them to study more than I plan, but they waste less time on nonessentials and are more interested, so therefore there is no complaint.

THE DISCIPLINE.

The discipline of the State's troops is not surpassed by that of any other State, the instruction schools of officers will not be, because I find that practically all New Yorkers are very jealous of the motto of the State, "Excelsior." Since I have called their attention to the work, and study of officers of other States, they have made wonderful progress.

I have inspected and seen officers of all commands of the State, when the temptations were very great, but it is most gratifying to report that I never saw an officer or man intoxicated or intemperate, with a single exception, which officer is not now a member of the National Guard of the State of New York.

There is no State that cares for United States property better than New York State, nor do the regular army officers look after this more closely than do the officers of the State.

The Adjutant-General is as careful of his expenditures and method of expenditures, so as to get the best result for the amount expended, as any one of our regular and experienced Staff Officers. In all matters I find him ready to stand for progress and efficiency.

My having an exact knowledge of the money available, often enables me to prevent unnecessary bickerings or misunderstandings on part of individuals of War Department. I learn by inquiry from the auditors in Washington, D. C., that the Accounting Officer of this State gives less trouble than the Accounting Officer of any other State, also that the cost of payment of troops in this State was about four cents per man, much less than the cost per capita of any other State.

I have not been able to get the data in regard to loss of property as compared with other States, but I am confident, owing to the excellent armories provided by this State, and rules enforced, that a comparison of loss of this State with other States would be as favorable as that shown in the payment of troops. The State inspectors are very exacting as to the evidence necessary to relieve an officer from responsibility in the case of lost property, or to determine whether or not it is worn out by fair wear and tear in performance of military duty. They do not hesitate to make the responsible officers pay for any unnecessary loss or improper usage.

There remain very few officers in the National Guard of the State of New York that oppose progress, they can almost be counted on the fingers of the two hands, and even these are changing. In my personal contact with this class, I always respect their opinions and the honesty of same; I have therefore been able to see them change somewhat and I have not made unnecessary enemies.

THE CAMP WORK, 1909.

The camp work, 1909, was very satisfactory, and the work done was much better than I expected. The spirit and energy shown were the very best. One can readily realize the progress and efficiency of New York State troops by referring to the reports of the United States regular officers on duty with them in field work this year. The troops are practically equipped and ready for a National or a State emergency. I find upon consulting the State record that the State troops have been turned out many times to maintain peace in the State and so far as I am able to find they have always been able to enforce law and order and not compelled to call upon the National Government for aid in this direction. The equipment that the troops have now, owing to the relation of the State troops to the United States Government is better than it ever was before. The troops have also learned a great deal about sanitation and care of men, so that in any time of need they will be able to devote their energies to maintaining law and order, if called upon to do so and not in devoting at least half their time in trying to find out where they will be quartered and where they will be fed, etc., as these matters are now familiar to practically all of the National Guard.

I think that for an emergency in the State practically all troops would turn out; for a national emergency 75 per cent. could be relied upon.

The Adjutant-General's office has practically every detail of feeding, clothing, equipping, paying and supplying in general for the State forces; an enormous amount of work for one man. Owing to the complex relation of State to United States Government and War Department in which the Governor has several hundred thousand dollars of United States funds to be accounted for under rules and customs of War Department, the Adjutant-General should not be changed with every change of Governor.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

I would respectfully recommend a Summary Court Law for the National Guard, as now exist for United States Army. I am confident a good Summary Court office would save the Governor no end of trouble and time. Discipline would be better and more economically administered. The inspectors now attached to brigades and the division seem to lose their identity in the brigade or the division, which should not be. The inspectors should be judicial in their actions, so that when there is some matter to be investigated, as the recent affair in the 10th Regiment, Infantry, N. G., N. Y., you could get all the facts much more quickly, more economically and more satisfactorily than the Court of Inquiry. Such court seldom results in anything more than a recommendation for further courts or boards; while occasionally used in the United States Army, although very seldom, the conditions as to expense, etc., are very different.

Military discipline to be effective must be prompt, otherwise the results are of a negative character.

CAMP EVERY YEAR.

I would also recommend that the troops attend a camp of instruction every year for a period of eight days, instead of eight days every other year as is the custom now; but owing to the fact that the State of New York has many times the number of National Guard of any other State, I believe it will be necessary for the National Government to increase the appropriation for this work.

I would also recommend a systematic course of instructions for officers of the National Guard. Some States have adopted a service school for the officers, such schools are conducted under direction of the Commanding Officer of the Guard, or the Adjutant-General, according as the law of the State may prescribe. After making a study and inquiries as to results obtained in such service schools, and owing to the fact that each regiment is capable of doing or progressing more rapidly than another regiment, I believe that the course of instruction for the State of New York should be drawn up and outlined with the idea of having the instruction in the regiments of the State conform to the work now carried on in post or garrison schools of United States Army by practical instruction under the regimental officers. Such work as each regiment is to do should be outlined in a general way, giving the final results that are to be obtained, the amount of work that is to be done each year, as near as possible depending somewhat upon the ability of the command, also giving a list of text-books all officers should study in order to prepare themselves for the work of their grades. It might be desirable to have a central authority go even further and designate that the officers would take necessary examinations upon the completion of the course and upon passing such examinations would receive a certificate of proficiency on the course studied. It is believed that such certificate would be very desirable and officers would make an effort to obtain the same.

I would also recommend that the National Government provide sufficient appropriation for the cavalry and field artillery of the National Guard to pay for the feed of the horses necessary for such troops or batteries.

THE EMPLOYERS OF THE MEMBERS OF THE NATIONAL GUARD.

I find from observation that the people of the State and employers of labor do not appreciate the position of the members of the National Guard. It is no more the duty of an employee to enlist in the National Guard, taking an oath to serve the State in time of emergency, than it is the duty of the professional class and employers of laborers, in fact, if there is any difference, the more successful class, who receive the greater benefits in the way of protection, should also give the most in the way of time and money to the State. If they do not choose to give their time and service in the Guard, they should at least appreciate the service given by the citizens of the State who give their time to this work. The members of the National Guard are inspired by certain inherited patriotic instincts and desire to serve in time of emergency. The officers have this same instinct and are also attracted by the dignity of the office. If the public in general could be brought to realize the seriousness of the duty of the National Guard and pay the individual the respect and consideration that is due him, I am confident that they would be sufficiently rewarded in their own minds, for the sacrifice they make and the question of obtaining best class recruits would never have to be seriously considered.

Very respectfully,

R. FOSTER WALTON,

Captain, U. S. Army, Retired.

On duty National Guard, State of New York.

OFFICE OF THE CHIEF OF COAST ARTILLERY, N. G., N. Y.,
ARMORY SUMNER AND JEFFERSON AVENUES.

BOROUGH OF BROOKLYN, N. Y., July 7, 1909.

The Adjutant-General, State of New York:

SIR.—Transmitted herewith I submit the detailed reports of Lieutenant-Colonel Taylor, Majors Ames, Roberts and Fleming.

I also forward the record of artillery practice at Fort Wright in 1901 when the supervision was by one officer only and the work was with service charges. I have also enclosed a company return of August 11, 1905. I submit these that you may forward them to General Wood for him to consider whether the present methods are desirable and whether we have retrograded during the past eight years.

Please have the reports returned to me after use by you as may be desired, so that the records may be preserved.

It is certain that some army officers have not seemingly desired progress and if I am in error, I can only say I do not understand human nature and, for results, hope I do not.

I desire to again emphasize the points already made in my letter and, if the District organizations of this State can go on tours to Fort Terry, following each other and let me have the aid of some officer of United States, such as Captain Landon or Major Hann we will popularize this branch of the service and show satisfactory to the State authorities and to the War Department of the United States.

I think General Wood understands all this as he talked to me at Fort Hamilton in such way as leads me to believe that with his assistance we can make positive successful results.

I recommend:

1. The barracks at home stations.
2. The competitive encampment for eight days annually at Terry, the districts to follow each other at same camp.
3. The full equipment of armories as now slowly being done, for preliminary drill and instruction.
4. When at Fort Terry to have State organizations receipt for all station equipment required and operate under such regulations as may be required by United States.
5. The detail to the State of an adviser from United States Army, in all artillery matters as suggested above; one who has proved to be able to impart knowledge and help progress.

Respectfully,

DAVID E. AUSTEN,
Brigadier-General, Chief of Coast Artillery.

BOROUGH OF BROOKLYN, N. Y., July 7, 1909.

Chief of Coast Artillery, N. G., N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to submit the following report on the joint regular and militia coast artillery exercises held in the Eastern Artillery District of New York, June 10–19, inclusive.

As Acting District Artillery Engineer, 8th C. A. D., N. G., N. Y., during this period, my duties brought me chiefly into touch with Lieutenant Waller, C. A. C., U. S. A., District Artillery Engineer, Eastern New York District, who afforded every possible facility for the study of the power supply and communication systems of the district. The militia master electrician and electrician-sergeant worked with the regular electrical detachment on all kinds of work required to be done during the exercises and received beneficial instruction. Report and recommendations have doubtless been made by the proper regular officers in regard to certain portions of the electrical equipment which could be improved, so that it is unnecessary for me to touch upon them.

dition to the observations made in line with my specific Artillery Engineer, I desire to make the following observations and recommendations:

That where militia troops are to be transported by water, a guard should precede the main body to the point of departure, to assure free access to the wharf and steamer and prevent civilians from crowding upon the wharf.

It appears unmilitary and unnecessary for National Guard organizations to employ civilian cooks when in camp. I recommend that the matter of using enlisted cooks be given consideration by proper authority, and would suggest that during the winter drill season rations be issued and meals be prepared at the armories by the enlisted men under supervision of officers on drill nights, and that regimental or district companies of subsistence be required to give instruction to officers and to non-commissioned officers in cooking, and in the preparation and use of the United States Army ration. Too large a proportion of the enlisted men of the National Guard organization are too small and light for the work at the guns. This criticism has been noted before, and does not seem to be any marked improvement, and I believe there will be little or no improvement in the enlisted men of the National Guard until each State establishes a well organized and energized recruiting service. The Coast Artillery Corps of the State of New York is recruited almost entirely within the limits of Greater New York, and I have no doubt that 100 available men in this territory for every existing battery who will not only be better men to start with, than a proportion of our present recruits, but who would be very valuable as drillists if the duties, privileges and conditions of National Guard service were properly brought to their attention through an efficient recruiting service.

As regards the detail of the exercises themselves, I believe the principal defect in the program was in the lack of sufficient drill for the gun detachments. It would appear that command and fire command drill need not be diminished in order to secure a greater amount of battery drill, for, by simulating the duties of battery commanders to the instructions of the fire commanders without having movements at the various batteries directly executed, the fire commander's instructions, the position finding work and communication work of battle and fire command drill could be carried on at any time, whether the guns were manned or not, and more battery drill could be had. In this connection I would recommend that at least one gun of each battery using disappearing carriages, be equipped, if not already so equipped, with retraction motors so that in all drills the carriages may be actually tripped and the guns allowed to go in battery at each loading of the piece with dummy ammunition. By these means, together with the use of drill primers, a considerable portion of the interest in the drill, which has been lost by the discontinuance of firing blank powder charges, will, I believe, be restored.

I believe that during next winter's drill season some time could profitably be spent by a joint board of regular and militia officers in the preparation of the program for the next joint exercises, several months in advance, so as to embody such changes as the results of observations of this year's exercises would indicate to be necessary.

Our men, as a rule, presented an unsoldierly appearance as compared with the regular troops. While some portion of this is due to the ill-fitting uniforms supplied for our men, particularly to the low collars of the coats, most of it is due to a lack of sufficient squad drill and sufficient attention, particularly on the part of non-commissioned officers to proper military bearing and behavior. There was a perceptible increase in smartness during the last day or two of the exercises which would have been more noticeable, I believe, if our men had had closer association on drill and at ceremonies with the regular troops. At Fort Schuyler the guard mounting was conducted jointly by regulars and militiamen with excellent results to the latter. In my opinion, the one thing during the whole period at Fort Totten which did our men more good than anything else, was to see the regular troops march out of their camp, form on the parade and dismiss. The sight of the large companies, the steadiness, the proper preservation of interval and distance by the regular troops, and especially their alignment upon forming line to the left, aroused, I believed, more en-in the militiamen than any other event of the exercise excepting the issue of blank ammunition to them.

necessary consideration in connection with these exercises, to so arrange the details of all drills as to secure the militiamen the maximum amount of the kind of instruction they need most, without at the same time cutting out of the spectacular feature, which must necessarily be retained to a considerable extent in order to maintain interest and encourage recruiting in the National Guard organizations. Too much should not be said of the sustained and considerate attention of the regular officers and men toward helping the National Guard in their work.

Respectfully,

AZEL AMES,

Major, C. A. C., N. G., N. Y.

REPORT OF THE CHIEF OF COAST ARTILLERY, N. G., N. Y.,
ARMORY SUMNER AND JEFFERSON AVENUES.

Report of Coast Artillery, N. G., N. Y.:

I have the honor to report the following observations and conclusions upon the exercises of the Coast Artillery of this District from June 10th to 19th, 1909.

First District, Fort Totten and Fort Schuyler, N. Y.

Well laid out and well policed; tents well dressed. Shacks generally neat but many screen doors open and cracks by which flies could enter. Some water on near several cook shacks. Cans generally clean, some exceptions observed. Food not generally satisfactory, most when I saw them had out of lime and water, the lime was not properly stirred. Toilet paper on floors of latrines.

Discipline fair. Some neglect in saluting noticeable. Allowance must be made for the large percentage of recruits in this district.

Sentry Duty fair as far as I could observe. Allowance must be made for large percentage of recruits.

Artillery Drill. I had no opportunity to observe the artillery drill of this District.

The improvement made by this district is encouraging.

Ninth District, Fort Wadsworth.

Camps were all well laid out, properly policed and presented a very neat appearance.

Tents well dressed.

Cook Shacks very neat, some screen doors open and some knot holes and slits not protected from the entry of flies.

Grounds around shacks very neat and clean.

Garbage Cans. Clean, odorless and free from flies.

Latrines all in a satisfactory condition. Latrine orderlies on duty in each latrine to enforce regulations.

Meat Boxes. Each company was furnished with an inexpensive portable ice chest in which all meats were kept.

Discipline very good. Saluting good. Sentry duty very good.

Artillery Drill. I had no opportunity to observe the artillery drill of this district.

Infantry Drill. I observed a "problem" of defense of Fort Wadsworth from an attack from the land side. The entire command took up positions on a chain of hills some three miles from the fort. The positions were well calculated for the purpose and were occupied upon schedule time. Some confusion was noticeable on the part of one battalion in arriving at its designated position, evidently due to a misunderstanding as to the ground to be covered. It was observed of all battalions that in advancing to their designated positions, sufficient advantage was not taken of the cover offered by the terrain over which the advance was made.

The troops were frequently advanced over ground exposed to the enemy's fire, when by a short detour they would have been protected. The tendency of the men in the skirmish line to bunch together was also noticeable. The problem was on the whole creditably executed.

Thirteenth District, Fort Hamilton.

Camps well laid out and well policed.

Tents well dressed.

Cook Shacks generally neat, but many screen doors open and numerous holes and chinks not stopped up.

Latrines. Generally unsatisfactory. Much paper on floors.

Discipline good. Some neglect in saluting, noticeable for the first few days was later rectified.

Sentry Duty generally good.

Artillery Drill. This district had battery drill, sub-calibre practice on fixed and moving targets and some designated companies proceeded to Fort Hancock, N. J., for service firing. The drill and efficiency was fairly satisfactory in most cases. Some of the companies before the end of the tour manifested good proficiency in drill. The sub-calibre and service firing was not as good as expected. The interference of passing vessels renders it almost impossible to have satisfactory practice in the waters adjacent to New York city.

Recommendations.

1. That springs be provided on all cook shack screen doors so as to make it certain that these doors will be kept closed.

That all seams and chinks in the walls and roofs of cook shacks be either battened or closed with building paper.

2. That rough platforms be constructed for garbage cans so as to keep them off the ground. This would require but little lumber, would facilitate removal of garbage and keep the ground free from slops and flies.

3. Generally that more attention be paid to the condition of latrines. That printed sanitary rules be posted in each latrine and that a latrine orderly be on duty in each latrine to see that the regulations are observed.

4. That each company be supplied with meat boxes of the pattern employed at Fort Wadsworth. The practice of keeping meats mixed with butter and other foods in actual contact with ice and in a box sunk in the ground, exposed to dust and insects, cannot be sanitary. As the districts are permanently assigned to the various forts these meat boxes can be readily stored in the shacks when not required and the expense of manufacture is small.

5. That the summer cotton khaki uniform be issued to each district. The woolen uniform is too heavy and hot for this work and shortly becomes spotted with grease and dirt. The cotton uniforms can be washed and the woolen uniforms should be reserved for other wear.

6. It is not reasonable to expect that great proficiency can be obtained in ten days' practice each year. It is recommended that quarters be furnished at each fort for the accommodation of detachments which should be sent to their stations Saturdays and Sundays each week during suitable weather for drill and instruction. It is thought that the government could arrange water transportation and issue rations. The question of property responsibility seems to be the chief obstacle to this plan, but this could doubtless be satisfactorily solved.

7. That sub-calibre or service firing in any of the water adjacent to New York city is impractical owing to the constant interference of passing shipping.

8. Each alternate year the troops should be sent to either Forts Terry or Wright where service firing can be held.

This would seem to be necessary in order to retain the interest of the men. The daily repetition of battery drill and nothing else soon becomes monotonous for the gun crews and they lose interest. This does not apply with so much force to the range sections, but unless actual firing of some kind is had and a spirit of rivalry between companies stimulated, it will be more and more difficult to interest the men in the work.

Respectfully,

(Signed) W. IRVING TAYLOR,

BOROUGH OF BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 29, 1909.

Chief of Coast Artillery, National Guard, State of New York:

SIR.—Pursuant to your instructions to report upon my observations of the annual encampment of the Thirteenth District, C. A. C., at Fort Hamilton, from June 10 to June 19, 1909, inclusive, I beg to state that the encampment was, on the whole, very successful. The streets and camp generally were policed and kept well and the drills were valuable and instructive to the men.

It however appears to me, that this work could be made more interesting by offering some incentive to the men to perfect themselves in speed and accuracy in their respective positions.

Mainly to illustrate this idea, I would suggest that in future, any company which, at a test, held, at the annual encampment, makes 70 per cent. of hits on a specified size of moving target, at a specified range in sub-calibre practice, be given a certificate to that effect, suitable in size for placing on exhibition in their company room, which will entitle them to five actual service practice shots at Sandy Hook, or some other suitable place.

It is possible that later some trophy might be awarded to the best company among the State troops, each class of ordnance being considered separately, and the rapidity of fire being counted in making the decision.

In this connection, I would say that no test of rapidity of consecutive firing can ordinarily be held, either at Fort Hamilton for sub-calibre work, or at Sandy Hook of full service firing, on account of the continuous occupation of the field of fire by harbor traffic. The time lost in waiting for an opportunity for a shot is a serious matter.

Especially with the above suggested incentive to the men, it would appear that opportunity should be given them to practice the handling of the guns at Fort Hamilton, at other times than the limited period of the annual encampment, and the suggestion that permanent barracks at the fort, be assigned to such companies of the Thirteenth District, C. A. C., as desire to use them at any time, with the range finding stations and ordnance admirable.

I think also that a lecture by some competent officer as to the purpose of the maneuvers and lessons taught by the attacks on June 17th and 18th, would be very instructive and valuable to the troops.

Respectfully submitted,

W. H. ROBERTS,

Major, C. A. C., Assistant to the Chief of Coast Artillery.

OFFICE OF THE CHIEF OF COAST ARTILLERY, N. G.,
ARMORY SUMNER AND JEFFERSON AVENUES.

BOROUGH OF BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 28, 1909.

Brigadier-General David E. Austen, Chief of Coast Artillery, N. G., N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to report that during the joint exercises June 10–19, 1909, my duties were assistant to the Chief of Coast Artillery.

In my opinion the exercises have not been successful in giving the results anticipated for the following reasons:

To send a district to a fort in such close proximity to the station and where service practice cannot be participated in, has a depressing effect on the enlisted men, as is proven by the experience of the Eighth and Thirteenth Districts.

The lack of confidence, as to the abilities of the National Guardsmen, shown by some of the officers of the United States Army who were detailed to instruct (not to criticise) was manifest in cases and is not conducive to the best results.

The administration of the districts during the exercises should be left to the Commanding Officers of the National Guard districts, excepting the rules regarding sanitation which should be obtained from the sanitary officer and the standing orders of the districts which should be obtained prior to going into camp and such orders as pertain to the National Guard incorporated in the order.

The following suggestions are submitted for consideration in connection with future joint-exercises and proficiency.

That, at the post which would be manned by a district (or part of a district), a barracks (or quarters) to accommodate not less than 100 men be built so that any of the men of the district who wished, could go to the fort and there participate in their drill, either with the regulars, by themselves or under supervision of the regulars, each man taking the position he would occupy with his own gun crew, thereby familiarizing himself and making himself proficient in his particular duty and at the same time observing the work of the other members of the crew and making himself competent to take any position on the gun crew and eligible for promotion.

That a post be chosen, preferably Fort Terry, where service charges and projectiles can be used without interruption and the districts sent there each alternate year, the other tours to go to the posts assigned and there familiarize themselves with the armament, stations, etc.

Respectfully,

(Signed) THOS. R. FLEMING,

Major Coast Artillery Corps, Assistant to the Chief of Coast Artillery, N. G., N. Y.

FURTHER REQUIREMENTS.

New armories are required as follows:

At Albany, for Troop "B," National Guard. The administration building of the 47th Regiment armory at Brooklyn should be reconstructed; it is too small to provide for the accommodation of a regiment. This portion of the building is old and constantly in need of repair. The Third Separate Division, Naval Militia, should be provided with a boathouse at Buffalo, N. Y.; this organization has been provided with a large amount of State and government property, which at the present time is without adequate and proper protection. Bills providing for new buildings for these organizations were passed at the last session of the Legislature but failed to receive the approval of the Governor.

Bills providing for new armories at Newburgh, Auburn, Mount Vernon and Malone were introduced at the last session of the Legislature but failed of passage.

Applications for new armories at Olean and Jamestown are on file.

New buildings are desirable and required at these points. The present structures are old, in constant need of repair and unsuited for the requirements of the organizations occupying the same.

GENERAL REMARKS.

Work on the new armory at White Plains has progressed satisfactorily, and the building is nearing completion; it is expected it will be ready for occupancy early next year.

Under the provisions of chapter 209 of the Laws of 1908, authorizing the Armory Commission to obtain for the State options for the purchase of necessary lands for a rifle range to replace the State range at Creedmoor, the Commission selected a site, took options on same and made the following report to the Legislature:

ALBANY, N. Y., January 6, 1909.

"To the Legislature of the State of New York:

"Pursuant to the provisions of chapter 209 of the Laws of 1908, the Armory Commission submits the following report of its proceedings in obtaining options for the purchase of land for a field rifle range.

"In passing upon the various sites the Commission has carefully considered the following essential conditions:

"1. Safety.

"2. Accessibility.

"3. Cost of transportation.

"Several sites on Long Island and in Rockland county were considered. The Armory Commission believes the site selected in the town of Orangetown, Rockland county, and upon which options have been secured — in all about 324 acres — best suited for the purposes. (Map herewith submitted.) This site is located at Blauvelt, Rockland county, New York, twenty-two miles from New York city, on the West Shore railroad. There are fifteen regular trains daily each way between Blauvelt and New York city. The cost of transportation to the individual (regular fare) is seventy-five cents for the round trip. The price of the lands proposed to be acquired with price of option paid on each parcel is as follows:

Owner.	Approximate area.	Price of land.	Paid for option.
J. W. Moison	249 acres	$53,000	$3,000
Catherine Van Wart.....	20 acres	2,275	275
P. U. Green	50x150 ft. with bldgs.	4,250	300
Martha Green and William Green.	12 acres	1,800	275
Isaac Bell and Walter H. Bell...	20 acres	2,275	275
Emerilla Partridge and Lillian MacMillan Retz	20 acres	4,000	250
Maggie Reinmuth	200x227 ft.	700	125
Cornelius D. Herring.....	Green property, 12 acres, right title and interest in.	125	10
Sylvannus B. Husted.....	2.45 acres	1,250	200
		$71,675	$4,710

"Price of lands proposed to be acquired, $71,675.

"The prices above set forth are considered to be the actual values of the land.

"Amount of expenses incurred in obtaining options of purchase, $4,710.

"The options of purchase obtained and paid for extend to May 1, 1909.

"The proposed range is considered absolutely safe, being backed by a mountain 500 feet or more in height.

"The entire cost of the property including, it is believed, the cost of fully equipping the range, will not exceed the $300,000 authorized.

"It is urgently recommended that your honorable body take early action in this important matter and appropriate the remainder of the amount authorized, so that title may be acquired and the work of constructing and equipping the range commenced in order that the troops may have the benefit of practice on this range at the earliest possible date. The taking away of the Creedmoor range has worked to the detriment of rifle practice, and in order to maintain the high standard which this State has always enjoyed it is essential that a suitable range convenient to New York city be established at once.

"This range is to be used mainly by the troops stationed in and about Greater New York, which comprise approximately two-thirds of the whole State force, about ten thousand (10,000) men."

The action of the Armory Commission in selecting the Blauvelt site was approved by the Legislature (chapter 188, Laws of 1909). The property has been acquired for the State and work on the 200 and 300-yard ranges under contract with Mr. Frank Besch is progressing, and it is expected these ranges will be ready for use at the opening of the coming shooting season. Plans and specifications for the longer ranges and for fully equipping the complete range are being prepared by the State Architect with a view to getting the work into contract so that the use of all the ranges may be utilized during the year 1910.

Lands for the establishment of a brigade range near Buffalo have been leased, and plans and specifications for the equipment of same are about completed.

With deep regret the death on October 9, 1908, of Mr. J. E. Passage, Inspector for the Armory Commission since its organization, is announced. Mr. Passage was a competent and conscientious worker, and the State has lost a valuable and faithful servant in his death.

Respectfully,

F. A. McNEELY,

Secretary.

Report of Lieutenant-Colonel N. B. Thurston, Ordnance Department, on Rifle Team Representing State in National Match.

APPENDIX "F"

Report of Lieutenant-Colonel N. B. Thurston, Ordnance Department, on Rifle Team, Representing State in National Match.

NEW YORK CITY, August 31, 1909.

Adjutant-General, Division, National Guard, New York, Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.— I have the honor to report that in compliance with verbal instructions received from the Commanding Officer, Division, National Guard, I organized and prepared a team to represent the State of New York in the National Match, for a trophy known as the National Trophy, authorized by an act of Congress, to be competed for annually by teams of twelve, representing the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and the National Guard of each State and the District of Columbia. Authority to organize this team was granted the Commanding Officer, Division, National Guard, by the Governor of the State, in G. O. 32, s. 1909, A. G. O.

Owing to the fact that the range at Creedmoor was closed no open competition for places on the team could be held, and I selected the members of the 1908 team and invited about twenty-five other officers and enlisted men, who were personally known to me to be good shots, and these officers and enlisted men practiced at Sea Girt, New Jersey, during the months of June, July and August, at the end of which time I selected the officials, team and alternates mentioned below:

Captain.

Lieutenant-Colonel N. B. Thurston, Chief Ordnance Officer,
D G., N. Y.

Coach.

ward B. Bruch, 71st Regiment, Infantry.

[395]

Spotter.

First Lieutenant Julius T. Westermann, Company "F," Regiment, Infantry.

Adjutant and Range Officer.

Captain William H. Palmer, Ordnance Officer, 7th Infantry.

Team Principals.

Captain Arthur Kemp, Company "H," 74th Regiment, Infantry.

Ordnance Sergeant William F. Leushner, N. C. S., 7th
Regiment, Infantry.

Ordnance Sergeant George H. Doyle, N. C. S., 71st
Regiment, Infantry.

Sergeant Frederick M. Dardingkiller, Band, 47th
Regiment, Infantry.

Musician John Corrie, Company "H," 22d Regiment of Engineers.

First Lieutenant Damase J. Cadotte, Company "F,"
Regiment, Infantry.

First Lieutenant William B. Shert, Ordnance Officer, Battalion, Field Artillery.

Private Howard E. Crall, Company "G," 7th Regiment, Infantry.

Captain George W. Corwin, Ordnance Officer, 71st
Regiment, Infantry.

Battalion Sergeant-Major Charles M. Smith, N. C.
Regiment, Infantry.

Captain Arthur E. Wells, Company "H," 71st Regiment, Infantry.

Sergeant Charles B. Spies, Hospital Corps Detachment, Regiment, Infantry.

Alternates.

Captain Robert E. Heun, Company "I," 71st Regiment, Infantry.

Post Commissary Sergeant Francis J. Laughlin, N. C.
Regiment, Infantry.

The first stage of the match was begun on Monday, August 23rd, at 8:00 A. M., with 200 yards slow fire, followed by 600 yards slow fire at 1:30 P. M. On Tuesday, August 24th, slow fire at 200 yards was taken up at 8:00 A. M., followed by 1,000 yards slow fire at 1:30 P. M. On Wednesday, August 25th, at 8:00 A. M., slow fire at 200 yards was taken up, and at 2:10 P. M., slow fire commenced and the match was completed at 5:00 o'clock.

My only criticism regarding the conduct of the match is the supreme indifference of the officials to the time occupied. Sufficient officers and enlisted men were present to have the match progressing simultaneously, and the match could have been finished by noon on August 24th. The time wasted in dilatory practice aggregates about 1,000 days, for which there is no excuse.

The team with the exception of Captains Kemp and Leushner, Lieutenant Cadotte and Sergeant Leushner left for the station on the private car Texas, at 5:30 P. M. on Wednesday, August 25th, arriving in Cleveland at 9 P. M., same day. They transferred to the private sleeping car Luxembourg, and arrived in New York city without casualty or sickness at 1 P. M. on Thursday, August 26th, and was officially disbanded.

I directed the Hilton Trophy to be shipped to the Adjutant-General of the State, at Albany, N. Y. The $350 cash disbursed by Lieutenant W. W. Overton, U. S. A., to each member of the team. I being a salaried official received no part of the prize money.

The conduct of the officers and enlisted men, as usual, reflect the highest credit on their organization and the State, and I desire to express my appreciation of the uniform courtesy accorded me by the entire team.

Forty-eight teams competed in the National Match and finished in the order named with the scores set opposite to them.

The improvement in the position of the team over 1908 s be a source of great satisfaction to the State; thirteen teams beaten this year who were ahead of New York last year, the now being well up in "A" and well within striking di of the leaders.

The total expense of the team which I have disburs $2,392.85. I used every endeavor to be economical, but the sum required for transportation to and from Sea Girt, Nev sey and Camp Perry, Ohio, bring the figures up to this s

The arrangements for the comfort of the team, I am sure appreciated by all.

Officers were at once notified and noncommissioned officers sent to order the assembling of the members of the three Rochester companies. About 2 o'clock, the first detachment under the First Lieutenant of Co. "G," reported and the men were assigned to individual posts guarding property. As detachments from all three organizations continued to arrive, they were posted in co-operation with the mayor, the commissioner of public safety, the chief of police and the captain of the precinct in which the fire were raging.

Shortly after 4:00 P. M. so many men had reported from each of the organizations that the individual posts were abandoned. territory divided among companies and captains placed in command and held responsible. Reliefs were organized and posted. and the following order issued:

By 6:00 o'clock rain was falling, and the work of patrolling and guarding the district through the remainder of the tour of service was made easier by reason of a steady down-pour of rain which thinned out the great crowds. At 11:00 P. M. the following order was issued:

The duty which the men were called upon to perform during the night was well executed, and at about 6:00 A. M., this date, the day detachment of police arrived and relieved the forces, and the troops were withdrawn and returned to the armory at about 6:30 A. M. The following telegrams were then immediately sent to the A. G., S. N. Y., and to the A. G., 4th Battalion:

Company "G" was in command of Captain H. W. Morse; Company "H" in command of Captain O. W. Hoffman; and Company "A" in command of First Lieutenant W. J. C. Smith. The 2d Separate Division, N. M., was also on duty and the National Guard forces co-operated with that organization, which was under command of Lieutenant E. N. Walbridge.

The appearance and conduct of the men was generally good. Complaint having come that damage had been done at the house at 112 Gibbs street, where Company "H" was quartered, a careful investigation was made, and it was found that no damage had been done aside from an arm of a chair being broken, and that wall paper had been nicked where the sharp bayonets had been rested against it. The company commander has made all arrangements to have the owner fully compensated.

SIXTY-SECOND STREET & COLUMBUS AVENUE.

NEW YORK CITY, June 10, 1909.

Adjutant-General, State of New York, Albany, N. Y.:

Through Military Channels.

SIR.—I have the honor to make the following report on the march made by the detachment of the 12th Infantry under my command from Philadelphia to New York city.

The detachment consisted of 22 men all told, 19 men marching and 3 men in the automobile.

The detachment left the 12th Regiment Armory on the night of April 16th at 6:15 p. m. and proceeded to Philadelphia over the Pennsylvania Railroad, arriving there at about 9:30 p. m. and proceeding to the First Regiment Armory, N. G. P., where the night was spent bivouacking on the hard floor. The next morning we left the armory at 8:33 a. m. marching with 10 to 15 minutes' rest every hour until 1 p. m. when Torresdale was reached, a distance of 14½ miles from the starting point where we halted for lunch, remaining there 1 hour and 25 minutes. The march was resumed at 2:25 p. m. and continued with five minute halts every half hour, passing through Andalusia until ville was reached at 5:05 p. m., a distance of 25 miles he starting point where we halted for supper. We remained hour and 55 minutes, resuming the march at 7:00 p. m., was continued until we reached the 2d Regiment Armory, N. G., N. J., at Trenton at 11:50 P. M., having passed through the towns of Oxford Valley, Halsington and Morrisville, a total distance from the 1st Regiment, N. G. P., to the 2d Regiment N. G., N. J., 46 miles. Bivouacked on the armory floor for the night.

Sunday, April 18th we left the 2d Regiment Armory at 8:22 A. M., taking the straight road to New Brunswick. Continuing along this road with halts of about 10 minutes in every hour we halted at a point about opposite Princeton for lunch where we stopped one hour and a half. We resumed the march at 2:22 P. M. and continued along this road until we came to a road which branched off to the right toward Monmouth Junction, arriving there at 5:07 P. M., where it was decided to spend the night. The distance covered this day 24 miles.

Owing to the detachment trying to make a short cut, the automobile in which the commissary supplies were carried had gotten out of touch. The march was resumed the following morning at 4:15 A. M. and continued 85 minutes when a 15 minute halt was made. It was then continued until 7:10 A. M. when it was discovered that the detachment had taken a branch in the road which was not marked on our map, mistaking it for a branch about two miles farther on. This led us back to within one and one-half miles of where we started to a little station on the Trenton and New Brunswick trolley road called Deans. From this point the detachment followed the trolley tracks, marching in the road bed until Milltown was reached at 9 o'clock, where a halt of 20 minutes was made. At 10 o'clock the Commissary Department was met and sandwiches were distributed among the men a halt of 30 minutes being made. At 11:13 we passed through Sayersville. From Sayersville the march was continued with 5 to 15 minute halts every hour until the Round House just after the Perth Amboy bridge was reached, where a halt of 30 minutes was made. At 3:55 the ferry at Tottenville was reached. After crossing the ferry the detachment halted for lunch. After a conference it was decided that as the fork of the road had taken us out of our way about fifteen miles that the original distance we had started out to cover had been practically made with the exception of the march from the Battery up to the armory. It was therefore decided to take the railroad across Staten Island. We arrived at South Ferry at 7:20 P. M. and reached the armory at 8:55 making one brief halt on the way up. Total distance marched this day 41 miles. Total distance marched 111 miles. Actual time marched 25 hours and 59 minutes. Total time consumed 2 days, 12 hours and 28 minutes. The detachment marched with full equipment. Olive drab shirts, webb belt and suspenders, bayonet scabbard, canteen, haversack, mess kit, blanket, poncho, shelter half, poles and pins, blouse, extra underclothing, toilet articles, rifle and bayonet.

The packs were carried with the new device invented by myself, making a roll up and down the back starting at a line just below the campaign hat then down the back to a point between the buttocks at about the end of the spine which allowed absolutely free movement of the arms, rifles being attached to the pack giving perfect freedom to the heart and lungs. The feet were carefully looked after, before the start a powder similar to Allen's Foot Ease being sprinkled in the shoe, the feet themselves greased with goose grease and the socks rubbed inside and outside with common soap.

The food was varied as much as possible, their diet consisting of bacon and eggs, bread and butter for breakfast and meat for the other two meals consisting of either fried steak or stew with potatoes, bread and butter and coffee.

Of the men who started only four men dropped out, one on account of just coming out of the hospital, another by getting lost in Trenton and oversleeping himself, a third by spraining his hip by going down a railroad embankment, and the fourth because he had to return to business on Sunday night. The balance of the men finished in better physical condition than when they started, and with the exception of a few blisters on the feet owing to the very hard roads that we had to come over they would have been able to start and do the march over again.

In my opinion the march could not have been made in the time it was if the men had carried the blanket roll and carried the rifle in their hands.

The men who took part in this march were the average man in the regiment and not a specially picked detachment. Their names are:

Captain F. C. Harriman,
 First Lieutenant R. Reynolds,
 Second Lieutenant John Dean,
 Battalion Sergeant-Major J. P. Jameson,
 Post Quartermaster-Sergeant Berger,
 Quartermaster Sergeant James Connors,
 Sergeant Martin J. Ryan,

APPENDIX "I"

Report of Commissary, National Guard, on Massachusetts Maneuvers.

OFFICE OF DIVISION COMMISSARY, N. G., N. Y.,
5 EAST 33RD STREET,

NEW YORK, October 23, 1909.

The Adjutant-General, First Division, First Corps, Red Army, Washington, D. C.:

SIR.—I have the honor to submit the following report as Chief Commissary during the Maneuvers in Massachusetts.

On reporting at headquarters I received instructions as to the embarking of troops and assignment to transports.

The "Puritan" and "Pilgrim" carried troops sailing from New York. They were supplied with 3,477 travel and haversack rations by the Depot Commissary, U. S. A., together with Vouchers form No. 7 for liquid coffee. A commissary officer was placed on each of these boats, and each man was issued a haversack ration to be used in case of emergency. I embarked on the Transport "Kilpatrick," which carried all the commissary supplies, including fresh beef, together with 3,040 travel rations for New York troops en route to Home Station. On arrival in New Bedford harbor the "Kilpatrick" anchored some distance from the dock at Fairhaven, which was used for the landing of stores.
I was prepared to make issues early Saturday morning, August 14th but it was noon before the "Puritan" and "Pilgrim" landed at New Bedford.

The transportation furnished was very poor, every descrip- of vehicle, no four-horse outfits, and drivers of all nationalities of whom could hardly speak English. Twenty-three wagons were loaded with three days' field rations, excepting fresh beef. A Commissary from each Brigade was in charge. I looking after the Fourth, comprising Cavalry, Artillery, Signal Corps and Division Hospital. The Third Brigade arrived at midnight of the 14th, and their train was loaded and joined it early on the 15th. Owing to lack of transportation it was necessary to assign wagons to regiments, and often after they were partly unloaded they were used for the transportation of baggage, etc. A number of the drivers, after unloading, deserted, and at no time could I control any of them, as they said they were hired by the Quartermaster and only took orders from him. The reason given by those who deserted was that they had been hired with the understanding that rations and forage were to be furnished, which they did not receive.

The auto cars were late in arriving, but were of great service. Had I been assigned absolutely, say six of these, the transportation would have been satisfactory, as on several occasions I traveled over 100 miles a day in one of them without difficulty with a load of over 2,500 pounds.

The ration was ample, although owing to bacon not being issued, except in the haversack ration, it was necessary to increase the fresh beef issue to fifteen ounces, with four ounces of canned corn beef. In my opinion the issue of frozen beef, where it has to be used at once, is not advisable, as it should be exposed to the air for at least twelve hours to get good results. In the field, bacon should be the chief meat component, as it can be much more easily handled and prepared.

There was no excuse for any shortage of rations. I found in many cases where organizations had abandoned and given away quantities of stores, in one case 6,000 rations of hard bread. In my opinion the allowance of hard bread is too large and could be reduced, say, to twelve ounces. The haversack ration was issued to be used in case of necessity, and in many cases the Commanding Officers failed to order this done, yet complained of lack of rations.

Through a misunderstanding of orders, the travel rations for issue to troops returning to home stations on the "Puritan" and "Pilgrim" were not forwarded to Fall River, but remained the "Kilpatrick," sailing for Boston, which caused great nience.

experience during these maneuvers, as well as in all field has demonstrated clearly the necessity of the Commissary assigned transportation over which he should have absolute and until this is done there will always be conflict of ty.

Report of Capt. H. M. Hicks, Ass't Surgeon 2nd Reg't on Camp
Service at Antietam Md.

APPENDIX "J"

Report of Captain]H. M. Hicks, Ass't Surgeon 2nd Reg't on Camp Service at Antietam, Md.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., August 3, 1909.

To the Adjutant-General:

SIR.— I herewith submit my report of duty with Field Hospital No. 6, United States Army, from July 14 to July 28, 1909, inclusive, at Antietam, Maryland.

This command belongs entirely to the Medical Department, United States Army, and consists of the following:

One Lieutenant-Colonel.

Two Majors.

Four Captains.

Four Lieutenants.

One hundred and ten enlisted men.

One hundred and four mules.

Forty-five horses.

Twelve ambulances.

Twelve escort wagons.

Tentage sufficient for the above, also an extra supply to accommodate about sixty National Guard Officers.

It is encamped about one and one-quarter miles east of Sharpsburg, Maryland.

The site is well chosen — it is part of the old battlefield of Antietam — and offers, aside from its great natural beauty, many tactical problems from a military point of view. It is situated on high ground with excellent drainage for camp and picket water is procured from a spring one-quarter mile distant, and to my surprise it furnished plenty, of good quality and for all purposes.

The country has suffered for a lack of rain, but the spring showed no evidence of it and could easily have furnished three times as much more.

The camp is entirely free from mosquitoes, but there are a great number of flies; these are supposed to be due to the ground being covered with manure this spring. The officers' mess tent is screened, also the men's cooking shack. Ice-boxes are made in the usual way, viz., by sinking box until its top is flush with the ground, ice wrapped in burlap is then placed in one end, meat and other perishables in the other, a suitable tight-fitting cover over all; this makes a satisfactory cooler. The mess was plentiful, of good variety, well cooked and well served.

Each visiting officer was furnished with the following camp outfit:

- One gold medal cot.
- One screen for same.
- One rubber blanket.
- One bedsack.
- One pillow sack.
- Two blankets.

On receiving these he receipted for them, the receipt being returned on his departure.

Each officer provided himself with tin pail, washdish, etc. Mounting material was furnished the officers in the following manner:

- One saddle.
- One bridle.
- One blanket.
- One pair spurs.

On taking these he receipted for same each time. Orders did not permit officers riding for pleasure or personal business, except after 6 P. M. on Saturdays and Sundays.

One of the best features of the camp is, in the opinion of all those who were there, the McCall incinerators. There are two at the camp, one for officers and one for the enlisted men. They dispose in a satisfactory way of all human excrement. In doing so they consume one-sixteenth cord of hard wood per day apiece, the resulting ash can easily be put on an ordinary shovel. Its functions are performed without odor, except a slight one of urine, this I understand is due to letting the urine into the crematory too fast; it is entirely at the will of the operator. This removed almost entirely one of the greatest dangers of camp life, viz., poisoning by the colon bacillus. I think it would be an excellent investment for the State to purchase enough of these incinerators to equip four regiments.. This seems to me to be sufficient to meet the emergency of possible long camp duty, etc. It is impossible to emphasize too much the importance of furnishing these safeguards to troops, and especially the troops that go to make up the National Guard. These men who, because of their youth, home environment, inexperience, etc., are peculiarly liable to camp infection — typhoid in particular.

The medical profession are a unit in the belief that human fecal matter offers the greatest menace to man as a typhoid carrier. It is practically impossible in camp, in the summer or fall months, to keep fecal matter and food apart, flies being the greatest pests in this respect, with the human hand a close second.

The incinerator has a good moral effect on men; they no longer see or smell fecal matter; they are easier to teach the cleanly habit. They realize that such an effort to destroy and get out of sight human excrement is attended by great expense to the State, and that such expense would not be foolishly or unwisely undertaken if it were not of the utmost importance.

In opposition it should also be stated that these incinerators are impossible for men on the march; it takes a good day to get one up, so they are limited in their use to troops in camp two or more days.

Camp refuse was disposed of by the rock incinerator plan. This simple crematory is easily constructed and certainly does the work. Garbage from kitchens is kept in the ordinary covered galvanized iron cans.

Ambulances were kindly furnished officers desiring to go to the river for bathing purposes daily.

An average day's instruction is as follows: Saturdays and Sundays excepted:

Drill Hospital Corps, first aid, etc., 7:30 A. M.

Immediately afterward a drill by the National Guard Officers themselves. This was a voluntary matter on their part and was performed by them with enthusiasm. Captain Patterson, commanding.

From 8:30 A. M. to 11:30 A. M. lectures were given. These lectures consisted of instruction in camp hygiene, camp diseases, selections, care and order of a camp. Colonel McCaw.

Military map reading, instructions in the proper understanding of battle orders, the proper plan for a first aid station, the proper place and proper work of a dressing station, the proper location of a field hospital, evacuation hospitals, etc. The manner and scheme employed to get wounded from the field of battle to the rear without exposing litter bearers to the fire of the enemy, the kinds of wounded who need transportation, the kind who need only dressings, food, stimulants and encouragement to walk to the rear. Major Straub.

Customs of the service as they pertain to the Medical Department. Major Reynolds.

The functions, organization, and arrangement of a Field Hospital, of a Regimental infirmary, and the paper work of each. Captain Reynolds.

This was repeated in the afternoon or a tactical problem was submitted, in which all the conditions of battle were assumed, battle orders issued, etc. We then went into the field and executed our parts, and later at night, or next day, was commended or otherwise for our work. We were thus made acquainted with a small part of this truly great work.

The entire Field Hospital was taken down, loaded on escort wagons, all the ambulances, men and horses were transported to a point selected, then set up, taken down again, transported back to the old camp and set up again.

In connection with the above, mention should be made of pack mules being used to transport a field dressing station. Four of these animals carry the required outfit.

The Darnall filter was demonstrated by adding clay and other ground substances to water until it looked a filthy, dirty liquid. The filter was then started and the resulting filtered water looked and tasted good. This filter is declared capable of removing 98 per cent. of all bacterial life. It is a great improvement over all previous efforts to filter water in the field. Its cost, $70, seems unnecessarily high, but it is well built and very portable. One of its features is a precipitant, consisting of alum and sodium carbonate in quantities sufficient to neutralize each other. This does not in any way make the water unpalatable, rather the reverse.

The following were the States represented at the encampment:

New York, 4.

Virginia, 6.

Rhode Island, 1.

District of Columbia, 3.

Vermont, 2.

New Hampshire, 1.

South Carolina, 3.

Pennsylvania had permission from the Secretary of War to send three men for, if I remember right, two days.

It should be mentioned that nearly every person in this command — 98 per cent. I was told — had been treated with the typhoid bacterial vaccines. The officers are a unit in believing this an immunitizer in nearly everybody, and in those in whom it does not immunitize it so modifies the disease that it is no longer fatal.

There can be no doubt about the great value of this type of instruction and its great value is paralleled by its great need.

In closing, I wish to speak of the extreme cordiality and friendship manifested by the regular officers, by their excellent instruction and good fellowship they have endeared themselves to every National Guard officer who was so fortunate as to be present.

Respectfully,

HORACE M. HICKS, M. D.,
Captain, Medical Corps, N. G., N. Y., Attached to Second Infantry, N. G., N. Y.

APPENDIX "K"

To the Report of the Adjutant-General.

Reports of Delegates from New York State to Convention of National Guard Ass'n of the United States held at Los Angeles.

APPENDIX "K"

Reports of Delegates from New York State to Convention of National Guard Ass'n of United States, held at Los Angeles.

The Adjutant-General, Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.— Having been designated as, and furnished with proper credentials of, a delegate to the National Convention of the National Guard Association of the United States, held in Los Angeles, Cal., September 27 to 30, 1909, and having in consequence been in attendance at the meeting of said convention, I have the honor to submit the following report.

Major Frederick A. Wells, 23d Regiment, N. G., N. Y., having also been designated and credentialed a delegate to this Convention, we traveled together, arriving in Los Angeles at 2 o'clock p. m., September 25th, where we found many of the delegates from the various states already assembled. The time between my arrival and the opening of the Convention at 9:30 on the morning of the 27th was spent in familiarizing myself with the personnel of the delegates from the various states, their desires and purposes, in so far as it was possible, and in a few hours of seeing the city of Los Angeles.

At the hour and day specified above, the Convention convened, and in the absence of the President, was presided over by Brigadier-General Thos. J. Stewart, Adjutant-General of the State of Pennsylvania and First Vice-President of the Association.

Roll call of the various states was responded to by delegates, as follows:—

- a — Adjutant-General Graves and one delegate.
- l — One delegate.
- do — Adjutant-General Chase and one delegate.
- re — One delegate.

District of Columbia — Adjutant-General Smiley and two delegates.

Florida — Adjutant-General Foster.

Iowa — Adjutant-General Lincoln and three delegates.

Illinois — Thirteen delegates.

Kansas — Adjutant-General Martin and four delegates.

Minnesota — Three delegates.

Missouri — Adjutant-General Rumbald and three delegates.

Massachusetts — Two delegates.

Maine — Adjutant-General Dill and one delegate.

Maryland — Adjutant-General Gaither and one delegate.

Michigan — Adjutant-General McGurkin and one delegate.

Nebraska — Adjutant-General Hartigan and one delegate.

New York — Two delegates.

North Dakota — Adjutant-General Peake.

New Mexico — Adjutant-General Ford and one delegate.

Oklahoma — Two delegates.

Oregon — Adjutant-General Fimmer and one delegate.

Ohio — Five delegates.

Pennsylvania — Adjutant-General Stewart and two delegates.

Texas — One delegate.

Virginia — Two delegates.

Washington — One delegate.

Wisconsin — Adjutant-General Boardman and one delegate.

Wyoming — Adjutant-General Gatchell and one delegate.

California — Adjutant-General Lauck and seven delegates.

Total — Eighteen Adjutants-General and eighty-four delegates.

Grand total — One hundred and two delegates.

To this number should be added the names of two officers of the New York State, who attended the Convention without expense whatever to the State, and in consequence at a large expense to themselves, both in time and money, viz., Brigadier James H. Lloyd, commanding 3d Brigade, N. G., N. Y. Major Wm. G. Bissell, of the Medical Department, assigned duty with the 74th Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

As you are aware, I learned that they might possibly be unable to attend this Convention in time to request and receive the credentials, which increased the actual representation of New York State one hundred per cent. And right at this point I desire to emphasize the fact that both of these officers are deserving of credit for the conscientious manner in which their duty was performed, regardless of the fact that they were to receive no remuneration whatever.

Roll call for the payment of dues showed several of the states, including New York State, in arrears. The indebtedness, however, of nearly all the states was liquidated. There was, and still remains, a question as between New York State and the Treasurer of the Association as to New York's standing, it being contended by the Treasurer that New York owed for 1908 and 1909, on the other hand, it being contended by your representatives that the 1908 indebtedness of this State had been liquidated. This is a matter that should receive attention.

Legislative and Nominating Committees were appointed, each consisting of one member from each state, General James H. Lloyd being named as New York's representative upon the Nominating Committee and the writer assigned to the Legislative Committee, which committee immediately convened and proceeded to reduce itself to a sub-committee of five for working purposes, a member of which the writer was also named and of which he later became secretary.

Service with this committee precluded my attendance upon a greater portion of the sessions of the Convention, during which the following papers were read:

"Relation of the Guard to the Division of Militia Affairs," Lieutenant-Colonel E. M. Weaver, General Staff, U. S. A., Chief of the Division of Militia Affairs.

"Applied Minor Tactics," Captain Frederick Knudsen, 8th Infantry.

"The Preparation and Issuing of Orders," Captain Wm. L. Reid, 8th Infantry.

"The Army Ration: Its Proper Preparation and Use," Captain Fred W. Stopford, Commissary.

"Army Sanitation and Military Hygiene," Captain Jas. L. Bevens, Medical Corps.

The Legislative Committee requested of Lieutenant-Colonel Weaver that he meet with said committee during their sessions, which request was cheerfully complied with, Colonel Weaver giving great assistance to the committee during the hours of its various sessions.

Below, I am pleased to submit copies of resolutions emanating from or submitted to the Legislative Committee, composed of the following gentlemen: Chairman, General Drain, Washington; Adjutants-General Boardman, Wisconsin; Dill, Maine; Russell, Missouri; Colonel Clement, 12th Infantry, N. G., P., and Surgeon, 74th Regiment, N. G., N. Y., together with their recommendations and the final results.

Resolution in regard to pay of officers and men of the National Guard of the United States Government, received in similar form from the States of Florida and Ohio.

ADOPTED BY THE CONVENTION AS RECOMMENDED BY THE COMMITTEE.

Action of the committee.

While your committee realizes the justice of each of these resolutions and also the needs of the Organized Militia in this regard and while it recognizes that such or similar legislation will eventually be enacted, yet owing to the recent business depression suffered throughout the country, and its resultant effect upon the National revenue, it is deemed inexpedient to present a bill at this time; but we recommend that the Executive Committee be instructed to investigate the subject and draft a bill to be presented to the next convention of this Association.

Resolution offered by the National Guard of Illinois proposing for the commissioning of additional second lieutenants in the ular service from the properly qualified officers of the Organized Militia.

Action of the committee.

It is the opinion of your committee, in view of the importance of obtaining a greater number of officers in the Regular Army for service with the National Guard, that further consideration of this resolution be postponed for the present.

Resolution from the Naval Militia of the State of California providing for the support of Naval Militia matters by this Association.

Action of the committee.

Inasmuch as the Naval Militia is desirous of establishing the same relation with the Navy Department as now exists between the War Department and the National Guard, therefore, the National Guard Association will render its assistance, so far as it is possible, toward the adoption of such legislation as may be provided by the Navy Department to accomplish this result.

The three following resolutions emanated from the Legislative Committee as a result of and arising from a paper read before the convention by Lieutenant-Colonel Weaver, Chief of the Department of Militia Affairs:

"Resolved, That this Association recognizes the necessity for the adoption of a military policy for National Defense and recommends the creation of territorial Military Districts for the organization of the larger military units, to be composed of regular troops and the Organized Militia, preserving the integrity of the Organized Militia units, as created by the states within the respective districts."

"Resolved, That this Association recommends that the present number of Officers of the Army is inadequate to the present needs of the Army, and the Organized Militia recommends to the War Department the preparation and introduction into Congress of a bill authorizing the appointment of such additional officers as the needs of the Army and Organized Militia may require."

"Resolved, That the Executive Committee of this Association be instructed to further the adoption of such legislation by all proper means."

The following resolutions offered by Colonel Harry M. Hutton, Assistant Adjutant-General of the State of Maryland:

"Resolved, That the Guard of each State be fully armed and equipped before any additional allowance is made to any state for clothing."

Action of the committee.

Committee deems recommendations as suggested by the resolution inexpedient at the present time.

Resolution No. 2, providing for longevity pay for officers.

Action of the committee.

Same as that pertaining to Resolution No. 1 immediately preceding.

Resolution No. 3. "Resolved, That the respective states should be allowed to use their allotment under 1661 Revised Statutes, as amended, for paying transportation and subsistence of enlisted men participating in rifle practice without the necessity of holding a camp of instruction in connection therewith."

Action of the committee approved.

Resolution No. 4. "Resolved, That the Executive Committee of the National Guard of the United States prepare and urge for passage necessary legislation to permit officers of the National Guard to use franked envelopes in all National Guard correspondence, and more especially all correspondence with United States War and Naval Departments."

Action of the committee approved.

Resolution No. 5. "Resolved, That the Secretary of War be requested to assign officers of the regular service as inspectors to the National Guard organizations of the various states."

Respectfully referred to the Assistant Adjutant-General of the State of Maryland, with the information that said resolution is fully covered by proposed law for additional officers of the regular service.

Resolution No. 6. "Resolved, That the present ration allowance is insufficient and that it be materially increased."

Action of the committee.

Committee deems recommendation as suggested by this resolution inexpedient at the present time.

recommendations by Colonel Moriarity, commanding 7th Illinois National Guard:

1. That the comparative strength shown in the annual of the War Department be that shown on the returns of different regiments in the summer season, when a touch of duty is to be had, which gives service free from the monotony of armory drills and greatly promotes interest and enlistment. It is under such conditions, greatly magnified, that the States would realize the value of its present expenditures, enthusiasm born of a call to active service in the field.
 Report of the committee.

The committee deems recommendation as suggested by the resolution expedient at the present time.

2. That a machine gun platoon or company may be organized as a separate organization, and not made up of details. It is impossible for company commanders, especially in the organized Militia, to keep track of their men on such detached duty and it should be independent, commanded by an officer approved by the Colonel, and administered the same as is the band.
 Report of the committee approved.

3. That the grade of an artificer be restored; an artificer's insignia will get a lot of useful work out of a man.
 Report of the committee.

The committee deems recommendation as suggested by the resolution expedient at the present time.

4. That a United States Artillery officer be detailed to visit and instruct every field battery at least once a month, and every battery have an artillery sergeant detailed on duty to instruct the men and supervise the material and equipment.
 Report of the committee.

The committee respectfully submits that the subject matter of this recommendation is fully covered by proposed legislation and existing regulations.

5. That a special allotment be made from the general appropriation for horse hire, and one for subcaliber and service ammunition for target practice of artillery.
 Report of the committee.

Committee respectfully submits that the subject matter of this recommendation is fully covered under existing law.

No. 6. That the Secretary of War be requested to invite at the earliest possible opportunity the Governors of the several states and territories and the Commanding-General of the District of Columbia, to delegate, respectively, one field artillery officer or other officer to meet in Washington with the Chief of the Division of Militia Affairs and such other officers of the Regular Army as the Secretary of War may designate, for the purpose of considering and discussing, in all its details, the field artillery situation in the Organized Militia of the United States and making suitable recommendations thereon.

Action of the committee approved.

Recommendation of the Legislative Committee regarding correspondence schools:

Your committee, recognizing that under the Constitution of the United States, the War Department cannot conduct a correspondence school upon its own initiative, earnestly recommends to the War Department authorized disbursements, under section 1661, as amended, to the respective states to cover expenses of correspondence schools and other schools of instruction.

Recommendation of the Adjutant-General of the State of Wisconsin:

An act to provide for the better administration of the business of Organized Militia in the War Department.

Action of the committee.

Your committee recommends that the War Department be requested to introduce a bill into Congress, covering the subject matter as herein set forth, and that the Executive Committee of this Association be directed to use all possible efforts to effect its passage.

Recommendations offered by the Executive Committee:

No. 1. Secretary of War is hereby authorized to make such issues of ordnance stores from time to time without charging the value or cost thereof to the Governor of each state and territory and to the Commanding General of the National Guard of the District of Columbia, as are required to keep on hand a sufficient supply of arms and the necessary accoutrements and equipments of the model that may at the time of any issue be in the corresponding arm, corps, or department of the Regular Army for the use of the maximum number of Organized Militia authorized by State laws or regulations; such issues to be the property of the United States and to be accounted for as provided by law.

of the committee approved.

Executive Committee, however, is authorized to make such alterations therein as they may deem necessary.

That the Secretary of War is authorized on the request of the Governor of a state or territory, or the Commanding General of the Militia of the District of Columbia, to pay to the Master-General thereof, or to such other officer of the Militia as may be duly designated and appointed for the purpose, out of its allotment out of the annual appropriations under Section 661 of the Revised Statutes, as amended, as shall be necessary for the payment, subsistence, transportation and other expenses of such portion of said Organized Militia as shall engage in encampment, maneuvers and field instruction with any portion of the Regular Army at or near any military post or camp for the purpose of sea-coast defense of the United States.

of the committee approved.

All officers and employees of the United States and of the District of Columbia, who are members of the Organized Militia of any state, territory or the District of Columbia, shall be allowed to leave of absence from their respective duties without pay or time whenever said militia or any portion thereof engage in encampment, maneuvers, target practice, or field instruction, or service in the preservation of peace, and while so engaged shall not be charged against any pay that is now or may hereafter be authorized.

of the committee approved.

It is further resolved that this committee approve the recommendation of the Executive Committee for legislation in the States, territory and District of Columbia, which will allow no pay for ordered military duty to all of the State em-

That provision of Article of War No. 124, which under the present law covers the relative rank and precedence of the Army, National Guard and volunteer forces, should be amended so that the order will be Regular, Organized Militia and Volunteer.

Action of the committee approved.

Further resolutions by the committee itself.

"Resolved, That there be a special committee of nine appointed, called the 'Committee on Uniformity of State Legislation for Militia Affairs,' whose duties shall be to prepare and submit to this Association such proposed bills as will bring about uniformity of legislation in the several states and territories on this subject."

"Resolved, That this Association most earnestly recommends that the Congress make a suitable appropriation for joint manoeuvres during the year of 1910."

"Resolved, That the National Guard Association of the United States in convention assembled desires to express, in so far as it is possible to do so by the use of words to His Excellency, the Governor, and the citizens of the State of California, and more particularly to the citizens of the cities of Los Angeles and Pasadena, the Chambers of Commerce of the above cities and our brother officers of the National Guard of California, and to all others who have in any and every manner possible contributed to our comfort and welfare, by extending not only a most cordial welcome, but in addition every courtesy within their power, our feeling of most sincere appreciation and heartiest thanks for the many kindnesses which they have done us."

Following the adoption of the report of the Legislative Committee, as outlined above in its entirety, the convention proceeded under a motion of General Dougherty of Pennsylvania, to discuss the subject of Joint Manoeuvres participated in by large numbers of troops, as at Manassas and in the State of Massachusetts during the present year. Speeches on both sides, the recording of which would assume a vast amount of time and labor, resulted in its being the sense of the convention that hereafter camps of instruction should, wherever it is possible, consist of large bodies of troops, both Regular and National Guard, but that the actual manœuvring of said troops should be limited to such as could be attempted by battalions, regiments or brigades.

motion of Lieutenant-Colonel Taylor E. Brown, Inspector National Guard, a committee consisting of Colonel C. M. , commanding 12th. Regiment, Pennsylvania National Lieutenant-Colonel Taylor E. Brown, Inspector Illinois Guard and Major Newton E. Turgeon, 74th Regiment, N. Y., was appointed to revise the Constitution and By the National Guard Association of the United States and it the result of their labors to the next meeting of the ion.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

annual election of officers resulted in a unanimous adoption recommendations of the Nominating Committee, which follows:

dent, Brigadier-General Thomas J. Stewart, Adjutant-Pennsylvania.

Vice-President, Brigadier-General Nelson H. Henry, t-General New York.

Presidents, ten adjutants-general from various states s to enumerate here).

tary, Brigadier-General C. I. Martin, Adjutant-General

urer, Brigadier-General John Chase, Adjutant-General ia.

PLACE OF ANNUAL MEETING.

invitation was extended to the convention by Brigadier-Rumbald and delegates from the State of Missouri to meeting of 1910 in the city of St. Louis, Mo. There opposition, the above mentioned city became the unani-voice of the convention.

ADDRESS BY THE GOVERNOR.

convention was especially honored by an address from His cy, James N. Gillette, Governor of the State of Cali-who came to Los Angeles from Sacramento especially for pose, in which a cordial welcome was extended to the , and an expression of a keen interest in the work of the on shown.

The reports of the officers of the Association, together with the report of the Executive Committee, revealed the fact that the assets of the Association, derived only from its annual dues, were not sufficient to meet the liabilities. In order, therefore, that the Association might be upon a basis to adequately perform the work before it, it was voted that the annual dues of the Association, beginning in the year 1910, should be five dollars ($5) for each delegate instead of two dollars ($2), as at present.

During the closing hours of the convention Lieutenant-General Adna R. Chaffee, U. S. A., retired, was a guest of the meeting, and being observed by the Chair was escorted to the platform and favored the convention with a short talk, submitting his views of the future of the nation's defense, outlining and recommending a system of compulsory service in the regular service; after which the convention adjourned.

Entertainment of the delegates while in Los Angeles consisted of a trip by electric cars to San Pedro, where the entire delegation and their ladies, as the guests of the Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles, were transported to a boat and afforded the pleasure of a trip about the harbor of Los Angeles and out into the waters of the Pacific. Returning, the delegation was escorted to the Virginia Hotel, at Long Beach, where a bountiful repast was served to the delegates and their ladies, the above taking place on the afternoon and evening of the 27th. The afternoon and evening of the 28th was spent in a trip by rail to Pasadena, where the delegates became the guests of the Chamber of Commerce of Pasadena, at a luncheon at the Annandale Golf Club, immediately following which, also as guests of the Pasadena Chamber of Commerce, the entire party was shown about the city in private automobiles and thereafter conducted by rail to the summit of Mount Lowe, where dinner was served at the "Alpine Tavern," the return trip to Los Angeles being made in the evening. Wednesday, the 29th, the delegates and their ladies were conducted by rail to Venice and Orchard Grove, where refreshments were again served.

General J. B. Lauck, Adjutant-General of California, and officers of the California National Guard, together with the citizens of the State, in the opinion of the writer, deserve great credit for the able manner in which the Convention of 1909 was conducted.

Returning to his home station, the writer traveled by way of San Francisco, Salt Lake City, Denver and Chicago, reaching Buffalo on the evening of October 11th.

Finally, in conclusion, I am constrained to call attention to the representation of the State of New York at this Convention as compared with that of the States of Pennsylvania and Illinois, sister States, the welfare of whose guard apparently demands the attendance of its representatives upon an important occasion of this kind; and I sincerely trust that at future conventions of this association, upon which occasions at a moment's notice questions may rise of vital importance to the cause for which we have labored so earnestly and so long, the great Empire State of New York may be represented by a sufficient number of delegates to insure the protection of its interests against all odds. The task, should the emergency arise, is greater than can be safely entrusted to the efforts of two or three. Self-preservation and self-interests demand protection.

I would at this time also call attention to a recommendation upon this point, as contained in my report of the Columbia convention, dated April 5, 1907.

Respectfully,

NEWTON E. TURGEON,

Major, 74th Regiment.

BOROUGH OF BROOKLYN, NEW YORK CITY, December 1, 1909.

The Adjutant-General, S. N. Y., Capitol, Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to submit the following report as a delegate to the United States National Guard Convention, held in Los Angeles, California, September 27–30, 1909:

I left New York via New York Central & Hudson River Railroad on the 8:45 A. M. train, September 18, 1909. In order to compare notes and confer with Major Turgeon, the other delegate, I arranged to meet him in Buffalo upon the arrival of this train, and proceed with him across the continent to Los Angeles.

We arrived in Los Angeles on September 27th, some hours late, and immediately after arriving I reported to General Lauck, the Adjutant-General of California.

On Monday, September 27th, the delegates were called to order and the business of the convention was begun. The details of the proceedings are to be reported to you by Major Turgeon, as the president of the New York State National Guard Association. He has requested me to include in my report, the reading of the papers which were presented to the convention, together with such comments as I had to make. The following papers and their authors were presented:

Lieutenant-Colonel E. M. Weaver, General Staff, U. S. A., Chief of the Division of Militia Affairs.

Captain Frederick L. Knudsen, 8th Infantry. Subject: "Applied Minor Tactics. Solution on Map of Problems for Forces Composed of the Three Arms of the Service."

Captain William L. Reed, 8th Infantry. Subject: "The Preparation and Issue of Orders."

Captain Frederick W. Stopford, Commissary. Subject: "The Army Ration. Its proper Preparation and Use."

Captain James L. Bevans, Medical Corps. Subject: "Army Sanitation and Military Hygiene."

Lieutenant-Colonel Robert R. Stevens, Deputy Quartermaster-General. Subject: "The Work of the Quartermaster. The Transportation of Troops and Supplies and the Establishment of Tents."

First Lieutenant Paul W. Beck, Signal Service Corps. Subject: "Military Communications. A Non-technical Discussion of Field Work of the Signal Corps."

It is not my intention to criticize the papers read, for I do not feel that in so doing it is compatible with the position I hold, as a National Guard officer. These papers were all of a most instructive character, and although a great many officers of the State of New York have studied these questions, and are familiar with the subject, at the same time there is a great food for thought when analyzing the details of the suggestions made by each officer who read his paper. A summary of all of the suggestions which these papers bring to my mind, means that the

New York should in a most decisive manner show the War Department that we are endeavoring to adhere strictly to its policy, and follow their instructions in every particular. On this particular subject I might refer to the matter of the larger scale maneuvers that have been held, and those that are planned to be held in the near future. This subject was brought up formally in discussion by a distinguished officer representing one of the States in the country, and a very large and efficient military organization, Pennsylvania. I refer to General Dougherty. General Dougherty claimed that these maneuvers on the larger scale were detrimental to the interests of the service and prejudicial to the training of enlistments, that where men were required to spend long hours before they had an opportunity of contact with the enemy, it served to dishearten them, and take away the initiative desired. He held that maneuvers involving no larger scale than a brigade should be held, which would thus stimulate the interest of the men. Other officers, distinguished and high ranking, representing other States throughout the country, spoke on the other side, and held that General Dougherty was wrong in his opinion. Their experience was that these maneuvers were not alone detrimental to the men, but of great educational value to the officer. A long and able debate followed, in which I participated, and I felt that although my fellow delegates were inclined to side with General Dougherty, that I could not do so conscientiously, for the experience as an official at more than one of these large scale maneuvers, together with the experience as an officer while on duty with a regiment, proved clearly to me that these opportunities were of the greatest value. I cited the instances of my experience, and further informed the convention that I believed the policy of the State of New York was to work in unison and harmony with the War Department; while this may seem to be somewhat, I took it upon myself to decide and say at the convention, that the policy of the State of New York was as it should be; to work in harmony with the War Department. I expressed my firm belief that this policy should be adhered to, not only by the State but throughout the entire country. If the National War Department of the United States is to progress along the lines laid down by the act of May 27th, 1908, and we expect to benefit by reason of this legislation, we have got to show the high military authorities of the United States that we are earnest and sincere and desire to do everything that is possible within our limited time, to enlighten ourselves in all the details of the military service. If we are going to receive money from the United States Government for our use in the military service, it is but a fair and business proposition that we prove to the authorities that we are willing to give its equivalent in the form of study, application and sacrifice of time, and our own private funds, if need be.

All who are familiar with the general situation will admit that we do not receive proper remuneration for the services which the State gives to the Federal Government, but at the same time it must be admitted that the Federal Government is realizing more and more every day, the advantages which will accrue to the country if a sufficient appropriation is made annually to the States, that they will render valuable service when the country needs it, and it is our duty as honest men to see to it that our time is devoted intelligently to the accomplishment of the desires of the War Department. My suggestion is that if we would increase the annual appropriation, we would best do it by showing the War Department in an honest and sincere manner that we are working hard, and doing our honest duty to become an efficient body, and if this is done, it will be but a short time before the War Department will realize that the State of New York at least is doing more than they are paid for.

I regret exceedingly that at the time this discussion was held, that the State of New York was so poorly represented in the matter of the number of delegates. The State of Pennsylvania had some fifteen or twenty delegates, and if the occasion had required a vote on subjects of vital importance to the State of New York, our interests would have suffered to a very considerable degree.

The next convention, which will be held in St. Louis, I am of the opinion will discuss this particular phase of the military situation of the country, that is, as to whether or not the States should follow closely the regular army in its work generally, and while I believe firmly that the State of New York is in hearty accord with this general text, it can be readily seen that if we do not have a proper and a full representative delegation, whatever the ideas may be of New York's policies, we will be defeated, and I would earnestly recommend that this situation be laid before His Excellency, the Commander-in-Chief, so that he may be fully informed as to where the State of New York would stand in such a situation.

I would further recommend, and would suggest proper legislation to the accomplishment of this end, that the control of the selection of the delegates be left with the Adjutant-General of the State of New York, for the reason that he is continually in touch with the War Department, and is endeavoring to the very best of his ability to prove to the regular army that we are honestly endeavoring to carry out the fulfillment of their wishes, and if delegates are chosen who do not hold these ideas, it can be readily seen that the State of New York will be improperly represented. The situation as it is to-day regarding the selection of these delegates and their approval is conflicting and embarrassing to the extreme, and if the State of New York is going to be intelligently heard at these conventions, there must be no conflict of personal opinion between its delegates. There must be a unity of thought, and men selected who will obey the instructions of the chairman of their delegation.

I would respectfully suggest that the Adjutant-General's department of the State of New York secure copies of the papers and the names of their authors, above referred to, and that a sufficient number be printed and sent to each officer and non-commissioned officer in the military service of this State. That an order, in connection therewith, be issued to the officers and non-commissioned officers at large, requiring them to carefully read each one of these papers, so that, if possible, the ideas of those high in authority of the regular army, may permeate the minds of every officer and man in the State Military Service.

Respectfully,

FREDERICK A. WELLS,

Major, 23d Inf., N. G., N. Y.

The Adjutant-General, S. N. Y., Capitol, Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to state that I have forwarded to office a report as a delegate to the U. S. N. G. convention, which was not corrected before mailing, owing to a mistake.

I would therefore respectfully request that it be returned to me and that the one herewith enclosed be substituted.

The mistakes were those of a typographical character, and not of a serious change.

Respectfully,

TWENTY-SECOND REGIMENT.

Twelve Companies.

Three Battalions.

(Attached to Division Headquarters.)
Armory, Broadway and Sixty-seventh Street, New York City.

This regiment was organized in April, 1861; it entered the United States service May 28, 1862, for three months, and was mustered out September 5, 1862, having been stationed at Washington, D. C., and later forming part of the garrison at Harper's Ferry, Va., June 18, 1863, it was again mustered in the service of the United States for thirty days, and was mustered out July 24, 1863. In 1867 the regiment took up rifle practice as part of its drill, and in 1871 it established for itself a rifle range and system of practice which was in 1873 adopted by the National Rifle Association. Co. G was disbanded March 22, 1878, and new Co. G organized April 30, 1879. Co. F was disbanded October 10, 1890, and new Co. F organized January 8, 1891. Co. I was disbanded October 10, 1890, and new Co. I organized October 6, 1892. May 7, 1898, it was authorized to be temporarily consolidated into eight companies, and four companies of the 13th Regiment were attached to it, preparatory to entry into the United States service, in which it was mustered on May 24, 1898, as the 22d Regiment Infantry, N. Y. Vols., and it was mustered out November 23, 1898. February 20, 1902, the regiment was constituted a regiment of engineers and designated 22d Regiment Engineers.

By the law of May 7, 1908, the 22d Regiment became a part of the Corps of Engineers, and on Nov. 10, 1908, companies L and M were authorized, completing the three battalion organizations.

The regiment has received authority to place silver rings on the lances of its colors, engraved as follows:

On the National Color.—Harper's Ferry, 1862; Gettysburg Campaign, 1863; Sporting Hill, Pa., June 30, 1863; Carlisle, Pa., July 1, 1863; Spanish-American War, 1898.

Armory, Park Avenue and Ninety-fourth Street, New York City.

On the 4th of April, 1786, the 1st Division, was formed in New York city into a brigade of artillery, and was to consist of the 1st and 2d Regiments and a battalion. In April, 1807, the 3d Regiment of New York Artillery was organized of this battalion and other troops. July 27, 1847, the designation of the regiment was changed to the 8th Regiment. In December, 1893, it was reduced to a battalion of four companies. It was reorganized as a regiment, February 14, 1896. New companies were organized for the battalion as follows: On July 8, 1895, Co. A; on October 30, 1895, Co. E; on January 27, 1896, Co. H, and on February 14, 1896, Co. G, when it was reorganized as a regiment. April 28, 1898, it was authorized to be organized as a twelve-company regiment to enter the service of the United States. It was in the service of the United States from September 15, to December 15, 1812; from April 23, to August 2, 1861; from May 29, to September 9, 1862; and from June 17, to July 23, 1863. It was mustered in the United States service as the 8th Regiment Infantry, New York Volunteers, May 14, 17 and 19 1898 and mustered out of such service. November 3, 1898. Companies L and M were disbanded December 22, 1898. December 10, 1906. Companies A, C and E were disbanded and the regiment reduced to a battalion of seven companies and designated the 8th Battalion. January 18, 1908, Co. A was reorganized and on January 21, 1908, the battalion was again constituted a regiment under its original designation. January 23, 1908, a coast artillery corps was organized, the 8th Regiment being constituted coast artillery and the companies respectively designated as the 25th, 26th, 27th, 28th, 29th, 30th, 31st, and 32d Companies, Coast Artillery Corps, constituting the 8th Artillery District. November 10, 1908, an additional company was directed to be organized and attached to the 8th Artillery District, as the 33d Company, Coast Artillery Corps.

Authority has been granted to place silver rings on the lances of its colors, engraved as follows:

On the National Color.—Fort Gansevoort, 1812; Fort Greene, 1812; Washington, April, 1861; Bull Run, July 21, 1861; Yorktown, 1862; Gettysburg campaign, 1863; Spanish-American War, 1898.

On the State Color.—Flour riots, 1826; Stonecutters' riot, 1835; Great fire, New York city, 1845; Astor Place riot, 1849; Police riot, 1857; Dead Rabbit riot, 1857; Sepoy riot, 1858; Camp Corcoran Legion, 1862; Draft riots, 1863; Orange riots, 1871; Syracuse, 1877; Brooklyn, 1895.

NINTH ARTILLERY DISTRICT.

(Ten Companies.)

(Attached to Division Headquarters.)

Armory, 125 West Fourteenth Street, New York City.

By virtue of an order from Governor John Jay to Brigadier-General James Miles Hughes, New York, N. Y., dated Albany, June 24, 1799, the preliminary organization of the 6th Regiment, New York State Infantry, of which this regiment is the successor, took place, by transfer of 4 companies from the 1st Regiment, 3 companies from 2d Regiment, 5 companies from 3d Regiment, 2 companies from 4th Regiment, all organized March 4, 1786; 3 companies from the 5th Regiment, organized May 11, 1789, and the Independent Rifle Co., organized August 28, 1798.

The 6th Regiment, New York State Infantry was permanently organized, with 16 companies, under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel Comd't Jacob Morton, on March 8, 1800. This regiment was changed by General Orders Adjutant-General's Office, Albany, to the 2d New York State Artillery, March 27, 1805, and to the 9th Regiment, New York State Artillery, June 13, 1812; it was reduced to a battalion, December 13, 1813, and became a regiment again, by orders of Council of Appointment, June 6, 1816. By orders from Adjutant-General's Office, the state was divided in division, brigade, regiment and company districts, May 13, 1847. Three of the regiment's companies were transferred to the 8th Regiment, New York State Militia, May 27, 1850; some of the officers and men elsewhere, but Colonel B. Clinton Ferris retained command of the 9th Regiment, as reorganized May 29, 1850. It was again partly disbanded May 31, 1858, but the district of the 9th Regiment, New York State Militia was kept intact, under Colonel Lucius Pitkin, and once more the regiment made — a new, June 25, 1859.

Under this title it entered the service of the United States, May 27, 1861, and was mustered in at Washington, D. C., June 8, 1861. A further change was made in numerical designation: it became known as the 83d New York Volunteers, December 7, 1861, by which title it was mustered out of the United States service, June 23, 1864.

Under orders from the authorities of the State, the 9th District was retained for the regiment during its three years of war service, and formally retook position in the National Guard of the State as the 9th Regiment, National Guard State of New York, June 13, 1864, which was continued until 1898, when the title was changed to the 9th Regiment Infantry, New York Volunteers, May 2, 1898, and was again made back to the 9th Regiment, National Guard, New York, January 12, 1899.

April 28, 1898 it was authorized to be organized into a twelve-company regiment, preparatory to entry into the United States service, in which it was mustered as the "Ninth Regiment Infantry New York Volunteers," May 17, 19 and 20, 1898, and mustered out November 15, 1898. Companies L and M were disbanded December 22, 1898.

To conform to the Military Law (1908) General Orders, No. 7 Adjutant General's Office, dated Albany, January 23, 1908, reorganized the 9th Regiment Infantry, as Coast Artillery, and made it a part of the Coast Artillery Corps, National Guard, New York, as the 9th Artillery District, and the designation of Companies from letters A to K, to be the 13th to 22d companies, Coast Artillery Corps respectively.

The regiment was authorized to place silver rings on the lances of its colors, engraved as follows:

On the National Color.— War against Great Britain, 1812–15; New York Harbor, June 22 to December 15, 1812 (North Battery); New York Harbor, September 2 to December 3, 1814, (West Battery); War of the Rebellion, 1861–65; Harper's Ferry, Va., July 4, 1861; Warrenton Junction, Va., April 6, 1862; Warrenton Junction, Va., April 16, 1862; North Fork River, Va., April 18, 1862; Rappahannock River, Va.,

THIRTEENTH ARTILLERY DISTRICT.

(Twelve Companies.)

(Attached to Division Headquarters.)

Armory, Corner Sumner and Jefferson Avenues, Brooklyn.

This regiment was organized July 5, 1847; there were changes in the organization a few years later, again in April, 1859, and in 1860. It was disbanded May 7, 1898, except one battalion of four companies which had volunteered to enter the United States service, and authority was given to reorganize it May 15, 1898. November 28, 1898, such portion of the regiment as had been organized was disbanded, and authority was given to re-establish the regiment, the battalion which was in the United States Service forming the nucleus of the new organization. Companies L and M were organized March 11, 1899; February 8, 1900, it was constituted a regiment of heavy artillery and designated 13th Regiment of Heavy Artillery of the National Guard, New York. This designation was changed to coast artillery, September 1, 1906. The regiment was in the service of the United States for three months from April 23, 1861, and was mustered out August 6, 1861; again from May 28 to September 12, 1862, and for the third time from June 20 to July 20, 1863, for thirty days; it was in the State service during the Draft riots in July and August, 1863; the Orange riots, July 12, 1871; the Railroad riots, July, 1877; the Switchmen's strike at Buffalo, August, 1892; the Quarantine disturbances at Fire Island, September, 1892, and the Motormen's strike at Brooklyn, January, 1895. The battalion which volunteered to enter the United States service as part of the 22d Regiment, New York Volunteer Infantry, in the war with Spain, was mustered into such service May 24, 1898, and was mustered out November 23, 1898. January 23, 1908, the Coast Artillery Corps was organized; the companies of the 13th Regiment, Coast Artillery, becoming companies 1 to 12 inclusive, Coast Artillery Corps, and constituting the 13th Artillery District.

The regiment has received authority to place a silver ring on the lance of its National Color engraved as follows: Spanish-American War, 1898.

SEVENTH REGIMENT.

(Eleven Companies.)

(First Brigade.)

Armory, Park Avenue and Sixty-seventh Street, New York City.

Companies A, B, C, and D, were organized during the excitement created by the firing of British at American vessels off Sandy Hook in April, 1806, as the first, second, third and fourth companies, and June 25th they were officially recognized by the State as part of the uniformed militia of the State, and attached to the battalion of artillery commanded by Major Andrew Sitcher. April 5, 1807, the battalion, in the organization of the 3d Regt. of New York Artillery, became its 2d Battalion. When war with England became imminent in 1807, these four companies, with other volunteers, were temporarily organized as a regiment, commanded by Colonel Peter Curtenius, and remained thus detached until April 20, 1809. In 1812 the 3d became the 11th Regt. of Artillery, the four companies remaining the 2d Battalion. Aug. 25, 1824, the battalion was named "Battalion of National Guards" (its distinctive name until, in 1862, the Legislature appropriated it for the uniformed militia), and in December, 1824, the fifth company was organized and Captain Stevens' company of the 11th New York Artillery transferred to it as the sixth company. In January, 1825, the battalion was transferred to the 2d New York Artillery. Oct. 1, 1825, the battalion was detached and organized as a separate and independent battalion, and during the month the seventh company was organized. May 4, 1826, the organization of the eighth company was completed, and May 6th the battalion was organized into a regiment, the 27th Artillery. April 17, 1838, a troop of cavalry was admitted to the regiment, which, in 1861, became the ninth company. In 1843 the State furnished the regiment with arms, it having heretofore provided them itself; July 27th the designation of the regiment was changed to 7th Regt. In April, 1849, an engineer corps was organized, which in 1861, became the tenth company. May 11, 1869, the regiment received authority to organize a new company to be known as Company L. The regiment was frequently ordered to hold itself ready for service, and did active service for the United States, the State and New York city, as follows: In United States service from Sept. 15 to Dec. 15, 1812; from Sept. 2 to Dec. 2, 1814; from April 19 to June 3, 1861; from May 26, to Dec. 5, 1862; from June 17 to July 21, 1863. In support of State or municipal authority: Execution of James Reynolds, Nov. 19, 1825; at the election riots, April 10, 1834; Abolition riot, July 11 to 12, 1834; Great conflagration in New York city, Dec. 17, 1835; Stevedore riot, Feb. 24, 1836; Flour riots, Feb. 6 and March 6, 1837; Anti-rent war, Dec. 9 to 10, 1839; Croton water riot, April 22 to 23, 1840; fire in New York city, July 19 to 21, 1845; Astor Place riot, May 10, 12 and 14, 1849; Police riot, June 16, 1857; Dead Rabbit riot, July 5, 1857; Quarantine war, Jan. 3, 1859; preserving order at camp of Spinola Brigade, Sept. 12 to 19, 1862; Draft riot, July, 1863; Orange riots, July, 1871; Labor riots, July, 1877; Matronen's strike, Brooklyn, January, 1895; and at strike, Croton Dam, April, 1900.

TENTH REGIMENT.
(Twelve Companies.)
(Third Brigade.)

Headquarters, State Armory, 195 Washington Avenue, Albany.

The 10th Regiment was organized on December 29, 1860, by General Orders No. 50, A. G. O., of that year. Captain Ira W. Ainsworth's Company of the 29th Regiment being detached from that regiment and assigned to the 10th as the nucleus of the new regiment; Captain Ainsworth subsequently becoming the first colonel of the 10th Regiment with rank from May 27, 1862.

On May 17, 1881, the 10th Regiment, with the exception of Companies A, B, D and K was disbanded and these companies retained in the service as the 10th Separate Battalion. On October 1, 1884, the designation of Company K was changed to C.

April 28, 1898, the 1st Regiment was organized preparatory to entry in United States service and Companies A, B, C and D of the 10th Battalion became Companies A, B, C and D of the 1st Regiment. On the disbandment of this regiment on March 15, 1899, these companies resumed their former designations in the 10th Battalion.

The Battalion in organization of the 10th Battalion was disbanded on May 1, 1905, and Companies A, B, C and D constituted separate companies, designated respectively, as the 26th, 35th, 38th and 45th Separate Companies. On the same date the 10th Regiment, composed of separate companies, was reorganized and its headquarters established at Albany, and the 26th, 35th, 38th and 45th Separate Companies attached to it as Companies A, B, C, and D, respectively. In addition the 16th, 23d, 4th, 11th, 17th, 15th and 14th separate Companies were assigned to the regiment and designated respectively as E, F, G, H, I, K, and M. May 28, 1907, the 49th Separate Company was mustered in at White Plains, and assigned to the 10th Regiment as Company L.

The 10th Regiment was mustered in the service of the United States, as the 177th New York Volunteers, November 21, 1862, and was mustered out September 10, 1863. Companies A, B, C, D, K and M were mustered in the United States service as Companies A, B, C, D, K and M, 1st New York Volunteer Infantry, May 20, 1898, and were mustered out February 20, 1899. The Tenth Regiment was on duty in aid of the civil authorities in the Helderbergs in 1865, during the Anti-Rent War; during the Railway Strike at West Albany in 1877; the 10th Battalion at Buffalo during the Switchmen's Strike in 1892; at Albany during the Street Railway Strike in 1901; and a portion of the 10th Regiment at Coeymans during a strike in May, 1906.

The regiment has received authority to place silver rings on the lances of its colors, engraved as follows:

On the National Color.—McGill's Ferry, La., January 6, 1863; Ponchartroula, La., March 24, 1863; McGill's Ferry, La., March 24, 1863; Civique's Ferry, La., March 25, 1863; Amite River, La., May 10 and 11, 1863; Port Hudson, La., May 23 to July 8, 1863; Spanish-American War, 1898; Hawaii, 1898.

SIXTY-SIXTH REGIMENT.

(Ten Companies.)

(First Brigade.)

Armory, 68 Lexington Avenue, New York City.

On October 12, 1851, a number of independent, unformed military companies in the City of New York were organized into a regiment under the command of Colonel Charles S. Roe, and designated in General Orders No. 489, A. G. O., dated November 1, 1851, as the 63th Regiment, New York State Militia. In 1858 the regiment was re-organized as a regiment of artillery doing duty as infantry.

The regiment was mustered in the United States service on May 9, 1861, at Washington, D. C., for three months, during which service it participated in the Battles of Blackburn's Ford and Bull Run, and was mustered out on August 3, 1861.

Immediately after its muster out and return practically the whole regiment including the officers and enlisted men who had served in the three months' campaign, volunteered for three years, or the war, and the officer was accepted by the War Department in a letter to the commanding officer of the regiment under date of August 30, 1861, the regiment being mustered in the United States service on November 8, 1861, as the 69th Regiment, New York Volunteers. Its appellation of "militia" was changed to "volunteers" for the reason that the term for which the regiment volunteered exceeded the period of time established by the State of New York for which its militia regiments, to be recognized as such, could serve without the State. But its numerical designation, however, was, by authority of the State, retained in order to preserve and maintain the regiment's identity with the militia organization. During this service the regiment was attached to the Army of the Potomac, forming part of the Irish Brigade (2d Brigade — 1st Division — 2d Corps). It was recruited in 1863 and again in 1864 and finally mustered out of the United States service at New York on June 30, 1865.

The militia organization, having in the fall of 1861 been again re-organized and recruited, re-entered the United States service for three months on September 3, 1862, and on its return from this service the major part thereof entered the service of the United States for three years, being mustered in on November 17, 1862, as the 69th Regiment, New York National Guard Artillery, which designation was, to avoid confusion, changed on March 19, 1864, to the 182d New York Volunteers and mustered out of the United States service under that designation on July 15, 1865. During its term of service this organization was one of the units in the brigade of New York regiments known as the "Irish Legion," officially designated as the 4th Brigade, 2d Division, 2d Corps, Army of the Potomac.

The militia regiment having been again re-organized, was mustered in the service of the United States on June 25, 1863, for thirty days and was mustered out on July 25th, 1863. Again for the fourth time, the militia organization was, on July 6, 1864, mustered in the United States service for three months and was mustered out on October 6, 1864.

The regiment has rendered service to the State during the Quarantine riots in 1858; the Draft riots, 1863, and the Quarantine disturbances in 1892. It was reduced December 6, 1893, to a battalion of five companies, A, C, D, I and K. The battalion was on duty at Brooklyn during the Motormen's strike in January, 1895. New companies were organized for the battalion as follows: Co. B, June 5, 1894; Co. G, June 10, 1895; Co. E, June 11, 1895, and Co. F, September 7, 1900. The battalion was reconstituted a regiment September 4, 1895. April 28, 1898, the regiment received authority to organize as a twelve-company regiment, preparatory to its entry in the United States service, in which service it was mustered May 19, 1898, as the 69th Regiment, N. Y. Vol. Inf., and mustered out January 31st, 1899. The regiment formally re-entered the service of the State on March 15, 1899. Companies L and M were disbanded April 12, 1899; Co. F, February 8, 1900, and Co. B, March 5, 1900. Co. F was re-organized and mustered in May 31, 1900. New Co. B, was organized January 4, 1906.

The regiment has received authority to place silver rings on the linings of its colors, engraved as follows:

On the National Color.—Civil War, 1861-1865; Blackburn's Ford, Va., July 18, 1861; Bull Run, Va., July 21, 1861; Rappahannock Station, Va., March 28-29, 1862; Yorktown, Va., April 16-May 4, 1862; Fair Oaks, Va., June 1, 1862; Game's Mills, Va., June 27-28, 1862; Savage Station, Va., June 29, 1862; Peach Orchard, Va., June 29, 1862; White Oaks Swamp, Va., June 30, 1862; Glendale, Va., June 30, 1862; Malvern Hill, Va., July 1, 1862; Antietam, Md., Sept. 17, 1862; Charlestown, W. SEVENTY-FOURTH REGIMENT.

(Twelve Companies.)

(Fourth Brigade.)

Armory, 184 Connecticut Street, Buffalo.

In June, 1854, the organization of the regiment commenced, Co. D of the 65th Regiment forming the nucleus. Co. B was organized in August, and Companies C and E in September, 1854; Co. A was formed in May, 1855; and these five companies constituted the regiment until February, 1858, when two companies, one of cavalry (R) and one of rifles (L), were organized and attached to it. In 1860 Companies F, G, H and I were organized, and the designation of Co. L was in 1865 changed to Co. K. Co. R was disbanded in 1865, Co. H in 1868; Co. I was consolidated with Co. B in 1870, and in 1882 Companies E and K were disbanded. Co. E was reorganized in 1886, and Co. H in 1891. New Co. I was organized Jan. 4, 1906. In May, 1861, nearly the whole of Companies B, C, D and F joined and formed four companies of the 21st N. Y. Vols. June 19, 1863, the regiment was mustered in the service of the United States for thirty days, and mustered out Aug. 3, 1863; it was remustered in the United States service November 16, 1863, for thirty days, and mustered out December 16, 1863. During the War of the Rebellion the regiment furnished to the country nearly 300 officers and over 1,000 men, who received their first military instruction while members of it. Companies L and M were authorized by G. O. 64, A. G. O. November 10, 1908, to be mustered in.

The regiment has received authority to place silver rings on the lances of its colors, engraved as follows:

On the National Color.— Gettysburg Campaign, 1863; Buffalo, November and December, 1863.

On the State Color.— Draft riots, 1863; Negro riot, 1864; Fenian invasion of Canada, 1866; Hornellsville, 1877; Buffalo, 1892.
